BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, March 1 —(AP)—Reports reaching British circles in Belgrade today said that the Germans had taken over Bulgaria's important Black Sea port of Varna, near the Rumanian frontier. No confirmation was obtained from other sources.

As in the first Great War when she joined the Central powers, Bulgaria has cast her lot again with Germany.

The soldiers appeared in the streets about the time Premier Bogdan Philoff at Vienna affixed his signature to the pact.

Earlier there had been no indication that Sofia expected anything but an ordinary working day. At daybreak observers were surprised to find no foreign troops, although there were creditable advices that 16 truckloads of Nazi soldiers had entered the country at Varna.

(Varna is on the Black Sea, well within Bulgaria. If motorized troops entered the country there, they must have moved in by boat.

(Unconfirmed advices reaching Belgrade from Sofia said that Britain had delivered an ultimatum to expire at midnight tonight—6 p.m. E.D.T.—declaring that unless Bulgaria foreswore any intention of permitting passage of German troops she must consider herself at war with Britain. This, however, was denied in London.)

(Reuters News Agency said in London that the British Legation press office in Sofia had been closed and that nearly all British subjects except Legation and Consular staffs already had left the country.)

Premier Bogdan Philoff went to Vienna in a special German plane today to sign a pact allying Bulgaria with the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo Axis.

VIENNA, March 1—(AP).—In the presence of Hitler, Bulgaria signed up today for partnership in the German-Italian-Japanese military alliance.

Through the signature of her Premier, Bogdan Philoff, Bulgaria cast her lot with her ally of the First Great War, Germany, joining Rumania, Hungary and Slovakia as smaller states which have been lined up for the "new order."

The ceremony came at 1.50 p.m. (7.50 a.m. E.D.T.). Belvedere Palace was the setting.

Besides Philoff and Hitler, the party gathered for the ceremony included the German Foreign Minister, Joachim Von Ribbentrop; the Italian Foreign Minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano; and the Japanese Ambassador to Germany, Hiroshi Oshima.

Von Ribbentrop signed for Germany, Ciano for Italy and Oshima for Japan. Hitler took no active part in the ceremony, but after Philoff had set his hand to a protocol, congratulated the principals.

Diplomatic representatives of the lesser states already members of the alliance were there as observers.

Von Ribbentrop welcomed the party at 1.43 p.m. and the ceremony of the signing was over seven minutes later.

Port Hope Minister Is Called To Service

PORT HOPE, Ont., March 1 (CP) —Rev. Norman Taylor, chaplain at Trinity College School since 1934 and rector of St. Mark's Anglican school here since July, 1940, has been called to service as Chaplain with the R.C.A.F. He will leave Port Hope Sunday.

Rev. Taylor is the third Port Hope clergyman to join the active service. Captain, the Rev. John Foote, former minister of St. Paul's Presbyterian church is now in England and Captain, the Rev. E. K. Smith, former Baptist minister is stationed at Petawawa.

Greeted By The King

Canada Refutes Red Jabs–Shows 14 Million Came in 1940

OTTAWA, March 1. — (CP) — Friends of the Axis powers in the United States are attempting to damage Canada's war effort by reducing the flow of tourist dollars across the border, but officials said Friday they were confidnet these influences had done their worst and would gain little.

Police inquiries have also revealed an attempt made by subversive elements in Canada to discourage tourist traffic, by mimeographed letters sent to the United States and signed "Jack Canuck, Jr."

These letters, sent to various United States residents, set forth that taxation was high in Canada, freedom was lacking and there was danger of interment."

Royal Canadian Mounted Police officials said the tenor of these letters was to discourage visits to the Dominion.

D. Leo Dolan, chief of the Canadian Travel Bureau, said he had just returned from the United States confident there would be a substantial increase in the number of tourists this year.

Last year Canada had about 14,000,000 visitors, a drop of some 20 per cent, and Mr. Dolan believed that rumors spread by enemy agents concerning conditions in Canada possibly kept some prospective visitors from entering this country.

This year, Canadian advertising in the United States stresses that 14,000,000 United States citizens came to the Dominion last year and found it as delightful a holiday place as ever.

These are some of the anti-tourist propaganda ideas put forward in the United States:—

Canada has a shortage of food, so don't go there.

If you go to Canada, they'll take your car for army use.

Don't go to Canada because you may have trouble getting back home.

Another 3,000 Prisoners

British Roundup In Somaliland Now Totals 9,000, Natives

NAIROBI, Kenya Colony, Mar. 1 —(CP).—The British command announced to-day that 3,000 more prisoners, including 200 Italians, had been rounded up in the drive through Italian Somaliland.

A communique announced the capture of Bardera, an important road junction on the Juba River 120 miles north of Gelib, yesterday afternoon.

Previously the British command announced 6,000 prisoners taken in the drive which carried British forces across the Juba to Mogadiscio, capital of the colony. Hence those reported to-day make the total some 9,000, many of them natives, for the Somaliland drive.

The communique said many Italians, "including 200 Europeans who had imprisoned themselves close to the barracks at Mogadiscio" had surrendered since the Juba River drive began.

As for Libya, Eritrea, and Ethiopia, the communique said, there was "nothing of importance to report."

Following up the occupation of Bardera, it said, "our troops are now cleaning the surrounding country, from which the enemy are rapidly withdrawing.

"Prisoners taken during our advance along the coast, up to now and including the capture of Mogadiscio, so far number over 9,000, with many more surrendering daily.

"In Mogadiscio itself quaitities of additional war material have been found."

C.G.E. Employees Honor Carl Salmonsen

"Whatever pictures I may find time to take with this camera, I wish to tell you that they will not compare with my mental pictures of Peterborough, which no camera would be able to register."

In his grateful acknowledgment of the gift of the employees of the Canadian General Electric Company Friday afternoon, Carl A. Salmonsen, whose responsibility as works manager passed today into the hands of Ian F. McRae, left a touching impression that, for all the splendid tangibles of esteem which he has received during the last few weeks preceding his departure, his memories are always going to be paramount.

And in a lighter vein he said, laughingly, "I don't know anybody else who has taken away from Peterborough so many things he did not pay for."

"Camera, did you say? Why it looks like a whole laboratory," he commented to Alderman R. S. Cotton who made the presentation on behalf of the employees. Their gift might be described as the dream of an amateur photographer, including a Contaflex, miniature precision camera, with one of the lastest lense that can be bought, an enlarger, also a projector, screen, and probably some other odds and ends of equipment which escaped the unskilled observer. And as final bond with Peterborough and Canada, the committee of the employees included forty dollars in War Savings Certificates.

This remembrance was preceded by a fine testimonial of the C.G.E. Social and Athletic Club, an attractively inscribed life membership presented by Mr. McRae as representative of the association.

Alderman Sands, who was in charge of the arrangements for this farewell, called the meeting of employees together informally at 5.15 p.m. in a section of the vast new manufacturing building now nearing completion. The only addresses were made by Alderman Cotton and Mr. Salmonsen.

Alderman Cotton said the employees had learned with deep regret of the approaching departure of Mr. Salmonsen. "We are going to miss his friendly smile and wave of the hand which we have learned to associate with him since coming to Peterborough. He has discharged his duties with great ability and integrity, in the interest of the company, also of the employees; and he has proved himself a splendid citizen. He is now going south of the border to engage in greater activities, and the employees of the Peterborough works have paid me the honor of asking me to make this presentation on their behalf. To Mr. Salmonsen we extend our love and good wishes for his happiness and success in his new venture."

Alderman Cotton said there was a surplus in the employees' fund amounting to $40, and it had been decided to purchase that amount of War Savings Certificates as a further reminder of Peterborough in the days that lie ahead.

A Difficult Moment

In replying to the large assembly of men and women from the works, Mr. Salmonsen paused momentarily, and then began: "What shall I say? Just friends. Perhaps in all my thirty-one or two years with the General Electric I am now facing my most difficult moment when I am about to leave you.

I am deeply grateful to you for this splendid gift. Camera, did you say, Mr. Cotton? Why, it looks like a whole laboratory. I could not help thinking as I came out here this afternoon that this is pay day, and I remembered when it used to be twice a month instead of weekly. I believe that change made a difference to you which you have appreciated. It is more convenient to you and your families in the management of your homes. I think it is appreciated by the merchants and the community in general as one of those little tricks which we have put into effect in the Peterborough works.

It is very difficult to express what one feels on occasion like this. It does not happen often in a man's life. I do want to say how much I appreciate this camera and those War Savings Certificates, and also your coming over here this evening at the end of the day. It is the parting of our ways, and I am going back again to the organization from which I came. I don't expect that is going to be a bed of roses."

His large audience applauded Mr. Salmonsen's remark that when he bought his ticket he also got a return with it.

"You have a Scotsman for your manager now, and it may be that he has had something to do with these partings, possibly setting a precedent, planting potatoes, as some folks might say. I have worked hard over this young man, and if you can do anything with him it will be a great credit to you."

Turning back from those little sallies of humor, Mr. Salmonsen said that one of the things he was going to remember was the "company I have had with our employees, and I have benefited from those associations. Peterborough is a fine city to live in and to work in. There were some things we tried to do, and there were some things which I had hoped to see accomplished. I always wished Peterborough might have an artificial skating rink and a more suitable hall for the young people to let loose their energies in. May be these things in time will be accomplished under other men. It is something for the leaders of Peterborough of tomorrow. You will have great buildings to work in here in the future. Work will go on in these buildings for the next fifty years that will be a credit to the employees and the country. I don't think I need say anything more than that. I should like to say just a word about employees privileges that have been developed in the last ten years. Perhaps they might have been expressed in wages, but on the other hand they are a direct benefit to your homes in earnings and protection for those who are dearest to you. There is the insurance scheme which is a form of security for your families, also the pensions plan, vacations with pay, and our savings plan which costs the company a great many thousands of dollars each year."

Equal Opportunity

Mr. Salmonsen said there was equality of opportunity to the employees of the Canadian General Electric Company. None of them needed to be born with a silver spoon in his mouth. The things which were essential were the qualities of ambition and energy, thoughtfulness and industry.

"I've never been to college? Your new manager is not a college man. We might be better with a college education, but the fact is that you don't have to have it to succeed. The more efficient we all are, the greater are our possibilities of obtaining higher wages. You should all remember that our products have to sell in an open, competitive market. That means that the better work you put into them, the better for you and for the company, because wages depend on the selling of our products.

I hope you will also realize that you are engaged in a young industry. The electrical industry is still young, and it is progressive. I hope that your company will continue to take a leading place in it. We are now passing through terrible days that demand more co-operative effort than ever from everybody. We are all in the same position. I don't think I can quote anything more emphatic than the words of His Majesty the King when he said: "This time we are all in the front line."

That is a call for each and every one to do his duty to the best of his ability. I hope you are going to try to do that, and I am going to try to do mine....Friends, goodbye."

Howe Is Dubious On Splitting Munitions Job

OTTAWA, March 1 (CP)—Munitions Minister Howe says he doubts that he is overworked but that he would be willing to turn over part or all of his duties in the department to others.

Discussion of the aircraft production situation in the House of Commons yesterday brought from Opposition Leader Hanson the opinion that Mr. Howe is the hardest-working member of the Administration." He suggested someone else should be put in charge of aircraft production.

T. C. Douglas (C.C.F. Weyburn) and John Diefenbaker (Con. Lake Centre) suggested Mr. Howe's department of Munitions and Supply should be divided by setting up a separate department of aircraft production.

Report Britain

Hitler arrived in Vienna this morning.

Britain's Minister to Sofia Geo. W. Rendel, packed for swift departure after warning pointedly that a Nazi army push into Bulgaria might make that country a new battlefield between Britain and Germany.

Such a march, however, was expected hourly. Reports filtering through a wall of secrecy around Sofia indicated Danube had been crossed last night by fully-equipped, battle-clad Nazi columns from Rumania.

Diplomatic circles said their presence would be accepted by Bulgaria as troops of an ally under a Diplomatic reports said the British minister had destroyed his records and ordered a special train for Istanbul.

The Last Warning

Rendel was understood to have told Philoff the moment German troops actually marched in, Britain would sever diplomatic relations with Bulgaria as she did with Rumania a little more than a fortnight ago. Diplomatic sources said Rendel declared Britain would feel free to consider Bulgaria an enemy camp and bomb lines of communications as soon as the Nazis took over.

Bulgaria's answer, apparently, was mobilization of her air defence corps and reinforcement of her troops along her southern frontier with Turkey and Greece.

(Sofia's communications with the outside world were restored early today after having been severed for 32 hours. First dispatches from the Bulgarian capital said that, to the surprise of some foreign observers, no foreign troops showed themselves in the city streets.)

Turkey was said to be bolstering her forces along the frontier, too, following talks with British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden in which, an Ankara communique said "complete agreement" was reached.

Despite that communique few diplomats in the Balkans believed Turkey would actively oppose a German drive into Greece through Bulgaria.

Most of them predicted Turkey would keep within her own frontiers, ready to fight only were her own territory entered.

Sofia was described in diplomatic dispatches as a "veritable madhouse" as the hour of climax neared. Wholesale arrests, started early yesterday, continued through the night. Several British subjects as well as some employees of the Greek legation were said to have been hustled off to concentration camps. Police guarded exits from the city.

Decision to sign the Axis pact, communicated officially to the Yugoslav government late last night, was said to have been reached at a series of agitated conferences between King Boris and his ministers after a short session of Parliament.

Bulgaria, repeatedly expressing reluctance to join, has been under increasing German pressure to sign up since German troops first entered adjacent Rumania last September.

Reports from Rumania has indicated the Germans have as many as 600,000 soldiers there—a third of them massed along the Danube.

War Expenditure Inquiry Stirs Furore

OTTAWA, March 1 — (CP). — Thursday's notice for setting up a parliamentary committee to investigate war expenditures followed a closed conference Monday attended by Conservative House Leader Hanson and some of his supporters and Prime Minister Mackenzie King and certain of his ministers in which it is said there was a warm exchange between the Conservative leader and Mr. King.

One rumor was that the Prime Minister threatened to resign his post if the Conservatives persisted in their demands to extend the scope of the committee. Liberals attending the conference said this report was not true, but declined to amplify the statement on the ground it was a secret conference.

Admitting the argument grew hot and heavy Conservative sources also declined to be specific about what took place, but suggested there was basis for the report the Prime Minister had threatened to quit.

The argument, it was said, was over whether the committee should be permitted to report on expenditures made since the war began or be limited to current expenditures to see whether economies could be made. The reference to the committee is the same as that used in setting up a similar committee in the British House.

The Liberal contention is said to be that past expenditures can be investigated by the Public Accounts Committee, and this new committee should be limited as in Great Britain to immediate and future undertakings of the Government, if it is to be a real help to the war effort.

The Conservative contention was that the British committee was set up soon after the war started and was able to keep abreast with the expenditures, whereas the Canadian committee has yet to start functioning and so should be able to probe past expenditures as well as those of the present.

The reference in the Votes and Proceedings is interpreted in Conservative circles as not giving the committee authority to take up past expenditures.

Present Awards To Students Lakefield High

LAKEFIELD, March 1 (ENS) — Presented in French by pupils of Form II of the Lakefield High School, the play "Condrillon" (Cinderella) was a highlight of the annual Commencement exercises of the school held in the Memorial Hall before a capacity audience on Friday evening.

The "Carry On" branch of the girls' auxiliary drew a large crowd to their corner of the hall where a display of their work was an evidence of their contribution to the War Services. Included were several knitted articles and afghans. The latter having been put together by Mrs. George Spence.

Helen Kelly the president and her executive of Marysalyce Renwick, Jean Hawthorne and Winnifred Murphy were in charge of the display and also the sale of knitted lapel novelties and home-made candy.

J. W. Ridpath, chairman of the High School Board was chairman for the program and in his opening remarks, gave a hearty welcome to the school friends at the thirteenth annual Commencement.

Awards Presented

An outstanding feature was the presentation of the athletic awards, won on field day. H. Eisdell of the Grove, in the absence of the headmaster, presented the senior boys' championship, donated by Mr. Smith, to Archie Stewart. Mr. Eisdell spoke of the friendly feeling existing between the two schools.

In presenting the Dr. MacKenzie Memorial trophy to the winner of the mile race, Arnold Jackman, and the junior boy's championship to Leonard Lonsberry, F. Munro extended an invitation to all to attend the annual sports day. In speaking of the winter sports he told of the hockey team which had been undefeated in the four games played and of the clean sportsmanship of the team members.

Mrs. Harry Stabler presented the prizes to the junior girl champion, Helen Hill and the senior girl, Leona Shearer.

The general proficiency prizes and shields were presented by the donors to the winning pupils each of whom, had an average of over ninety per cent in their year's work. Most outstanding was Bernice Millar whose marks averaged ninety-five per cent. Form I, E. W. Bailey Shield, Pauline Butcher; Form II, F. L. Erskine Shield, Bernice Millar; Form III, E. H. Northey Shield, Rose Wong; Form IV, C. S. Tanner Shield, Lily Wong; Form V, E. J. Millage Shield, Mary Wong, presented by J. F. Harvey in the absence of Mr. Millage.

Necessity of Education

The diplomas were presented by J. F. Harvey, principal, who spoke of the necessity of education at this time. The higher the academics, the more capable the student will be to face the work for which they are being fitted.

Upper school graduation diplomas—Gordon Hampton, Arthur Kingdon, Kevin Leahy, Velma Northey, Frances Towns, Mary Wong, George Wong.

Although presented in a language which few of the audience understood, the play was so well acted that one could easily follow the play.

Doreen Kelly, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. G. F. Kelly and winner of the County Entrance prize, and also the Catholic Women's League prize for the highest marks in grammar and composition at the Entrance exams, was presented with her prizes by Public School Inspector Leo W. Copp, who spoke of the return after a lapse of a few years of the coveted prize to Lakefield school. Doreen was a pupil of E. Sloan.

The valedictory address was given by Mary Wong, who thanked the teachers for their kind and ready assistance at all times.

Musical Numbers.

Other items on the program included three groups of songs, by pupils of the school, conducted by C. Renaud with Mrs. Renaud at the piano.

"His First Date" was the title of Jean Millars recitation and a piano duet, "A Coquettish Smile" by Ruth Wilkinson and Doreen Kelly, also a mouth organ selection by Kenneth Drain, accompanied by Jean Garbutt, were enjoyed by the audience.

Included on the programs were the names of the students and ex-students enlisted for active service, who had attended school in the last 12 or 13 years. Signaller Fred J. Hudson, Lt-Cpl. Charles J. Birch, L.A.C. Robert Lennox, Lance Bombardier Irwin, J. Charlton, Spr. Gerald Stabler, Ser. Stewart W. Loyst, Spr. Donald R. Hurl, Spr. Christie C. Windsor, Gnr. Ted Woods, Gnr. Roger Nicholls, Gnr. WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Mar. 1 — (CP). — Excellent export sales of Canadian wheat and a strong display at Chicago failed to move wheat futures prices far from previous closing levels on Winnipeg Grain Exchange on Friday. Instead, they shifted slowly within a narrow range and finished unchanged to ⅛ cent lower.

Mills made scattered purchases, but these were maintained lobl hms but these were minimized by light hedging sales. Operators confirmed the sale of 1,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat to Spain and Portugal during the night and morning. Shipping space for the grain was booked at United States Atlantic ports.

In addition, there were reports that the United Kingdom was seeking Canadian Durum wheat for deferred shipment, but this could not be confirmed. Buenos Aires remained unchanged.

In the coarse grain pit, southern interests were creditd with fair buying in oats while crushers bought flax. Oats quotations gained about ½ cent, flax values were up more than a cent, and rye improved ⅝ on moderate general buying.

ever strength the Germans have mustered in Rumania for a push into Bulgaria to aid Italy, much of it must be retained there to guard that prime Nazi oil source.

The wells, pipe lines, railroads, and the Danube river route over which oil is transported to Germany to grease the Nazi western war machine are vulnerable to air attack. They would afford an even more alluring target to British airmen than would Nazi ramies thrusting through Bulgaria until such forces had reached the narrow and still snow-clogged passes through the Balkan and Rhodore Mountains.

Those are the Bulgarian routes by which Nazi forces could move to outflank the Greek front against Italy in Albania. There have been rumors of intensive German preparation of air fields in Bulgaria, and the massing of powerful air forces to guard Nazi armies from British air hawks.

Hitler's Hand Called.

That might explain the dropping away of the German air attack on England in the last few weeks. Shifting of strong Nazi air groups eastward is indicated, the purpose being to guard Rumanian oil sources and transportation routes and maintain control of the air over Nazi armies on the march in the Balkans.

Britain mut have had some clear-cut reason for forcing the issue with Germany in the East. In part, it must be to weaken the force of the Nazi air and sea attack on the British Isles and the sea lanes in the months just ahead. It seems probable, however, that British Balkan strategy is based on belief that a major air offensive against oil sources in Rumania would seriously cripple the German war effort on all fronts.

There is a possibility that British Turkish understandings permit British use of Turkish Black Sea bases, even if Turkey does not directly enter the conflict. That route of altitude oversea flying to strike at Rumanian oil targets would have special advantages for Britain.

Whatever the reason, however, the fact is that Britain has aggressively called Hitler's hand in the Balkans at every turn. She must be prepared to take quick advantage of the situation she has deliberately sought to create.

Skating Party Held By Junior Institute

LAKEFIELD, Mar. 1 — (ENS).—A large number attended the Lakefield Junior Institute skating party on Thursday evening.

Later the guests returned to the hall for lunch, followed by dancing.

On Monday evening St. John's A.Y.P.A. entertained a number from the Peterborough A.Y.P.A.'s and Lakefield friends at a skating party.

Following the skating the party returned to the Parish Hall where hot pancakes were served.

Lapointe Explains Leduc's $1,750 Raise

OTTAWA, March 1—(CP).—The salary of Paul Leduc, registrar of the Supreme Court of Canada, was fixed at $7,500 a year to put the position on a par with clerkships of the Senate and the House of Commons as recommended by a Royal Commission some years ago, Justice Minister Lapointe told the House of Commons last night.

He was answering Capt. G. S. White (Con. Hastings-Peterborough) who asked why the salary was increased from $6,000 received by the former occupant of the post (J. F. Smellie, K.C.)

Mr. Leduc was formerly minister of mines in the Ontario Government.

Mr Lapointe said he had been unable to secure an increase for the former registrar because he was over the retiring age and each year he had to secure an extension of his term from the treasury board.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, March 2.

Sunday's horoscope should be particularly auspicious for the orthodox vocations and avocations of the Sabbath. All relating to the interests of the clergy, church and state, as well as literary, artistic and social activities are under highly propitious auguries. There may be unusually felicitous social activities, with much pleasure and foregathering. Elders are under very pleasing aspects.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may be on the eve of a year of great progress and prosperity, with increase of the fortunes, success in all professional as well as business interests, and with a decided enhancement of personal prestige and popularity. It is a time for reaching for advanced goals with the higher forces and faculties under exceptional stimulus.

A child born on this day should have great versatility and efficiency, fitting it for any number of the high places in life, with distinction and grace.

For Monday, March 3.

Monday's astrological forecast is for a day of extreme activity, with fresh propositions as well as old-established interests reaching high goals of initiative, expansion and fulfillment. In almost any direction the high water mark may be achieved with brilliance and stability, although there may be a few subtle, intriguing or perplexing situations to successfully manoeuvre. Elders, superiors, property and industrial expansion may come to happy culminations.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may be at the threshold of a year of high attainment and fulfilled ambitions, with all matters combining under an impetus to growth and expansion. Business, finance, property, travel, law, employment as well as social and domestic progress and pleasures are expected, although there may be intriguing circumstances calling for discretion.

A child born on this day should have an abundance of talents and capacities equipping it for exceptional success, prosperity and public preferment in life.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for March 2 is Luke 19:1-20:8, the Golden Text being Luke 6:46, "Why call ye me, Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say?")

THE EVENTS which take place in our lesson today happened during the end of March, A. D. 29, while Jesus and his apostles were on their way to Jerusalem from Peraea.

When they came to Jericho a crowd was on hand to see this Man of whom the people had heard so much. At Jericho lived a man—a tax collector—named Zacchaeus, he had gained wealth, but was despised by the Jews because he gathered taxes for their enemies and captors, the Romans. Zacchaeus was a small man, and as the crowd pressed around the Master, he could not see what was going on. So he climbed a tree by the roadside to get a view.

When Jesus came by He looked up in the tree, saw Zacchaeus, and called to him: "Zacchaeus, make haste and come down; for today I must abide at thy house."

You can imagine how overjoyed and honored was Zacchaeus. He hurried down and received the Lord joyfully. Of course there was murmuring in the crowd that the Lord was gone to be the guest of a sinner. But Zacchaeus was not a sinner—not any more. "Behold, Lord," he said, "the half of my goods I give to the poor; and if I have taken anything from any man by false accusation, I restore him fourfold."

And Jesus answered him: "This day is salvation come to this house, forsomuch as he also is a son of Abraham.

"For the Son of Man is come to seek and to save that which was lost."

Parable of Nobleman and Servants

Jesus then told the parable of the nobleman who was forced to go on a journey to receive a kingdom. He called his ten servants, gave each one pound and went his way. On his return he asked three of his men for an accounting. The first said he had invested it and gained ten pounds; the second had five in place of the one. But the third said that his lord was a hard man and he had been afraid to do anything with the money but keep it in a napkin to give back to him. The nobleman was angry with this man and took away the one pound and gave it to the man who had ten, saying that as he had not known how to handle the one pound wisely, he should lose it. The lesson we learn from this parable is that we must use our talents and opportunities, even if they are small or we, too, will lose them.

Now when Jesus arrived at the Mount of Olives from where He could see Jerusalem, He sent two of His disciples into a village and told them where they would find a colt tied. They were to untie the colt and bring him to the Master. If the owner asked them why they were taking it, they were to say, "Because the Lord hath need of him."

Most of us think of Jesus as a Man of mild manner and rather self-effacing. But He must have had great dignity and charm. Mothers felt free to bring their babes to Him, but He was invariably treated respectfully. He had an air of authority. When he gave orders they were obeyed When the colt or donkey was brought, the disciples put their cloaks on him and seated Jesus on his back. Then they started their journey, with the multitude shouting "hosannas" and laying their garments down in front of the colt.

Pharisees Would Stop Hosannas

There were some Pharisees among the crowd and they asked Jesus to stop the joyous cries of the people. "Master, rebuke your disciples," they said. But Jesus said, "I tell you that, if these should hold their peace, the stones would immediately cry out."

When He saw the city of Jerusalem spread out before Him, however, Jesus wept and mourned that it had not listened to Him, and foretold that the city would be besieged and laid in ruins—which happened 40 years later. The Lord knew too well that this triumphal entry of His into Jerusalem was but an interlude. That it would be but a short time before these same people, so joyously hailing Him as their Saviour, would be shouting, "Crucify Him, crucify Him."

"And He entered into the temple," and there found money changers, people selling various things to the pilgrims and desecrating the holy place. And He turned them out, saying, "It is written, And My house shall be a house of prayer: but ye have made it a den of robbers."

He then taught daily in the temple. The chief priests and scribes and principal men of the people sought to destroy Him, but they did not dare make a move against Him, for the people hung upon His words. Trying to trap Him however, they asked Him, "by what authority doest thou these things."

He answered them with another question: "The baptism of John, was it from heaven, or of men"? They could not answer Him. If they said from heaven, the Lord would say, "Why, then, believed ye him not?" If they said, of men, the people would stone them because they believed John was a prophet. So they answered that they could not tell whence it was. "Neither tell I you by what authority I do these things," Jesus quietly answered.

The Lord knew that all these men wanted was some excuse to put Him to death. It was useless to talk to men whose hearts were set on murder.

Rev. Wright Receives Call To Renfrew Baptist Church

After a service of ten years as pastor of Gilmour Baptist church, Rev. R. D. Wright, M.A., B.D., has tendered his resignation to become pastor of the Renfrew Baptist church, of which he will assume charge the last Sunday in March.

A graduate of McMaster University, Mr. Wright was in Wainfleet before coming to Gilmour church. He was president of the Peterborough Ministerial Association for the years 1934-35, and for eight years was secretary of the Peterborough Association of Baptist churches.

In leaving Gilmour church Mr. Wright spoke with feeling of the work there, of the loyalty of the church membership, of the honored traditions, and of the families which trace their history back to the days of the pioneers.

Under his suggestion there was a novel plan made for the holding of the evening service in the various homes of the congregation. It has been found to be attractive and well serves the idea for which it was inaugurated.

Comfort In Dark Days Is Offered By Apostle John

By REV. E. R. JAMES

LET NOT YOUR HEART BE TROUBLED. St. John 14.

We all know that we are entering into dark days such as our fathers never faced. In order that our children may look back upon these times as the most glorious in our history we must be strengthened in the inner man. The writer purposes week by week, God willing, to show you the wonderful comfort in the words with which our Lord as the Chief Shepherd comforted His own Apostles on the eve of his departure by way of the Cross.

Comfort in the ancient days meant to make strong, fit to endure with patience whatever may happen. In its original meaning the word was intended for strong men and women—our forefathers. May we be worthy of them.

Our Lord is a real Man, bone of our bone and flesh of our flesh. He knows the secret source of strength for in the hour of His agony He cried:—"Father, save Me from this hour." So He bids His disciples to follow His example in their hour of distress. "YE BELIEVE IN GOD, BELIEVE ALSO IN ME." He places Himself on a equality with God the Father. "I, a man, place my whole trust and confidence in My Father." The Lord calls us to a living faith in God and in His Christ, Who is the revealer of the Father, and of Whom the Father says: "This is My beloved Son, in Whom I am well pleased."

Are you ready to put your trust and confidence in God and His Christ? Do you habitually, consciously say:—"I believe in God the Father, I believe in Jesus Christ" till such words become a habit and part and parcel of your spiritual life? Our Lord is teaching us to cling to values which endure. "Though I am sometimes afraid yet will I put my trust in God; I will not be afraid what man can do unto me." Ps. 56.

Machinists tell us that under stress and strain steel will become tired. The microscope shows the change from long fibre to something granular, breakable. For days of stress and strain we need the long fibre. God Himself is the source of spiritual strength. "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me."

IN MY FATHER'S HOUSE ARE MANY MANSIONS. You are reminded of His words as a Boy in the Temple "My Father's House." In the Father's House are many mansions. Mansions is a very misunderstood word. It means "resting places on the journey." These resting places were built on the great Roman roads first of all for the convenience of the official couriers, and then for ordinary travellers. They are places of shelter and rest. Perhaps the word has an inner meaning that the future life is for believers a progress in which they "go from strength to strength" until the end is reached. This writer is of the opinion that life of the world to come is not static, a standing still, but dynamic, progressive, developing from glory to glory. The Master will have many things to say unto us according as we are able to bear them. In that life also there will be a progressive revelation.

I GO TO PREPARE A PLACE FOR YOU. He Himself is the forerunner. He enters first and we follow in His footsteps and discover how painful the following is.

I COME AGAIN TO RECEIVE YOU UNTO MYSELF. Note the present tense, I come, which the Revised Version brings out. He is always present. "I will never leave thee, I will never forsake thee." He will come and take up His abode in us by His indwelling Spirit and will reveal Himself in our lives by the peace He brings to our hearts and minds.

This is the comfort for you in the hour of darkness. "When thou passeth through the waters I will be with thee." He is Man, He is God. In childlike confidence you place your hand in His, for He has been through the darkness and can understand and sympathize. Then you will discover the strength of His promise:—"I COME AGAIN." Your simple faith will be infectious, catching, which is His purpose in revealing Himself to you that others may see and be drawn to Him through you. Ye are my witnesses.

COMFORT YE, COMFORT YE MY PEOPLE, SAITH THE LORD.

Appreciation of Services Late Sir Frederick Banting

How do we assess the miracles of healing that Jesus performed? Was He just a magician who traded on the credulity of ignorant, superstitious people? The prevailing idea to-day is that these acts of healing were primarily acts of compassion. There was no approved medical science in that day, and there were many virulent diseases in the East like leprosy that do not exist in our country at present.

Is there any connection between Jesus' act of healing and the notable career of Sir Frederick Banting which has been cut short with tragic suddenness? Was the latter's God's work as well as the former? Does God work only by the meteoric and exceptional, and not by the orderly methods of the scientific laboratory? In other words was Dr. Banting a vehicle through which God liberated many thousands from the fear of premature death?

Can we not regard this notable Canadian's achievements to the qualities of his personality? And is not a gifted personality one of God's greatest gifts to the world? He was noted for his restless energy, his courage, his humility, his generosity. These we hold are divine qaulities(and can be consecrated to the welfare of mankind.

An appreciation of the late Sir Frederick Banting will be given in St. Andrew's church on next Sunday night.

Changes Made In Chaplains

OTTAWA, March 1.—(CP)—Appointment of Major Ross Flemington of Rothesay, N.B., as assistant to the principal Protestant chaplain of the Canadian forces, with the rank of lieutenant-colonel, was announced this week by the Defense Department.

It was also announced that Major C. G. Hepburn of Ottawa, who went overseas with the 2nd Canadian Division as senior Protestant chaplain, has been promoted to lieutenant-colonel and deputy assistant to the principal chaplain. He will be attached to the Canadian Corps under the command of Lieut.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton.

Colonel Flemington, appointed last fall as senior Protestant chaplain of the 1st Division, fills the post at Canadian Military Headquarters in London formerly held by Col. H. A. Kent of Kingston. The latter returned to Canada in November to resume his office as principal of Queen's Theological College.

The new senior Protestant chaplain of the 1st Division will be Capt. Gordon Jones of Hamilton, and son of Mrs. Arthur Jones of Peterborough, who has been promoted to the rank of major.

Major C. J. S. Stuart, at present chaplain with the Queen's Own Rifles, Toronto, has been appointed senior Protestant chaplain of the 3rd Division.

The Authority of Christ — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON — By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Luke 19:1-20:8.

On His way to Jerusalem, Jesus passed through Jericho, where Zacchaeus, a publican and rich, climbed a tree that he might better see the Master.

When Jesus saw Zacchaeus in the tree He called him to come down, for "today I must abide in thy house." Zacchaeus received Him joyfully.

At Bethany, Jesus sent two of His disciples to find a colt which He said was tethered in a certain place, and to bring it to Him.

The disciples put their garments on the colt, seated Jesus on his back, and the whole multitude rejoiced and praised God. (GOLDEN TEXT—Luke 6:46)

In This Age Of Criticism

Mayor William Morrison of Hamilton was a speaker at the convention of the Ontario Good Roads Association in Hamilton. On an occasion of that sort a speaker has considerable latitude, and he can select any topic which seems to be of prime and general interest. Mayor Morrison had something to say about the business of criticising the Dominion Government, a habit which has become rather general. From his reported remarks we quote:

"We must cast out suspicion and carping and bitter criticism. The war is being waged on the most gigantic scale ever imagined and necessary preparations and organizations cannot be made in days or weeks—only in months. The man who destroys confidence in Canada and its leaders today is playing the game Germany has often played in other countries, of undermining confidence in administrations."

Mr. Morrison was revealing no secret when he said he was speaking "as a known Tory." He is that and has been consistently of the Conservative party. For the moment we prefer to regard him as having spoken as a Canadian citizen, and a Canadian citizen today who cannot place his political affiliation in secondary position ought to indulge in some sincere and searching form of self-examination.

Our belief is that there has been too much criticism of the Government at Ottawa; too much of it by people who are not particularly well informed; too much of it by those who "have heard" something or other and who are willing and anxious to accept what they have heard as positive and certified fact.

In a time of war the Cabinet cannot reveal all it knows. They are sworn to secrecy as all cabinets are. Men who go to Ottawa as experts to take over important work and who receive pay of one dollar per year, are not free talkers. They too are sworn to secrecy. Our belief is that it would be advisable to have the political leaders of all parties kept fully informed. We believe they are to be trusted, and the fact that they were informed would have a restraining influence on many of their utterances.

There are newspapers which are fond of being critics. They delight in taking things to pieces more than they do in putting them together again and in a better way. They always seek to create the impression that something is wrong, and therefore our war effort is being held up, choked, slowed down and made of little effect and small consequence.

We are moved to wonder where these papers which profess to know so much are getting the information they profess to possess. We are certain Cabinet ministers are not taking them to one side and telling them quietly that things are not as they should be, and we are equally certain that business men and industrialists who have accepted responsible posts in war effort are not going around whispering behind the hand intimating that this, that and something else is all wrong.

This paper is not opposed to criticism if it is intelligently based. We regard it as the right of free people, but we cannot deny the feeling that we are having a surfeit of it in Canada today which does not have basis in factual certainty.

Nor do we anticipate we shall secure perfection in our war effort any more than we secure perfection in government or anything else. Prime Minister Churchill has spoken of that several times. He has made it clear that before the day of final victory there will be blunders made as there have been in the past.

The real point seems to come in here: If people persist in the custom of criticism they are planting the seeds of suspicion; they are influencing others to think as they are writing or speaking; they are building up the idea that things are not going as they should be, and they are actually doing what they can to shake public confidence in the Government and also in the war effort. And that we are certain is performing a fair enough service for the enemy.

Nor can be ignore the fact that our Government is the one and only agency through which we as a people can move and act collectively. Even if there are features about it which one does not like he cannot change the Government. The people voted it into office and there it will remain until the people vote it out. Going through times such as we are encountering at present we have no other agency of expression or action through which we can act or through which we can direct our efforts. The reasonable conclusion is that we should seek to strengthen the hands of Government. If we turn the other way and show a delight in constantly seeking to pull it to pieces then we are doing something which would bring comfort to enemies who would delight to see the people lose confidence entirely in constituted authority.

Doesn't Add Up Right

The driver of a truck appeared in court at Newmarket before the magistrate, W. F. Woodliffe, and the charge laid against him was that he had been drunk while driving. The charge was dismissed. In the usual course of events we take it that would mean the evidence offered by the accused was such that it outweighed the evidence offered to support the charge.

Three police officers, Provincial Constable Ronald Hewat, County Constable Ronald Watt and Chief of Police James Sloss of Newmarket testified that they had smelled liquor on the breath of the driver.

From the evidence as reported we quote: "His speech was thick and he seemed stupid. He wasn't in any condition to be in charge of a car."

The Newmarket Chief said the arrested man was abusive when placed in a cell, adding "He isn't that way normally."

The driver of a Department of Highways truck said he had come upon the accused driver, whose truck was straddling a guard rail, and he had been requested to pull him off. His testimony was that "he seemed to wobble on his feet at times."

So there was the evidence of four persons, three police officers and an employee of the Department of Highways. The defendant admitted he had three beers at Bradford, but said he was not drunk, but had been "forced off the road by an oncoming car," and on the strength of that statement the case was dismissed.

Our belief is that police officers have a rather good idea of when a person is drunk. In the pursuit of their business they are from day to day coming in contact with such people. If their evidence is to be disregarded when they appear in court, is it not likely they may come to the conclusion that it is no use bringing similar cases to the court at Newmarket?

Was it sufficient that the magistrate accepted the word of the man who had taken three beers that he was "forced off the road?" We think not.

It does look plainly like a case which the Attorney-General should call back for review.

Mussolini Sends a Bill

Mussolini has turned toward the collection of war debts. A bill for $275,000,000 has been sent to Franco, and with it the suggestion it can be paid in 24 annual instalments.

It has to do with assistance which Mussolini extended to Franco in the recent civil war, and everything is carefully put down in detail from 763 planes to 1,672 tons of bombs.

There was also the question of personnel. Italians killed in the war numbered 3,132 and there were 10,765 wounded, of whom 2,000 were permanently disabled.

Whether there was anything in the way of an agreement when Mussolini went into the Spanish war showing how much he was charging for the services of his men or the use of his material is something we have wondered about often enough. Not a thing was mentioned about it at the time and the feeling was that Mussolini desired to have an upper hand or a favored position in anything which had to do with the future control of the Mediterranean coast. In that way he would receive his payment.

But now Mussolini wants the money; desires it laid on the line for 24 years in a row. His visions of empire are fading and he has turned slightly toward the mercenary view on life.

We are moved to doubt whether Franco can pay him $275,000,000 even if he has 24 years in which to do it. The great majority of his people are desperately poor; their country is mostly in the wrecked state of unproductiveness, and Franco can't even feed his people. It does look as though the deflated idol of Rome has selected a mighty poor season in which to send out his bills for past favors.

Province Expects $2,000,000

When a wealthy man passes away today it is not long before there is something in the papers about how much the province expects to take by way of succession duties.

Three men who possessed rather large holdings of this world's goods have died within recent days, and we learn the province expects to secure $2,000,000.

Possibly it is right enough that such information be given out as soon as possible, but it leads one to wonder how the province used to get along for income when there were no succession duties, no income from beverage rooms and nothing at all from automobiles and gasoline tax.

The principle of taxing these large estates is fair enough, although we consider some of the methods in valuing them to be arbitrary. The extent to which income and other forms of taxation have increased within recent years will doubtless have its effect in lessening the income which the province will in future receive from estates. It is hardly possible for a man to pay present rates and at the same time be piling up the makings of what becomes a very considerable estate.

Those Needed Machines

The chairman of the War Requirements Board at Ottawa says war work in Canada hinges on the ability of United States manufacturers to ship us sufficient machine tools. We make some in this country, very good ones too, but when there is a war rush we turn to United States for precision machinery — lathes, grinders, milling machines, etc.

It was so during the last war. It was then found that the equipment in many of our industrial establishments was not fitted to the fine dimensions required in the production of munitions. A machine has to be as accurate as the product it is going to turn out. When that product gets into the class where measurements are based on 1-100th of an inch, then the machine must be exact.

The trouble at the moment is that United States machine tool makers are busy to capacity with orders from United States firms working on the expansion of defensive programs for their own country. Canadian orders, urgent though they are, have to take their place in the waiting line.

In our own right we can take care of probably 20 per cent. of the requirements for machine tools, but the 80 per cent. has to come to us from United States. Our orders for 1940 were 70 per cent. filled, but the remaining 30 per cent. have had to be carried over into 1941. We simply have to have those machines before we can expand our present production. Those who went through the experience in the days of the last war can realize well enough what the industrial heads are facing today. They have to wait for deliveries, and we know nothing more difficult to do than wait when one is anxious to get under way.

SYSTEM

(By A.R.K.)

¶ The expert stopped in here to say, that I was such a careless jay, I really had no plan; had I no records that would show, just what I spent to come and go, and run my pink sedan?

¶ He had with him a little book, and opened it so I could look, he catalogued each cent; he knew what cash he gathered in, could trace each little bit of tin, and knew just where it went.

¶ He knew within an inch or so, if mileage had been high or low, he checked it all somehow; 'twas like a record one might keep, when 'tending to a flock of sheep, or else a brindle cow.

¶ But what's the use of stuff like that, the notion leave me cold and flat, I am a shiftless jay; if I kept books on my sedan, I might lock up my ancient can, and store the thing away.

¶ I tried to argue he was wrong, but he'd pursued his plan so long, was adamant as sin; he always did his things that way, and it was lodged so it would stay, can't pry it out of him.

¶ I know if I kept books that way, I'd have to toil on them each day, just writing down each line; my Pink Sedan is rather slow, if I kept books on it I know —'twould take most half my time.

CAP and BELLS . .

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

TODAY is remarkable for two reasons: first, it is the national festival of Wales, sacred to Saint David who, with Saint Patrick, Saint Andrew and Saint George, is one of the traditional guardians of the British people; second, today is one of the days which wiseacres have marked for Hitler's invasion of Britain. There have been many such days, but March 1st is particularly fancied. These two circumstances combine to make my work difficult, for it would merely be waste of time to publish an account of the life and doings of Saint David on the day which marked the first invasion attempt since the Spanish Armada in 1588, and if I write about invasion I shall merely be depressing, the unforgivable sin in a columnist. Anyway, too much has already been written about invasion by people who cannot possibly have anything important to say about the matter.

C & B

By the time this article appears the February drive for the sale of War Savings Certificates will be over, and we should soon have some idea of how it has fared. A good deal of ingenuity has been shown in some districts by the committees in charge of sales; mock air-raids, blackouts, and other horrifying accompaniments of siege have been tried, in order to give Canadians a taste of what Britain has been enduring for months. It is a question to what extent such methods are effective with any but the most simple-minded citizens; it is unlikely that the amateur attempts of well-disposed Canadians to simulate the ruthlessness of Nazi raiders would be very terrifying. However, if they sold certificates, that is the main thing, and at least such antics are better than the fumbling which went on in some towns.

C & B

TORONTO has not been fortunate in her campaign to sell War Savings Certificates, and she has failed in a somewhat spectacular manner. The city fathers set as their objective the acquisition of 200,000 new pledges, and in order to stimulate interest in the matter they had a large thermometer put up on the front of the City Hall. It covered the whole front of the tower, and was publicized as "the largest thermometer in the world," which it probably was. On Saturday, February 1st the thermometer was inaugurated with considerable pomp; there was a procession, speeches, and a flight of planes over the city. The idea was that the indicator of the thermometer should be hoisted every day at noon, to cheer the patriotic and encourage the lazy.

C & B

Burns has an admirable summing-up of the fallibility of human ambition"; the best laid plans o' mice and men gang aft agley" he said, and so they do. The Toronto thermometer has climbed near to the first 100,000 and there it has stuck, and this is the last week in February. Every day at noon a little gathering watches the raising of the indicator. Its numbers seem to be in dispute. Enthusiasts say the crowd is "around a couple of hundred"; cynics describe it as "five or six bums and the committee." I am rarely in the city and I cannot say which of these two accounts more nearly approaches the truth. But the biggest thermometer in the world has not been strained to its capacity yet.

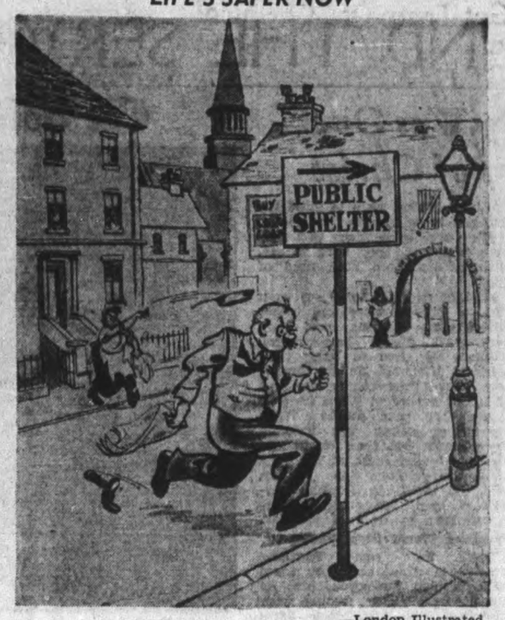
C & B

If the campaign to sell certificates should prove disappointing, it will be due in some measure to the news of the new budget, which is to require a half of our national income in taxes. That announcement has struck terror into the hearts of many of us. We are prepared, in theory, to give till it hurts, but we had never admitted to ourselves that it might hurt as much as that. Personally, I think that the wording of the news about the budget was unfortunate. The money is to be raised in many ways, some of it by indirect taxation. But our instinct, when we heard that ominous mention of "one half the national income" was to divide our own incomes in half, and to view the result with what might be conservatively described as alarm. It was foolish, but natural, to do so. And that scare did not tend to make us generous. I have heard from many people the point of view that, if the government is going to take our money anyway, there is no need to buy certificates. This is both bad logic and an ungenerous attitude, but few people are logical about money, and few also, in Canada, appear to have grasped the desperate importance of financing this war. In these days, liberty costs money, and without liberty money is utterly useless.

C & B

IT SEEMS to me that this campaign for the sale of War Savings Certificates has been badly handled. All over the country public-spirited men have been speaking in movie houses and at other gatherings on behalf of the movement. But what have they been saying? I heard several of the speeches and they were anything but persuasive. Few men are naturally good speakers, and apparently no effort had been made to supply them with suitable information or with a uniform point of view. They were allowed to say exactly what they pleased, which is democratic but not always satisfactory. I heard a pitifully ill-informed and maundering speech made in a Toronto theatre by a man who was formerly Lieutenant-Governor of this province; the best speech I heard was made by a lady who had taken the trouble to plan what she had to say and who said it briefly, convincingly and winningly. Was it nobody's responsibility to see that these speakers were supplied with information as to what they were to speak about, how long they were to speak, and how to approach the subject? The use of a very little commons sense would have told some of the speakers that the bullying, hectoring tone they used was sure to alienate their hearers. I have said in this column before, and I repeat it now, that as the dictators have used propaganda to strengthen their cause, so we should use it to strengthen ours. Freedom is one thing, and lack of unity on important points is quite another.

LIFE'S SAFER NOW



—London Illustrated.

• Little Book Worth Reading

EDITOR Examiner: Sir,—The other day, I listened to a most interesting address on France. The speaker knew his subject well, and analyzed concisely the emotional, volatile, character of the French people. The tragic collapse of the French armies in the early stages of the war was distinctly traced to two factors; first, the fact that the nation was divided into a series of little selfish cliques, motivated by base purposes, and each fighting against the other; and second, the fact that even within these cliques there were egocentric factors, the expression of an intense individualistic selfishness, so that each was the enemy of the other.

The most tragic part was his narration of the incident, where Paul Reynaud was asked if Daladier would have him succeed in the office of Premier. "Why, Daladier would rather sacrifice France than allow that to happen," was Reynaud's reply. Is it any wonder that France proved a broken reed in the present struggle for democracy! Never has it been so well exemplified that "a house divided against itself cannot stand."

After that nauseating reaction, it was with a great sense of relief, that I turned to read Daphne du Maurier's little book "Come Wind, Come Weather," which tells the story of Britain behind the lines, and gives the positive reason why victory must come to the armies of the Empire. Here were related stories of a nation reborn, a people whose selfishness had evaporated, a country united, strong, with a new sense of brotherhood, and a fresh discovery of Divine resources. And, as I read page after page, I was singularly thrilled to note that the spiritual qualities of a virile Christianity were actually in operation under the most distressing circumstances.

Just hear the little shopkeeper in the bombed out east end of London say "Oh well, this war will make a lot of difference to a lot of people. But, we'll never get the Nasties right unless we get ourselves right first. That's commonsense, isn't it? And it's not an easy thing to do, I can tell you that." But he has hit the nail on the head!

Now, I am not seeking to advertise a book or boost sales for anyone. But if I were asked to provide a tonic for depressed feelings, a cure for cynicism, I would advise everyone who reads at all not to miss reading this volume. It costs only a quarter, but it is worth its weight in gold. I agree with the editor of the London Sunday Express: "This book is one of the most constructive pieces of writing I have seen since the war began." Get it as soon as possible. It will change your outlook, if not your philosophy of life also; it will show you the nobility of Christian living; it will make you realize why "There'll always be an England."

Thanking you for the favor of printing this appeal.

ALFRED T. BARR.

P.S.—I understand that profits on sales—over half a million copies have already been sold in the Old Country — go to the war effort. — A.T.B.

Mutiny

Jane: "I wants to give notice, ma'am."

Mistress: "Why, whatever is wrong."

Jane: "Well, m'm, I 'aven' minded Miss Veronica using my fingers as glove-stretchers, nor putting the master's new boots on to make room for 'is corn, but I ain't a-going to sit on the family Bible for two hours to press leaves for your Master Eric, nor anybody!"

Mouths of Babes

The child hesitated.

"What do I do when I look at you?" said the mistress.

"Thquint," replied the scholar.

The clerk at the office for registry of births, marriages, and deaths was new to his job and not very well acquainted with the customary procedure. He was also slightly deaf.

"I want a certificate——" began the caller.

"What name?" asked the clerk.

"New—Thomas New."

"Pardon me, I didn't quite catch it."

"I'm New. New to you. New to everybody! New to the world!"

"What you want is a birth certificate," said the clerk, absently.

The Business Woman

Mrs. Snaggs: "Did I understand you to say Mrs. Perkins is interested in business?"

Mrs. Bitters: "Yes."

"What business is she interested in?"

"Everybody's!"

LACKS DETAIL

CRITICISM that generalizes is futile. This was the great weakness of Dr. Manion's leadership. He failed to back up vague general charges with specific detail, and the same may be said of the average critic of Canada's war effort in the House. These critics have almost always contented themselves with persistent pin-pricking, with vague and damaging generalities, calculated to create a sentiment of distrust. They have failed to make specific charges, and they have avoided with a thoroughness that would be highly commendable were it directed to the helping forward of Canada's war effort, uttering a word of praise of outstanding achievements in that effort, though these have been many and notable. — Montreal Star.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

Who hath directed the Spirit of the Lord, or being his counsellor hath taught him? With whom took he counsel, and who instructed him, and taught him in the path of judgment, and taught him knowledge, and shewed to him the way of understanding? Hast thou not known? hast thou not heard, that the everlasting God, the Lord, the Creator of the ends of the earth, fainteth not, neither is weary? there is no searching of his understanding....

Remember the former things of old: for I am God, and there is none else; I am God, and there is none like me, declaring the end from the beginning, and from ancient times the things that are not yet done, saying, My counsel shall stand, and I will do all my pleasure.—Isa. xl. 13, 14, 28; xlvi, 9, 10.

STEPPING ON IT

REPORTS have come to this office regarding a practice which has reared its ugly head in Nova Scotia. That practice is the so-called "third degree," in which prisoners are subjected to gruelling examination by police officers who would extract a confession....

One case mentioned is that of a prisoner who was taken from his cell and questioned for three and a half hours in a midnight examination, without his counsel being present.

This has the flavor of the third degree and is repugnant to decent people.—Halifax Chronicle.

4 Urgent Reasons For Building Right Away!

Neither increased rent nor a housing shortage can threaten your security when you build on a monthly payment basis. Once your application is approved and your monthly payments arranged, NOTHING can raise them—and NOTHING can raise the low interest rate. Therefore, it's a lot smarter to build right now and fix your cost of shelter permanently while rock-bottom prices still hold! Start your new home before a shortage of labor and materials develops.

Birth Control For Parasites Gets Millions

By JAMES McCOOK
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

BELLEVILLE, Ont., March 1 — (CP).—Little glass vials, the breeding place of parasites to fight insect pests, are bought in lots of 20,000 by the Dominion Parasite Laboratory here.

Dr. A. B. Baird, entomologist in charge, tells of how the insects increase.

A major factor in controlling the European spruce sawfly menace to Canadian forests is the parasite microplectron, brought from Europe and released from the laboratory to fight the pest.

After propagation had been carried out for two years, 20,000,000 individuals were liberated from the constant temperature rooms of the laboratory where doors like those of a battleship seal sections of the building where insects are studied.

The parasite was propagated on sawfly cocoons collected from infested regions of Gaspe Peninsula. In 1936 over 2,000,000 cocoons were used, 30 men being employed in collection work.

The laboratory technique is simple but exact. Cocoons are submerged in warm water to paralyze the larvae within, then placed in a glass vial with a female microplectron. The vial is plugged with cotton and placed in a room with temperature of 7 degrees and 75 per cent. relative humidity.

The parasite lays its complement of eggs in the cocoons within a day or two, these hatch and develop and in 15 days a new generation of microplectron adults emerge usually over 25 per vial.

Job Of Shipment

These parasites may be shipped in the cocoon stage. They are removed from incubation on the 12th day and held in cold storage until sample lots have produced and given proof of fertility. They are then placed in cages which will produce 10,000 adults each and sent out with instructions for release.

The shipment lots are important in the case of microplectron which flies very little in the adult stage and prefers to hunt sawfly cocoons by walking on the ground. Liberations of 10,000 at intervals of a quarter mile or less in heavily infested forest areas are recommended.

Microplectron, and its ally exenterus, are the parasites which led Dr. Baird to say "That our fondest hopes have been greatly exceeded" in the control exercised in sawfly infestations in Canada.

In the 20 rooms of the Belleville laboratory, the work of locating and improving parasites to serve mankind covers many species. Parasites have been found to fight the greenhouse whitefly, oyster shell scale, wooly aphis, apple mealy bug, codling moth, grasshoppers, European corn borer, wheat stem sawfly, pea moth and various other pests. Some are already in the field laboring for men as they pursue their natural prey. Others are still in process of selection, being examined day by day and under varying conditions to see that they will do their duty efficiently when set free.

In the basement of the laboratory plain cardboard boxes in a chilly room hold thousands upon thousand of insects in a dormant state, ready to be taken into warmer rooms when they are wanted and there allowed to propogate until the thousands have become millions.

No Eccentrics

"We can let them go knowing they will do what is expected of them," said Dr. Baird. "Insects have no eccentricities. The parasite set free must find the pests they are destined to destroy or they will perish. The are interested in nothing else; no other prey will satisfy them.

"The pests which run amok need their natural enemies to bring them under control. It is our task to bring these enemies here and put them to work, selecting the most effective and establishing them under the best conditions.

"Sometimes progress seems slow, but the science is exact. We can check on the work our tiny friends are doing and if for any reason they do not seem as effective as we had hoped we can continue our selective breeding and make improvements in the strain so they will suit Canadian conditions.

"Here in Belleville we have a plant unsurpassed anywhere and here we can make a vital contribution to the defence of Canada by protecting its resources.

Rogers Tops List Of Movie Stars

HOLLYWOOD, Mar. 1—(AP).—A nimble footed Charleston dancer turned dramatic and a lanky actor Hollywood once kept buried like a case ace are the new queen and king of the movies.

Ginger Rogers and James Stewart are their names. They are the newest winners of the awards given by the Academy Motion Pictures Arts and Sciences.

Ginger was better than any of her acting sisters in 1940, her fellows believe, because of her portrayal in "Kitty Foyle."

They were called to the podium of a banquet hall jammed with celebrities and fellow workers last night to be handed statuettes a foot high which have been dubbed Oscars.

The award for the best performance by a supporting actor went to Walter Brennan, who played Judge Bean in "The Westerner." It was old stuff for him—he won in 1936 for "Come and Get It" and in 1938 for "Kentucky."

The director of "The Grapes," John Ford, won the directional award." He also won in 1935 for "The Informer."

This, the 13 annual awards party, was highlighted by a radio address by President Roosevelt from the White House directed to the motion picture industry. He said he wanted to place emphasis "on the service you can render in promoting solidarity among all the people of the Americas" and thanked the industry for its support of the United States defence program.

McCarthy Going "To Do His Bit"

TORONTO, March 1 — (CP). — Leighton G. McCarthy, Canada's minister-elect to the United States, yesterday took time off from settling business affairs before leaving for Washington, to talk informally with Toronto newspapermen. He expects to take up his new duties in three weeks.

Mr. McCarthy declined to "talk about anything in Washington until I get there" but he discussed his reading tastes with newspapermen. He expressed a liking for biography and quoted Lord Malensbury's counsel to diplomats that "the first and best advice I can give to young men entering this career is to listen and not to talk."

"I am going down there to do my bit for my country," he said. "I am going to do my best and whether that is good or bad, you will know that it is my best." He had accepted the appointment for "as long as I can do a good and necessary job for my country."

He praised Loring Christie, the present minister to Washington, as "a man of considerable capacity." Mr. McCarthy's appointment was announced Tuesday by Prime Minister Mackenzie King in the House of Commons. He had been offered the appointment several years ago but had not accepted it.

The white-haired business executive looked far less than his 71 years as he sat in his library and talked. Above him on the mantle was a photograph of President Roosevelt, whom Mr. McCarthy has known for "10 years or more." A collection of books in the book-shelves consisting of debates in the House of Commons from 1898 to 1908 and a photograph of Osgoode Hall attested to his membership in the parliament as an Independent representative of North Simcoe and his work as a practising barrister in Toronto.

Plainville's Y.P.S. Visits Coldsprings

PLAINVILLE, March 1—(ENS).—Thursday evening the Plainville Young People's Society were guests of the Coldsprings Society. The visiting group provided the program, with Edgar Buttar as convener. During the worship service, Miss Evelyn Brisbin played Handel's Largo, Edgar Bowman led in prayer and Miss Ruth Lander gave a splendid devotional theme, Rev. M. Fisher gave the main topic, taking as his text "If God be for us, who can be against us?"

In lighter vein, Miss Audrey McKinlay played a piano solo, Ronald and Murray Manley, accompanied by Miss M. Douglas, sang "Wish Me Luck," and Lynn MacDonald gave amusing blackboard skits.

Coldsprings group took over and entertained their guests with games and contests, and lunch.

A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Everett Brisbin in the Cobourg Hospital, a sisted for Yvonne.

Campbellford News

Mr. Ralph Finney was rushed to Belleville Hospital one day last week to undergo an operation for appendicitis.

Mr. Sam Hobbs of East Seymour is confined to bed under doctor's care. Late reports indicate he is improving.

Hector Arnold, Dairy Instructor J. A. Murray and Agriculture Representative Ian MacLeod all went to Kemptville this week to attend a dairy conference.

Mr. Donald Watson of East Seymour has left for Niagara Falls where he is now employed.

Misses Thelma, Vera and Marie Ketcheson of Springbrook were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Murray.

MaskedPairLoot St. Jacob's Bank Of $2,283

KITCHENER, Mar. 1—(Special)—Two masked bandits held up the branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia at St. Jacobs, eight miles north of here, late Thursday, at gun-point and escaped with $2,283 in cash.

Ordered into a corner where three customers, Mrs. Lincoln Good, Alfred Holtz, and Oscar Huehn, along with the manager, R. T. Adams, and the teller, Harold Pearce, only other employee at the country branch.

While one robber held his gun on the quintet, the other calmly scooped all cash out of the teller's drawer, and spent almost five minutes rummaging through the vault, where he managed to find considerably more money.

Ordering all persons to "keep quiet or it'll be just too bad for you," the two robbers walked slowly out of the bank, so as not to arouse suspicion, got into their car and drove off in the direction of Elmira. They had barely left the limits of the village when their car skidded into the ditch.

Before they had a chance to try to get it back on to the road, Arnon Good, district farmer, his wife and their six-month-old baby drove by. Good stopped his car and got out to render assistance. "I no sooner got out of the car than both men walked over to the car, brandishing guns at myself and my family," Good related.

"They said they were 'sorry we have to do it, buddy,' ordered us out of the car, got in and drove away like a shot out of a gun toward Elmira. My wife and I then walked into the village carrying the baby," he said.

Mrs. Lincoln Good, 25, whose husband is serving in the Active Army, said she had just entered the bank to get her army cheque cashed when the two robbers entered.

"I didn't notice them until they shouted 'This is a hold-up'," she related. "Both men were pretty big, but I was so scared I couldn't begin to give a description of them, although I know they both had big scarfs wrapped around most of their faces."

Mrs. Good, a sister-in-law of Arnon Good, who later supplied the holdup men with a relief car, said all persons in the bank were ordered to lie down, then the robbers changed their minds and forced them all into a corner of the bank at gun-point.

Luck Holds Good For Famed Rickenbacker

ATLANTA, Mar. 1—(AP).—Many times in a long career with racing automobiles and airplanes Eddie Rickenbacker has come close to death. Always, as yesterday, he has escaped.

In auto racing, war combat flying and peace-time aviation he has been fearless and daring himself. Yet he always has urged others to take the safe way and dislikes seeing any one in danger.

The 50-year-old flier downed twenty-one enemy planes and four balloons to rank as the ace of American aces in the First Great War. He was eight times awarded the Distinguished Service Cross.

Once in his war career as he recalled it, "I thought death was upon me."

It was during a terrifying dive, with two German planes pouring bullets at his craft, and a damaged wing sending his ship into a tail spin.

"The ground was coming up at me with a rush," Rickenbacker recalled. "Finally, in desperation, I opened the throttle wide. It straightened the ship out. I shot out of German territory and back to my own base landing at terrific speed, but safely.

Rarely Flies Now

He drove his first automobile race in 1906—he was only 18 then—and soon made his name as a "front runner," constantly ahead of the pack. He turned over or smashed fences several times, but always came back, flashing his undaunted smile.

As boss of the Indianapolis Speedway in later years, he felt responsibility for the daredevils during the race so keenly that he could sit still hardly a minute during the 500-mile grind. Rain would send him out on the track to test the course for himself; only last year he ordered the race slowed down because of rain. At the finish he was exhausted.

For the last two years he has urged a 50,000-plane arm for the United States forces.

It has been a long time since he himself has handled a plane from take off to landing, although he sometimes takes over the controls in the air.

"It's a business for the younger men, this flying large transport planes," he said.

Rickenbacker tried to console his companions throughout the hours of waiting after today's crash.

"Take it easy boys, let's not get excited," he urged and passengers reported several times he told them:

"I'm awfully sorry this had to happen to you, boys." Rickenbacker directed the stretcher bearers who lifted him away from the wreckage.

"Look out, you're going to spill me," he warned once as they trod through a creek, and groaned another "be careful, boys."

Rickenbacker was last to be removed from the ship. Pinned "all night on top of poor Moore (the steward)," Rickenbacker could not move, and rescuers had to cut away the side of the plane to release him.

"Tell the boys I'll be out in three or four weeks," Rickenbacker said at the hospital later.

U.S. Transports Would Use Ontario Roads

DETROIT, Mar. 1—(AP). — The motor truck committee of the Automobile Manufacturer's Association petitioned the State Department yesterday to seek a modification of Canadian Customs regulations so that United States motor carriers may be accorded "the same privileges as American Railroads in serving points in the United States through Canada."

The committee pointed out that modification of the customs regulations would enable motor carriers to shorten their running time considerably between midwest points and upper New York State by using the shorter route through Ontario.

The communication to the State Department said the distance between Buffalo and Detroit through Ontario is 104 miles shorter than by the route around the United States side of Lake Erie and that between Buffalo and Port Huron, Mich., the saving is 210 miles.

"We understand," the committee added, "that the government of the Province of Ontario is willing to permit the use of its highways by United States motor truck owners provided, among other things, that the province is compensated for the use of its roads, and provided the responsibility of the United States truck owners is proved."

Germicidal Mist

CHICAGO, Mar. 1—(AP).—Scientists have developed a germicidal mist which sterilizes air without apparently harming humans, a discovery which may be of great value in air raid shelters and barracks. University of Chicago researchists reported to-day that the new method might achieve sterile air in sick rooms, meetings and crowded housing places and might, therefore, reduce sharply the spread of such infections as pneumonia and common colds.

War Savings Committee

Peterborough, Ontario,
March 1st, 1941.

TO THE CITIZENS OF PETERBOROUGH:

As Joint Chairmen of the Committee in charge of the local campaign for War Savings, we desire to thank all those who have in any way contributed to the success of the campaign. We should like particularly to thank the ladies, led by Mrs. Paige Rowell, who conducted such a thorough house to house canvass, Mr. R. E. Layfield, who did such excellent work as Chairman of the Industries Division and his committee, Mr. W. C. Hughes and members of his Retail and Business Division Committee, and H. L. Garner of the Examiner for the services performed by Mr. G. W. Craw and Mr. P. McGillen, who handled our publicity so well, also Mr. Douglas Hammond who so efficiently took charge of the Campaign Headquarters.

To those of you who have pledged yourselves to lend, we can only say that the quota allotted to Peterborough has been exceeded, and that in so doing you have made it known that as citizens of Peterborough, you have done your bit to assist in raising some of the necessary funds so urgently needed to carry on our war effort.

Sincerely,

JUDGE. MAYOR.

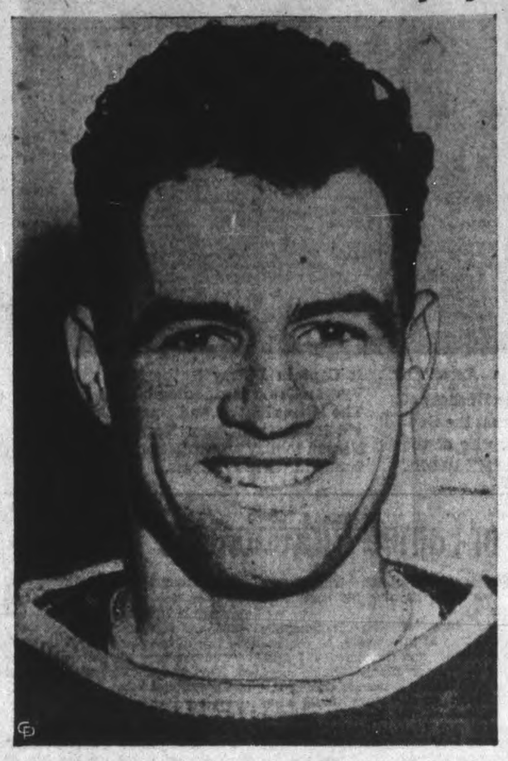
CYRIL GIROUX CAPTURES THE HARRY F. FOOTE CURLING TROPHY

Johnny Quilty Youngest Player In N.H.L. Ahead In Rookie Race For Calder Trophy

By GEORGE GRACE
(Central Press Canadian Sports Writer)

TORONTO, March 1.—Hockey's "silly season"—the late winter and early spring when the all-star teams are picked, the winners of the various trophies are selected, the time for designating Joe Whoozis as the best at this and Sam Ironshot as the best at that—is in full swing. In other words, the pro. hockey scribes are beating time waiting for the playoffs.

No winner has as yet been selected for the Calder trophy, awarded annually to the National Hockey league's best-looking newcomer, but you can bet your bottom taxable dollar that it will be battle to the wire between Johnny Quilty, Canadines' 19-year-old centre ice sensation and Johnny Mowers, the agile netminder, generally credited with making Detroit Red Wings what they are today.



Canadiens Have Material

Canadiens, with a team made up to a large extent of rookies, bulk larger than any other team in the Calder trophy picture. They have in addition to Quilty, Ken Reardon, Tony Graboski, and Alex Singbush as eligible rookie defencemen, and Elmer Lach, Joe Benoit and Jack Adams as forwards in line for the award. Of these Lach and Quilty have stood out over the others, with Lach, on his early season form, drawing the most attention, only to be passed in the last month by Quilty.

Against Canadiens' galaxy of rookies the other teams can present a less glittering array. Americans have Pete Slobodian, Norm Larsen, Charlie Rayner, and Bus Wycherley among those eligible. Chicago Black Hawks make a bow with two promising defencemen, Johnny Marriuci and Red Mackay, as well as forward Max Bentley, brother of Doug. of the same team. Boston, Toronto, and New York Rangers have no absolute newcomers to stick in trophy bids for, while most of the young players Detroit Red Wings have brought up have made only ephemeral appearances on occasional trips up from one of the Detroit farms.

Between Quilty and Mowers

Scattered votes for most of the players mentioned will no doubt be cast, but the main bout, as previously paragraphed, will be between the Messrs. Quilty and Mowers, one a centre, the other a netminder, as have been three of the four previous winners of the award, Frank Brimsek, Cully Dahlstrom and Syl Apps.

Mention of Apps brings to mind the fact that more than once the names of Quilty and Apps have been linked. Not that the Canadiens rookie is regarded as a rival for Silvery Sylvanus, but many a seasoned observer of the ice wars has been author of such lines as "wait a few years"..."he's that good now, wait till he gets a little experience" and such.

Behind the great play of the youthful Johnny, goal-scoring and play-making that will stand on their own feet, is the fact that he stepped right into the major league picture without any major league experience or even any "amateur experience in the higher brackets. Quilty played his hockey last winter in the Ottawa high school league.

Follows "Silver" Quilty

The name Quilty is new to the younger generation of Canadian sport fans, but familiar to the old-timers. Johnny's father, "Silver" Quilty, was one of Canada's brightest shining rugby stars with Ottawa university and McGill in the days before the first world war. Home to the Quilty's is Ottawa, a seemingly endless sources of high-class hockey talent.

As one of the youngest players to ever break into the N.H.L. Johnny arrived with Canadiens in a curious way. First, only 15 years old, he was placed on the negotiation list of Montreal Maroons When financial anemia brought about the collapse of that team Quilty was snapped up in a negotiation list way by Toronto Maple Leafs, who in turn let their rights lapse long enough for Tommy Gorman, one-third of Canadiens' triple brain trust, to jot his name down on Canadiens' list.

But that does not end the surprising story of the possible rookie trophy winner. He moved from his Ottawa home primarily to play rugby with the Montreal Big Four team and junior hockey. He did participate in the first game of the season with Montreal's perpetually losing grid forces, and then hied himself off for a tryout with the N.H.L. Canadiens at their training camp.

From that point on Johnny's actions spoke louder than any words and they've kept right on speaking until they may be sufficiently loud to steer him to the Calder trophy—and, incidentally, an extra thousand shekels, the latter a possible result of Father Silver Quilty's acumen at the time of the contract-signing.

Johnny, being a minor, had to have his father in on the contract ceremony, and the latter insisted a clause be inserted to the effect that if his son won the rookie award he would also win $1,000 from Canadiens. It seemed amusing at the time, but the Montreal management has no regrets.

SPORTS – DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

Peterborough's Junior B entry, sitting pretty a few days ago with two wins under their belts and needing only one more victory to grab the group championship now find themselves all tied up with the Oshawa Bees and facing the task of having to beat Frank Black's boys in Oshawa in the fifth game of the series next Wednesday night. A win here last night would have meant curtains for Oshawa but they played their best hockey of the season here and beat the Petes 9 goals to 5 in a battle in which the home talent rallied gamely after a discouraging start and then after nearly pulling the game out of the fire finally tailed off again in the final stages of the conflict. It was tough medicine to take after the most auspicious start the local youngsters had picked up but the addition of Andy McMullen to the Oshawa squad and the improvement shown by other players made the difference.

* * * * * *

The importance of a win last night may have been tough on the nerves of the Peterborough youngsters. At any rate they failed to show the same dash and effectiveness against the Oshawa gang as they had displayed in earlier battles and the mistakes they made in not covering up and careless passing in their own defence area were decidedly costly. Several goals were registered against them because the Petes were paying more attention to the man than they were to the puck in front of their own net and as a result the visitors got scoring opportunities that should not have come their way. The Oshawa team has improved considerably since its earlier appearances here and that means the Petes to win the fifth game will have to iron out their weak spots and turn on the heat from start to finish in next Wednesday's game.

* * * * * *

The Oshawa explanation of the addition of Andy McMullen to their team after the playoff stage had been reached is that McMullen had not been played previously because there is a rule in the Oshawa hockey club that no player over eighteen years of age is to be allowed to play on the Oshawa junior B team. The idea is, of course, to use the Bees as a nursery for the Generals and therefore there would be nothing gained by playing youngsters who are in their final year, McMullen, they say, is in that category. He is nineteen years of age and therefore, following the usual Oshawa practice he was not used by the Bees in any of their regular schedule games or in the first two games of the playoffs. When the Petes grabbled those two games and it looked like curtains for the Bees the rule about nineteen-year-olds was scrapped and McMullen was added to the squad. That is the Oshawa story and we pass it along.

A Tribute To Jack Adams

Peterborough hockey fans who remember Jack Adams when he performed here will get a kick out of the following tribute paid him recently in the Detroit Times. It fits in with everything Peterborough knows of the genial John: "Adams, on a winning night, can smile and bow and wave his hands better than any one I know. The same Adams, on a losing night, can cough and sputter and growl and be about the meanest man in town. He could never be any different. If he was, he wouldn't be Jack Adams. The man who writes Jack Adams' obituary to hockey never can say that old ruddy-faced John was "a good loser." No great manager in sports ever was a "good loser." A few, I grant you, were able to put up that fake front and play the smiling role of the vanquished. But NOT John James Adams. Frankly, that's why I like him most. There's no hypocrisy about him. He doesn't put on an act for the public, and then take off the false whiskers in the dressing room. Adams is one of the true-blue guys in all of sportdom. He's the kind that puts a lot more into the community than he takes out. There are very few like him in sports."

* * * * * *

"Adams expects his Red Wings to play with all their might all the time they are on the ice—to give their all for Detroit and their team," continues the article. "If they don't they are due for a good going over. Also, while he will excuse mechanical errors, like a missed check at a critical stage or a missed shot at an open net, mental blunders or bone-heads gripe him, and again he will speak his piece in most emphatic terms. More than one Red Wing has left Adams' office or the dressing room with burning ears as a result of a lecture given him by Adams. Generally, though, a player chastised was a better hockey player for it. Jack figures that since hockey players are paid good money for a comparatively short season they should give their best at all times. But he's not unreasonable in his demands. Neither is he a harsh taskmaster. He never fails to give praise where praise is due and many a time has been seen to embrace one of his men for an especially meritorious performance."

* * * * * *

Ken Colling has this to say of the final Kingston-Peterborough game: "As the guest of the Kingston club we made the trip to Peterborough and from an unbiased seat we might say that the Petes stickhandled themselves out of a possible fifth game, as Jim Ellis' crowd were passing the rubber around when they would have been better advised to try their luck at testing Burrows, who incidentally was the star of the game in the early stages with his miraculous saves, when the Petes tossed caution to the winds and literally stormed the Kingston net, but Burrows was just too good and therein lies the answer as to why Kingston won, that is coupled with some good management in forcing the Petes into weariness. Next to Burrows came Bobby Neilson, who turned in a sterling effort, with "Lone-ranger" Mel Williamson and Hood next in line. The disappointing feature of the game was the effort of the Petes' front line of Heal, Tompkins and Kingdon, who turned in their poorest effort of the year."

A Gallant Battler

Lou Ambers, one of the most gallant battlers in ring history is through. In a brilliant attempt to come back last night the Herkimer lad fought six sparkling rounds against Champion Lew Jenkins and then was belted out in the seventh by a barrage of blows that forced Referee Arthur Donovan to stop the bout. Ambers lacked the armament of his hard-hitting opponent but his old skill and craftsmanship stood him in good stead and while he lasted he outsmarted and outfought the titleholder. He has decided to quit the ring now and fight fans who appreciate his qualities will applaud the decision. He has been a credit to the fight game.

Week-end games in the National Hockey League are decidedly important with the Boston Bruins-Toronto Leafs battle in Toronto tonight as a feature. The Mapleos go into the game with a two-point lead so that a Bruins' victory will tie the two teams and give the Boston club a chance to take the lead tomorrow night when they play in Chicago. Boston have won their last two games in Toronto by a one-goal margin and as the Leafs will be without Syl Apps have a better than good chance of grabbing off their third win in a row at Maple Leaf Gardens. New York Rangers, polishing off their machine for the playoffs and pointing for the third notch in the standing, have a good chance to improve their position as they play two games over the week-end, meeting Canadiens tonight and Detroit tomorrow. Red Wings nosed out the Amerks last night to take sole possession of third place.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Tonight's City League basketball game between the Juniors and Quaffers should be a lively exhibition....Quaker Aces are travelling at a fast clip in the Ladies' Basketball Loop and right now look like the team to beat for the leadership....Oshawa Generals received an unexpected bump last night when Young Rangers beat them 5 to 4....Sutton, conquerors of Campbellford and Omemee found the Oakville intermediate a pushover, taking the round 22 to 7....Peterborough police took the rubber game from Cobourg police defeating them 8 to 5 at Campbellford....Now Lindsay folk want to see the cops in action.

Challedon Runs Second In Betless Race

Because Jockey George Woolf apparently would not give the champion his head, Challedon was "beaten" by a length in the first betless race ever attempted at Santa Anita. Wisbech, a seasoned selling plater, is shown leading Challedon by a length at the wire. Neither horse was extended. The champion's time for the seven furlongs was 1.26 4-5, an impressive showing. Observers believed the $100,000 handicap high-weight to be sound. Challedon stands high in the prevailing odds to win the handicap today (March 1st).

Westbrook Rink Is Beaten 12-9 In The Club Finals

To Cyril Giroux and his rink go the honors of winning the "Harry Foote" Trophy and with it the club championship. The Giroux rink defeated Charlie Westbrook's rink 12 to 9.

Playing on a sheet of fast ice these two rinks played the final game of the 1940-41 schedule, and it was in keeping with the brand of curling that has been seen at the local rink for the last two weeks.

We believe we are right when we say that beginning with the Neill Trophy, the finals of it, the group play-offs and finishing up last night with the finals of the finals, the curling by all of the players has been of high class order.

Our records show that four of five games have been decided only on the last end or two.

In last night's game it was close all the way, with the players doing their very best. Right from the leads down to the skips, every shot was well figured out and well played.

Lady Luck came into the picture only once and that was on the tenth end, the Giroux boys getting the break. It we were to pick any one player out, it would probably be Skip Westbrook. He was good, missed only two shots all night. And so we offer congratulations to both winner and loser, not only on their performance of last night but also for the fact that these two teams have gone through the entire season without using a sub.

And now for the Leads-Seconds bonspiel. The draw has been made. Play will commence at 7 p.m. Monday evening with all winners playing again at 9 p.m.. If the boys will come down to the rink, the personnel of the rinks is posted on the blackboard. This will help out a lot and save confusion on Monday evening.

Red Wings Defeat The Amerks; Rayner Is Hurt

(By the Canadian Press.)

Jack Adams must realize about now that when he was gathering material for his Detroit Red Wings last autumn he should have looked out for something to build up his attack as well as seeking defensive material.

During the National Hockey League season his Wings have been blessed with defensive hockey of an exceptional variety but his attack has been fashioned strictly along the lines of a gentle zephyr. Only in odd spasms have Wings been able to collect enough goals to make the work of Goalie Johnny Mowers as valuable to the club as it should be.

Three Goals In 5 Minutes

One of Detroit's few scoring outbursts came last night against the Americans upon whose hapless and hopeless misfortunes many clubs have laid the foundations for unique performances. Wings scored three goals in five minutes during the third period to beat Amerks 5-4—an outburst which ended with another link in Americans' recent chain of injuries when Charlie Rayner, youthful goalkeeper, injured a leg muscle. Andy Branigan, a defenceman called up recently from Springfield, played the remaining few minutes in goal.

Branigan In Goal

Rayner's leg was injured in attempting to stop Carl Liscombe's game-winning goal at 12:47. Wings failed to score on Branigan, a former lacrosse net-minder with the Winnipeg Elmwoods. Syd. Howe counted Detroit's first goals in the outburst. Don Grosso and Ebbie Goodfellow had counted for Wings in previous play, with Buzz Boll getting two for Americans, Brannigan one and Bill Benson one.

The victory sent Wings back into sole position of third place, pulling them out of a tie with New York Rangers for that position.

The N.H.L. schedule for the rest of the week-end gives Rangers a chance to pull back into a tie, or even go ahead. The New York club will meet Montreal Canadiens in Montreal Saturday night and hops to Detroit for a Sunday night game. Boston will play Toronto in Toronto tonight, and with a win could pull into a tie for first place. In Sunday night's other two games, Canadiens will meet Americans in New York and Chicago will be at home to Boston.

Marlies Drop Opener To St. Kitts

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Mar. 1—(CP). — The St. Catharines forward line of Roy Heximer, Ray Hastie, and Rosy Rossini showed to-day as one of the most probable reasons for St. Catharines' success in Ontario Hocke Association Senior A campaigning this season.

Heximer counted twice last night and Rossini once as St. Catharines scored a 4-2 victory over Toronto Marlboros in the first game of a best-of-seevn series for the championship of the O.H.A. Senior A group. In addition, Heximer and Hastie each had an assist. Pete Backor, hard-checking defenceman, scored the other Saints goal and passed for one of Heximer's two.

Marlboros were weakened through illness of Jimmy Drummond and Paul MacNamara, but dominated early first period play and outplayed St. Catharines in the second period to score two goals. Greg Kirby counted the first on a play with Johnny Inglis and Ab Copp got the second after a pass from Don Dunbar.

The second game of the series will be played in Toronto on Monday night, with the eventual winner to represent the O.H.A. in the Allan Cup playdowns.

Kingston Team Beats Cobourg 4-3

COBOURG, March 1.—Kingston R.M.C. will take a one-goal lead into the second game of their O.H.A. Junior "C" playoff series against Cobourg as a result of their 4-3 victory here last night in the opening game. A faster-skating band, the locals were downed by a much heavier aggregation, who took advantage of some lackadaisical performances by the locals.

Cobourg: Goal, May; defense, Maher and Zealand; centre, Haines; wings, Markle and Rowden; subs, Can, Cullen, Parkinson, Johns, Hill and Bradbury.

R.M.C.—Goal, Lawson; defense, Eliott and Corbett; centre, Edwards; wings, Nash and Boyd; subs, Allan, Sewell, Powers, Brown, Fraser and Robbins.

Louis Far Below Old Time Boxers Says 1932 Champ

By BILL KING
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

BOSTON, Mar. 1 — (CP). — The one person in the world who knows whether Jack Dempsey punched harder than Joe Louis won't tell.

He is Jack Sharkey, heavyweight champion in 1932, who is willing and eager to discuss every other boxing subject as long as the cash registers keep jingling in the spacious tavern he conducts a stone's throw from the Boston Garden.

Sharkey took kayo punches from both Dempsey and Louis. Dempsey, though, got him back in 1927, but Sharkey won the title in 1932, lost to Carnero in 1933, and came out of retirement to meet Louis in 1936.

"Louis will be taken one of these days, but not by any of the heavyweights around to-day," Sharkey predicts. "Joe's a great puncher, but a very lucky one. He was born just at the right time. If he'd been around with Dempsey, Tunney, Risko and dozens of others who were active with me, he never would have moved out of the preliminary class."

Big Business Man.

The "Garrulous Gob" of boxing's golden days is now a highly pol'shed and successful business man. "I've made more of a success out of a tavern than any other champion ever did, and, as you know, about every one of them had fling at this business at one time or another," he points out with pride.

Fortyish but unfat, Sharkey today looks as trim as he did when he was at his peak. "Weight never bothers me," he boasts. "Don't forget, I took off a total of 1,200 pounds when I was campaigning. I'm not letting any unnecessary poundage creep up on me when I'm not looking."

As far as finances go, Sharkey probably is better fixed than he was when his earning capacity was the greatest. In those days, all of his purses, except the funds needed for the upkeep of his beautiful Chestnut Hill estate and the living expenses of himself and family went into trust funds.

Some of them have matured and been re-invested soundly. Most of the others will do the same soon. But Sharkey does not have to touch any of them to maintain high living standards for his family. He makes more than enough out of his tavern to meet current expenses and provide him with the pleasures he desires, such as expensive automobiles, theatre parties, and interesting wagers at pool.

Ex-champion Sharkey is a man of substance, a respected neighbor in one of Boston's most exclusive sections and a patron of many arts. His interest in boxing is only academic now, but he will go miles out of his way to help that sport or one of its unfortunate victims.

"I still love boxing," he says. "I should, for it was good to me." Sharkey, but when you rate a helpport of call for every broken down battler to hit town. Most of them have him marked for "the bite."

"No one can mke a chump out of Sharke, but when you rate a helping hand from him, you get it," the old-timers say.

OSHAWA BEES EVEN UP JUNIOR SERIES WITH PETERBORO JUNIORS

Petes Defeated On Home Ice In Fourth Game

Oshawa Bees sewed up the Junior group playoff series tighter than the Italians are held in Libya here last night when they defeated the Peterborough Colts 9 goals to 5 in the fourth game of the series. That leaves the two teams tied with two wins each and the championship will be decided next Wednesday night in Oshawa, when the rival clubs meet in the fifth tussle .

Frank Black's youngsters outplayed the home talent last night. They got the jump by outscoring the Petes 5 to 1 in the first period and although the Peterborough kids rallied, had the better of the going in the second period and in the early stages of the third session and pulled up to within one goal of tying the score Oshawa had enough reserve power to run in the last three markers and win going away.

They played the smarter hockey, covered up better, stuck to their positions and handled the puck nicely when they got an opening. The Petes fought courageously but there were defensive lapses that hurt, and their attack lacked the effective passing plays that carried the winners in for goals. On top of that, the penalties they drew were costly.

Their Best Exhibition

Oshawa played the best hockey they have shown here this winter. Andy McMullen, although not as prominent as in Oshawa was always a threat and McIntyre, Davies, Furey, McBrien and Bouckley were smart attackers, passing effectively and making good use of their scoring opportunities. Burkhart turned in a good card in the nets, and Galbraith was the best of the visiting defencemen.

The Petes all had their moments. Parnell's rushing was outstanding and Rochetta and Leonard tried hard to keep the homsters in the hunt. Red Eason, although outlucked on his scoring chances showed a lot of speed and fight. The peppery Mortimer who was unable to play because of illness was missed.

Goalie Jack Morrison had tough luck with a couple of shots in the first period, but settled down after that and made some brilliant stops on close-in attempts.

The first period was disastrous from a Peterborough viewpoint. The Petes could not seem to untrack themselves and they got off on the wrong foot when Vitarelli drew an early penalty for boarding an Oshawa player. A careless pass out from the corner gave Davies an opening for a shot and he drove the first goal past Morrison at the two-minute mark. Oshawa were doing most of the attacking in the early stages and after five minutes play Bouckley made it 2 to 0 when he took a pass from McBrien to score at close range. Both Peterborough defencemen played the puck carrier and Bouckley was in the clear when he took the pass.

A minute later Andy McMullen hung another one on a side shot that did not leave the ice after Davies had made the play for him. The Petes broke into the scoring column in 45 seconds when Rochetta registered from a scramble. McIntyre netted the puck for Oshawa but Referee Sutcliffe did not allow the score. However, from the face-off that followed McIntyre passed to Furey, and his quick shot eluded Morrison. Sawyer got the last goal of the period with Furey getting an assist on the play.

Only One Goal in Second

The Petes rallied in the second period and made things interesting for Burkhart although they only scored once. Cauley was the successful marksman, firing from the side after a dash down the boards. The home youngsters kept up the pressure and came close half a dozen times, but either shot wide or right at Burkhart. It was 5 to 2 at the end of the session.

Hinton had drawn a penalty near the end of the period and he was still off when the third stanza opened. The Petes cashed in on the chance, Leonard rifling a fast shot past Burkhart after Parnell had carried the rubber down. At the three-minute mark Shields scored on a long shot from the centre-ice zone and the Petes were only a goal down. However, with the homesters ganging Davies scored for Oshawa on a breakaway with Andy McMullen to make the score 6 to 4. The Petes made it 6 to 5 when Parnell shot from the left boards and the red light went on. Oshawa squawked on the goal and had the goal umpire removed, but the score was credited.

Again the home talent were only a goal in arrears, but Oshawa struck back with two goals within 30 seconds, A. McMullen getting the first on a pass from Davies, and McBrien registered the second with A. McMullen's assistance. That made the tally Oshawa 8, Peterborough 5, and practically settled the ball game, although the visitors scored once more at the 17-minute mark on a Davies to McMullen play, to put the victory in the decisive class.

Jimmy Going In For Baseball, Now?

Oshawa Drops Close Game 5-4 To Rangers

TORONTO, March 1—A sparkling solo expedition late in the third period by Murray Henderson netted Bowles Rangers the goal that enabled them to edge Oshawa Generals, 5-4, at Maple Leaf Gardens last night to square the O.H.A. Junior "A" semi-final series at one game each.

Beaten, 8-2, in the opening game of the series at Oshawa Friday, Ed Wildey's scrappers appeared well on their way to a second straight defeat when the Wally Wilson-led Oshawans grabbed a 3-1 lead in the first period. Rangers tightened their defense thereafter, and at the same time improved their offense to rack up the only three goals of the second period. Each team scored once in the third.

Wally Wilson dominated the scoring summary, potting all four Oshawa goals. Bill Shill netted a pair for Rangers and was the driving force behind the second-period splurge that put the Toronto team ahead for good.

Goalkeeper Dick Shad for Oshawa suffered a cut on his nose during the second period when Shill's high-flying stick nicked him. The game was delayed for ten minutes while repairs were made to the nasal organ.

Ted Grosskurth, in goal for Rangers, played a great game, along with Shill and Henderson. Wally Wilson, Sawyer and Eddolls, who handed out some jarring body-checks, were best for Oshawa.

Oshawa—Goal, Schad; defense, Eddolls and Rooke; centre, Wally Wilson; wings, Sawyer, Conacher; alternates, Nelson, R. Wilson, McNaught, Hewson, Dunster and White.

Bowles Rangers — Goal, Grosskurth; defense, Henderson and Leeming; centre, McLean; wings, Adamson and Simpson; alternates, Shill, Wade, Murray, Smylie, Hamilton, Akery.

Ambers Stopped By Jenkins In 7th Round

NEW YORK, March 1 —(AP)— They wrote Lou Ambers' fistic obituary today, but it was a hero's song, not a funeral march.

Although he was stopped by the dynamite of Lew Jenkins in Madison Square Garden last night, the laughing boy not only stood up to the Texas thumper blow for blow, but was actually leading the fight when the roof fell in on him in the seventh round.

He wasn't supposed to last five rounds against one of the most dangerous punchers the little men of the ring have ever known. He was supposed to be all washed up and was advised not to take this fight for fear it might do him some permanent hurt. He wasn't supposed to do anything except try to keep out of harm's way.

Yet, after a slow start, he walked right into the bricks the skinny swatter from Sweetwater tossed from the third through the sixth round, left-handed him silly in that stretch, and looked more like a champion than Jenkins did—until the Seventh.

Then, after Lou had been floored three times and Referee Arthur Donovan had stopped the bout at 2:28 of the seventh, the little Herkimer hurricane called it quits, announcing his retirement as tears streaked his smile and the cheers of the 16,402 customers still hang in his ears—all for him.

Hockey's Big Seven

(By the Canadian Press.)

Syd Howe of Detroit, only member of the National Hockey League's Big Seven in operation last night, moved ahead of Gordie Drillon of Toronto into fifth spot by scoring two goals to increase his total to 34. Howe's scoring dropped Sweeney Schriner, Toronto, and Eddie Wiseman and Bobby Bauer of Boston from the list. The four had been tied in last spot with 32 points. Howe did his scoring when Detroit took a 5-4 decision from New York Americans.

3 Cars In City Burns Is Said To Have Claimed

Startling evidence in the form of a statement said to have been made by Lawrence Burns, charged with robbery in connection with the theft of money from the Canadian Department Stores on February 2, featured the evidence in the case on Friday afternoon.

Louis Gallow, one of four men charged in the case, has been committed for trial, and it was during Burns' preliminary hearing that the evidence was given by Detective Sgt. William E. Meagher of the Peterborough City Police force.

Burns was committed for trial on the charge.

When the second charge against Burns of burglarizing the office of the Wonder Bakeries was called, Crown Attorney McElderry said he was asking that that charge be withdrawn.

"No, we do not want a withdrawal; we want a dismissal," said T. J. Carley, K.C., defence counsel.

"Then I will not offer any evidence," said Mr. McElderry.

"The Crown offers no evidence; the preliminary inquiry is dismissed," said Magistrate Langley.

"That does not mean that you are dismissed," His Worship said to Burns. "It means that the preliminary inquiry is dismissed."

"He will have to stick around," said Mr. Carley.

Detective Meagher testified that after finger-printing Burns in the local police station, he questioned the accused, informing him that police had recovered a traveller's bag, allegedly stolen from the C.D.S. store, and he also told of the information police had relative to the movements of a maroon colored car on the night in question.

Depends On Evidence

He told the court that Burns said, "For your information there were three cars in Peterborough that night, and if I see at the preliminary hearing that you have sufficient evidence to send me up for trial, I will plead guilty; but if you haven't I'll carry the case as far as I can, even to Ottawa if necessary."

T. J. Carley vigorously attacked the statement, questioning its admissability as evidence. He based his objections on the fact that according to the evidence by Constable Menzies, the warning as given the prisoner had pointed out anything the prisoner might say would be taken down in writing and used as evidence against him, and also that Detective Meagher had said when he started the questioning, "I want to be fair with you."

This latter statement Mr. Carley interpreted as an inducement, and he further pointed out that the evidence had not been taken down in writing. He took exception also to the use of the word "against" in the warning.

Objection Overruled

Magistrate Langley agreed that Mr. Carley had presented a subtle and ingenuous argument which might influence a higher court. He maintained, however, that he had devoted considerable study to this particular point of law and on three occasions had presented papers to legal societies on the point, and in his opinion the statement was admissable. Following the completion of the case he committed the accused to trial by a higher court.

When court reconvened at 2.15 on Friday afternoon, Detective Oliver Borland, finger-print expert of the Toronto Police Force and Constable Raymond Truax of the Provincial Police at Windsor gave evidence and Detective Sergeant William Meagher of the Peterborough City Police was the third witness called.

Detective Meagher told of bringing the small steel safe from Windsor to Peterborough, and of bringing Burns along also. He explained that he and Constable Menzies had taken Burns into the detective's office at the local police station to finger-print him, and it was following this that the conversation took place which highlighted the evidence given during Friday afternoon.

"The accused knew you and Constable Menzies were both policemen?" asked Mr. Carley.

"I presume he did.'

"Did you tell him that if he pleaded guilty he would only get two years "

"I did not, because I didn't know what the penalty would be."

"You both shot questions at him?"

"Oh, we both questioned him."

"Did you take it down in writing "

"No."

"Did Menzies take it down."

"No."

"How long did you question him?"

"About 10 to 20 minutes."

Menzies Called

Before submitting some special evidence, Mr. McElderry called Constable Menzies on the sole issue of the admissability of a confession said to have been given by Burns.

"I understand Detective Sgt. Meagher gave the warning and told Burns anything he said might be taken down in writing and used as evidence?" Mr. McElderry asked.

"Yes."

Mr. Carley objected on grounds that the caution as stated by Menzies would be taken in writing and yet it wasn't taken down. Then the caution given by Detective Meagher used the words "against him," which might deter an innocent man from talking.

Mr. Carley pointed out that the Code laid stress on this point, indicating the world against should not be used.

Mr. Carley said that the statement "taken down in writing" is an inducement because the accused would know the statement would be correct. Then the statement was not taken down.

Subject to objection Magistrate Langley ruled he would hear the statement. A subtle and ingenious argument has been presented by counsel for the accused," His Worship said, and added he could not agree with his opinions and felt the statement was admissable.

Mr. McElderry then asked Detective Meagher to tell what happened.

Meagher said he told Burns of the bag and the maroon car which bumped another car back of C.D.S. store on the night of the robbery, and continued to explain Burns' reply as follows:

Startling Statement

For your information there were three cars in Peterborough that night, and if I see at the preliminary hearing you have enough evidence to send me up for trial I will plead guilty; but if you haven't I'll carry it as far as possible even to Ottawa."

Mr. Carley took objection to Detective Meagher's statement that he wished to be fair with the accused and that this in itself was an inducement, but Magistrate Langley ruled the witness might continue.

Mr. Carley made the witness repeat every word of the evidence, and then when he heard the evidence wanted to know what questions Menzies had asked.

Detective Meagher said as far as he could recall Menzies did not ask any questions, but used the term we because both of them were there.

That concluded the Crown's case and Mr. Carley moved for dismissal but the magistrate indicated the statement given to Detective Meagher tended to prove the accused had been in Peterborough on the night of the robbery.

Mr. Carley attacked the admissability of the statement and said it did not even point suspicion at the accused.

I will not be responsible for what another court will find on the admissability of this statement," said His Worship. I have gone into this point very thoroughly, read all the cases, and even given three papers. I am committing the accused for trial."

OTTAWA, March 1—(CP)—Speculation over who will be appointed to fill the two Senate vacancies was revived on Parliament Hill this week as the Upper House prepared to resume its deliberations—and the general impression was that at least one of the seats will be filled in the near future.

As it stands now, Liberal and Conservative appointees in the Senate are equally divided, 47 in each group. There is a Quebec vacancy caused by the death of Senator Charles Bourgeois and one in Saskatchewan caused by death of Senator H. W. Laird.

Senate leaders are understood to expect the Saskatchewan appointment first. Mentioned as possible appointees are Premier William J. Patterson; Dr. T. F. Donnelly, Liberal Member of Parliament for Wood Mountain; Malcolm MacLean, special assistant to Air Minister Power; and Thomas Miller, managing director of the Moose Jaw Times-Herald.

Only name prominently mentioned for the Quebec seat is that of Transport Minister Cardin, and there are reports the seat may be held open until such time as he decides to retire from his cabinet post.

In the Commons

C. E. Johnston (N. D. Bow River) let his tongue slip when talking about the Mounties . . . "Some nights these men are on the road all day long," said he.

T. L. Church (Con. Toronto-Broadview) was urging action to reduce motor accidents . . . he said he saw Justice Minister Lapointe have a "close shave" . . . then added: "I shouldn't like to see the Honorable member for Parkdale (H. A. Bruce, Con.) or the Prime Minister or the learned Minister of Pensions (Hon. Ian Mackenzie) run any risks . . . They don't step as lively as they used to."

The Senate doesn't meet until Tuesday but a handful of Senators dropped into the Commons gallery this week to watch the lower house in action . . . Col. G. P. Vanier and Jean Desy, Ministers to France and the Low Countries before the Germans marched in, listened intently while the House discussed external affairs . . . they're both without legations at present but are busy at other work . . . Mr. Lapointe got a great ovation when he mentioned he had just started his 38th year as a member.

Odds and Ends

That misspelled sign on the Senate gallery door disappeared last Monday . . . It ought to be back any day now reading "Tribune du Senat" instead of "Tribune."

Commons and Senate procedure is different . . . In the Commons if one member wants to address another he does it through Speaker Glen, who doesn't vote except in case of a tie when he casts the deciding ballot . . . The Senators address one another directly across the floor and the Speaker, Senator Georges Parent (Lib. Quebec), has the right to take part in every vote . . . there's no such thing as a tie in the Senate . . . a tie means the motion is lost.

Besides D. C. Abbott, the Liberal who represents the riding, four other M.P.'s live in Montreal-St. Antoine-Westmount . . . State Secretary Casgrain (Lib. Charlevoix-Saguenay), Cyrus Macmillan (Lib. Queen's), Ernest Bertrand (Lib. Queen's), Ernest eBrtrand (Lib. Montreal-Laurier), and Peter Bercovitch (Lib. Montreal-Cartier) . . . and Defence Minister Ralston who has been living in Ottawa in wartime, has a home there.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

GARAGES CROWDED.

Garages are crowded these nights with trucks that are left in to thaw their brakes that become cumbered with ice splashed up from the slush on the roads.

WINS CANARY AND CAGE.

Miss Sybil N. Hood, 514 Aylmer Street, was the winner of the canary, cage and stand raffled off to raise money for the Peterborough British War Victims' Fund. The proceeds amounted to $50.00, and the draw was made this morning by Mr. D. B. Falkner, treasurer of the fund, and manager of the Bank of Commerce.

BOX COLLECTIONS

The boxes distributed for receiving donations to the Peterborough War Victims' Fund have been out exactly two months and in that time $142.59 has been collected. There have been 74 box collections made by Fred G. Mann and the boxes have averaged $1.93 mostly in coppers.

POOR MAIL SERVICE

Theo Demos, reported today that a letter posted by his brother at Corinth, Greece arrived in Peterborough this week. Mr. Demos has not seen his brother for 36 years, and in the letter the brother writes: "The Italians attacked us without cause, but with the help of God and the Royal Air Force we will keep on pushing the Italians back until they reach the Adriatic." It was the first letter from the brother since the war started on October 28th.

APOLOGY TO CLOCK.

The sound of music seemed to come straight out of the post office clock as it struck one this morning, and it seemed at first like "We'll Never Let the Old Flag Fall." But, as hearing adjusted itself to the noise it was actually some hillbilly stuff rolling out of a hall a step or two down Hunter Street, and the vocal stuff was generously salted and roughly seasoned with loud yells. A policeman in the offing down on the street did not know whether to raid the place or just let it go as not worth while.

120 YEARS WITH C.G.E.

Alderman R. S. Cotton, Wallace H. Moore of the machine shop, and Joseph Reynolds of the wire department, three employees of the Canadian General Electric Company, on the platform with C. E. Salmonsen at the presentation to him Friday afternoon represented collectively more than 120 years' employment in the big plant. Mr. Cotton has been exactly forty years with the C.G.E. and knows probably every cable and conduit in the place, and Mr. Moore and Mr. Reynolds have been more than 40 years each in the same plant.

DECISION RSERVED

The Ontario Milk Control Board yesterday reserved its decision on the application of Peterborough milk producers for an increase in the price of whole milk to the retail trade. The hearing was held in Toronto.

A LONG WAY FROM HOME

An Englishman who is in Canada on special work for the British Government dropped into Ray Bacon's barber shop for a haircut on Friday. This man was voicing his pleasure at the cleanliness and layout of the city and said that the last haircut he had was in Peterborough, England.

POPULATION GAIN

Eighty births in Peterborough last month were reported at the city hall this morning. This number was nearly twice as large as the 48 for February last year. Other statistics were: 23 marriages and 30 deaths last month; and 16 marriages and 32 deaths a year ago.

ONLY FOUR PERMITS

Building permits here in February amounted to $3,975 as compared with $7,750 for the corresponding month in 1940. The total for two months this year was $10,625, and for the same period a year ago the total was $62,100, including an addition to the Canadian General Electric Company.

RANGERS' PARTY.

The Prince of Wales Rangers will hold a skating party in the Brock Street Rink on Thursday evening of next week. The public will be admitted in the customary manner, and details will be discussed at a meeting of the Sport and Entertainment Committee in the Armory after class on Monday night.

A BREEZY ARRIVAL

March came zooming in on the wings of a bitter cold northwest wind at midnight, which made many householders lean a little heavier on the coal shovel. It was five above zero at six this morning, the lowest overnight temperature. From midnight on, there was a brilliant display of northern lights, a sign which is taken by many to indicate a change in the weather.

RECRUITS WANTED.

A limited number of men are being sought in Peterborough district for the Canadian Active Army. Applicants must be between the ages of 19 and 45 and physically fit. Tradesmen, driver mechanics, driver operators, carpenters and joiners, clerks, storemen, fitters and men of such qualifications are especially required and will, if medically fit and accepted, be posted to district depots, either in Kingston or Ottawa. Those interested should apply to the Prince of Wales Rangers' orderly room, Peterborough

8,824 Pledgers Reported In War Drive

Peterborough's campaign to obtain 7,000 regular subscribers for War Savings Certificates was 1,824 over the objective on Friday night at seven o'clock and was still going strong. This morning the big thermometer in front of the committee rooms on George was bubbling over the top. It had been graduated to show 9,000 subscribers, but even this optimistic figure had been surpassed in one of the finest demonstrations of patriotism and Empire unity ever recorded here.

The drive started on February 24, a week ago yesterday and the objective was set at 7,000 regular purchasers of the certificates. This objective was a high one, because on the basis of population as set down by the Dominion War Savings Committee at Ottawa, the local objective would have been 4,900. However, in view of the fact that Peterborough is an industrial city, the objective was raised to 7,000, but local citizens pitched in and have already shot the campaign 25 per cent over the increased objective. Toronto, on the other hand, has found it necessary to extend the campaign for another two-week period.

Gordon S. Matthews, general chairman for the five counties in this section of Ontario, described the results this morning as "magnificent."

The fine team work and co-operation that marked the drive for $85,000 in the Community Chest and War Work campaign was manifest again in this effort, and the new record comes on the heels of the other cash drive that set the pace for all Ontario, as Peterborough subscribed $131,000 instead of the original $85,000.

5,261 Industrial Pledges

Robert E. Layfield, head of the industrial division, must have heaved a sigh of relief this morning when he climbed the tall step ladder and wielding the paint brush sent the red paint streaming out through the top of the thermometer. It was his task to direct the drive in 25 of Peterborough's largest industries and the results reflect the hard work he put into it, and the fine co-operation given by the city's industrial workers. Statistics indicate there are 5,932 employees in the 25 industries on the list and of this number 5,261 are pledged to buy War Savings Certificates through payroll deductions. This represents 89 per cent of the total number and in cash their loans monthly amount to $24,937.00, an overage of $4.20 an employee. This is truly remarkable. Fourteen of the 25 large industries voted 100 per cent in the campaign.

The total of 8,824 as tabulated in the committee rooms Friday night is made up of the following: Bank pledges, 291; honor pledges, 1,718; retail and professional, 1,564, and industrial 5,261. This represents incomplete returns in all divisions with the possible exception of the industrial section which is pretty well cleaned up.

North Monaghan division, under the capable direction of Harold Cassan and his first lieutenant, Mrs. Fred White, McGill street, made incomplete returns on Friday evening and this suburban area did well. The total as reported was 50 bank pledges and 90 honor pledges.

With School Children

Honor pledges throughout the city include many school children who are regular purchasers of stamps at school, but the records do not show many other school children who are also buying regularly. This comes about because in many instances people only wished to have the man of the house figure as a regular subscriber, while in many cases as many as three other junior members of the family are doing their part.

The retail, business and professional division, headed by Chris. Hughes, did a swell job, but still have a few last minute reports to turn in. Mrs. Paige Rowell and Mrs. C. M. Scott are also nearing the completion of their reports on the house to house canvass, but the final return will not be in until later next week.

The committee rooms will remain open for another week to complete the filing and tabulating of the reports and the records, and all reports and enquiries should be directed to this room.

On Friday a section down near Keene village in Otonabee township was canvassed and the people turned in 17 bank pledges all on Peterborough banks. This figure is not included in the city total. Work is proceeding at a brisk pace throughout the district particularly in the villages, and reports from these smaller centres will be published as soon as they are available.

On Tuesday or Wednesday of next week, the remainder of the list of stores, factories, offices, and other places of business which went 100 per cent in the campaign will be published and local managers should see to it that the record is correct, before the list is obtained from the committee rooms.

OBITUARY

MRS. A. K. BLACKADAR.

Mrs. A. K. Blackadar of Ottawa, who died in Toronto on Thursday, was born in Peterborough March 24, 1859. Her name was Martha Sanderson, and after graduating from the high school here she taught for two years and was married in Ottawa September 3, 1878. Her husband was the late Dr. A. K. Blackadar. They had lived for thirty-five years in Ottawa, where the funeral was held this afternoon to Beechwood Cemetery. She and her husband were prominent members of the Baptist Church. They were two of the little group that built the present First Baptist Church in Ottawa. Their son, E. G. Blackadar, is superintendent of annuities with the Department of Labor.

JOHN SPEER

The death occurred yesterday of Mr. John Speer at Toronto. He was born in South Dummer and was in his 81st year. In 1900 he moved to Peterborough and for a number of years was conductor on the Peterborough Street Railway Co. afterwards conducted a grocery in the east ward.

He moved to Toronto about nine years ago. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife (formerly Minnie Hamilton) also four sisters, Mrs. E. Thistlewaite, Mrs. T. Corner of Toronto, Mrs. S. Gaskins of New Jersey, U.S.A., and Mrs. Stanley Matchett of this city. He was a member of Court Peterborough No. 29 C.O.F. Service will be held on Sunday afternoon at his late residence 51 Kendal avenue, Toronto.

Remains will arrive here on noon train on Monday, service from Belleghem Undertaking parlors, Hunter street, west at 3 p.m. conducted by Rev. Mr. E. W. Rowland, assisted by Rev. R. A. Whagham (Toronto), formerly of Mark Street United Church.

Mr. Speer was an elder of Trinity Church, Toronto.

Small Particles Of Metal Found On Bradd

Shaken out of a package of money found on William Bradd, 29, of Windsor, when he was searched in Windsor after being arrested were particles of metal that Professor Joslyn Rogers of the University of Toronto swore in police court Friday afternoon were identified in metallic content with the metal of the small safe carried away from the C.D.S. store.

Professor Rogers, professor of chemistry at the University and a recognized criminal investigator, was a Crown witness in the preliminary inquiry into the charge against Bradd of burglarizing the C.D.S. store on February 2.

He testified that it was Chief Constable Sam Newhall of Peterborough police department who had called his attention to these particles when the chief had brought the Bradd money to Toronto to be tested.

After he had examined the particles Professor Rogers said that he suggested that the stolen safe should be also brought to Toronto for other tests and this had been done His evidence as to the results of those tests was the big feature of the Bradd hearing up to that stage.

Bradd was the third of the four suspects to have his preliminary hearing, and much of the evidence was similar to that offered in the other cases.

Evidence Repeated.

J. H. Jamison, manager of the C.D.S. stores, repeated his evidence as to the burglary at the store on February 2, and identified an axe produced and found near the safe as similar to one that had been in stock at the store.

James McLaughlan, member of the Windsor city police, testified arresting William Bradd in Windsor on February 12.

"How long had you known the accused?"

"About a year."

Witness said that Bradd had been "frisked" on the street and then searched at the police station. The sum of $229 was found on his person, including 11 twenty-dollar bills.

Asked to look at a package of bills, McLauchlan said, "I would say that is the money."

Bills Examined.

When the bills were put in as an exhibit and Defence Counsel T. J. Carley, K.C., commenced to examine them, Crown Attorney McElderry suggested that Mr. Carley defer his inspection of the bills.

"That's just what I won't do," returned Mr. Carley. "I need to inspect them now for purposes of cross-examination."

"Then I suggest that he handle them as carefully as possible," said Mr. McElderry. "That is important."

Detective-Sergt. W. E. Meagher testified to receiving a package containing $232.02 from the Windsor police department and turning it over to Chief Constable Newhall on his arrival in Peterborough.

Evidence Of Scorching.

"Four of the one dollar bills showed evidence of scorching," declared Professor Rogers, who was the next witness. "I found no evidence of heat in connection with any of the other bills."

"When the money was shaken out from the envelope in which it had been contained," said the witness, "I recovered a number of small particles of metal. The metal is iron that has been subjected to heat and the metallic content of these particles is identical with the metallic content of the metal of the safe.

Professor Rogers said some of the particles had adhered to the bills. The safe, he said, was constructed of soft iron steel and metal particles found with the money contained practically the same percentage of manganese as did the metal of the safe.

"Is there any other evidence in regard to the money?" asked Mr. McElderry.

Evidence Is Gone.

He was allowed to explain that there had been a metal particle adhering to the edge of the bill but that it had apparently been knocked off in handling.

Mr. Carley cross-examined the witness for some time.

Professor Rogers said that there was nothing unsual about the metal of the safe. He explained in answer to a question from Mr. Carley that it was Chief Newhall who had called his attention to the particles.

"If a bill were drawn over such particles would they adhere to it?"—"I don't think so."

"Then what is your theory as to how those particles stuck to the bills?"

"I would rather you had not asked that question," said Professor Rogers. "I am a chemist. I would prefer not to state a theory outside my field because it might prove embarrassing for some one. You and I have an idea how those particles adhered to the money."

Mr. Carley did not press the point further and the court adjourned until this morning.

Canary Raffle Nets $50.00 For War Victims

A local man who had two American dollars saved from his last trip to the United States learned on Friday that the Foreign Exchange Control Board could put the bee on him for not turning them into the bank, so he immediately took the two bills and turned them over to F. G. Mann for Peterborough British War Victims Fund. This was not only a patriotic and kindly gesture, but it is also a small contribution to bolster Canada's foreign exchange.

The total in the fund to-day had reached the total of $9,653.65, and the returns from the police hockey match had not been turned in because all members of the force were on call attending the preliminary hearing of the four men charged with robbing C.D.S. Store and Stock's Bread Company. This should appear early in the week.

Sponsor Bingo Party.

On Monday night in Havelock, the Eastern Star Patriotic Association is sponsoring a bingo party in aid of the fund, while in Peterborough on Monday night, George St. United Church will hold a concert, with the proceeds going to the fund.

The silver tea service which came from the German liner Dusseldorf, now sailing under British colors as the Poland, has been donated for the benefit of the fund. The vessel was owned by the Nord Deutscher Lloyd Bremen Line in the South Atlantic sea lanes, but was captured attempting to run the blockade. David MacPhail, this city, a member of the prize crew, brought the tea service home as a souvenir after his discharge. He married recently and his wife donated the four-piece service to the fund. Sale of tickets will start on Monday, and the tickets are being handled by the Business and Professional Women's Club and the Junior Club. The service will be on display in Grafton's window after Monday.

Peterborough people are reminded that the book published recently by Daphne du Maurier, author of "Rebecca," and entitled "Come Wind, Come Weather," is now off the press and on sale in local stores. This book tells of the heroic deeds and fortitude of the London people in keeping up their morale in the face of heavy air raids. The book retails for 25 cents and a good portion of this is turned over to the Lord Mayor's Air Raid Victim Fund in London, England. Daphne du Maurier is on the air to-night at 7.45 over C.B.C.

The list of donors to the local fund is as follows:

Previously acknowledged	$9,564.45
M. H.	3.00
Edith (two U.S. dollar bills)	2.20
Mrs. Leslie Moore, 161 Gordon Avenue	5.00
Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Co. Ltd., Employees' Club, 12th donation	9.00
S.J.S. and H.S., proceeds of Canry and Stand rafle	50.00
Total to date	$9,653.65

Hastings Farmers Visit Packers

Of the hundred Hastings county farmers who visited the plant of Canada Packers Limited Friday probably no more than 10 had ever previously seen what the trade calls the new basis of payment, rail grading.

Most of the breeders were from the Stirling-Belleville arena. They were taken on a tour of the eight main departments of the plant in the morning, and one of the features of the program was a judging competition of six specimen hogs and also a class of four which were shown again in the afternoon as dressed carcasses.

From this objective lesson many of the farmers admitted that their judgment of the live hogs did not correspond with the finished product. Animals which they considered ideal for market were actually "over-finished."

The visitors were guests of the company at dinner in Murray Street Baptist Church basment at which Gordon S. Matthews, manager of the local plant, briefly told the assembly that the job of producing bacon needed understanding between producers and packers to get the results that were required, and that meant chiefly to get enough hogs to supply British requirements. It was felt that farmers would get a clear impression of the packers' problems by observing the processes in detail and also in seeing the work and results of rail grading.

Appreciation of the producers was expressed by several of the farmers on behalf of the entire company.

Samuel Carver Monaghan Pioneer Passes

A member of one of the oldest families in Peterborough County passed away this morning in St. Joseph's Hospital in the person of Samuel Deleval Carver, a life-long resident of North Monaghan.

Born on the homestead he had worked all his life, Mr. Carver had lived in the midst of tradition. "Spruce Glen" on Highway 28 has been the home of the family for more than 100 years. Two houses have stood on the ground now occupied by Spruce Glen, and the former master of the grounds, the father of Mr. Carver, was postmaster in Peterborough for 30 years, beginning in 1870.

A fruit grower all of his life, Mr. Carver was a member of Charlotte Street Methodist church, now Trinity United, since its beginning, and his interest was centered in Sunday School work and the Upper Canada Bible Society.

Selected Cemetery Site

His father, the late Samuel J. Carver, was one of a group of district residents who selected the site of Little Lake cemetery, and was third on the list of those originally choosing family lots. The Baptismal Font now in use in St. John's Anglican church is a vortive offering made by the elder Carver in thanksgiving for the recovery of his son, Samuel D. Carver, from a serious injury.

The original Samuel Carver came to Canada in 1826 from his birthplace, Bath, England, he was married to Jane Montgomery Carver in Cobourg, was commissioned in the army and marched at the head of his company on Lake Shore Road in Toronto at the time of the Mackenzie rebellion.

The last member of this old family to pass on leaves to mourn his loss, his widow, the former Margaret Jane MacKnight, one son, Leslie Deleval Carver, and one grandson, Ross Deleval Carver.

Taken ill about two weeks ago, Mr. Carver was removed to the hospital on Wednesday. His condition grew steadily less hopeful and his passing this morning concluded a life that had been devoted to the district in which he had resided and worked. An ardent student of Nature, he had become to be known as an authority on subjects relating to wild life and plant life.

The funeral will be from the family residence, Spruce Glen, Highway 28, on Monday at 2.30 p.m., D.S.T., Rev. G. S. Easton, of Trinity United church will officiate and interment will be in the family plot in Little Lake cemetery.

The remains will rest at the Arthur W. Belleghem Funeral Home until 11.00 a.m. Sunday morning.

Canadians Show Lack Of Interest In South American Affairs

"Our Latin-American Neighbors" was the subject of a talk by W. Russ Philp to members of the Peterborough Kiwanis Club, in the Empress Hotel on Friday. Mr. Philp, a lawyer in the city, is qualified to speak on the people and ways of South America by virtue of his four years there.

It is true, the speaker began, that parts of that great country to the south of our continent, have changed little in the past 200 years, but other sections have seen the same rapid development as evident in centres in Northern Ontario. When taken as a whole, Canadians show a woeful lack of interest in South Americans and their customs, and North America is only one-half of the Western Hemisphere, and Canada and the United States only two countries in it.

"There are a large number of countries in South America," Mr. Philp related," that compare favorably with Canada, both in size and population." When South American countries are thought of, as they quite often are, the speaker contended, as being states possessing unstable governing bodies, the true picture is marred by exaggerations, and the fact is that the changes of government, though they make good copy in the news, really affect the man on the street very little.

Composite Racial Background.

Latin America is a land with a composite racial background, and might be thought of as being much more the melting pot of the nations than either Canada or the United States, the speaker said. The big percentage of the population, however, is comprised of the South American Indian, Spaniards, and negroes. The inter-marriage between these groups is an item of considerable import, the speaker said, and though it is not readily admitted by the Spanish blood, the practice is by no means a neglected one.

It has been the speaker's experience, he said, that in one town of 8,000 inhabitants, only 1,00 of them laid any claim to the purity of their Spanish stock, and it would be a safe bet, he went on, that only one half of those claims could be proven as true.

The result of this racial union has had a tremendous effect on the national character, for the South American when stripped of his outward self would be found to possess the qualities of all three races. As is true with all tropical countries, the climatic conditions of South America slows down the tempo of living, and even the most energetic executive of Anglo-Saxon origin soon finds his initiative on the wane there.

Lack of Iddle Class.

Perhaps the most serious detriment to civil life in Latin America, the speaker contended, is the lack of a stable middle class. Here is found a very small landowning class, also a small middle class, and a large peon class possessing nothing. This fact is an important one because no economic buffer exists in the states which would, if it were there, absorb the shock of taxation as it does in this country.

South America is a country of contrasts, and it is not uncommon to find a modern airplane sitting on the calm water of a bay almost filled with native dug-outs containing bananas. The natives have an unusual sense of values which is at times disturbing, and to them music is much more of importance than is sanitation.

No Love for Democracy.

The German desire to obtain South American trade which was manifested first in 1919 has led indirectly or otherwise to German interest on the part of many of the residents, the speaker said, and the natives do not take well to the ideas of democracy. One impediment in this direction is their inward shunning of the "Gringo," the citizen of the United States. The interest in the trade was accompanied by an influx of Germans, and it will be no easy matter to counteract the impression abroad in that continent as regards the British system of rule.

The speaker advocated the grasping of the reins by the democracies now, and the securing of the markets the Germans have lost as a result of the war. These markets will be valuable to an unbelievable degree in the future, he predicted, and because of the nature of the people, they furnish ideal ground for propaganda, he said, the sooner a start is made, the better.

Shipment Reported

HALL'S GLEN, March 1—(ENS).—The regular meeting of the newly organized Women's Institute was held in the Orange Hall with Mrs. George Parsons, the president, presiding and a fair attendance present. It was reported the following articles have been turned into the Red Shield: 20 pairs of women's and children's pyjamas, 7 pairs of children's bloomers, 18 women's and children's slips, 11 women's dresses and one child's dress, 2 women's night gowns, 4 pairs of men's socks, 15 pairs of mittens, 6 scarfs, 2 sweaters and many other smaller things for children. The shipment also included a large quantity of used garments.

Magazines Collected By Scouts Appreciated By Men In Iceland

"Iceland's weather does not get as cold as Ontario," Captain Fred Howlett of the Salvation Army writes in a letter to Adjutant Buckley.

The letter dated January 21, says, "We have not yet had zero, and if we do it will only be a few degrees below. We get a great deal of wind, and a strong wind at the corner of Yonge and Queen streets would be only a breeze out here. There is a lot of rain, not much sunshine, although we do get some. Our days are now beginning to lengthen, but in December we had only four hours of daylight. In June we shall have the midnight sun.

A great deal of the country is lava rock. Nothing will grow on it. Mountains are high with snow on the top all the year round. Fishing and sheep raising are the main industries. The people are more friendly than they were at first, but there is room for improvement. The Salvation Army have a good hostel here. Our boys are in small detachments covering many miles. We cannot do the auxiliary work the same as in England. We go to the boys in their little places. The thing that made the big hit with them was the radio, and Brigadier Dray sent some good ones, long and short waves. It would be mighty lonesome out here without one. It makes us think we are back home when at 12 midnight we hear that familiar voice:—"He shoots, he SCORES." I must confess I stay up till 2 a.m. Sunday to hear it. If the people who gave to the Red Shield campaign could see the boys in these lonely outposts crowding around the radio, and enjoying it, they would be more than repaid.

Before I thank you for the magazine, I would like to ask you what's the idea of sending us fellows out here "Esquire"? Is it to give us hope? Ha! Ha!

Please pass on our thanks to the Boy Scouts of Peterborough for the fine selection of books and magazines they gathered for the Canadian troops in Iceland. They are greatly appreciated. One of the first questions I am asked when I go to detachments away in the valleys "have you any magazines?" The splendid number you sent will keep the boys happy for many days. We also take some of them to the hospitals. I trust the Boy Scouts of Peterborough will feel well repaid for their effort when they know they have helped to make hundreds of Canadians happy in Iceland, for these same boys are guarding Canada in this far away northern spot. They are keeping steady on the job and keeping up the good name of Canada.

Members of St. David's Welsh Society will attend service Sunday evening at 7 o'clock in St. George's Anglican Church. Rev. J. L. Hughes will be the special speaker.

That Keen Edge!
IS IT STILL THERE?
How easy it is to find that life with its hard knocks, a sinful world, an awful spiritual enemy and even the seeming legitimate things have taken the keen edge from our spiritual experience. We need to keep up to date these days—with hearts made faithful by a fervent love—a love responding to Divine love.

Northey—Dunford

MOUNT JULIAN, Mar. 1 (ENS)—A quiet wedding was solemnized in Holy Trinity Anglican church on Saturday at 5.30 D.S.T., when Muriel Grace, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Dunford, became the bride of Braden Deyncourt Joseph Northey, second son of Joseph and the late Mrs. Northey. Rev. E. C. Moore officiated.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was charmingly attired in a frock of dusty-rose crepe, with matching hat, and wore an orchid corsage. The young couple were unattended.

Mr. and Mrs. Northey will reside at Orillia.

Among those from a distance who attended the Northey-Dunford wedding was Sapper John Dunford of Debert, Nova Scotia, and wife and little son of Peterborough, Mrs. Frank Dunford, and Delbert Northey from Peterborough, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brown, Apsley.

Medland—Plumpton

The marriage of Miss Anna Minerva Plumpton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Plumpton, 87 Park street, to Mr. Harold A. Medland, son of Mrs. Alice Medland and the late Mr. Cecil Medland, 176 Charlotte street, Peterborough, took place at two-thirty o'clock on Wednesday, February 19, in George Street United church parsonage, Rev. H. L. Roberts officiating. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Edna Plumpton.

Following a reception at the bridegroom's home for the immediate family, Mr. and Mrs. Medland left on a short trip, and on their return will live on the bridegroom's farm seven miles west of Peterborough.

35 Large Cases Of Clothing To Go Overseas

34 large cases of clothing for bombing victims, much of it new, and one case of knitted articles for soldiers and sailors, was sent by transport Friday from the local Red Shield Auxiliary to headquarters of the organization in Toronto. Mrs. N. Buckley, Mrs. William Burville and Mrs. Bamsey, wife of Adjutant Bamsey, were busy all day Friday packing the boxes, now filled with contributions for the month of February from individuals, women's organizations and clubs throughout the city.

High praise of the generosity shown, as well as for the high quality of the articles, was expressed by Mrs. Buckley, in charge of the Peterborough branch of the Red Shield.

To many it will be of interest to know that there is a sock-darning and clothes repairing innovation of the Red Shield Women's Auxiliary that has proved of untold comfort and convenience to the enlisted man. This service covers every imaginable alteration and repair from sewing on "wings" to pressing suits. Many women's groups attached to churches, clubs and service organizations of all kinds and creeds in all parts of Canada are affiliated with Red Shield Auxiliary, which is a symbol of sacrifice and courage wherever it appears.

WE . . . NOTICED

. . . Cut flowers should not stand in hot places or in draughts. Vases must be frequently filled with fresh water, and stalks that are tough, such as roses, should be peeled a little way up to allow the water to be easily absorbed.

. . . When stems are cut, air rushes into the water-ducts and they become blocked with air bubbles. To avoid this, recut the stems while holding them under water. These are a few of the tricks practised by the Japanese, who are world-famous for their flowers.

Women of City Unite In World Prayers

Women throughout the world united in prayer Friday with the theme, "Thy Kingdom Come," and Peterborough had a place in the day of intercession and meditation. Women of the city met at three o'clock in Bethany Tabernacle, and were led by the representatives of the different city churches.

In the early evening the C.G.I.T. groups met for prayer under the direction of Mrs. A. Huffman, and at eight o'clock young women gathered.

With Mrs. Allen Pilling, key woman, and Mrs. G. N. Moncrief, secretary-treasurer, in charge for the afternoon, a world-wide program was carried out with a deep feeling of reverence and benediction. As leader, Mrs. D. W. Hewitt of Bethany Tabernacle Church gave the call to worship. Prayers and responsive readings were given by Mrs. Ray Scott of Murray Street Baptist Church; Mrs. T. H. Floyd of St. George's Anglican Church; Mrs. F. Harris of St. Andrew's United Church; Mrs. James Brown of George Street United Church; Mrs. E. M. Davis of St. James' United Church; Mrs. Harold Rehill of Trinity United Church; Mrs. J. Morrison of Knox Church; Mrs. Batley, Park Street Baptist Church; Mrs. R. G. Maniece, St. Luke's Church; Mrs. Turner, St. John's Anglican Church; Mrs. N. Buckley, Salvation Army Temple.

A fine devotional address was given by Mrs. J. Dutton of St. Paul's Church, and in the evening Mrs. J. R. Trumpour of Bridgenorth spoke to the women. The sacred solo, "In the Garden," was sung during the evening service by Miss Parkinson, with Mrs. H. Pulleyblank at the piano.

Is Stranded Sans Knitting

Mrs. Anthony Drexel Biddle, wife of the newly-appointed American Minister to all exiled governments . . . . is a dark, attractive woman who looks like a European, but in actual fact is 100 per cent. American. Daughter of a very rich American, William Boyce Thompson, she is the diplomat's second wife and, like her husband, is an expert skier. . . . the kind that covers many . . . . many miles in a day. Curious adventures have happened on these skiing jaunts, but the strangest, Mrs. Biddle says, occurred in Norway . . . . after the defeat of Poland. She and her husband went up from Oslo by train to a skiing place. On arrival she discovered to her horror, that she's forgotten to bring her knitting. Mrs. Biddle wired the hotel at Oslso and the wool was despatched by air. As the flier was soaring through the clouds he suddenly recognized the skiers. . . . came down to a low height and dropped the knitting . . . . literally at the feet of the astonished Mrs. B.

Engagement Is Announced

Miss Patricia May Anne McCarrell, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. McCarrell, and Petty Officer John Alexander Archibald of the R.C.N.V.R., Halifax, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Archibald of this city, whose marriage is to take place quietly on Saturday, March 8.

Societies Unite In Joint Prayer

ROSENEATH, March 1.—(ENS).—Representatives from organizations of Alderville, Centenary and Roseneath United churches and St. James Anglican church were present in goodly numbers to observe the World Day of Prayer service held in Roseneath United church. Mrs. A. C. McCullum, wife of the rector of St. James' church, led the service, and delivered a brief devotional address on the subject of 'Ministering to Others.' Assisting Mrs. McCullum were Miss Emma Sherwin, Mrs. C. Sandercock and Mrs. D. Brisbin. Offering prayers were Miss Jessie Johnson, Mrs. D. Timlin, Mrs. John Smoke, Mrs. A. Halstead, Mrs. C. Grigg, Mrs. S. Thackeray, Mrs. M. Davey, Mrs. Andrew Brown and Mrs. R. Crego. A Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Ernest Crowe. Mrs. L. Tucker presided at the organ. During the offertory selections from Whittier's 'Eternal Goodness' were sung by Mrs. A. Nill.

AT HASTINGS

In Hastings a united service was held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, Mrs. Chas. Dodd, St. Andrew's W.M.S. president, presided over the first period, Miss D. Plant St. George's W.A. president, was leader of the second period, and Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe, Trinity United W.M.S. president, the third.

Special prayers were given by the following: Mrs. J. A. Brown, Mrs. A. C. McCullum, Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe, Mrs O. Phillips, Mrs. W. McGrayne, Mrs. W. Wray, Mrs. W. Whitred, Mrs. T. Curel, Mrs. A. German and Miss D. Pnant.

Miss Clara Williamson read the Scripture and Mrs. Wm. McEachnie gave a brief devotional address. Mrs. H. Edwards sang a solo, "O God of Love, O King of Peace" and Mrs. Stewart Whitred and Mrs. Reta Johnston a duet, 'Watch and Pray.'

The offertory of $5.40 will be sent to Miss Bessie MacMurchy, treasurer of the Inter-Board committee.

AT LAKEFIELD.

The World Day of Prayer was observed in Lakefield in Grace Gospel Hall with ladies of the various churches taking part in the service. Leaders were Mrs. M. Harvey from the Baptist church, Mrs. P. H. Darling, United church, Mrs. S. E. White, St. John's church, Mrs. J. M. Simpson, St. Andrew's church and Mrs. O. Redpath, Grace Gospel Hall

Mrs. (Rev.) H. R. Howden gave an interesting paper, basing her topic on the words, 'Turn, Follow, Serve.' She said 'Turn fom wickedness, selfishness and indifference and try to live as Christ would have us live.' Also to follow as the disciples did when Jesus came from Jericho to Jerusalem. In conclusion Mrs. Howden quoted the life of Dr. Banting as a modern example of a man whos served humanity.

During the service a much appreciated solo, "Beautiful Garden of Prayer" was contributed by Miss Marjorie Dunford, accompanied by Mrs. E. Tatham.

FASHIONS

Your first spring dress should have a jacket. This youthful style has a slim waistline and graceful gathers in the skirt front. Make it of soft rayon crepe in either navy or light blue for a fresh, new season air. The heart pockets on the crisp bolero are in keeping with the young lines and a tiny white collar is a lovely frame for your face. You can make this frock with or without the wide tie-belt, just as you wish, but either way it is bound to be the smartest dress in your wardrobe.

Style No. 2799 is designed for sizes 11, 13, 15, 17 and 19 years; 29, 31, 33, 35 and 37-inches bust. Size 16 requires 4 yards of 39-inch fabric with ¼ yard for collar and ¼ yard for pockets. Applique is included.

If too much salt has been added to cooking food, stretch a clean cloth tightly over the vessel and sprinkle one tablespoon of flour over the cloth. Allow it to steam for a few minutes and the flour will absorb the salt.

This is the time of year when dirt can get ground into a wax floor. When this happens, rub spots with a cloth dampened with turpentine until wax is gone. Then wash floor with alcohol and wax it again to give it a new polish. If some of varnish is gone, apply a little white shellac before you give it a fresh waxing.

Equal Risk Demands Equal Pay

By GLADYS ARNOLD
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

Business and Professional Women's clubs in Great Britain have united to seek changes in the British government's War Injuries Compensation Scheme and have adopted as their slogan "Equal Compensation for Equal Danger."

Under the scheme as now constituted women who earn may claim 26 shillings ($6.21) a week, non-earning women, 14 shillings ($3.11) while men in the same categories receive 35 shillings ($7.75) and 21 shillings ($4.67).

Presenting their case to the government through Dr. Edith Summerville and Miss Irene Ward, both members of parliament, the women have asked for an amendment giving equality to men and women under the scheme.

"Behing the mind of the average man is the idea that a woman will always somehow get a man to keep her, in other words a husband will drop out of the blue to help subsidize the 26 shillings a week," said Dr Summerskill.

Free French Women

Madame Renie Mathieu,, famous French tennis star, now is head of the Corps Feminin (Free French equivalent of the Women's Auxiliary Territorial Services) in England. Hundreds of French women have registered and are serving in nursing, ambulance, canteen and clerical capacities.

Mme. Mathieu was married at 16. In a famous international tennis match she astounded the authorities when she appeared in a contest for junior championship under the title of "Madame." Before being allowed to enter she had to produce her birth certificate and when she appeared to take her place on the courts she was followed by a nurse carrying her young baby.

Now at 32 she has come out of private life to become Commandant of the Corps Feminin.

Branch Notes

ST. JOHN'S A.Y.P.A.

Church was attended by members of the A.Y.P.A. on Wednesday night. A short meeting was held in the Sunday School with Nelson Hewitt, president in charge. A discussion was held on the minstrel show. Members are asked to return their tickets and ticket money for the play to Eva Clark as soon as possible.

A corporate communion and breakfast is to be held Sunday morning, March 2 at 8:30. Adjutant Bamsey from the Training Camp at Exhibition will be gest speaker. We would like a good turn out.

ST. GEORGE'S BRANCH

A most successful literary evening was held on Thursday night with Mel Holden and Ivan Pearson in charge. The members were put into groups of three and then participated in many educational games. The winning group wrote a very good editorial on "Lent". The members in this group were M. Pearson, D. Dummitt and K. Gibson.

Next week will be the regular monthly business meeting.

DOROTHY DIX

There's Nothing as Sharp as an Old Woman's Tongue. Mothers Who Make Their Homes With Their Children Need to Be On Their Guard and Should Not Try To Boss the Household.

✧ ✧ ✧

Dear Dorothy Dix — "Honor thy father and thy mother." If there are any people more miserable than my husband and I are, trying to live up to this commandment, I would like to make their acquaintance. They say misery loves company. For 10 years my husband's mother has lived with us and made our lives almost intolerable. She is a good religious woman, but if she were a fiend she couldn't do more to torment us. She preaches at us all day long until we are ready to scream. We mustn't go out to a movie, or for an evening with our friends. We must sit at home with her. If we take her anywhere, we must get home before dark. She doesn't want to keep our two children when we want to go out, but we mustn't hire a girl to look after them. I put too many clean clothes on the children. If I try to run my own home, I am interfering with her. If I don't, I am lazy and trifling. It is hell if we do and hell if we don't about everything. All we want is peace and the right to come and go as we please, but how to obtain it is the question we can't settle. My husband and I have got to be just a bunch of nerves, so have the children, and ye would like to save ourselves, if we can, before we get to be a lot of screaming neurotics. MRS. S. H. Y.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER — No one would add more to the sum of human bliss than the one who could discover some way to make old people easy to live with, but, alas, no such benefactor has ever appeared on the domestic scene. The world is filled with homes like yours whose peace and happiness is destroyed by the fault-finding and nagging and petty tyrannies of old fathers and mothers who think that they have a right to impose their own points of view and habits upon their children and their grandchildren, and to interfere with every detail of the lives of those with whom they live.

Cannot Reform the Old

And nobody knows what to do about it, for, after all, father is father and mother is mother. Their children love them and want to do their duty by them.

They cannot shut their doors in their parents' faces, yet it is a hard thing to have to endure the daily barbs of an old woman's tongue, who is querulous and complaining, whom nothing pleases, and who forces the whole family to live a life of deceit by trying to keep grandma from smelling their cigarettes or seeing the length of their skirts or finding out when they got home from a party.

It is hopeless to try to reform the old because they are set in their ways and nothing can change them. They not only cannot adapt themselves to new customs, they do not want to, because they are convinced that the theories and beliefs of their youth are far superior to anything evolved by modern civilization.

Also, they believe that it is the privilege of age to do as it pleases, speak its mind, tell home truths, regardless of the feelings of others.

Of course, not all old people make themselves disagreeable guests in their children's homes. There are many old men and women who are gentle and wise and broad-minded and who are adored by their children and their grandchildren and whose presence is a benediction on a home. Unfortunately, however, these are not as plentiful as we could wish, and far too often when mother enters her children's doors peace and happiness fly out of the window.

Should Recall Own Girlhood

This should not be, because every woman not in her dotage must remember how, as a young woman, she wanted to be supreme in her own home, and run it the way she wanted to, and rear her children according to her own theories; how she liked to be alone sometimes with her husband and talk over private matters with him; how she wanted to be free to come and go as she pleased, and how she resented being bossed and having her plans interferred with, and how little she relished criticism, even if it was for her own good. Surely an old woman should recall these things and let this knowledge make her deal tactfully with her daughter-in-law. Certainly the least that a guest can do is to make oneself pleasant.

Dear Dorothy Dix — I am a happily married man except for one thing. Before I met my wife she ran with a wild crowd and did things that she is ashamed of. I love her and admire her except for the past, but it is forever coming up — in places or things or people. I am not jealous of any one she went with, nor am I ashamed of her. She is one of the finest people I ever knew, but it burns me up to think of her doing the things she did. Why does a decent, respectable young girl from a nice family allow herself to be cheapened so? I wonder what makes young girls so senseless. BEWILDERED.

ANSWER — It is because they ARE so senseless, because they are so young, so inexperienced, so lacking in knowledge of the world that they "do not understand the nature and quality of their acts," as the law says in defining insanity, that they do the things that they spend the balance of their lives repenting.

They are mad for gaiety, for fun, for excitement, and they do not count the cost of the price they pay for it. They do not even realize that the time will come when the fine men they want to marry will not want them for wives and the mothers of their children because of their bedraggled skirts or that their husbands will never cease to be ashamed of them because of the dark spots in their pasts.

So many young girls who belong to good families, who have had the advantages of being reared in refined homes, under good influences, think it smart to defy the conventions, to go on wild parties, to have affairs with men, to get drunk and spend their evenings on petting parties in parked automobiles.

And they are silly enough to expect other people to forget their little escapades as soon as they do. But they don't. The public has a long memory for our shortcomings. And as long as they live their tarnished reputations will trail them.

How to Treat Nudist Husband

Dear Dorothy Dix — My husband has become very much interested in the nudist movement, and insists on my joining a nudist group, but I cannot bring myself to do it. He is going right ahead making his plans to join the group, regardless of how I feel. When he goes to these places without me he forms platonic friendships. I have never before been jealous, but I am now and I wish you would tell me what to do. MARY C. D.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER—I'd let him go and stay with his unclothed little pals, and be thankful to be rid of a husband with such taste.

HEALTH PROBLEMS

By DR. L. A. CLARK, Peterborough M.O.H.

"WORMS"

There are some subjects in medicine that are not particularly pleasant but which, nevertheless, must receive attention. One of the least pleasant of the subjects is that of intestinal worms. A large percentage of children are infested at one time or another with worms and the predominance of certain varieties varies with different locations as, for instance, the hook worm is common in the southern United States but is practically never found in this country.

Dr. L. A. Clarke

Worms are divided roughly into two classes,—round worms and flat worms. There are several chief varieties and they enter our bodies from different sources. Some may be acquired by eating insufficiently cooked meat in which worms may be encysted. The cyst wall is digested off in the intestine and the enclosed worm is liberated to carry on a part of its life cycle which takes place in the human gastro-intestinal tract. Examples of this type are the beef tape worm and the pork tape worm. A protection against these types of worms is provided by the inspections of meat at abbatoirs to make sure it contains none of the cysts and by the thorough cooking of meat in order that any encysted worms may be killed as many of the cysts are not visible to the naked eye. Another type of worm is represented by the common pin worm. It is spread simply by unsanitary habits. The eggs escaping from the intestine get onto the hands of children, onto toys, towels, bedding and other things from thence into the mouths of other children, are swallowed and hatch in the intestine to start a new life cycle.

As we said before, worms are roughly divided into flat worms and round worms. The flat worms are jointed into segments; the segments near the head are smaller than those further from the head. The heads of this variety of worm are supplied with suckers by means of which they attach themselves to the lining of the bowel. Others have hooks as well as suckers, for the same purpose.

The large round worm resembles the ordinary fish worm in shape and in size. It is pale grey or nearly white in color. The adult worms of this variety may be as long as 14 inches.

The pin worm is as small as ½ inch in length and about the thickness of a thread. These worms are frequently found in the appendix and are the cause, frequently, of removal of this organ.

We have mentioned poorly cooked beef and pork as being possible sources of human infestation with worms. Fish may also be the source of a variety of worm and not infrequently are.

Some varieties of worms, notably the hook worm, have been the cause of considerable economic loss in certain countries, notably the southern United States, where they have been the cause of considerable disability among the negroes. Here in Canada the pin worm appears to be the commonest of this group of human parasites.

Broadly speaking, the symptoms of worms are in many instances the same for all varieties, namely: colicky pains in the intestines, nervous symptoms of various kinds, bad breath, inordinate or capricious appetite, diarrhoea and sometimes anaemia. There are other symptoms but these are the ordinary ones. A diagnosis of worms can only be made finally by finding the worm, a portion of one or the eggs in the stools. The eggs of these worms all have a characteristic appearance when viewed under the microscope.

Since the incidence of worm of various kinds is higher than was previously supected and since an absolute diagnosis can be made by your doctor without, in most cases, discomfort to the child, a correct diagnosis as to the type of worm which may be present is important because the treatment for each of them is different. Modern methods of treatment are not as drastic as those formerly employed and are far more efficient.

Worms may be prevented by the encouraging of cleanly habits and the thorough cooking of meats.

DRAFTED FOR LOVE

By RUTH AYERS

YESTERDAY: April calls Kent, breaks the date, saying his sudden arrival has given Ann a shock. But back with her own crowd, April finds she can't forget Kent. Hal Parks takes her home early, offers to help if she needs him. But April doesn't explain.

• • •

MASQUERADE FOR A DAY

CHAPTER V

Yes, as Hal Parks had said, there were other ways of being drafted besides for the army.

You could be drafted for peace work, for service—why even for love. Drafted for love! April said the words aloud and couldn't help laughing at how they sounded.

Her laugh echoed in the rambling house to arouse Nip, the wire-haired, who poked his head from the hallway door, gave a small yip and promptly retreated. Octavia, dozing until the young mistress arrived, was almost as brief.

Going upstairs to her room, April Burnett made another impulsive decision. Ann was away. Kent was home on leave, eyes blinded, life at a standstill until his sight returned. Why shouldn't she be drafted for love for one day?

In the dark, middle-night hours, it seemed very simple and smooth. When she finally slept, her conscience slept with her.

• • •

The next morning, she fairly flew to answer the telephone, reaching it just before Octavia came lumbering through the kitchen door.

"Hello," she said.

"Fine," she said, and then in a whisper, "everyone's asleep except me. I'll meet you in about half an hour in front of your house."

Octavia, sad-eyed, reproachful because there'd been no free barbecue last night, pondered this. "Camp fire? Why, Miss April, you hasn't been on no outdoor cooking trip since you was in your lollypop days. How come you larking out today?"

"Well, it's a swell day, isn't it, and why should I sit in a stuffy house when all outdoors is calling?"

"It done never call you before," Octavia brooded. "Now you take that dear sister of yours, my own little lamb, Miss Ann. Many a time she's gone out on a day like this for one of dem steak fries."

"Exactly! Steak fry. That's what it's going to be. Fill the thermos bottle, pack the steaks, toss in the salt and plenty of whatever else we need."

Octavia blinked, then cast a suspicious look at April. "Who else is goin' on this here outing?"

"The whole town, the whole world, maybe." As April started for the stairs she heard Octavia grumbling something about how lucky she was that she had a prime roast on hand from which a few choice slabs could be cut for steaks.

Quaker Teams Win Games In City League

Quaker Aces, rapidly climbing above the field, added another to their already lengthy undefeated string by beating St. John's, 27-10; and Quaker Cubs, most improved team in the league, made it a night for the Cereal mill by upsetting Westclox, 16-15, in an important ladies city basketball double-header at the Y.W.C.A. last night. Aces continue to pile up impressive scoring displays and were pretty well in command to down St. John's, while Cubs used a first half margin and plenty of fight to upset the powerful Westclockers.

Well In The Lead.

Aces, now well in front of the field after a six weeks' dog-fight with 'Y' Gym and Westclox, staged a belated exhibition of their scoring power in the second half to trounce St. John's, 27-10. After a nip-and-tuck first half that saw them battling hard to establish an 8-3 lead at the rest period, Aces went to town against a faltering St. John's defence in the last period. They passed and shot well and despite the losers' rugged resistance, were never in serious trouble after the opening minutes of action. As usual the scoring of the winners was evenly distributed among several players, with P. Lawless, D. Weese, M. Duncan, E. Alexander and E. Kirn outstanding. A. Bowler, E. Clark and E. Foster played well for the losers.

The teams:

Quaker Aces (27)—P. Lawless 4, D. Weese 8, M. Duncan 5, E. Alexander 8, H. Howden, J. Fowler, V. Wood, A. Grady, E. Kirn 2.

St. John's (10)—T. Laws, E. Harte-Maxwell (1), F. Gynane, A. Bowler 7, E. Foster, D. Groombridge, E. Clark 2.

Referees—J. Cooper, S. Grose.

Biggest Upset Of Year.

Quaker Cubs completed the ceremonies for the Cereal combination by scoring perhaps the biggest upset of the year in edging Westclox, 16-15. It was a thrilling game with a thrilling climax. Cubs, playing some of the best basketball they have shown, caught the losers off guard in the first half and outplayed them and outscored them, 10-5. Westclox put on the pressure through the final minutes but Cubs' defiant defence held them to a four-point margin that just fell short. Both teams battled at high speed all the way, with close checking making it hard going both ways. Cubs held a steady edge throughout the first half but it was anybody's ball game in the final period. The winners converted four of a possible seven free throws and Westclox made only one in six tries.

H. White and J. Metcalfe were best for the winners and E. Craig and B. Saunders led the Westclox.

The teams:

Westclox (15)—J. Crowe, B. Saunders 2, A. Flynn 2, E. Craig 7, H. Tighe, E. Bestard, F. Betsard 2, M. McFadden, D. Gibbs 2.

Quaker Cubs (16)—H. White 6, J. Metcalfe 5, B. Fenner, G. Allen 4, M. Youdell, D. Smith 1.

Referees—J. Cooper, H. Smith.

Midget Series

CAMPBELLFORD, March 1 — (ENS).—Campbellford put themselves in top place when they defeated Warkworth in the second game of their home-and-home series by a four-to-two count in a Bantam series which formed the first half of a double feature O.M.H.A. bill in the local arena.

In their second game the locals succeeded in eliminating Peterborough in a Midget battle which ended with the homesters on the top half of an 8-2 score which established them as group winners and gave them the round by 13 to 3.

Credit Britain

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(AP).—Under Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson told members of the Federal Bar Association at a dinner tonight that "we are inbedted to the British for many more things than stopping Hitler."

"The British and French defence orders in this country in the early part of the present war have become of immense value to us," he said. "It was British and French money that initially created the expansion in essential aviation plants."

Training Camp Briefs From Sunny South

(By the Canadian Press)

AVALON, Calif., March 1—(AP)—The Cubs are about ready to send out a searching party for Claude Passeau, ace pitcher who still is missing from camp although signed long ago. He hasn't been heard from for days.

TAMPA, Fla. — The infielders joined the batterymen today in workouts at Cincinnati Reds' camp. Manager Bill McKechnie's worry over a shortstop to succeed Billy Myers, traded to the Cubs, lessened when Eddie Joost rolled in from California last last night. Joost, however, is a holdout.

FORT MYERS, Fla.—Most impressive of the Indians' rookies is Shortstop Jack Conway. Under the new draft rule, the Indians can't let go him without waivers so they probably will keep him. He may not see much action, though, as three first-class shortstops already are available.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Terry Moore in successor to the colorful Pepper Martin as the Cardinals' field captain. Moore is starting his sixth season with the Cards. The job pays a yearly bonus of $500.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—Manager Fred Haney is showing concern over St. Louis Browns' lone absent pitcher, temperamental Johnny Allen. Acquired during the winter, Allen is signed but now is nearly a week late in reporting.

SARASOTA, Fla.—A stiff, biting wind curtailed the Boston Red Sox drill yesterday and Manager Joe Cronin spent most of the day keeping an anxious eye out for missing Ted Williams, who's now an official holdout.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—Hard-hitting Max West, originally slated to battle for Boston Bees' first-base job, has been shifted back to the centrefield candidates. He will compete against the two veterans, Johnny Cooney and Earl Averill.

LAKELAND, Fla.—Rookie Murray Franklin has reported to Detroit Tigers' camp and is challenging for Pinky Higgins' job. Regular Tiger drills begin tomorrow.

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif.—Long John Gee, six-foot, nine-inch southpaw, is receiving the praise of Manager Frankie Frisch these days. He says he "means a lot" to Pittsburg Pirates this year after being out most of last season with an ailing arm.

ORLANDO, Fla.—There's an odds-on choice that Clark Griffith will make a trade to bulwark his Washington Senators' pitching staff before the season opens. Ball clubs have a staff of at least nine hurlers and this camp musters only six to date.

Jack Gynane Wins Handicap Swim

The eighth weekly handicap swim of the Peterborough Junior swimming club was held last Friday night at the Y.M.C.A. natatorium. The event was a 40-yd. backstroke swim and top honors were taken by Jack Gynane, an up and coming junior.

Competition was keen with J. Gynane applying a last-minute spurt to win a close decision over Jack Thirnbeck. Don Pinch, scratch man in the race placed third.

Following the handicap, a 22-length relay was swam and was won by the team of Gord Minty, Jim Brown, Jerry Pinch and Reg. Seabrooke. In this event Coach Gordon Minty competed himself and showed that after years of coaching swimmers he could still hold his own among the youthful aquatic stars. Gord Minty led his team to a decided win over the team of Don Pinch, Len Smith, Jack Gynane and Lynn Head.

Final—1, J. Gynane; 2, J. Thirnbeck; 3, D. Pinch. Time 41 seconds.

The Argentine Government will pay $7,500,000 for Argentina's flaxseed crop.

Mother, Mix Your Own Cough Remedy. It's Fine.

Gives Quick Relief. Saves Money. Easily Mixed.

This well-known home-mixed medicine costs very little, but it gives delightful, swift-acting relief from coughs due to colds. It takes but a moment to prepare—it's so easy a child could do it. And it saves real money.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking is needed.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a 16 oz. bottle and add your syrup. Thus you make 16 ounces of really splendid cough remedy—and it gives you four times as much cough medicine for your money. It never spoils, lasts a family a long time, and children love its taste.

And for quick, satisfying relief, you'll say it's really splendid. It has a three-fold action. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear air passages. You'll be delighted by its prompt, pleasing results.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiacol, in concentrated form, a well-known and reliable soothing agent for winter coughs. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Heavyweight Dies During Fight

Arne Anderson, 22-year-old heavyweight boxing champion of Sweden, is pictured being worked over by an inhalator crew in his corner, following his knockout by Lou Thomas, Indianapolis fighter, in the seventh round of a scheduled 10-round fight in Chicago. However, after working over the unconscious fighter for more than 45 minutes, doctors pronounced Anderson dead. Thomas told boxing officials that the punch which knocked Anderson down was a short right to the chin.

Don Best Represents The North In Canada's Major Curling Event

By SCOTT YOUNG
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

TORONTO, March 1 (CP)—The 14-year history of the Dominion Curling championships has not been over-burdened with successes of rinks from Nova Scotia, but the representative of that Maritime province for the 15th renewal of the McDonald's Brier Tankard event here next week has at least one characteristic remarkable enough to constitute a claim to fame.

The rink, curling out of Dartmouth, N.S., is skipped by F. W. Heath and will be strictly in the long-odds class when the annual Brier round-robin play starts its four-day run at the Toronto Granite Club Monday. But regardless of its showing against the curling select of Canada in the Brier, the Dartmouth rink will be recognized as an unusual entry—because not one of the curlers is a native of Nova Scotia, or even of the Maritimes.

Western Curlers

Three members of the Heath rink, including the skip, are Manitobans working in Dartmouth and the fourth man is from Hamilton.

Skip Heath learned his curling in Killarney, Man., and L. A. Adamson, second, had his primary experience as a wielder of the besom and thrower of the stane in Newdale, Manitoba. L. D. Hopkins, lead, also curled in Manitoba during his apprenticeship in the game. Duncan Campbell, formerly of Hamilton, plays third. He was with a Hamilton Thistles rink skipped by Gordon Campbell which won the Tankard and Canadian crown in 1935.

The Heath rink, which won the Nova Scotia championship without a defeat, is a young rink in comparison to some of its opposition.

The Prince Edward Island four is composed of veteran Charlottetown curlers, skipped by W. R. Cruikshank, with G. G. Hughes as third, P. S. Cobb second, and H. L. Sear lear. New Brunswick's representative is from the Saint John Thistles Club, with J. S. Malcolm, 64, as skip. N. T. Rockwell, who started curling only four years ago compared to Malcolm's 50 years in the game, is third, H. S. Magee second and J. D. Cameron lead.

C. H. Handley skips Quebec's rink with Beaudry third, H. Duchene second and E. St. Amand lead. This rink, from the Quebec Curling Club, averages in age about 63.

Represents the North

Don Best's Kirkland Lake rink will represent the Northern Ontario Curling Association, Perry Hall's Kitchener four the Ontario Curling Association. Each other province has only one entry. Best, son of the veteran curler Ray Best of Peterborough, has J. Clifford Tuck third, W. T. Rushworth second and G. W. Sayles lead. Hall, a brother of Bert Hall, who represented the O.C.A. in 1939 and 1940, has J. A. Lucas in the third spot, H. Lehnen second and W. Henderson, jr., lead.

Howard Wood, who won the Tankard for Manitoba last year, did not qualify this season. Manitoba is represented by Albert Wakefield of the Winnipeg Strathcona Club with D. A. Adams third, L. W. Francis second and W. O. Anders lead.

Bill Dunbar's Kinley rink again represents Saskatchewan, with Bert McMahon third, Jimmy Beckett second and Ernie McMahon lead. Howard Palmer of Calgary will make his third trip to the Curling classic representing Alberta, with Jack Le Bow third, Art Gooder second and Clair Webb lead.

Billy Findlay's Vancouver Curling Club quartet also will be making its third trip, with R. V. David third, T. F. Tinling second and W. J. Lesage lead.

Duke Of Bedford To Close Church

LONDON, March 1.—(CP)—Because the Duke of Bedford objects to the Church of England's support of the war the little parish church of St. Mary, located on the Duke's estate, may be locked and bolted. The vicar has left and the Duke has withdrawn his financial support, main source of income.

The church, built by the eighth Duke of Bedford in 1868 at Woburn, Bedfordshire, has always been maintained by succeeding Dukes who paid the vicar's stipend and provided him with a home.. The total living amounted to about £400 ($1,780) yearly.

The present Duke, who as the Marquess of Tavistock succeeded to the title six months ago, said he had three reasons for withdrawing his financial support.

"My income has been reduced by war taxation to about one-quarter," he said. "I expect to leave the Church of England to join one of the Free Churches. I also regard the general attitude of the Church of England towards the war to be utterly unchristian and wrong.

"I want nothing more to do with a church which as a body supports mass murder and organized sin. I realize there is a small minority which takes the Christian view, but none of the Archbishops do, and I do not think that the local clergy do either."

The vicar of St. Mary, Archdeacon H. Martindale, said the Duke's action had force him to accept a vicarage at Ashwell near Baldock.

"There is no personal animosity between the Duke and I," he said.

"Of course, I cannot live on nothing and in addition to withdrawing the living," the Duke intends to charge a big rent for the vicarage."

Police Played Benefit Game In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Mar. 1. — (ENS). — Cobourg and Peterborough Police clashed in a hockey game played here last night, giving a benefit performance under auspices of Campbellford Rotary Club. The score ended with the Peterborough boys getting the decision by an 8 to 5 count, in a hectic game witnesed by more than three hundred fans.

According to Rotary President Steve Maguire tickets sold well in every part of the county, and it is expected the club's Crippled Children and British War Victims Funds will be enriched by upwards of $160.

After the game the Coppers, who hailed from many parts—Havelock, Lindsay, Peterborough, Cobourg, Port Hope, Campbellford, and Stirling, and included members of the Municipal, Provincial, and R.C.M.P.— were entertained by Rotarian A. Rappaport at the Villa Trent.

McKellar in the goal for Northumberland and McClure in the Peterborough nets, were both well qualified to fill the role—and also the net. The fans saw the nearest thing to hockey in the first period when only three goals were scored. The rest of the contest was slapstick, but enjoyed by everyone, including the players, despite the hard knocks some of the big boys took when they hit the ice.

Peterborough opened the scoring with Baker sinking the disc on McGillen's pass. Lockwood cruised in alone to whiz one into the rigging over McClure's stick. In the second both sides worked hard, Baker and McGillen teaming twice to put the representatives of the Peterborough district out in front by a 3 to 2 margin.

In the final stanza both sides went on a scoring rampage with the boys from the north giving the opening version. McGillen blasted one in but for some reason obscure both to the spectators and players, Referee Bill Oliver of Niagara Falls refused to allow the goal.

A temporary rally for Northumberland was staged when Erskine winged his way through to knot the count after which Peterborough went on a scoring spree that pyramided the tally to 8-4.

At this stage Netminder McClure and Referee Oliver put on a show, and before anyone knew what was happening both were rolling on the ice. To make it look genuine the rest of the boys pitched in, but they all came up smiling.

Following were the lineups:

Carpet Ball Notes

It has been suggested that the President's Cup games be played following the finish of the scheduled games. A meeting regarding this and prizes will be held in the S.O.E. Hall on Friday next, March 7th at 7 p.m. sharp, before the game scheduled. All skips are requested to attend also any other member of the league who would like to be on hand. This is an open meeting. Come prepared to express your views.

We regret to report that only one team has not yet paid its initial fees. Why not get in live with the rest.

Six teams are paid one hundred per cents, one has one to pay, two have three to pay.

We are glad to report that our old friend Bob Mitchell has seen fit to become a member of the league, unattached. Bob played for the S.O.E. the other night and helped trim the Auto Tops. Glad to welcome you, Bob.

Still Climbing

The Pork Packers are climbing to the top rung of the ladder, have jumped from fifth place. They are now two points ahead of the Wanderers.

It looks as if it will be a fight between the Auto Tops and Carpet Tacks as to who will finish in the basement.

"SPOT BALL".

Call For Tools

WASHINGTON, March 1.—(AP).—An "extremely urgent" need for machine tools in defence industries was reported by the United States office of production management to-day.

Mason Briton, chief of the machine tool section reported the greatest demand is for boring mills, planers, radial drills, lathes and milling machines and "especially machine tools of the heavier type."

P.C.V.S. PRESENTS - - -

Special The Examiner
By Two Students of the P.C.V.S.

Mr. Bob Smith and Mr. Horace Hotspur—two individuals who are as different in character as in name. Mr. Smith is a listless, indifferent fellow who obviously has no ambition while Mr. Hotspur is a bright opportunist with an amazing power of speech. Now that you have been introduced to these two gentlemen you will be desirious of knowing what connection they have in the school life of P.C.V.S.

These fictitious characters were the principal participants in two educational skits enacted at the Thursday morning assembly. The object of these skits was to acquaint the pupils with the right and the wrong way of selling War Savings Stamps. Bob Smith, as you have probably surmised, is a glaring example of a poor salesman, and Horace Hotspur is the man with tact. Alden Gourley as Bob Smith gave a comical example of his inability to sell stamps weekly to Mrs. Jones —Greta Huffman in everyday life. Mrs. Jones was bewildered and disgusted with poor Bob by the time he had made his last blunder. Bob believed that it took twenty stamps to complete a five-dollar certificate and that the certificate matured in an indeterminate number of years. After a few more inane remarks he betook himself off the stage.

Betty Barr then announced that Horace Hotspur—played by Bob Carley—was going to give a demonstration of the right way to sell War Savings Stamps. His customer was Dorothy Clarke who portrayed Mrs. Van Snort. Horace gave such a forceful and convincing sales talk that he had extracted a promise from Mrs. Van Snort saying that she would buy four stamps weekly and one four-dollar certificate each month. Horace Hotspur, therefore, was a living example of what every Collegiate student should be—a good salesman or salesgirl.

War Savings Sales

The sale of War Savings Stamps and Certificates reached the total of $1,540 this week but this cannot be maintained unless every pupil—and that means you—gets out and works to get more and still more customers. The family circle is not large enough to accomplish this so canvass your friends and neighbors exhaustively. Surely the sight of your schoomates wearing the War Saving button will arouse your sense of competition. There are not a great many students who are entitled to wear this pin, though a large majority came within a dollar or so of the required sum.

If we are to keep our Stamp and Certificate sales hovering around the $1,000 mark we must work and work hard. Students might take some pride in the fact that the total sales for this week exceeded that of Trenton High School several weeks previously.

This is Station P.C.V.S. Calling:

Once more the student body heard Station P.C.V.S. broadcasting from its private studio. Mr. R. L. Hale proved to be an efficient announcer and become very adept at extracting interesting details from his studio audience. The studio audience was composed of some of the leading members of the play cast and they were subjected to personal interviews over the air (p.a. system). Their audience soon found out that there was a very talented and reliable group of actors and actresses in the cast of "She Stoops to Conquer," by O. Goldsmith. This comedy is going to delight two packed houses on March 6 and 7 with the help of all those who are selling tickes.

The seating plan opened on Saturday morning, March 1, so sell your tickets now in order that the purchasers may procure the best seats at the play. The tickets are 50 cents and 35 cents and at least half the proceeds goes to the school's war effort.

CORRECTION: A free admission to the dance after the play, not to the play, is being given to those who sell $5 worth of tickets. Two admission tickets will be given to students selling $10 worth or more of tickets.

By this time next week the Dramatic Club's production will be a thing of the past, "gone but not forgotten." At present the cast, are still working hard for your pleasure and are depending on your support for success. Don't forget:

Event—The comedy, "She Stoops to Conquer," by Oliver Goldsmith.

Place—Collegiate Auditorium.

Time—March 6 and 7 at 8 p.m.

Admission—50 cents and 35 cents.

N.B.—50 per cent of the proceeds or more will be donated to the P.C.V.S. War Effort.

Every Collegiate student has a supply of tickets, but don't delay! "Tempus Fugit."

Teasettes

Oscar the Snake has returned to his secluded corner in Mr. Henry's science laboratory and has immediately become a major drawing card for all who are kindly inclined to him. Once more a plea is sent out for the food required by Oscar. This food consists of one mouse, preferbaly alive, which will be greatly appreciated by Oscar. Donations must be brought to Room No. 5 on the third floor.

Is it true that a bat is being kept in the attic or photographer's studio? It is rumored that it made its escape some time ago, only to be recaptured in Mr. Graham's room. Lest a panic be created it might be wise to mention that a bat does NOT cling to the hair on girl's heads as is so commonly believed.

New cadet suits are a reality since the boys have been measured for their new uniforms. Whata blessing.

A mammoth pile of paper has been blocking the girls' entrance this week. This ought to boost the weight up.

A picture of the cast in "She Stoops to Conquer," has been on display at the Echoes office for some time. Don't jump to conclusions, the play was produced in Toronto by members of the Parkdale Collegiate.

A picture of the 3:30-4:00 boys' p.t. class was taken on Monday. It must be admitted that the group did no have beautific smiles on their faces but this will be more clearly understood when the picture is published.

Since the Norwegian Air Force was scheduled to put on a show over the city this week many students looked out of the windows whenever a plane flew overhead. Evidently the First Formers are more impetuous when they hear a plane, since at XII grade form teacher is fearful lest the members of her junior classes fall out the windows of the second and third stories in their eagerness to see the planes. Luckily, the flight of planes did not appear over the city until Thursday's noon hour, otherwise a tragedy might not have been averted.

The prizes for the posters advertising 'She Stops To Conquer" were awarded on Friday morning. June Wallis received the first prize of $2.50 for her poster; Connie Lewis came second for $1.50 and Barbara Stewart was third with a $1 check. Receiving honorable mention were Reg. Johnson, Maralin Munroe, Barbara Bothwell and Fern Brown.

The posters are now on display in the stores downtown and throughout the school. Congratulations to the contestants for their good work.

Form XII A Academic played XII B Academic in hockey on Tuesday night. On Thursday the greatly overbalanced scores were made public by two prejudiced announcers. Lloyd Williamson reported that XII B won by the score of 23-8 and was politely contradicted by Bob Carley who said that his form won 15-14. The final score is left to the guess of our readers who may judge it by the marked difference in results.

XII B issued a challenge to any form in the school that might have aspersions to become champions. There may be more on this later, depending on the outcome of this challenge.

V A seemed to be somewhat ahead of XII A in their now famous paper duel when we made an estimate of their respective stacks of paper at 4:30 p.m. on Friday. V A may have more volume but we believe that XII A will finally top them in weight. This has been a stiff contest and it is to be hoped that other forms follow their example. The piles consisted of many different kinds of paper; books dated 1874, wall-paper, note books, magazines of all descriptions, newspapers, and Greek and Roman history outlines.

The Echoes Literary Contest results have been posted on the main bulletin board and the list shows a wide variety of topics. All those who entered in this contest deserve great praise since they did so without the enticement of material aid. We are glad to see that "Honorable Mention" means as much to the students as do prizees.

Lindsay Reduces Rate To 41 Mills

LINDSAY, Mar. 1 — (ENS). — At a special meeting of the Town Council on Thursday night the tax rate for the town of Lindsay in 1941 was set at 41 mills. This is a reduction of one and one-half mills over the rate of the year 1940. A reduction in the appropriation for the Board of Education enabled the Council to bring about a decrease in the rate. An appropriation of only $2,500 was set aside for relief, whereas last year's appropriation was $6.000.

Frank McPhee, no address, was picked up on Thursday night in a local beverage room trying to dispose of a number of articles. It was found that he had seven scarfs in his possession, which, it is alleged, he stole from the Canadian Department Store. The accused was remanded in custody for one week in order to give Chief Lawler time to hunt up his record.

Ernest Nantes, who gave his address as Lindsay, but who has been in Windsor, Cobourg, and Peterborough, appeared in Police Court on Friday to answer to an intoxication charge. He informed the court that he was out with "a respected citizen of Lindsay" on Thursday night and had fallen by the wayside. In pleading guilty to the charge, accused asked to be given a chance. He further stated that he had served as a soldier at Salonika and the Dardanelles in the First Great War and had played baseball in Peterborough some years ago. His pension cheque, he stated, was due on Saturday, and he would pay the fine, $10.75, to Magistrate Gee at Peterborough on Saturday. The magistrate told the accused that the court had no credentials as to his standing, and the latter replied that it had his word of honor. The magistrate decided that he would take a chance.

METHODISTS CARRY ON

LONDON — (CP). — Nearly 500 Methodist churches, more than 200 of them in London, have been damaged or destroyed by air raids throughout Britain, but work has continued "almost without interruption."

BORN

HOPKINS.—At Nicholls Hospital, on Friday, February 28, to Mr. and Mrs. C. Hopkins (nee Doris Wagstaff) the gift of a daughter.

ENGAGEMENT

The engagement is announced of Bertha Marguerite, youngest daughter of Mrs. M. A. Ash and the late Arthur Ash, 617 Aylmer street, to William Earle Gibson of the R.C.A.F., St. Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Gibson, City. Marriage to take place quietly March 8.

IN MEMORIAM

WILLSHAW.—In loving memory of a dear father-in-law and grandfather, who passed away February 29, 1940.

From our happy home and circle
God has taken one we loved.
He is borne away from sin and sorrow
To a nobler rest above.
No one knows how much we miss him,
None but aching hearts can tell,
Lost on earth, but found in heaven:
Jesus doeth all things well.

—Lovingly remembered by his sons-in-law and daughters-in-law, and grandchildren.

WILLSHAW.—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, George Thomas Willshaw, who passed away February 29, 1940.

One of the best whom God could lend,
A faithful dad until the end.
Loved in life, treasured in death,
A beautiful memory is all that is left.
Fond were the ties that are broken,
Dear was the dad who has gone;
In memory we ever shall keep him
As long as the years roll on.

—Lovingly remembered by his Wife and Family.

WILLSHAW.—In loving memory of a dear father, George Willshaw, who passed away February 29, 1940.

Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear.
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach.
Sweet to remember him who once was here
And who, though absent, is just as dear.

—Sadly missed by daughter Kate, and son-in-law Darrell.

SMITH.—In loving memory of our dear Father and Mother, who passed away February 23, 1933, and February 28, 1935.

There is someone who misses you sadly,
And finds the time long since you went,
There is someone who thinks of you always,
And tries to be brave and content.
Gone are the faces we loved so dear,
Silent the voice we loved to hear,
'Tis sad, but true, we wonder why,
The best are always the first to die?

—Ever remembered by the Family.

Drafted For Love

dressed. She would give Ann plenty of time to arrive home if she had taken the midnight train from New York.

Now for her outfit. She felt a catch in her throat as she remembered Kent Carter wouldn't see it. Just the same, she chose her newest sweater combination, wool in a luscious ice cream color, worn over flame red slacks with a matching hood. She'd top it off with Ann's coat, the same one she had worn last night.

In the distance, she heard the whistle of the New York train. It would take only a few minutes on Sunday morning for the town taxi to reach the Burnett house. Fifteen minutes went by, 20, a half hour. No Ann.

Resolutely, April ran downstairs to the garage. When she had the car out, she made a quick dive into the kitchen for the kit Octavia had packed, and fled without a word or a backward look.

No time to think now. She was in this and had to see it through.

• • •

Kent was waiting at the gate of the Carter house. As April slowed the car, she had a chance to look at him. He was out of uniform and had worn slacks, too, and a heavy sweater. His head was lifted, the glasses making dark shadows on his face.

"Ann!"

"Good morning Kent."

"Good morning glory."

He was stepping toward the car with sure steps as if her being there was giving him the confidence he needed.

"I was scared last night that all the excitement had made you a wreck. I'd known soon enough whether you were all right if I could see you."

He had climbed into the car. "Does it matter so much" April asked with her heart in her mouth, "that you can't see me, yet?"

"As long as you're beside me, nothing matters."

But she'd seen the shadow cross his face and realized no matter how confident he was in what the doctors had said, there was this fear behind everything that perhaps he wasn't going to see again—ever.

Quickly, she changed the subject. "The day, Kent—it's made to order."

"Yes, to order for us. Tell me about it, Ann."

As he moved closer to her, she started the car. Ann! Always Ann. She picked her words as she was sure Ann would have done.

"You'd hardly know it's winter," she said. The sky is as cloudless as October and the sun is going to be as warm. Even the grass has a green look where the frost has dried, and the hills are horizon blue."

There, that was the way Ann would have described it. She felt proud of herself. Besides, now that she looked at the view, she realized it was beautiful.

"I've brought the fixings for a steak fry," she said.

"Go on—tempt me further."

"Well, if you must be tempted further, we're going to drive miles and miles out to that windmill farm we discovered."

• • •

She was thankful Kent couldn't see the guilty blush which she knew was creeping into her face. Last night, when she'd been making these fantastic plans, she found a note book Ann used in her music lessons.

There'd been a few notations on the margins. One of them had said —"Kent and I found another perfect place for picnics today. We drove in Green county, through the State park to where the red road forks off and came upon a farm with a windmill."

"You remembered it, Ann?" he spoke with a quiet kind of happiness.

"Yes," she faltered. "It was a— red letter day."

The words were choking her. This venture had seemed easy and gallant on her part when she started out. But no, not a mile from the Carter home, her courage was already failing. She, April, had no right to be here. She was an outsider, an interloper. Why, she was worse than a Glitterbug.

She must tell Kent at once, no matter what the consequences. She shot the roadster to the top of the hill and then, abruptly, jammed on the brakes. The car quivered to a stop.

Bancroft News

Mrs. James Colling left on Monday for Toronto, having received word by telephone earlier in the day that her sister Alice was quite ill.

A fire alarm was turned in from the home of George Garrison on Monday, and the local fire squad made a hurried run to his residence. No serious developments took place as the blaze was confined to the chimney.

N. R. Flowers motored to Belleville on Monday.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of St. John's Anglican Church held a pancake super in the Community Hall on Tuesday evening, followed later by bridge and euchre, W. A. Dillon receiving the bridge prize and Mrs. George Davy the euchre prize.

Mrs. Graham moved into the upstairs apartments owned by Miss B. Hasse this week, which were recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. J. Arkils.

Mrs. George Brethour of Belleville was in town on Monday last.

Mr. and Mrs. James Linn and daughter Muriel of Dwight were in town this week having motored in on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Wiggins, accompanied by Miss Jean Bowers, Mrs. R. Kellar and Mrs. R. W. Blatherwick motored to Belleville on Thursday.

3-Way Probe

ATLANTA, Mar. 1 — (AP). — Three independent groups arranged yesterday to investigate the crash near here of Eastern Air Lines' almost-new $120,000 air sleeper, which killed seven persons and injured nine, including Eddie Rickenbacker, famed First Great War pilot and president of the company. Rickenbacker was reported "some better" early yesterday. He has better than an even chance to recover. H. A. Littledale, assistant managing editor of the New York Times, and C. M. Tappen, New York City Oil Co. executive remained in a serious condition.

Like a welcoming light in the dusk, an encouraging word from a friend—these lines from the loved poem by Sam Walter Foss. Do you remember how it ends?

"Then why should I sit in the scorner's seat,
Or hurl the cynic's ban?—
Let me live in my house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man."

Favorite poems—alive with the simple yet great emotions—for these we can be really thankful. You are never at a loss for cheering, inspiring companionship when you can turn to them.

Read the stirring "To Althea, From Prison," by Richard Lovelace.

"Stone walls do not a prison make,
Nor iron bars a cage;
Minds innocent and quiet take
That for a heritage."

Do you remember "Annabel Lee," by Edgar Allen Poe? Who could read this tender love poem dry-eyed? Favorite lines are:

"I was a child and she was a child,
In this kingdom by the sea,
But we loved with a love that was more than love,
I and my Annabel Lee."

ODDS IN SLAM DOUBLES

DID YOU ever calculate the odds against you if you double the opponents' slam contract? Leave out the question of whether your double helps the declarer make his contract, and simply reckon how many extra points your double gets you if you set him one trick, as against how many he gets from it if you don't set him. Take the not vulnerable situation first, with a major suit small slam. If he makes it, you double the value of his tricks, which is 180, giving him that many extra. If you set him one, you double your score of 50, giving you an extra 50. So are you willing to wager 180 to 50, or nearly 4 to 1, you will beat him? If not, don't double.

That bidding occurred in a rubber game in the Grand Bridge club conducted by the former world's three-cushion billiard champion in Pittsburgh, Charles Ellis, where Emil Ahlert, Arthur Sheigren, Robert Johnson, E. C. Donaghy and other fine players foregather. In the South was a brilliant newspaperman who wants to be anonymous, with Mr. Donaghy in the North. The most surprising thing about the deal was the fine restraint by Mr. Ahlert in the West, in refusing to double—real expert bridge. He reckoned that his cards were badly placed, the distribution freakish and a declarer on the job who was likely to get the most out of the hand, and he was right on all counts.

The diamond 3 was led and two plans unfolded themselves. One required an even split of both hearts and clubs, with East holding the heart J and West the club K. The other needed only an even break in hearts, a four-three in diamonds and the club K with West, so that is what the declarer sought. He ruffed the opener, sent the club Q to the K and A, tossed the spade 3 on the diamond A, ruffed a diamond, scored the three top trumps, led the club 6 to the 10 and then the diamond 5 to the K, discarding the spade 5. No matter what West returned, the last four tricks were declarer's, with the spade A, diamond 9 and 10 and club J.

Your Week-End Lesson

In leading from a worthless doubleton, such as a 9-7, against a suit contract, why is it important to use the higher card rather than the lower one? Can you set up a hand on which it can mean the difference between the declarer making his contract and your side beating him?

Hepburn Again Predicts Expanded Credit

TORONTO, Mar. 1.—Credit expansion, "whether you wish it or not," will be effected in Canada within the next six or seven months if the war industrial machine is to be geared to a full-out effort, Premier Hepburn last night predicted in an address before the Ontario Good Roads Association.

The forecast came at the close of a plea for a more realistic backing of Britain and the Empire, and was regarded by his listeners as the most direct advocacy of credit expansion since the project was first broached by the Ontario Premier.

"Be as it may," said Mr. Hepburn, "we are going to have a measure of credit expansion. Maybe I am a little in advance of the times, but we are going to make a choice probably within the next six or seven months and decide whether money or man is the master."

As in previous speeches, the Premier took Australia as an example, claimed that the Commonwealth first put its financial house in order and then removed unemployment by preparing in a realistic way for the struggle "they and we knew was bound to come." Neither course, he charged, was taken in Canada.

The passage was made at the close of a series of addresses which were marked by their tones of goodfellowship founded in 39 years of association in the body which was most responsible, outside of Government, in developing the highways system.

Many members of the Legislature were present, including Hon. George S. Henry and Hon. Leopold Macaulay, former Ministers of Highways; George Doucet, Conservative, Carleton, vice-president of the association, and the present Highways Minister, Hon. T. B. McQuesten.

Says Plant at 20 Per Cent Capacity.

Mr. Macaulay introduced the first solemn note in the banquet meeting when he expressed doubt that "we have awakened to the realization that the immunity we enjoy here has been bought and paid for by our boys over there.

"When I know that not ten miles from here there is a great aircraft plant working at only 20 per cent capacity and know at the same time it is touch and go if Britain will have enough aircraft, I then wonder if Canada has awakened."

Mr. McQuesten, R. A. Stappels, president of the Canadian Automobile Association, and Mayor William Morrison, Hamilton, and chairman of the Ontario Mayors' Association, paid tribute to the Premier's backing of road construction.

"When the Premier handed over 75 per cent of the cost of relief to every municipality, he saved many a municipality from bankruptcy," said Mayor Morrison.

"So far as you people are concerned, if the Sirois report had gone through you would have been simply out of luck. The property owner would have gone bankrupt and there would have been no future for real estate. You (he turned to the Premier) were in tough hole but you got out of it with flying colors. Mind you, they didn't criticize him for what he said but how he said it. He was not in his proper place. He shocked Ottawa, for Ottawa is not accustomed to plain speaking."

The Premier was warm in his praise of K. W. McKay of St. Thomas, member of one of Elgin Countys' oldest families and only charter living member of the association, when, on behalf of members, he presented the veteran county clerk with a silver tray.

In Britain three separate departments were purchasing war supplies, one for the navy, one for the army and one for the air force. In the United States there were two. He had been told in both countries that "we are very fortunate in Canada to have a single buying authority for all military needs." For one thing it avoided purchasing competition between the various services.

He did not know the work was too heavy for one man, but he doubted it.

Sees It As Challenge

"It seems to me I regard it as a challenge, not on my industry but on my organizing ability," he said. "I do very little work around the department, I may say. If any one come to me and wants an order for something I simply say: 'I do not order. I am not the man who places orders. Go to see so-and-so, who is handling the matter.'"

But, he said, "If Parliament, the Prime Minister or anyone else wishes to subdivide it (the department) and give me part of it that will be all right with me.

"Or much better, as far as I am concerned, if it were divided into three parts and those parts were given to three other men and I were permitted to go back to the department of transport."

(Mr. Howe was transport minister before taking over his present portfolio.)

Urge Bennett Probe It

Mr. Diefenbaker suggested the "failure" in Canadan aircraft production called for investigation so it would not recur. He proposed that Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, former prime minister, now serving under Lord Beaverbrook, British Minister of Aircraft Production, be called back to Canada to head an investigating committee "or, if you like, a commission."

Mr. Hanson contended that Mr. Howe undertook too much.

"I beseech him to take this suggestion from me in the spirit in which it is offered and that he impose on somebody else the burden of aircraft production and not keep every rein in his own hands," said Mr. Hanson.

Mr. Howe gave further details of correspondence with six aircraft manufacturers regarding their submission that Federal Aircraft Limited, the government-owned corporation set up to organize production of Avro-Anson trainer planes, should be dissolved.

The minister said the manufacturers were sub-contractors to Federal Aircraft and were among a large number who were making parts of the Anson planes.

After their recommendation was made he had written them asking whether they believed their suggestions would speed up the Anson program and on what facts they based their views. He also asked what guarantee of delivery they could give.

One Drops Out

Five of the manufacturers sent a joint reply. The sixth, Boeing Aircraft of Canada Ltd., "apparently dropped out." The five said they based their belief that dissolution of Federal Aircraft would speed up the program on the fact that the principal contractors involved "believe that a change will be beneficial." They gave no guarantee of dates of deliveries on grounds Federal had not supplied a schedule showing when it would fulfill its part of the program.

The minister said the representations received careful considerationtiontion but he decided it was not wise to dissolve Federal. The company had large commitments and it would have taken another company "six weeks" to pick up where Federal left off. He said as a contractor he never permitted subcontractors to tell him how to run his business.

"I doubt if because six of these contractors gang up and come to Ottawa the government is bound to accept their recommendations," he added.

When Mr. Hanson suggested the term "gang up" should not be used Mr. Howe said: "Well, say join together."

Mr. Douglas atributed criticism directed at the Munitions and Supply Department recently to failure of the goverment to keep members of Parliament informed on the war effort.

He reminded the House that at the outbreak of the war the C.C.F. group had suggested that from time to time secret sessions might be held to give members confidential information on actual progress being made in supplying war material.

Mr. Howe replied that there were no secrets about aircraft production. He could give all the information in open sessions — although there were other types of production particularly guns, on which he could not give full particulars because "the British government has placed us under a seal of secrecy."

As the sitting opened, M. J. Coldwell, acting C.C.F. House Leader, and Dr. H. A. Bruce (Con., Toronto-Parkdale) called the Government's attention to statements of Senator Gerald Nye of North Dakota to the effect Canada demands cash from Britain for war supplies. Senator Nye spoke Thursday before the United States Senate during discussion on the "Lease-Lend" Bill.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King said the Government would not make a public statement on a domestic debate in the United States even for the sake of correcting misrepresentations. He was sure informed and responsible Americans knew the facts.

"Nothing could be more unfortunate with respect to furthering the interests of Canada or the interests of the British Empire at Washington than for either this country or any other nation of the British Commonwealth to take any step at Washington which would give the administration or opponents of the administration there reason to say that we were trying to interfere in matters of their own domestic concern and were going out of our way to influence the free and independent judgment of the American people," said the Prime Minister.

Trade Minister MacKinnon said he hoped to give the House at least a partial statement of the wheat policy for 1941 within the next three or four days, and Finance Miniser Ilsley indicated the budget would be introduced after the $1,300,000,000 War Appropriation Bill passes.

Hired Hands Quit Acres Thinks 'Things Wrong'

TORONTO, March 1—Bitter foe of the direct relief system and an advocate of aid to the farmer, A. Holly Acres, Carleton County Conservative, claimed yesterday there "is something wrong and I can prove it."

He then related: Last winter, he had two hired men to whom he paid $25 a month and all found "and the work wasn't too stiff either." One night they went into Ottawa and began to talk to a Chinese cafe keeper, with the result that next day at noon they left the farm and went into Ottawa to wash dishes in the cafe for more money than he was paying.

"And that day," said the member, waving a large and toil-worn index finger at the House, "the papers in Ottawa reported there were 273 employable married men in that city on relief. I tell you, there is something wrong and I can prove it."

British Aid for Turkey

"The two governments found themselves in complete agreement regarding policy on all these problems."

(The British-Turkish pact of 1939 provided for such consultations as Mr. Eden and Sir John have just concluded and mutual assistance in event of aggression leading to war in the Mediterranean.

(Although it has not been invoked in Britain's current Mediterranean conflict with Italy and Germany, both nations have reaffirmed previously their attachment, and Turkey's prolonged state of mobilization has been characterized by Britain as adequate to date under terms of the pact.

(British financial assistance has been given Turkey, and last December the treaty was bolstered by a trade agreement.)

Mr. Eden and Sir John also conferred with Sir Stafford Cripps, British ambassador to Russia who flew here from Moscow, and the Soviet ambassador to Turkey.

British sources said Mr. Eden had found Russia near the British point of view after harmonious conversations.

(Russia's attitude toward the Balkan crisis is expected to play a large part in Turkey's ultimate decision of whether she will fight with Britain if Germany attacks Greece.)

Another Convoy Claim

BERLIN, Mar. 1—(AP). — Nazi spokesmen claimed today that the German Air Force sank nine and damaged seven merchant ships totalling 102,500 tons in an attack on a British convoy 315 miles off the west coast of Ireland yesterday.

(There was no immediate comment available in London on this claim. Heretofore Nazi claims of the sort have turned out to be greatly exaggerated.)

Millbrook Drive Members Hold Banquet

MILLBROOK, Mar. 1—(ENS). — R. A. Ford was host for a stag party at his home, King Street Centre, on Tuesday, over twenty guests sitting down to dinner at 7 p.m. In addition to the pleasant social side of the event, the objective in view was the raising of funds for the local Red Cross, and an explanation of the campaign in the village to raise its quota of citizens pledged to the purchase of War Saving Certificates regularly.

Following the winner, in the service of which Mrs. Ford was assisted by Mrs. T. A. Campbell, president of the local Red Cross branch, her mother, Mrs. Martin, and Miss Lillian Foottit, the chairman of the local campaign committee, Ivan L. H. Gray, gave a talk on the progress made, the manner of recording results as the captains of the four teams report daily, and the objective in view, namely pledges for $600 monthly, each team to have citizens pledged to the buying of $150 worth of War Savings Certificates every month of the year.

The speaking was while the guests were still gathered about the dinner tables, and later adjournment was made to the living-room, where Mr. Gray conducted a quiz contest, anyone failing to answer the question put to him having to pay a fine of 5 cents each time. Other games of chance provided plenty of fun and recreation, over twenty dollars being in the "bank" for the Red Cross when the enjoyable evening reached its conclusion.

Among the guests were; Dr. J. W. Wright, Dr. M. E. Hobbs, Dr. C. T. Temple, Dr. L. M. Hobbs, G. F. Harrington, H. D. Bigelow, Melville Ball, Fred Lowery, T. W. McCamus, H. A. THE NEW FORD RIDING COMFORT

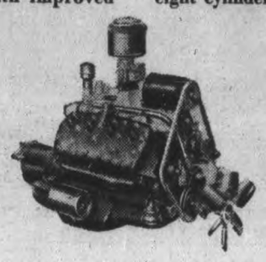
FORGET THE BUMPS, forget travel weariness. There's a new standard of riding comfort in the low price car field. The Ford for '41, grown bigger and more beautiful, is also re-engineered beneath its floor. Slower-acting springs, with improved hydraulic shock absorbers and ride stabilizer of new design give a new ride sensation. Riding in a '41 Ford is like riding on air—you simply float along.

Look at the size of the '41 Ford—its longer wheelbase, its massive, wide body in which running boards have almost disappeared. There's more seat room . . . head room . . . leg room. Doors are wider, there's a greater expanse of glass.



GREATEST ENGINE IN THE LOW PRICE FIELD

The '41 Ford is the only low price car with a V-type eight cylinder engine. Remember—all the higher priced cars have eight cylinders or more. V-type engines hold world's records on land, on sea and in the air. Ford is powered with the famous V-8, the engine that has hung up records of gasoline economy and trouble-free reliability year after year.

So when you can buy the big, new, sweet-riding Ford for less than you'd pay for any low priced six, why be satisfied with less than an eight—a Ford V-8. See a Ford Dealer now.

$35 a month with reasonable down payment buys any Ford V-8.

LOOK AT THE VALUE IN THE 1941 FORD

● Longer wheelbase, longer springbase. Overall length increased to 194.34 inches.

● Bright, new interiors. Upholstery beautifully tailored in new colour harmonies.

● Faster acceleration added to famous Ford V-8 performance by new gear ratios.

● Bigger windows. Vision increased up to 33%. Narrow corner pillars.

● Seating width increased as much as seven inches. Plenty of room for all.

Milk To Sell In City Seven Cents Pint Twelve Cents Quart

In a decision announced Saturday the Ontario Milk Control Board granted the application of Peterborough milk producers for an increase of 25 cents a hundred pounds beginning Saturday, March 1, and as a result of this ruling the retail price to consumers will be advanced one cent a pint and quart Tuesday, March 4, selling at 7 cents a pint and 12 cents a quart.

The existing price scale paid by local dairies to the producers ranged from $2 to $2.56 a hundred pounds. As from last Saturday it has been officially raised to the new scale of $2.25 to $2.81. The prices within the fixed scale were based on the butter fat content from the probable average of 3.2 per cent up to 5.2.

An estimate of the financial advantage to the milk producers is approximately $28,280 a year, assuming that the delivery of milk into the city is around 31,000 pounds a day. And the improved income is shared by about 110 producers.

Truckers of milk were given an increased rate of three cents a hundred pounds, from the present 15 cents to the new rate of 18 cents.

Cream prices for pints and half pint quantities are unchanged, but quarts are up five cents beginning Tuesday. Local cream prices will be as follows: whipping cream 65 cents a quart; table cream 55 cents a quart. In the smaller quantities whipping cream remains the same at 40 cents for pints and 20 cents for half-pints; and table cream 30

Eight vessels carrying mail from this country to foreign destinations have been sent to the bottom and 14,501 sacks of mail lost, a postoffice department compilation showed today.

A full sack of mail weighs about 66 pounds and holds approximately 2,500 letters. Thus the war toll has been close to 1,000,000 pounds of mail, or about 3,600,000 individual pieces.

Supply Ship Sent Down; Hun Cruiser Bombed Anew At Brest

LONDON, March 3 (CP)—British bombers attacking Brest yesterday reported that sticks of bombs were seen to straddle docks at which a German cruiser of the Admiral Hipper class was berthed, while other raiders sank a 2,000-ton vessel in an enemy supply convoy in the North Sea, the air ministry said today.

Authoritative sources said the Hipper class cruiser was the same vessel the Royal Air Force attacked last week at Brest.

(Vessels in the Hipper class are 10,000-ton craft, all five of them being built between 1937 and 1939.)

Other planes attacked the seaplane base at List, in the Kiel region of Germany, and also bombed shipping off the Netherlands Islands, the Air Ministry said.

Two bombers were lost.

Describing the Brest raid, the communique said: "sticks of bombs were observed to straddle docks at which a cruiser of the Hipper class was berthed. Several direct hits were observed on docks and on buildings and two large explosions were heard just after leaving the target."

The convoy attacked was creeping down the coast with supplies for invasion bases closer to England. German-occupied naval and submarine bases in France, including Brest, and Nazi-occupied airdromes also were attacked last night.

Under-Cover Fascists Parade Sofia Under Hun Escort

SOFIA, Bulgaria, March 3 (AP)—Reports filtering into Sofia from the provinces today said the entire country was filling up with German troop units moving swiftly southward toward Greece and southeast toward Turkey.

The vanguard of these troops already has reached the Greek frontier—at one point 65 miles from Salonika.

Field Marshal Sigmund List, commander in chief of Germany's Balkan armies, was reported today to have installed headquarters in Sofia.

The Powderkeg Scene

The kaleidoscopic Balkan picture included these developments:—

1. An authoritative report from Zagreb that neutral Yugoslavia, a nation created as an outgrowth of the first Great War, would become the fifth nation to join the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo alliance.

2. Unconfirmed reports from Negotin, Yugoslavia, near both the Rumanian and Bulgarian frontiers, that British aircraft bombed the rich Rumanian oil field centre at Ploesti, long occupied by German forces.

3. The arrival of British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Gen. Sir John G. Dill, chief of the imperial general staff, in Athens from Turkey.

4. A report in Istanbul that Germany had asked Turkey to offer to mediate the war during Mr. Eden's visit there but that Britain had refused to consider mediation when sounded out by Turkey.

Decision Near For Greece

The arrival of German mechanized forces at the Bulgarian towns of Melnik, Trigrad and Svilengrad, just short of the Greek frontier, was interpreted here as apparently bringing embattled Greece face to face with the alternatives of suing for peace with Italy or calling for further British aid—in the form of land forces.

Hun Subs Reported In Black Sea Turk Fleet Goes Out

INSTANBUL, March 3.—(AP).—The Turkish navy has mined all except a narrow channel in the strategic Dardanelles straits, it was disclosed authoritatievly to-day.

The mining followed closing of the Dardanelles to all ships except those given special permits and employing Turkish naval pilots. Turkish naval units also had been reported steaming toward the Dardanelles.

Ships seeking permission to pass through the strait connecting the Aegean Sea and the Sea of Marmara must notify Turkish naval authorities by wireless six hours before the transit is to begin and give full identification.

Turkey was calm as German armies swarmed into Bulgaria. At least one small Nazi detachment was reported from Sofia to have reached the Bulgarian town of Svilengrad, almost on the three-nation frontier of Turkey, Greece and Bulgaria.

Authoritative sources said Turkey had taken "full defence precautions."

These developments also followed as both Turkey and Greece were said to be rushing border preparations in the face of Nazi forces massed on Bulgaria's frontiers:—

Turkey was said to have called up all naval reservists after taking precautionary measures in the Dardanelles, with whom three to seven divisions of Bulgaria's newly-mobilized army massed near the Turkish frontier.

R.A.F. Over Yugoslavia?

An under-cover Bulgarian Fascist movement came into the open with the arrival of the German forces into that country.

Dispatches from Turkey said the Turkish general staff had been in session at Ankara throughout the day and that additional Turkish troops were moving out of Istanbul toward the Bulgarian frontier.

Riley Robbery Suspects Held In Toronto

Burglars broke into Ed. Riley's men's wear shop, George street, early Sunday morning and stole over $1,000 worth of clothing and accessories. Last night Toronto police arrested two youths, Harry Roberts, 18, of River street, Toronto and Norman R. Cross, 19, of Wilmott Place, Toronto, charging them with the burglarly. The stolen clothing was recovered.

The suspects were out-fitted in brand new clothing when arrested and their attire is was thought to be part of the loot from the Riley store.

In the Wilmott Place house, an overcoat was found in a kitchen stove and several suits were discovered in a refrigerator. Other suits were located among live chickens in the basement.

Stole Two Cars

In tracing the activities of the pair, Toronto police said that the youths had stolen a car in Toronto Saturday night belonging to Stewart Hallatt, 88 Winchester street. Then they drove to Bowmanville where they abandoned the first car and stole another one belonging to W. J. Challis of Bowmanville. This car was used in the robbing of the Riley Store here.

Entrance to the store was gained by cutting through a plywood panel in the rear door and then unbolting the door. A lower bolt could not be reached in this way and the burglars used a jimmy to finish the opening operations.

Yugoslavs Swing Onto Verge Of Joining Axis

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia, March 3—(AP).—Yugoslavia, largest power in the Balkans, was reported authoritatively today on the verge of signing alongside her neighbors in the Axis partnership pact.

Authoritative sources said the signing probably would come soon as a result of conferences between Prince Paul, Yugoslav regent, and Viktor von Heeren, Nazi Minister to Belgrade, only a few hours after Bulgaria joined the partnership last Saturday. Previous signers were Slovakia, Hungary and Rumania.

(A Berlin radio broadcast heard last night in New York said Yugoslav Premier Dragisa Cvetkovic returned to Belgrade yesterday from his country estate and held an "extremely lengthy" conference with Prince Paul).

Von Heeren was said to have informed the regent that he talked last week with German Foreign Minister Ribbentrop about "Yugoslavia's position in the Nazi plans for a new European order."

A Point Blank Query.

Then, these sources said, after discussing Yugoslavia's "position in the light of recent developments in the Balkans," and "alluding" to German military strength near the Yugoslav borders, the German Minister asked what Yugoslavia's attitude was toward joining the pact.

Although no definite answer was given, authoritative sources said, Von Heeren was assured such a development was likely to be "favorably considered" by the government in the near future.

Military observers said Germany probably would press for a speedy decision to facilitate the movement of German troops and equipment through Yugoslavia as well as Bulgaria in the event of a Nazi thrust into Greece toward the Mediterranean.

Yugoslavia's railroad and highway along the Vardar River Valley, it was said, would afford a direct route for a thrust at the Greek port of Salonika.

Ontario Probes Lamport Shift

TORONTO, March 3 — (CP). — Members of the Ontario Legislature face a fairly full program with a series of committee meetings on the agenda for the third week of the session, opening today.

Hearings are scheduled for the Agriculture, Private Bills and Fish and Game Committees. The Agriculture Committee has held one meeting but the other two committees expected to lose little time in getting down to business.

The House today will consider further government bills and is expected to hear a definite report on the transfer of Fo. Allan Lamport of the Royal Canadian Air Force, and M.P.P. for Toronto St. David, the day after he had participated in the Throne Speech debate.

Greek Monarch, Chiefs, Eden In Long Huddle

ATHENS, March 3 — (AP). — British-Greek conversations continued today behind a strict guard of secrecy, but informed sources said they undoubtedly covered the Balkan situation, especially developments in Nazi-occupied Bulgaria.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Gen. Sir John Dill, chief of the Imperial General Staff, who flew here yesterday from Turkey, conferred both with Greek Government and military leaders.

They were reported to have talked until late last night with King George, Premier Alexander Korizis, and other high Greek officials. Mr. Eden also saw the United States Minister, Lincoln MacVeagh, and the Turkish Minister today at the British Legation. Tomorrow the King will receive the visitors at luncheon.

The press reflected an enthusiastic welcome.

British headquarters in Greece announced today that Royal Air Force pilots heavily attacked the Berati airdrome yesterday, effecting square hits on hangars and other buildings and setting off fires visible 50 miles away.

Three grounded Italian planes were believed to have been severely damaged, a communique said. There were no British losses.

Summing up the aerial combat of February 28 in which 26 Fascist planes had originally been declared destroyed, the British communique said it had been subsequently confirmed that one of nine Italian craft damaged had crashed, thus bringing

Just Protecting Bulgaria

Saving Her Fro mEngland Nazis Say–'Greece Pay Now Too'

BERLIN, March 3 —(AP)—The German public was told as usual today the march of Nazi troops into Bulgaria was for "protection" against British moves to spread war into the Balkans, and newspapers hinted that Greece, "unhappy orphan of the storm," might have to pay for fighting with Italy.

Berlin political circles claimed that the German troops' move increased the influence of the Reich in the Balkans to such an extent any British effort to "disturb the peace" there would fail.

Typical of the press comment were statements that "England has lost another and almost her last toe-hold in Europe" and "Greece is without a friend on the continent."

The opinion was expressed widely that Greece would "soon have to pay for her mistake"—the mistake in Nazi eyes of over-estimating British influence on the continent.

(Dispatches from Sofia said German troops, speeding southward, had reached the Greek frontier. Balkan diplomatic sources have said for several days that such a move would be Germany's warning to Greece to make peace with Italy or fight both Axis armies.)

A communique which gave the German people their first information their troops were in Bulgaria said last night:—

"As protection against British measures in southeast Europe, which have become known, units of the German army have marched into Bulgaria....with the agreement of the Bulgarian administration. The troops were cordially greeted by the Bulgarian public."

Germans claimed "British measures" included threats to land soldiers in parts of Greece and alleged plots to blow up Sofia's water system.

"The Greeks' difficulty now," an unofficial German observer claimed last night, "is that they couldn't get rid of the English if they wanted to."

200-Year-Old Law To See Prosecution In Relays

WILKINGTON, Del., Mar. 3 — (AP). — Delaware decided to-day to handle in relays the prosecution of more than 500 persons arrested for violating the State's 20-year-old Blue Laws by engaging in "worldly employment" on Sunday.

Milkmen, motormen, cab drivers, newsdealers, delivery boys, storekeepers, waitresses, clerks and radio executives were taken into custody by the dozens. Some were arraigned to-day and other hearings will be held daily until all have answered summons.

The penalty is a fine of $4 to $8, a night in jail, or both.

New Thousands Get Across

Hail Canucks Smartest, Best Equipped Reinforcements Yet

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, March 3.—(CP Cable).—The latest group of Canadian troops to reach Britain were described to-day as the "smartest and fittest yet t arrive from the Dominion."

They got right down to training and the camp parade grounds echoed to the footsteps of thousands of marching soldiers.

After an uneventful crossing marred by only two days of rough weather, the units, which formed the largest group of reinforcements brought from Canada for the Canadian corps, moved to camp by train yesterday.

The arrivals included men from every branch of the army and the first reinforcements for the 2nd Division. The Royal Canadian Army Service Corps sent the largest group.

"They're the smartest and fittest batch of men we've had come to us yet," said the Colonel watching as the platoons marched by, heads high and arms swinging. "Besides, they're the best equipped, which helps us meet our problems here."

Lieut. R. L. Segsworth of Toronto, brought over a raft of sappers himself. A holding unit officer said: "That's a mighty big job for a young subaltern. He should be put in a special bracket for a swell job."

The Engineers, who came from Petawawa Camp, all agreed with Sapper D. J. Duchesnay of Ottawa, who said:: "We want to stick right on the ground in England now because those boats sure rock around in the Atlantic."

R.C.A.S.C. officers were at full strength on the parade ground with the men. Included in the group giving infantry drill were Lieut. C. G. Hunter, of Quebec City, a newspaperman, and Lieut. A. T. Gardner, of Kingston, Ont.

WASHINGTON, March 3—(AP)—Thomas D. Campbell, mass production wheat specialist, who gave Russia expert advice for the first five-year plan, will fly to Britain this week on a mission shrouded in secrecy.

Campbell has spent the last month here, calling frequently at the White House for talks with President Roosevelt.

He insisted that he could not discuss the purpose of his trip abroad.

"I'm going over as a private citizen," said Campbell, who reputedly is the largest wheat producer in the United States. "I...probably will confer with the Minister of Agriculture and some other officials."

Balk At Charity 2 Brothers Sister Starve

LINDSAY, March 3.—Too proud to ask for aid when their food and fuel supplies ran low, three elderly persons, a sister and two brothers, stayed on in their lonely farmhouse until removed to hospital, where they died within a few hours of each other.

Charlotte Shouldice, 75, and her brother, Thomas, 68, were given a double funeral Saturday. Five hours later the second brother Isaac, 70, died in Ross Memorial Hospital.

Content to live by themselves, the three were seldom seen and neighbors knew little about them. They were independent by nature, and the 50-acre farm in Mariposa Township, two miles south of Valentia, ordinarily provided their simple wants. But sickness prevented them from working the land and in the cold winter days and nights they knew privation and pain.

Recently a neighbor named Jordan saw no signs of life on the Shouldice farm. He broke his way through the barrier of snow around the farmhouse and found the old people weakened by hunger and sickness. Jordan notified the town-

Man Drops Dead Making Purchase

As he was making a purchase in the Sunrise Bakery, 170 Charlotte street, on Saturday night, James Connors, 85, of 17 Monaghan Road was stricken with a heart attack and dropped to the floor. He had bought some cakes and was receiving his change when he suddenly collapsed.

Dr. Bob Young was called and pronounced Mr. Connors dead and Coroner Dr. Eugene Snider who investigated stated that death was due to natural causes.

The late Mr. Connors had lived in this community for many years and was well known here. Five sons survive, Leonard and Frank of Toronto, and Edward, Gordon and Charles of Peterborough.

The funeral will be held Tuesday morning at the Church of the Sacred Heart at 9 o'clock with interment in St. Peter's Cemetery.

Discussion here in recent weeks has touched several times on Britain's food problem in view of the intensifying war on her shipping, and the possibility she would need supplies from the United States. Mr. Campbell's projected trip, coming at this time, aroused some speculation that his mission might be to direct an emergency attempt at mass production of wheat in the British Isles.

He declined to comment on this, but he did mention that in the United States and Canada a huge surplus of wheat—perhaps 800,000,000 bushels—existed. Other stocks of the grain are available in Australia and South America.

With Eastern Libya almost wholly in British hands, British African forces claiming control of Italian Somaliland, columns driving into Ethiopia, and a British nutcracker on Cheren, 42 miles from the Eritrean capital of Asmar, observers here said Mussolini's East African Empire seemed toppling.

They predicted it would fall, whether through military action of exhaustion by blockade, in much less than the nine months Mussolini's army took in defeating Ethiopia.

It was said, too, that the Empire troops—English and Scottish regiments, Indians, Rhodesians, South Africans, and natives, reinforced by French, Senegalese and Ethiopians —totalled only a fraction of the 500,000 men Mussolini was reported to have sent against the Ethiopians.

British sources said more than 15,000 Italian soldiers had been taken prisoner during the first six weeks of the East African campaign and estimated the Italian strength in East Africa at the start of the war as more than 200,000 men—6,000 of them Italians and the rest natives.

A general headquarters communique yesterday said armed Ethiopians "inflicted considerable losses" on Italian garrisons in the Gojjam district of Ethiopia, where British forces are pushing toward Gondar. The communique added that "signs are apparent of further withdrawal of Italian posts in this region."

British forces were said to be mopping up in Italian Somaliland, with its capital Mogadiscio and the important town of Bardera in British hands. Italians who did not escape into Ethiopia were said to be surrendering in hundreds daily, with nearly 10,000 already taken prisoner.

The Italian air force in Eritrea has been "grounded" as a result of its hammering by British planes, according to a Royal Air Force Middle East Headquarters account issued by the Air Ministry news service.

The account said one British squadron has destroyed 76 Italian planes in air battles and raids on hangars.

The War Today

By J. F. SANDERSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

Success of Foreign Secretary Anthon Eden's visit last week to Ankara was apparent today with Turkey's closing of the Dardanelles to all except acceptable traffic, but the Balkan situation generally was still muddled.

German troops were reported on the Greek-Bulgarian border, apparently ready to enter Macedonia, while others were reported speeding to the Bulgarian-Turkish border, presumbaly in case the Turks decided on active aid to Greece.

Germany was reported putting pressure on Yugoslavia, largest of the Balkan countries, in an effort to force its government into joining the Axis. It was expected Yugoslavia would yield possibly giving Germany a second avenue to the Greek border should Turkey menace the one she has already established.

It was assumed Germany will not start fighting Greece without a preliminary campaign of threats applied in an effort to make the Greeks stop fighting against Italy. It was also assumed that Mr. Eden and Gen. Sir John Dill, chief of the Imperial General Staff, were busy telling the Greek government how much additional help they could spare Greece.

There seems little doubt that Britain will do her utmost to keep the Greeks in the war, not so much because they are beating Italy in Albania but because they have caused a diversion of German attention since Mussolini started to cry for help.

An end of hostilities by Greece would hardly affect the Italian position much as Mussolini's former empire has just about crumbled to pieces anyway.

However, it is obviously useful for Britain to have Germany occupied in the Balkans as Hitler's attention thus is divided, and so far the German has show a predilection for doing one thing at a time. If he is occupied in the Balkans he is less likely to spare forces for an attempted invasion of Britain.

It is difficult, as a matter of fact, to see what Germany imagines she has gained by her Balkan policy. She has needed to send a large army into disgruntled Rumania and now another into Bulgaria. If she overruns Yugoslavia an additional army will be required.

The first result of the Bulgarian stroke was a report from the Yugoslav border that Britain's Royal Air Force had bombed the Rumanian oil centre of Ploesti. Britain hitherto had refrained from bombing Rumania because to reach that country her aircraft would have to fly over Bulgaria whose neutrality she did not want to infringe.

Germany's act in marching into Bulgaria placed both that country and Yugoslavia within easy range of British air forces based in Greece and appeared likely to jeopardize further Germany's chances of getting sizable supplies of oil from the Rumanian fields.

Expect Break On Tuesday With Bulgaria

LONDON, March 3 (CP)—Authoritative sources declared today a break in diplomatic relations with Bulgaria is imminent and will come as soon as the situation there becomes either "dangerous or humiliating."

That time, they added, "apparently has just about been reached."

George Rendel, British Minister in Sofia, was said to have been authorized to sever the relations "as quickly as he sees fit."

Whether this action would be followed by air attacks on the Nazi legions or other military moves remained the secret of strategists charting the nation's war plans.

The News Chronicle (Liberal) reflected a common view that "for some weeks" it had been known what Bulgaria would do and "full preparations had been made by Britain and her allies to meet the new situation."

George W. Rendel, British Minister to Sofia, was said to have been given the same discretionary power to ask for his passport when he felt it necessary as Sir Reginald Hoare, British Minister to Bucharest, had and exercised after the Germans occupied Rumania.

The new arrivals were the ninth large contingent of Canadians to cross the Atlantic.

Their arrival maintained the perfect record of the Navy in transporting troops across the Atlantic. Not a single Candian soldier has lost his life from enemy action during any of the numerous crossings.

There were Royal Canadian Army Service Corps, Labor and Forestry units, and still more graduates of the Commonwealth's Air Training Plan. Sprinkled among the Canadian airmen were Australians, New Zealanders, and Poles, some of whom already had fighting experience, and went to Canada to study advanced navigation.

A raiding bomber was shot down off the east coast during scattered daylight raiding yesterday, the air ministry said.

BERLIN, March 3 (AP) — The German high command claimed today that three vessels totalling 21,000 tons had been sunk by Nazi submarines and planes and that two other vessels were damaged "badly," all presumably yesterday.

The daily war bulletin said a submarine reported sinking a 9,000-ton tanker, while the air force was said to have sunk a 2,000-ton vessel off the St George channel, between the Irish Sea and the Atlantic, and a 10,000-ton merchant west of the Hebrides.

(These claims could not be confirmed independently.)

German troops continued to roll into Bulgaria from Rumania. Bulgaria's Black Sea ports of Varna and Burgas were completely in Nazi hands, and unconfirmed reports said German submarines assembled beforehand at the Rumanian naval port of Constanta — were in both Bulgarian harbors.

The British Legation at Sofia was said to have completed arrangements to go to Istanbul and British quarters there expected the British minister, George Rendel, to break off relations to-morrow.

Soon A Battlefield

The Turkish press unanimously predicted that Bulgaria soon would become a battlefield despite the efforts of King Boris to keep his kingdom out of active participation in the German side.

The newspaper Ikdam, closely allied to the Turkish foreign office, commented:—

"At first, Bulgaria will not join Germany. Her army will have the duty of standing in front of the Turkish army, hiding the action of the German army which will be conducted against Greece.

"But this stage can only be brief because the British will bomb Bulgarian transport points, Bulgarians will die and then the Germans will press Bulgaria to declare war on England."

Turkish newspapers speculated on the attitude of Soviet Russia and the newspaper Tan observed that "We Turks are mostly interested" in Moscow's stand.

Fascism in Bulgaria was predicted by Yeni Sabah because, it said, "Those who now show resentment are being imprisoned or killed."

"His Majesty, the King, will find all this a little too noisy and will take a rest in a foreign country....

30 Million Trees Are Available Yearly For Ontario Residents

The Ontario Forestry Department has available for distribution each year some 30,000,000 trees and of this quantity the Orono Station has 7,750,000, George M. Linton, in charge of the Ontario Forestry Station at Bowmanville, told members of the Peterborough Rotary Club in an informative address on the subject of Forestry at to-day's luncheon of the club.

Introduced by Gordon Munro, Mr. Linton defined forestry as the management of a forest area to obtain the greatest economic return in perpetuity.

He said that when forestry was mentioned in Southern Ontario, people invariably thought of reforestation, while in Northern Ontario the word forestry was associated with forest fires. Such remarks, the speaker said, indicated that the people of Ontario were at the very bottom of the kindergarten in their knowledge of forestry.

Orono Station.

Mr. Linton described the work of the Orono Station, telling how the seeds are obtained from cones collected all over the province, how the seedlings are looked after and cared for, and how the trees are distributed. He emphasized the fact that any one could obtain trees from the Department so long as the forestry officials were satisfied the applicant would handle them properly. All that was asked was that the applicant pay transportation costs. "Any one who calls at Orono for them," said the speaker, "can have trees without charge."

Mr. Linton said many Peterborough people had long co-operated with him in his work. Among them were Ross Dobbin, C. A. Salmonsen, F. C. Paterson, agricultural representatives, the School Inspector and the county reforestation committee.

Among the guests were Capt. Ross Hood, Rotarian member of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, who told the club that the regiment was very comfortable in their camp at Debert, N.S., and that the stories of mud, etc., there had been very much overdrawn, and Rotarian Charlie Ferguson of Lindsay, who told of some of the recent activities of the Lindsay Club. Angus L. Macdonald of Chicago, son of former Rotarian George A. Macdonald, was another guest.

President T. J. Carley congratulated Rotarian Ian F. McRae upon his appointment as works manager of the C.G.E., and Rotarian Gordon S. Matthews upon the success of the War Savings drive.

Order Soldier To Trial In Two Murders

LONDON, Ont., March 3 (CP)—James B. McGuffin, 23-year-old member of an Active Army unit at Petawawa Camp, was committed for trial when he appeared before Magistrate Donald B. Menzies today on two charges of murder.

The charges were laid following a beverage room brawl here a week ago in which Charles Kennedy, 49, and George Stonehouse, 29, were killed by shots allegedly fired by McGuffin from a .32 calibre revolver.

Stonehouse was a part-time waiter at the Harvey Hotel where the slaying occurred, but was not on duty at the time of the shooting, last Monday evening. Kennedy, an unemployed chauffeur, was a veteran of the first Great War.

McGuffin's home is in London, and members of his family told police that he, reportedly absent without leave from camp, had been worrying over a love affair. After the double shooting police said that as far as they knew Kennedy and Stonehouse were strangers to the soldier.

Stanley Walmsley, 50, a witness at today's preliminary hearing testified that he was in the hotel beverage room at the time of the shooting and that he got into conversation with a soldier whom he identified as McGuffin.

As McGuffin was leaving, a waiter told him he had forgotten his hat. Walmsley then testified that Kennedy, sitting at a nearby table, said "What's the matter soldier, can't you take it"

Turns Gun On Self

Kennedy said something else and the soldier then pulled a gun from his pocket. Walmsley then quoted Kennedy as saying "Go ahead and shoot—I had four years of that stuff." McGuffin then pointed the gun at his own head.

Walmsley said he then heard Kennedy say "Don't take your own life, you're too young to do anything like that. If you want to shoot anyone, shoot me."

The soldier appeared to change his mind and he put the gun back in his pocket, Walmsley testified.

"In a minute or so the soldier went to the door again and Kennedy followed him," witness said. "The next thing I heard was a shot and I saw the bullet rip the sleeve of Kennedy's arm. Stonehouse jumped up to help Kennedy and in the excitement it's hard to say what happened after that. I saw the soldier though, escape through the door."

Detective Morley Leach said McGuffin had been morose and silent since his arrest. He testified that the slim soldier had said nothing when he was arrested near the scene of the shooting but as the police headquarters, he waved a hand in the direction of the hotel.

He said that shortly after McGuffin was taken to headquarters he had fallen into a deep sleep.

Walmsley had testified, on a question from defence counsel Alex S. Ferguson, that McGuffin appeared "dazed" in the few minutes he had been talking to him. He did not think the soldier was drunk.

Internal politics will boil over, there will be looting, killing and massacre. Bulgaria is following the pattern of Rumania."

The fleet units were said to have headed out of Istanbul, across the Sea of Marmora from the strategic strait, at about the same time the order was made public.

Hanted Turks to Mediate

It was reported yesterday that Germany had asked Turkey to offer to mediate the war and that Britain had scorned mediation when sounded out by Turkey.

A well-informed source said German Ambassador Franz Von Papen had approached Turkish Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu before British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden arrived last week and suggested that Turkey was in a favorable position to mediate.

Turkey was an ally of Germany in the First Great Har and now holds a British guarantee of aid in the event of any aggression leading to war in the Mediterranean which Turkey resists.

The Turkish action in closing the Dardanelles to traffic except under strict control followed German troop movements in neighboring Bulgaria.

Nazi army units were reported moving toward the Turkish border from Plovidv, Bulgaria, which is only 165 miles from the strategic sea-gate which provides Russia and German-dominated Rumania and Bulgaria with their sole outlet to the Mediterranean.

The Dardannelles has been one of the most sought after prizes of history. The Allies tried unsuccessfully during the First Great War to force the Strait, the westernmost link in the triple chain between the Black Sea and the Aegean. The other two are the Bosphorus and the Sea of Marmora, and Turkey sits astride all three.

The Strait was demilitarized after the war, but Turkey was given permission to fortify it by the Montreux convention of 1936.

The Turkish Fleet, units of which are reported en route to the Dardanelles is said by Jane's Fighting Ships to be made up of a battle cruiser, two cruisers, eight destroyers, 13 submarines, and several smaller vessels.

Penny Afternoon Tea Mission Band Event

HAVELOCK, March 3—(ENS). — "A Penny Afternoon Tea" was held or Saturday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock at the United Church parsonage, under the auspices of the Mission Band.

The tea was convened by the two leaders, Miss Laurabelle Wing and Miss Betty McLaughlin. Little six-year-old Joan Paige received the guests at the door, and the Misses Helen Price, Helen Anderson, Joy Little and Evelyn Isles assisted with the serving. Tea was poured by Mrs. Harrison Wing, from a lace-covered table, very attractively decorated for the occasion with the Mission Band colors, green, yellow, and white, and their emblem "the daisy" made of paper with tiny little daisies around it formed the centrepiece, a silver service, silver candle holders with white candles completed the pleasing effect.

Welsh Farmer Coming To Own Says W.R.Davies

HAMILTON, Ont., March 3—(CP)—Agriculture in Wales has made great progress and the Welsh farmer today "is, I believe, coming into his own," W. Rupert Davies, President of The Canadian Press, said Saturday night in a St. David's Day addrss to the Hamilton Eisteddfod Soceity.

Mr. Davies, himself a farm-owner in Montgomeryshire, his native county, said that in his district "good farmers are doing well" and that farm values are apprectating. "The typical Welsh farmer combines two things: a thorough knowledge of the land and a tremendous capacity for hard work," he added.

Mr. Davies recalled that in the First Great War Wales sent more men to the front per thousand of population than any other country in the British Empire. Wales was not lagging behind in the present struggle but rallying as always to the call of duty, with many regiments playing a valiant part. Furthermore, Wales was taking her part in bearing the financial burden. For instance, Montgomeryshire, "an agricultural county with only 45,000 people, purchased in 1940 War Savings Certificates to the value of $2,250,000."

He urged that in the event of further efforts to evacuate British children to Canada this summer, Welsh societies co-operate in trying to see they get homes."

Future Sure, Steady.

Though Welsh industry had declined during the last 100 years, South Wales was still industrially active, with good business despite bombs, and a decrease in unemployment in the collieries. North Wales must depend on tourist traffic and the products of the land. "However, in my opinion, the future of Wales will be sure and steady."

Mr. Davies outlined the history of his native country. He remarked that "two years ago we asked, through one of our Welsh representatives, that Wales should be given a Secretary of State." It was felt that such an appointment was fitting because there is a Secretary of State for Scotland, because Scotland has representatives on the Parliamentary Agricultural committee while Wales has none, and because many Welshmen understand no English and therefore cannot be understood by English civil servants. The request was turned down but "we Welshmen shall continue to ask for a Secretary of State and I feel sure that eventually one will be appointed."

Quoting Tom Jones, former secretary of the British Cabinet and author of "Rhymney Memories," Mr. Davies defined Wales as "something which is found in the heart of a Welshman."

Bingo Party Held

CAMPBELLFORD, Mar. 3. — (ENS). — Proceeds estimated at more than $50 were announced as a result of the bingo party staged in the Parish Hall on Saturday evening. Largely attended the affair was sponsored by the Parish Guild of Christ Church, to whom all prizes used during the evening were donated. The money will be sent to the British War Victims Fund as a contribution of the parish.

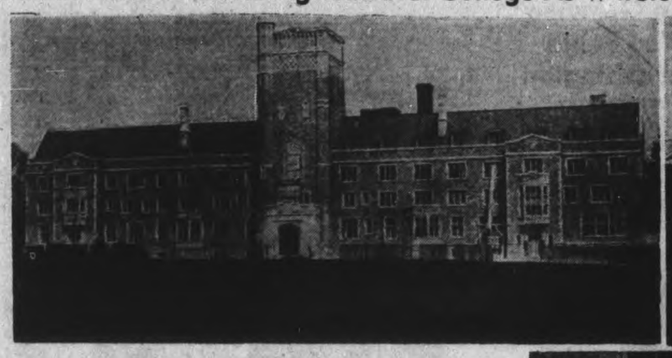
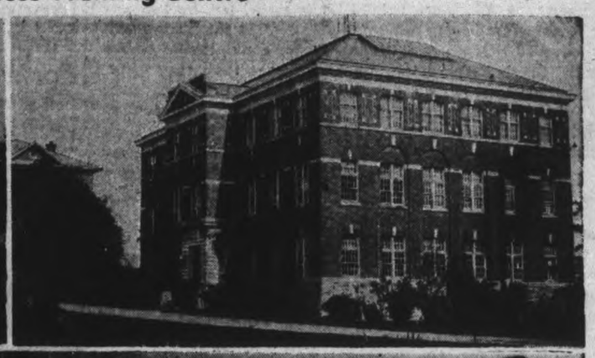
R.C.A.F. Gets Ontario Agricultural College As Wireless Training Centre





Ontario provincial authorities have turned over the buildings of the Ontario Agricultural College and the MacDonald Institute at Guelph, Ont., to the Department of National Defence for use as a wireless training centre for the Royal Canadian Air Force for the duration of the war. The transfer will affect about 600 pupils attending O.A.C., one of the leading agricultural colleges on the continent, and about 200 girls attending MacDonald Institute, household science school affiliated with the college. At TOP LEFT is a view of the main administration building of the college and at RIGHT is shown the Physics and Biological building. LOWER, a class of girls in one of the household science courses. The buildings are expected to house upwards of 1,500 R.C.A.F. men.

Three Men Are Committed On Burglary Counts

Thomas Nicholls, judgment reserved in preliminary hearing on charge of burglarizing C.D.S. Store. Other charge dismissed, the Crown offering no evidence.

The above is a summary of the results so far of three days' police court sessions in which the preliminary inquiry into eight charges against the four burglary suspects has kept Magistrate Langley on the bench at morning and afternoon sittings from Thursday morning until late Saturday afternoon.

Sixteen witnesses, some of them from Windsor, Toronto, and Bowmanville were heard during the proceedings, some of them in the charges against all four men.

Complete Bradd Hearing.

Saturday morning's session was devoted to hearing further Crown evidence in the charge against William Bradd in connection with the C.D.S. burglary, and more testimony was heard in the afternoon before the accused was finally committed for trial. On the second charge he was also committed for trial by agreement after the evidence of Ald. James Dutton had been heard.

At the morning session Detective Edmund Tong of the Toronto Police Department told of finding two suit cases, one of them similar to the one stolen from the C.D.S. Store in the rooming-house of Louis Gallow, 171 Mutual Street, Toronto, and of finding the name William Bradd on one suitcase. On a writing pad was the name "Diddie" Bradd, Windsor.

"Who is Diddie Bradd?"

"He is a man we wanted for investigation in reference to an alleged offence."

"Who is he in reference to William Bradd?"

"He is the same man."

Detective Tong produced a small bottle that had formerly contained a shaving lotion that had been found in one of the suit cases, and it was entered as an exhibit..

Finger Print Found.

Later Detective-Oliver E. Borland, finger print expert of the Toronto Police Department, swore that he had found a finger print on the bottle and it was the same as the print of the left index finger of William Bradd. There were 21 points of identification, he said.

Put Money in Safe.

Mary McGrath, C.D.S. employee, told of putting the money away in the safe on the night before the burglary. She said that there was approximately $4,000 in the safe, of which between $1,500 and $2,000 was in cheques. Miss McGrath said that the money was put into light canvas bags, four of which were closed with zippers.

Detective-Sergt. W. E. Meagher identified draw bars, axes and other tools found at the scene of the robbery and Everett Osborn, C.P.R. section foreman at Bowmanville, swore that these tools were some that had been stolen from a tool house at Bowmanville on the night of February 1. He said that Bradd resembled one of the four strange men he had seen in a maroon car near the tool house on the afternoon before the robbery.

Bradd Committed.

At the afternoon session, after Detective Borland had identified four photographs of a car that had been put in as an exhibit, and had said that the car belonged to a half-brother of Louis Gallow, Magistrate Langley said that there would be a committal for trial in the C.D.S. charge against Bradd..

Crown Attorney McElderry, K.C., said that an agreement had been reached by which T. J. Carley, K.C., and his client Bradd would consent to a committal on the Wonder Bakeries' charge after hearing one witness.

Ald. James Dutton, manager of the local branch of Wonder Bakeries, told how entrance had been gained to the bakery office, the safe had been forced open and the money that had been put in on Saturday night had been taken. Ald. Dutton said that altogether there was $1,645.18 in cash and cheques in the safe.

Traffic Mishaps Claim 6 Of 9

TORONTO, Mar. 3 (CP)—Traffic accidents accounted for six of the nine fatalities reported in Ontario during the week-end. A fire in Toronto claimed two lives and the other fatality was a result of a railway accident.

The Toronto fire occurred in the home of Robert A. Staton, 82-year-old city hall pensioner, who was confined to his bed after an attack of pneumonia. He and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Beatrice Widger, 66, who had been his housekeeper during the last 20 years, lost their lives when they were trapped in the residence early Sunday morning. Cause of the fire was not known.

John M. Scott, 23, of Westmount, Ont., was killed Saturday on the Galt Highway near Hamilton, when he was struck by a car which police said did not stop.

At Hawk Lake in northwestern Ontario 62-year-old Fred Winfield Chase, Canadian Pacific Railway Conductor, was killed Saturday when he was trapped between trains moving in opposite directions.

Car Runs Wild

Two persons lost their lives when their automobiles went out of control. In Chatham, Russel Wood, district manager of the Shell Oil Company, died Saturday of injuries received when his car crashed into the trusses of a bridge. In Hamilton, Earl H. Slaght, 43, was killed when his car crashed into an abutment in a subway.

Three other persons died of injuries received when they were struck by cars. Douglas Allan Passmore, 26, of Grimsby was killed Saturday night when struck from his bicycle by a car operated by Nick Peconi of Eastdale.

Six-year-old Lawrence Beausoliel of Penetanguishene was killed when his sled carried him under the wheels of a truck operated by Julien Forget of Penetanguishene.

In London eight-year-old Gladys Morgan was fatally injured when she was struck by a car operated allegedly by George Elliott of London district. Police said the child was running across the street and fell in front of the car.

"REBEL" ARTIST DIES

LONDON—(CP).—Prof. Frederik Brown, once a "rebel" artist and later an accepted leader in his sphere, died recently at his home at Richmond, Surrey. He was 89.

OBITUARY

MARGARET E. SULLIVAN.

MARMORA, March 3—(ENS).—Beloved by a wide circle of friends as well as by the members of her own family, Margaret E. Sullivan died at 10.30 p.m. on Friday.

She was born in Rawdon Township, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sullivan, and spent all her life in this community. For over thirty years she faithfully fulfilled the duties of clerk with the firm first known as J. W. Pearce and Company, which later became designated F. N. Marett and Company. During these years her kindly disposition and unfailing courtesy endeared her to a host of friends who will mourn her passing with profound regret. Her end came after an illness which extended five years. She was a member of the Sacred Heart congregation, and being of an energetic nature, identified herself wholeheartedly with the activities of the Catholic Women's League, the Sacred Heart League and the Altar society of the parish of Marmora.

She is survived by seven sisters and one brother, namely: Mrs. S. McWilliams, Mrs. H. Auger, Misses Clara and Helena Sullivan and Mrs. J. A. Shannon of Marmora, Miss Teresa Sullivan of Toronto, Sister Mary Blandina of Camrose, Alta., and Leo M. Sullivan of Ottawa.

Requiem Mass was held at the Sacred Heart Church at 10 a.m., DST, on Monday. Rev. Father H. J. Farrell officiated. Interment took place in the Sacred Heart Cemetery.

Among out-of-town relatives attending the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Sullivan and Mrs. James Henderson of Ottawa, and Mrs. Gordon McWilliams of Port Colborne.

Percy Farmer's Home Burned

CAMPBELLFORD, Mar. 3. — (ENS).— Despite valiant efforts on the part of neighbors, the home of Lewis Dainard, Percy Township, 7 miles south-west of here, was completely destroyed by fire on Friday afternoon. At the time of the outbreak Mrs. Dainard was working in the kitchen of her home when a neighboring farmer rushed in to tell her the house was ablaze. For an instant she was unable to grasp the fact and went on with her work in spite of the protestations of the neighbor, who began to remove the furniture.

Mr. Dainard, who was working in a wood lot was summoned, and by the time he arrived the house was a mass of flames. Spread of the blaze was so rapid that the family was unable to save anything on the second floor of the frame dwelling Mrs. Dainard left the house with nothing but the clothes she was wearing. Though several small items of furniture were carried from the first floor the remainder was a total loss.

BOATE'S CORNERS

Ladies' Guild Meet At Mrs. Franks' Home

BOATE'S CORNERS, Mar. 3 — (ENS). — Mrs. Vince Franks was hostess to the members of the Ladies' Guild of St. James' Anglican Church for their regular meeting on Wednesday afternoon.

The devotional period was conducted by the president, Mrs. Arnott Boate, when the Scripture was read by Mrs. Vince Franks. The afternoon was spent in sewing and knitting for Red Cross work.

The National Anthem was sung and a pot-luck supper enjoyed.

Those present included Mrs. W Clarke, Mrs. A. Boate, Mrs. H. Franks, Mrs. S. Magee, Misses Marion Franks, Alta Moncrieff, and Helen Franks.

Aerosleds Aid U.S. Troops Training For Snow Battles

Taking a leaf from the Russian army handbook, the United States army has built these gasoline-powered and propeller-driven sleds which are equipped with machine-guns for use over snowy terrain. They call them aerosleds and two soldiers from Fort Brady are shown operating the vehicle near Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. At TOP ski soldiers from the same post are theoretically storming a wooded position. They are accompanied by the aerosleds which carry two men each. Russia used similar sleds in the final drive against the Finns after heavy tanks and motorized equipment had bogged down in heavy snow.

'Daughters Of Cavan' Ladies Lodge Formed In Gala Millbrook Night

MILLBROOK, March 3.—(ENS). —An evening outstanding in the history of the local Orange Order took place on Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the L.O.L. hall, when the 'Daughters of Cavan' Ladies' Lodge was organized, with a number of Grand Lodge officers present, and over eighty guests in all in attendance.

From the Orange lodges of Peterborough twenty-nine were present; from Janetville 19; and from Cobourg 6. Among Grand Lodge officers were: Right Worshipful Sister Gertrude Campbell of Peterborough, Past Worshipful Grand Treasurer of Ontario East; Right Worshipful Grand Mistresss Sister Sword, of Merrickville, who conducted the ceremony of installation, Most Worshipful Sister Greer, Junior Department Grand Secretary of British America, and of Ontario East, from Barrett's Rapids, Right Worshipful Provincial Department Treasurer of Ontario East, Sister Pilling, of Peterborough; Right Worshipful Provincial Juvenile Director, Sister Navon, of Cobourg; Past Master of the Black Preceptory, Brother Ritchie of Peterborough, Worshipful Master Grand Department Lecturer of British America.

The team of Past Mistresses from the three Orange lodges of Peterborough put on the sacriet degree, and the degree team from Janetville exemplified the Orange degree, capability and a thorough understanding of the work being shown in practical manner as the ritual was carried through with cleverness and despatch.

Most Worshipful Mistress, Sister Greer, presided for the election, the list for 1941 including: Worthy Mistress, Sister Amelia Lunn; Worthy Deputy-Mistress, Sister Nettie Fallis; Junior Mistress, Sister Bertha Fern; Chaplain, Sister Ethel Olan; Recording Secretary, Sister Anna Thompson; Financial Secretary, Sister Violet Fallis; Treasurer, Sister Emma Morton; Guardian, Brother Wilfrid Fallis; Director of Ceremonies, Sister Mina Gibson; Lecturers, Sisters Vera Carr and Luella Kennedy; Pianist, Sister Wilma Armstrong; Inside Guard, Sister Annetta Blair; Outside Guard, Brother Hugh Blair.

Trent River News

March came in throughout this district like the proverbial lamb. Bright sunshine throughout the day caused high banks of snow piled along the highway to lessen considerably, and water was running freely in some places. For two successive nights there has been a brilliant display of Northern Lights.

Robert Brown of Trenton was a week-end visitor with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McNeely.

Private George Alley and son Private Clarence Alley of B Company, Midland Regiment, Ottawa, spent the week-end with Mrs. Alley and son Carmen.

Aircraftsman Carl Ellis of Toronto was a week-end visitor at the parental home.

Mrs. V. Chaplin has returned from spending a week with her daughter, Mrs. Robert Simpson, and Mr. Simpson.

Mrs. A. Buchanan is able to be out and around again following a recent operation at a Toronto hospital.

James Carnrite has returned home after spending some time at Trenton Airport where he was employed.

The Battle Of The Balkans

Events have progressed so steadily that the battle of the Balkans cannot be avoided. German troops have entered Bulgaria, and that was the result of Bulgaria deciding to throw in her lot with the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo axis. There have been reports telling of the German troops which have crossed and entered the capital city.

It was to deal with that situation that Anthony Eden has been in Turkey, Greece and Egypt. The forces on which Britain can rely have not been definitely lined up, but reports indicate that Eden is satisfied with the progress made during his negotiations.

Germany undoubtedly has a large army in the Balkans, but how much of that army will be available for marching on toward Greece is another problem. There is no doubt Germany will have to leave a great number of men in Rumania to guard the oil fields. There are miles of railways, of pipe lines; there are reservoirs and there are the wells. Also there is the certainty that the R.A.F. will be on hand. Germany will have a defensive problem to deal with because the supply of oil from Rumania is vital. If that oil supply at any stage of its production or delivery can be successfully attacked, then Germany will be hit where it hurts.

It is noted that at the conference where Bulgaria came in with the "new order" one of the representatives in attendance was Hirsohi Oshima, and he is the Japanese ambassador at Berlin. He comes from the country which so recently made certain overtures to Britain which to him may have smelled like a faint gesture toward peace. And yet while such overtures were being made, the Japanese ambassador is present at a ceremony where another partner is signed up to engage in the battle against Britain!

We have no idea that the British are even surprised as they have probably long since accepted Japan for what the British know her to be. Japan has not declared war on Britain, but the Japanese ambassador to Berlin is free to go about the country attending gatherings where new enemies of Britain are signed on. If that is not double dealing then what is it?

Britain's air arm is not far removed from the Balkans; it has bases which it did not possess before, and both Germany and Italy have had practical demonstrations in recent days of the manner in which that arm can strike.

A War-Time Decision

The handing over of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph on May 1 for the use of the British Commonwealth Air Training plan brings home in a direct way the fact that this country is at war. Premier Hepburn, in making the announcement, did not attach any strings apart from saying the veterinary school would be retained.

There are 600 male students there and 200 young women and a staff numbering about 100. Some of the courses may be transferred elsewhere, but even if that is done it is going to mean that for the present the Ontario Agricultural College will be out of commission.

The first building to be handed over by the province was the new mental hospital near St. Thomas. Premier Hepburn has urged a full-time and full-orbed war effort, and he has offered the co-operation of this province. This second gift of premises rent free is the putting into effect of that policy.

There were those in the Legislature who were doubtful of the move; they did not consider it wise; they argued that agriculture was a basic industry, and the training of young farmers could not be neglected.

The O.A.C. is a great school and it has a delightful location. There has also been built a valuable tradition around that institution, although there is nothing to indicate how many of the present 600 students intend to make their way back to the farms of Ontario. The record is that many who have graduated from the O.A.C. have turned elsewhere than the farm.

The feeling of Premier Hepburn no doubt is that even if there is sacrifice and inconvenience and disruption to follow, these things must be accepted in order that the Wireless School of the Air Training Plan shall be speeded in its efforts. There is no time to be wasted and the more important consideration must have precedence.

In that view Premier Hepburn is undoubtedly right. We have sufficient confidence in agriculture to believe that the men who are now on the farms of this province will carry on without the O.A.C., and the production of their acres and their stock will not decrease.

In a pointed way this change brings well to the front the attitude which all our people should be taking toward the war. Things which we have regarded as essential, which we have accepted without serious questioning as being necessary, will have to make way for the grim and pressing force which we call war. It would be a stiff and formidable decision for Mr. Hepburn and his colleagues to make, but we regard it as right and proper.

How Peterborough Does It

Peterborough is a substantial city, and twice this year it has proved it in a definite way. When it pooled campaigns for various local and war services it set a mark of $85,000, but it actually went so far over that figure that the original aim looked like a small affair.

Right on the heels of that came the effort to enlist more purchasers of War Savings Certificates, and the objective was placed at 7,000 purchasers. That included Peterborough city and the section of North Monaghan immediately adjacent. The stranger coming to this city could not tell when he had passed from the city proper into North Monaghan. The population of this district is close to 28,500.

There may be returns which are yet to come in, but at the last counting the total number of purchasers was over the 8,800 mark. And well over it. We are certain that effort is the sort which must bring a sense of relief to the Minister of Finance.

We have noticed how campaigns were conducted in other cities, and a number of them have gone in for features which were quite spectacular, including black-outs and the dropping of something which made the sound of an exploding bomb, etc. It was stated they desired to have their people experience, even if remotely, some of the sensations of war-torn Britain.

About the most spectacular feature we had here was the visit of three Norwegian fliers, and they came when the campaign was near the end. Then there was a parade at the beginning. But the real work was done by organization and the solicitation of committees of ladies and gentlemen. Our belief is that they did their work thoroughly. Speakers were ready to go here and go there when requested; the progressive story was kept well before the people through the columns of the Examiner. Peterborough has its own way of attending to such matters; it may not be overly-spectacular, but is is highly effective.

Not a Desirable Plan

Acting under instructions from the City Council Edmonton's commissioners have been making deductions from the salaries of civic employees for war charities. It appears that this is not a voluntary effort on the part of the employees, but a contribution in the making of which they have had nothing to say.

Just where the City Council secures authority for such action is a difficult thing to state, and why a Council would wish to have such a system in operation is also a puzzle. A person working for a municipal corporation is in the same position as one working for any other firm or employer. Wages belong to the person who earns them, and about the only way in which they can be touched without the sanction of the earner is by the taxing powers enjoyed by the government.

At best it is a poor system for any municipality to use, and we doubt whether it produces as good results as would come from a voluntary system of giving. On the face of it the plan is too arbitrary.

Now They Wash Dishes

A. Holly Acres, member of the Ontario Legislature for Carleton, says "there's something wrong and I can prove it." We believe he did. He used his own experience on which to base his claim. He had two men working on his farm for $25 per month and "all found." One night the men went to Ottawa and next day they were working for a Chinese restaurant at more money than he could afford to pay on the farm. They were washing dishes.

What was wrong? Simply this: At that date there were 273 employable married men in Ottawa on relief.

The belief of Mr. Acres is that some of those unemployed men in Ottawa should have been washing the dishes and the two hired men should have remained on the farm. In a general way we believe he is right, but he has neglected one point. Just this: The hired men found they could make more money washing dishes than they could working on the farm, and how, then, was he going to persuade or compel them to stay on the farm?

Does it not all revert to the one problem, the lack of money on the farm? The farmer is not in a position to bargain with a man today especially if he is undecided whether to stay on the farm or go and work in a city. Wages are going up in the cities because men are scarcer than used to be. Much of the work which is being done has the element of urgency in it which used to be lacking, and that element always has the effect of increasing wages. The farmer's income is stationary and he has no latitude in which to bargain, and for that reason he is apt to come out second best in the securing of help in a market where competition is an active force.

Mr. Acres looked at it differently, and is evidently of the belief that some of those unemployed men could have washed the dishes, and he should have kept his hired men. It may be the unemployed men had not been too keen in looking for something to do, and it may actually prove that work was there if they had gone looking for it. But it does not get away from the fact that the dish-washing job paid more than working on the farm, and right there is the problem.

NOTE AND COMMENT

New ray is being used which goes through 10 inches of steel to detect flaws. We'd like to apply that to some of the investment opportunities which are offered.

One report is that the Conservatives have been told to watch out for an election in Ontario. Mr. Hepburn says there is not going to be one this year and we're inclined to take his word for it.

There are 166 members of the British House of Lords and 116 members of the House of Commons now serving in the armed forces. Their politics is not the only thing those people take seriously.

We read of a book on decorating homes under the $10,000 class which is having quite a run. And that would be because it takes in most of the homes.

Moscow is spending this year 57,000,000,000 rubles for what it terms national defence. A ruble is worth about 19 cents if and when a person in that land comes into possession of one.

British sailors when writing letters to ladies can no longer put XXX at the bottom, as spies may be making use of such marks for code purposes. They'll just have to bide their time and deliver them in person.

A threatening note placed in a whiskey bottle figures in a case reported in Belleville. There's a somewhat similar note in a good many such containers but the trouble is people pay little attention to them.

The C.I.O. has called a strike at the Bethlehem Steel plant, and that means a strike where war orders are going through. Nice point to be settled there —whether a union has the right to strike against the government, something which a soldier is not allowed to do.

IDEA

(By A.R.K.)

¶ The expert locksmiths met I hear, they come together every year, discuss the state of trade; consider everything thats' new, have new contraptions placed on view, and see how they are made.

¶ I wish they'd meet right here in town, and I would gladly hurry down,

¶ I've got a lock upon the door, been look for some friendly jay; I'd talk to him and I'd explain, until perhaps he up and came, and wondered out my way.

¶ I've got alock upon the door, been on the blink two years or more, I've tinkered with it too; I know the pieces off by heart, perhaps he'd take the thing apart, and show me what to do.

¶ The kitchen door has one the same, it's sagging in the door's old frmae, been that way since last fall; some days it seems to work quite good, the key turns in it like it should, and then 'twon't work at all.

¶ There's one upon the cedar chest, and it's the same as all the rest, it doesn't catch no more; there's one downstairs and it is punk, it should be gathered in for junk, one on the henhouse door.

¶ I guess I'll write a letter now, explaining all the when and how, and sign my name quite clear; and ask these locksmiths to come down, and hold conventions in our town—an extra one this year.

Japan Growing Far Too Polite For Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON.—The more polite the Japanese are, the more suspicious of 'em are all Occidentals of experience with Jap psychology.

Chas. P. Stewart

And, as remarked the other day, the Tokyo government of late has become extremely polite indeed in its diplomatic relationship with Washington. On the strength of this development, Washington has warned Americans in the Far East to get out of that part of the world as fast as possible unless they have the most urgent reasons for remaining there. U.S. naval personnel, marines and ambassadorial and consular staffs do have urgent reasons for staying on their jobs, but members of their families are being brought home as fast as ships are available to carry them.

Tokyo has turned abnormally polite to the British also. Consequently Australia's and New Zealand's governments have advised their folk to be prepared for almost anything unpleasant on the shortest kind of notice.

There's nothing inconsistent about it.

The Japs notoriously want to gobble up all of Britain's and France's southern Asiatic mainland footholds and the Dutch East Indies. With the home Netherlands completely under Hitler's thumb, France flat on its back and England fully preoccupied in its own immediate vicinity, now evidently seems to 'em to be an ideal time to do their gobbling.

FAITS ACCOMPLI

If they can, however, they naturally would like to do it in comparative peace and comfort, for themselves. They're anxious not to antagonize the United States if they can avoid doing so. That is, they're anxious not to do so until their grabs, above mentioned, are what diplomats call "faits accompli"—accomplished facts, in plain English. Later, after the faits really are accompli, they probably won't care so much. But while they're doing the accompling, they greatly prefer not to have their attention distracted from the job, as it certainly would be if they got into war with the U.S. prematurely.

Germany, to be sure, wants Japan to become involved with America today or tomorrow or the next day, at the latest, since it couldn't but hamper the U.S. in helping Britain. The Japs, though, think of their own interest ahead of their Axis partners' and their game's to stave off a clash with Uncle Samuel for the present. That's why they're so polite to him. They've hoped he'd be sucker enough to take their affability at face value. Apparently he isn't, to judge from warning to American nationals in the Orient.

It's taken for granted that the Mikado has his eye on the Philippines, but the best guessing is that he won't try to swoop down there while they're under Uncle Sam's flag —not unless a Jap-American war starts before the date for their independence, four years hence. Then it's considered very likely that he will. A good many Filipinos think so and don't want to be independent on that basis.

Well, why's Tokyo polite to Britain?

The fact is that it isn't particularly polite to London. As an Axis partner, it can't but be considered at war with the English islanders. It serves the Mikado's purpose, however, to be as polite as circumstances permit to Australia and New Zealand.

His grab program, it generally is agreed, includes these two dominions, in the long run. It includes India likewise. Jap statesmen have said so.

DISTANT OBJECTIVES

But Australia, New Zealand and India are rather distant objectives. And, as to Australia and New Zealand, those two might be rather bothersome to Nippon, if ugly before it gets fully around to attend to 'em. Therefore, Tokyo's polite to 'em and they quite understand what Japanese politeness signifies.

Do the Filipinos.

Russia's quite a problem. The Muscovites, as traditional enemies of the Japs, might reasonably be expected to hop on the latter from the direction of Siberia, should Nippon get into a bad tangle to the southward and in the Pacific. This would be fine for us Occidentals and for the Chinese also.

To guard against it, Tokyo is said to be framing up a treaty with Moscow.

Possibly it'll be effected. But, if so, will the Russians stick by their side of the dicker? They understand Jap politeness, from generations back, better than almost anybody.

WOULD SINK RIGHT UNDER

(Kingston Whig-Standard)

There would be one interesting difference between Japanese land warfare against China and Japanese sea warfare against the British Commonwealth, the United States and the Netherlands East Indies. In the former the Japanese merely got "bogged down." In the latter they would sink right under.

SAFE TRIP

"In case any of your old suitors turn up, I've asked some of my shipmates to convoy us."

—London Illustrated.

• What the Germans are Told

DR. ROBERT LEY, one of the inner circle of Hitler's gangsters, has been telling the German people just why it is that the British refuse to kneel to the Huns and ask for peace on any terms. The London Times picks up this choice Ley (his name, we have read, is pronounced Lie) from a German newspaper:

"Everybody knows how easily and tragically advancing age, and the pessimism connected therewith, degenerate into obstinacy. This holds good of England and Churchill.... It is not to be thought that England's present endurance under the unceasing onslaughts of Germany is due merely to the toughness of the Anglo-Saxon race. Rather is it an expression of senility, the same phenomenon that leads the aged stubbornly to oppose youth and to exclude the young from the treasures of the earth. Churchill is the type of this senile stubbornness. He looks to me like an obstinate old peasant who would rather see his farm go to ruin than hand it over to a younger man."

Nothing could illustrate more perfectly, says the Ottawa Journal, the inability of the German mind, as trained under Hitler, to understand the British conception of freedom, of the individual's rights.

Ley still pictures Britain as a doddering old man who should welcome the chance to turn over his affairs to a rival and live on his memories. Refusal to do this can be accounted for only by a degree of obstinacy which shocks and surprises the Germans, who long ago expected the surrender of the British Empire. Mr. Churchill he sees as "an obstinate old peasant," and obviously it is intolerable to Ley that such a man should realst—and successfully—the might of Hitler.

Probably it would be impossible to convince the thick-headed Ley that Mr. Churchill and every other Briton would prefer death to life under the Nazi heel. He does not understand that the tradition of British liberty is the personal heritage of every man and woman living under the Union Jack, and that they defend it in the supreme conviction that there is no practical alternative to the path of honor. If that is obstinacy Ley and his fellow cut-throats must make the best of it. That is the rock on which will founder their hopes of ruling the world.

• British-Israel View

Letter in London Free Press

EDITOR FREE PRESS: It is interesting to watch the trend of events in the world today. For instance we hear of an attempt to unite the English-speaking peoples. It is pointed out that such a union of the British Commonwealth of Nations and the United States, and also the Dutch and Scandinavian countries would be the most powerful force for good in the world today. We have many evidences that this union will take place.

The remarkable thing is that this union was foretold centuries before Christ. British Israel believers have been looking forward to this event for years, even when such a thing was considered as impossible or highly improbable. In Ezekiel 37:16-28 we read of the House of Israel being united, and then are the Houses of Israel and Judah joined and one King will reign over them.

This will be God's League of Nations, and will be the nucleus of the Kingdom of God on this earth. Events are moving very rapidly and we may expect to see this union take place in the not distant future.

Many people seem to think that the name Israel is a mark of disgrace. Israel is a Hebrew word which means "Reigning with God." It contains the name of God. "El" is one of the ancient names for Jehovah. When God formed the Israel nation, He intended that they should be His servant nation on the earth. This was a glorious privilege and honor. No one needs be ashamed of being an Israelite.

The Anglo-Saxon and kindred countries are the descendants of Israel, and as such are under the Abrahamic Covenants. There are some who teach that the Christian Church is Israel. Others say the Jews are all that remain of Israel. (The Jews are part of Israel.)

Here are some of the identification marks of Israel. Would these apply to the church, the Jews, or to Britain:

1. Israel was to become a nation and company of nations. Genesis 35:11.

2. Israel was to have a daughter nation springing from them, but entirely independent (U.S.A.) Genesis 48:19, Isaiah 49:20.

3. She was to be called "Great," Genesis 12:2.

4. She was to possess the gate of her enemies. Genesis 22:17.

5. Israel was to be God's battle-axe and weapons of war and break in pieces the nations. Jeremiah 51:20. Witness what is happening to Italy at the present time.

6. They were to be called in Isaac. (Isaac's sons or Saxons). Genesis 21:12.

7. The national heraldry of Israel was to be the lion and the unicorn. Numbers 24:8-9.

8. She was to be in possession of the land from the River of Egypt to the Euphrates. Genesis 15:18.

9. She was to destroy the Turkish empire. Obadiah 1:18.

10. She was to free Jerusalem when the times of the Gentiles were fulfilled. This happened in 1917.

11. They were to have a king of the House of David. King George VI can trace his lineage to King David. I Chronicles 22:10.

12. Blindness in part is happening to Israel until the fullness of the Gentiles become in. Romans 11:25. Israel would not know her identity until the last times. The Jews know their identity now and always have.

There are many other identification marks, but these will be sufficient to show that Britain possesses all these marks of Israel and although "blind," is even now doing God's will among the nations.

She is to be corrected before she is restored to the glorious future which God has promised. Fire is to be sent among those that dwell carelessly in the Isles and they will know God. Ekeziel 39:6.

The Day of Jacob's (or Israel's) trouble is near at hand. Jeremiah 30:1-24. "Alas for that day is great so that there is none like it. It is even the day of Jacob's trouble, but he shall be saved out of it."—Verse 7.

We may expect to see some terrible trouble in England before very long, but the Lord will save them. However, they will be corrected and not left altogether unpunished, even though God makes a full end of the other nations. Jeremiah 30:11.

God will remember. His covenants made with Abraham and the fathers of our race. Brithish in Hebrew means Covenant man.

STANLEY UPTIGROVE.

NO HIGHER FORM

Letter in London Spectator

SIR: Of recent years, in contradistinction to the totalitarian States, we have fallen into the habit of counting ourselves a democracy. This is surely regrettable if it tends to weaken our proud sense of being the highest surviving example of a monarchy, than which, deny it who will, there is no higher form of government.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

It is good that a man should both hope and quietly wait for the salvation of the Lord....For he doth not afflict willingly nor grieve the children of men. To crush under his feet all the prisoners of the earth, to turn aside the right of a man before the face of the most High, to subvert a man in his cause, the Lord approveth not.—Lam. iii, 26, 33-36.

✧ ✧ ✧

Now we know that what things soever the law saith, it saith to them who are under the law: that every mouth may be stopped, and all the world may become guilty before God ....But now the righteousness of God without the law is manifested, being witnessed by the law and the prophets.—Rom. iii, 19, 21.

A Bit of Nonsense

Time Lost

The business man sought to cut the interview short.

"Let me remind you," he observed, coldly, "that my time is worth a dollar a minute."

The other was not impressed.

"By Jove," he said, sympathizing. "It's jolly rough on you when they put the clock on, isn't it?"

Time Off

Doris, a doctor's daughter, was met one day by her aunt, who asked her why she was not at school.

"We are not going to school this week," she said. "There's an expectant bomb in our hockey field."

Much

"There's something bigger than money."

"Yes—bills."

Time Extra

"How long does it take you to dress in the morning?"

"Oh, about half an hour."

"It only takes me ten minutes."

"Yes, but I wash."

Only Speedily!

"Darling, how can I leave you?"

"By train, plane, or taxi."

Not Then

"Long hair makes a man look intelligent."

The Pinch

Mrs. New-Rich: Yes, Mrs. Smith, times are bad. Even I have to pinch to make ends meet.

Mrs. Smith: Have you really? My, it's lucky you've never been caught.

HAVE POOR MEMORIES

14 PRIZES WEEKLY

RULES OF THE CONTEST

The "Shop-O-Gram" Page will appear in The Peterborough Examiner every Monday. In the numbered spaces of the heading there appears phrases or slogans which have been taken from the advertisements appearing on this page.

WHAT TO DO—The reader must find among the advertisements appearing on this page the ones from which the "Shop-O-Grams" have been taken. In making up a solution, first write down the number of the "Shop-O-Gram" as it appears in the heading. Then opposite the number write the name and address of the Advertiser from whose advertisement it has been taken. Repeat this for each of the "Shop-O-Grams." To make your solution eligible for entry, attach to it a receipt or label showing that goods or service have been purchased from any one of the Advertisers on this page.

AWARDING OF PRIZES from all correct and eligible solutions received during the week, 14 will be drawn. The first two will receive a War Savings Certificate of five dollars, the third and 4th merchandise orders of $3 and $2 respectively on any Advertiser on this page (mention in your reply what Advertiser you desire order on), while the next 10 will receive a ticket to the Capitol Theatre. SPECIAL PRIZES at the end of each 13-week period two special prizes will be awarded. These special prizes will be awarded to the two contestants who send in each 13-week period the greatest number of correct answers, accompanied by the greatest number of receipts from the largest variety of advertisers on this page. The first will be a War Savings Certificate of twenty dollars and the second a War Savings Certificate of ten dollars. The total given away for the year in War Savings Certificates is $640, and the total in merchandise orders is $260.

The first 13-week period is February 3 to April 28, the second May 5 to July 28, the third August 4 to October 27, and the fourth November 3 to January 26, 1942.

Replies must reach this office by noon next Friday. Address same to the "Shop-O-Gram Editor."

OAK FLOORING

The best oak flooring comes from the Southern States. There is a possibility before the end of this year, due to the exchange situation, that this most excellent oak will not be allowed to be imported. Therefore it would be wise to plan to lay new oak floors now while there is still quantities available. Prices have not advanced — a room 10 x 10 would cost approximately $9.50 for the flooring.

THREE TEAMS ARE TIED FOR LEAD IN CITY BASKETBALL LEAGUE

Quaffers Defeat Juniors 31-30 In Strong Finish

Quaffers pulled a thrill-packed 31-30 win over Juniors out of the fire in the dying seconds, to give them a three-way split in the Senior City Basketball League leadership at the Y.M.C.A. Saturday night in one of the best game of the year. With a battling and noticeably improved Junior O.A.B.A. team contesting every point, Quaffers came back from an early deficit, to take a one-point lead at the half, 15-14. Then, as both team turned it on in a last half dog-fight with the lead shifting almost with the ball, Quaffers grabbed the decision on Joe Stewart's two free throws in the fleeting seconds of the game. With next week's double header winding up the regular schedule, three teams, Quaffers, Dominions and Bees are all tied for first place, with Juniors trailing the field.

Took Early Lead

The losers broke from the barrier at top speed, Saturday night, to jump into a 7-1 lead in the early minutes. Quaffers took the initiative and gradually cut down their deficit, jumping into a one point lead at the half. Throughout the final period, the lead zig-zagged repeatedly, with neither team able to build up a commanding margin. Quaffers, led by one point with two minutes to go. Then Juniors regained the lead, only to have Stewarts' two free throws give Quaffers the verdict as the final whistle went. Juniors missed a good chance to swing the decision by registering only twice in eight free throws while the winners made five in eleven tries.

Stewart, Sedgwick and McPherson led the winners, with K. Gillespie, Rogow and Ascott best for the losers. The teams:

Juniors (30).—Centre, Craig, 11 forwards, Dyer 4, C. Gillespie 6; guards, Rogow 4, K. Gillespie 4. Subs., Ascott 1, Currie, Burns.

Referee—Nels Stanger.

Scorer—L. Gross.

Curling Notes

By HERB MARTIN

If the weather holds up the committee intends to start play in the leads and seconds bonspiel this evening. There will be two draws, 7 and 9 p.m.

7 p.m. Draw.

S. Curry vs. R. Lyon.
H. Girven vs. H. Ralph.
R. Martin vs. A. Nelson.
K. Currie vs. W. A. Graham.
C. Mowry vs. H. Powers.

9 p.m. Draw.

Rev. W. McDonald vs. J. R. Sinclair.
C. Crawford vs. A. Hempstead.

The first week-end mixed bonspiel went over big last Saturday. The response was greater than expected. Every sheet of ice, except one, was in use. It was by far the most successful 'spiel we have had on a Saturday afternoon as yet. The co-operation of all players was greatly appreciated. It might be a good idea to repeat it next Saturday. However, we'll let you know as soon as we know ourselves. The winning skips were; R. Payne, Dr. J. Green, C. Giroux, and G. Green.

Big "If" Man - - By Jack Sords

Shrubb At 53 Figures Chances Are Good Against Most Runners

BOWMANVILLE, March 3.—Alfie Shrubb, 35 years ago the greatest runner in the world, stated that with a few weeks' intensive training he could still beat three-quarters of the long-distance men of today. "There are some of them who would beat me," he admitted, "but I could take most of them with ease." He is 53 now and manager of a cereal concern's camp at Bowmanville.

A Track Immortal

And lest any one think Alfie Shrubb's statement is an idle boast, let him look carefully into the past of this man whose name will never die in the annals of track. With Paavo Nurmi, Willie Retola, Glen cunningham, Percy Williams, and the rest of that courageous, fleet-legged race, his name will live forever as long as men shall match their strength and speed against each other on a cinder track. Nor has he gone to seed; he's as lean and wiry today as he was at the height of his career thirty-five years ago. He's living an outdoor life, following his old training diet, keeping up stringent rules of his profession in every particular.

Alfie Shrubb once held close to two dozen distance records himself. And thirty-five years afterward, a glance at sports records books show that seven still stand—an almost unbelievable thing in view of the improvement in tracks and running shoes that have been made since his day. Shrubb's name still stands beside the six, seven, eight, nine, eleven, thirteen and fourteen mile distances. It was 1903 and 1904 that he turned in times for those distances that have never since been equalled.

He used to hold the five and ten-mile records, but in 1924 he lost the ten-mile title, and in 1928 the five-mile title, both to Nurmi. Another record he used to hold was that for the one-hour run—a race seldom heard of nowadays, but one of the most popular two decades and more ago.

Remarkable Record.

A glance at his record reveals an amazing fact: in the quarter century that he was running as an amateur and later as a professional, Shrubb took part in more than 1,800 races that were from two to fifteen miles long. The average throughout would be four or five miles, which means that during his career he ran as far as the King and Queen travelled on their entire month-long trip through United States and Canada.

Shrubb started his athletic career in inconspicuous fashion in Horsham, England. A delivery boy, he came to the attention of the captain of a local running club, who prevailed upon him to enter competition locally. After seeing Shrubb run one race he told him he had championship qualities. Six weeks later Shrubb had captured his county title in three distances, and from then on his career was a blaze of glory. He represented his country in competition on the Continent, in Australia, in Canada, in the United States. Titles tumbled before him like nine pins.

He came to Canada to live a number of years ago and returned to England for six or seven years as a coach at Oxford University. He brought the first combined Oxford-Cambridge track team to this side of the water. Later, when his health was threatened from indoor work in the Old Country, he returned once again to Canada with his family to take up residence in Bowmanville.

Training Camp Briefs From Sunny South

By The Canadian Press

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., Mar. 3—(CP).—Maurice Van Robays, speedy Pirate outfielder, is getting used to operations. He had two in the spinal region in the last year. He had another this week-end when a specialist removed a sac caused by a bat bruise on his right hand.

LAKEFIELD, Fla.—Detroit Tigers suffered a casualty within two hours of opening training. Eric McNair turned an ankle in yesterday's brisk workout, but the injury was not serious.

FORT MYERS, Fla.—Third baseman Ken Keltner, one of Cleveland's best hit-and-run batters, has been moved into the No. 2 slot in the batting order by Manager Roger Peckinpaugh. He batted sixth last season. Yesterday the regulars beat the Yannigans 3-0 in the Indians first six-inning practice game.

AVALON, Fla. — Chicago's Cubs have a holiday today. With Lou Novikoff, rookie outfielder, in the fold—he signed for a reported $6,000 and a promised bonus if he delivers—only Pitcher Bill Lee and Outfielder Hank Leiber remain unsigned.

ORLANDO, Fla.— Clark Griffith and Bucky Harris are pleased at the showing of George Archie, the Senators' rookie first-sacker from the Coast League. Archie fields thrown balls and ground balls in style and goes farther to his right for a fancy pickup than any Nat. first baseman since Joe Judge.

Two Rinks Meet In First Round

By SCOTT YOUNG
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

TORONTO, Mar. 3.—(CP)—British Columbia and Manitoba rinks will clash this afternoon during the first round of the Canadian curling championships in a match which earlier today was drawing most of the comment among curlers gathered from each Canadian province for the 15th annual Macdonald's Brier Tankard event.

The first-round draw has only this one match in which rinks well-considered for the 1941 brier championship will meet. Other favorites—Northern Ontario, Ontario and Saskatchewan — are expected to progress easily through this first round of the four-day, round-robin event.

Although Albert Wakefield's Winnipeg Strathconas are unknown quantities this year they have been shown some favor because of the well-known rinks they defeated to emerge as Manitoba's representatives. Manitoba's opposition today, Billy Finlay's Vancouver rink, found sudden favor last night and early today as the competitors began a closer scrutiny of the 1941 field.

His Third Brier Rink

Finlay will be skipping his third brier contestant, with another well-known British Columbia curler, Rolly David, as his vice-skip. David skipped British Columbia entries into the brier in 1937 and 1939 while Finlay's trips were made in 1938 and 1940.

Despite the sudden swing toward Finlay, Bill Dunbar's Saskatchewan champions from Kinley still rank strongly favored to win the 1941 crown. Dunbar is drawn against the F. E. Heath rink from Dartmouth, Nova Scotia, in the first round today.

Don Best's northern Ontario representatives from Kirkland Lake will oppose Bill Cruikshank's Prince Edward Island four and Perry Hall's Kitchener quartet, Ontario's entry, will meet the J. S. Malcolm four from Saint John, New Brunswick.

All rinks will play practice games this morning against pickup rinks. The first round will be played this afternoon, the second tonight and there will be morning and afternoon draws Tuesday before the annual banquet. Two draws again Wednesday and three on Thursday will complete the event, unless a tie for first place forces a play-off Friday.

SPORTS – DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

With the world in its present conditions making plans for next year's hockey campaign would seem to be the height of optimism. It is a long way to next season and anything can happen. Yet probably there is nothing to be lost in suggesting that if there is to be another loop race like the clubs in Eastern Ontario enjoyed this season, the Petes are going to need a few reinforcements and now is as good a time as any to be looking around for the help that may be desired next winter. The addition of a couple of first-grade performers to the present squad would convert the Petes into a real threat for Senior B honors. Bert McLeod and Ace Bailey turned the Petes of 1925 from a good intermediate club into a championship senior outfit and two players of that type would certainly do wonders for the present team.

* * * * * *

This has been the best group in many years in Eastern Ontario and fans around the circuit would like to see it duplicated again next season. There were only two weaknesses. The Trenton Flyers were short of playing material of senior calibre and the Whitby fans failed to give their team the support they merited by the performance given by last year's Intermediate B winners. It is safe to say that the Flyers will not be so weak next season and with Kingston and Belleville certain to be bolstered up, the Petes will have to bring in the additional strength that is not available here. With a home-brew outfit, all but two of whom began their hockey careers in Peterborough, they made a great bid for group honors this season and might have taken it all if it had not been for injuries. However there is room for new players in the local machine and they will have to be sought elsewhere.

* * * * * *

Outside of Joe Rochetta who graduates from the 'teen age ranks this season, there is little help for senior teams coming from the local junior ranks for a while. Rochetta is small and lacks the super-speed that a little player needs in senior company but on the other hand he is mighty smart around the nets and is an opportunist of the Gordie Drillon type. He might well be carried as the extra forward on a senior outfit, if used only in power plays when the other team is short-handed. A player with his knack of popping in goals is a useful sort of guy to have around any man's hockey team. At that, of course, the junior captain is likely to put on more weight in a year or two and take care of himself right smartly in the higher bracket.

* * * * * *

Some Tight Basketball

The manner in which the basketball in the City League is tightening up was illustrated once again Saturday night when the Quaffers just managed to nose out the improving junior O.A.B.A. squad by 31 to 30. That by the way was the second one-point-win game in which Doug McPherson's team had been engaged in succession for they were on the short end of a game with the Bees the week before and lost by the same narrow margin of one point. So close was Saturday night's game that it was only won in the last few seconds when Joe Stewart tossed in a pair of free throws to give his club the victory and even then it was so close that the players themselves didn't know who had won until they checked up with the score-keeper. The lead changed three times in the last seconds of the game and the juniors looked like winners until Stewart was fouled and given two free tosses, making good with both of them.

* * * * * *

Ken Colling bobs up with this in the Belleville sheet: "Out in Peterborough the hockey moguls are bewailing the fact their seniors ran into so much hard luck, through injuries to three players, during the final series and the conventional IFS and ANDS are the stock alibi. However, it would seem as though the Reliance seniors, perhaps the best individual collection of pucksters in the loop this winter, could bring forth just as many IFS. For instance when the Petes beat the Reliance here on Jan. 6th last Belleville was without the services of Hamilton, Donihee, Bennett, Major, Gill and St. Louis. Here's where the local IFS come in—IF Belleville had had these six players they would have won, and IF they had won the Reliance would have finished in first place alone and IF they had finished on top they would have been in the finals and then IF they had scored more goals than Kingston the local would have been champions. It's a lot of nonsense, but the fact still remains that the IFS seem to have it."

* * * * * *

It Will Be A Great Finish

With six games to go before the end of the schedule the Boston Bruins and the Toronto Maple Leafs are all even with 56 points each and the dash down the stretch promises to be one of the most exciting on record. The Bruins climbed up on even terms with Leafs Sunday night by outscoring the Black Hawks 4 goals to 3 in Chicago after playing a scoreless tie with the Leafs in Toronto Saturday night. Now the teams are on the same footing not only as to points but as to the number of games played and the Bruins have a chance to take the lead tomorrow night when the Black Hawks will play back in Boston. Saturday's game between the two rivals was the first scoreless battle played in the N.H.L. this season and was one of the most even battles seen in Toronto in many a moon. Both clubs had good scoring chances but Broda and Brimsek refused to be beaten.

New York Rangers who ran their string of wins up to five Saturday night by defeating the Canadiens 3 to 1 in Montreal had a great chance to grab off third place when they clashed with the Red Wings in Detroit. It looked for quite a while as if the New Yorkers were going to do the trick. They had the score 2 to 0 in their favor early in the third period on goals by Neil Colville and Hextall but Detroit fought back, tied the score at the 15.25 mark and went on to win by two goals in the overtime. Fisher and Howe firing the shots that meant victory. Canadiens practically cinched a playoff spot Sunday night by defeating the Amerks 3 goals to 2 in New York. The Dutton brigade took the lead twice but were overhauled both times and finally Ray Getliffe potted the winner with a counter at the 15.41 mark in the final period.

20,000 More Magazines Wanted

It is planned to hold another city-wide collection in the near future for magazines for the boy who are serving.

Spring is just around the corner. Why not reserve those magazines for the scouts to collect. A phone call to 3067 will be appreciated.

All Saints (Anglican)

The Troop—A banquet was held at All Saints' last week with some 50 dads and lads enjoying a fine repast put on by the Mothers' Auxiliary. The evening opened with flag break and renewal of the scout promise.

Toast to "Our Dads" was ably proposed by Scout Gerry Brown, and responded to by Tom Taylor.

Mr. Hodson accompanied the sing song with his accordian; also rendered several solos. Assistant Commissioner L. A. Grant addressed the gathering on the duty of the father to the boy, and the boy to the father.

Following this, the floors were cleared for a troop program, during which the fathers were formed into patrols to make the evening of a real scout brand. Mr. Hope and eight worthy assistants put on the deep drama, "The Dagger." A knot relay was put on by the boys, while the dad's patrols were put through a potato race that brought tears into the eyes of the lads—tears of laughter. The Bulldogs were presented with patrol cup, having a four point lead over their nearest rivals. A presentation was also made to the Mother's Auxiliary, as a token of appreciation for past services and a vote of thanks for the banquet.

The regular troop meeting held on Friday had a full attendance. Following the regular inspection, the weekly knot relay was conducted.

Patrol leader Bob Brightman of the Beavers was presented with a scout haversack, as he was chosen the best all-round scout for the past year. The haversack was given to Scouter Rose by his late assistant, Ewart Bartlett, who is now with His Majesties Forces.

Two boys were promoted to office as patrol seconds. Jack Layton being transferred from the Beavers to the Eagles, while Bob Adams is second for the Bulldogs.

The new plus-minus competition was started and will be put in this column every week. The present standings are as follows; also names of patrol leaders:

St. John's (Anglican)

The Pack.—After Grand Howl the Cubs had their fangs and claws inspection, for health must be studied. Baloo and Raksha showed the cubs had to tie knots. Scout Jamie Collis, with Assistant Commissioner Grant, gave some instruction in signalling.

The hobby show was discussed, the boys being urged to get entries ready.

The Troop. — Twenty-five boys were in attendance at the last troop meeting, with the Scouter taking the opening ceremonies. Don Metheral took inspection; A.S.M. Ken Brown led P.T. exercises. Introduction in signalling was given by J. Hooper; first aid by Ken Brown; King's game by L. Groombridge; tenderfoot work by G. Best and G. Green.

Five cubs who are preparing for entering the troop were introduced to the boys and temporary attached to patrols for a short period. Murray Hendren passed tests for Kim's game.

A lively camp fire was held. The patrol leaders will meet at Scouter Ford's residence tomorrow night, Tuesday, March 4, at 8 p.m. sharp.

The Crew.—The crew members are notified that a meeting will be held in the Parish Hall next Sunday after Evensong. Please attend church before the meeting.

The Mothers' Auxiliary.—A meeting of the Mothers' Auxiliary will be held in the Parish Hall on Friday afternoon next, March 7, at 3 p.m. All mothers of scouts and cubs are cordially invited to attend.

Sacred Heart (Roman Catholic)

The Pack.—"Gardner and the Mole" was played following the opening ceremonies.

Instruction in ball throwing was taken by Baloo; signalling by Bagheera; somersault and promise by Akela. Carl Heath passed skipping and time telling. J. O'Dette, H. O'Rourke, P. Monaghan, J. Kennaly, G. Goselin, B. Bogue and L. Johnson passed somersault; Norman Gilmour and Gerald Peters completed the tests and are now ready for investiture. On Sunday the pack held a toboggan party at Rye's Hill, returning to Akela's home for refreshments.

The Scouts.—Another page of scout history was added to the annals of the Sacred Heart group, as their second successful scout week came to a close. Both scouts and cubs entertained a host of friends at the many activities, and many demonstrations of scout and cub work were given.

During the camp fire on Scout Night, Frank Lucano and Bob Cooke were presented with their second class badge. We are hoping to see them earning their first class in good order.

Service stars were also presented as follows:

1 year—Dan O'Neill, Jack Hayes, Bob Cooke.
3 year—Frank Goselin.
4 years—A.S.M. Don Corrin.
7 year—Scouter Pete Dominik.

During the scout craft show the following boys were awarded points for displays: Bob Cooke taking 1st class honors for displays of nature collection, scrap book, airplane (flying model), nut collection, knot board, and diagram of the human body. Jack Hayes was next with rag mats and solid airplanes.

Jim Daly and Frank Lucano were tied up for third position; the former displaying first aid and use of scout staves; Frank, solid airplanes.

The social evening held on Wednesday was successful, about 40 people being present. Dancing and fun was held under the guidance of Jack Marshall and his orchestra.

St. Luke's (Anglican)

The Pack.—Scout Don Little visited the pack and assisted with instruction work. Ralph Bigelow was presented with his first star; Allan Beavis passed skipping; Dan McKay, Union Jack, knots, book balancing, and time.

During the evening games of Poachers and Keepers, and Crows and Cranes were enjoyed.

Scouters are reminded of the A.R.P. drills on Wednesday nights at the Fire Hall. A good attendance is expected.

Be prepared for the Scouters' Club on Monday next, March 10, at 8 p.m. We have no doubt that a good program is being arranged and there are two or three items of importance to discuss; so reserve that date to attend.

Cook Brothers Out In Front American Loop

(By the Canadian Press.)

All signs pointed to-day to a Cook brother-act in the semi-final round of the American Hockey League's post-season play-offs, with Bun Cook leading his Providence Reds in battle against Brother Bill and his Cleveland Barons.

With the top club in each of the loop's twin sections scheduled to meet in the first round—the winner to await the winner of the lower brackets for a championship final—Cleveland and Providence are the favorites in their respective sections. Cleveland pulled away from the competition in the western division early in the race and the Reds are now following suit.

A 4-2 victory over Hershey Bears last night moved Providence four points in front of Springfield Indians, second-place club in their section. Cleveland, meanwhile lost, 3-1, to Buffalo Bisons, but the result still left them with a seven point lead over Hershey and only a few games remaining.

Two other games were played last night, with Indianapolis Capitals nipping the eight-game unbeaten streak of Philadelphia Ramblers with a 2-1 victory and Pittsburg Hornets defeating New Haven Eagles, 4-2.

The results left Philadelphia Ramblers two points behind the third-place New Heaven team in their bid for a play-off berth in the eastern section, while Pittsburg remained the same distance behind the third-place Capitals in the western section.

In Saturday's games, the Ramblers scored three goals in the last period for a 3-1 victory over the Hornets at Pittsburg; Buffalo battled the Indians to a 3-3 overtime draw at Springfield; Hershey turned in a 2-1 victory at home over New Haven, and Providence whipped the Barons, 7-6, in a free-scoring game at Cleveland.

Canadian Ladies Divide Honors

MONT PREMBLEANT, Que., March 3.—Canada and the United States divided honors in the two-day international ski meet held here during the week-end, when a team of Canadian women skiers defeated their American rivals in downhill and slalom races after McGill University skiers had bowed to representatives from Darmouth College in both events.

The combined results gave the Canadian women a perfect score of 100 to the United States skiers' 95.66, while in the intercollegiate competition the Dartmouth team from Hanover, N.H., had a perfect score of 300 to McGill's 288.6.

Individual woman star of the meet was Mrs. Peter Austin of Montreal, who placed first in the combined standing with a clean-cut victory in the downhill race Saturday and a second in Sunday's slalom, won by Carolyn Landon of the United States team.

Injuries to two Canadian women marred the competition. Pat Pare of Montreal suffered a fractured nose when she fell during a practime run. She was taken to Montreal by plane. Elizabeth Snively of Toronto was taken there after she suffered a broken ankle in a fall during Saturday's downhill run.

Bob Meservy sparked Dartmouth's performance with victories in the downhill and slalom events. Doug Mann of McGill placed second on the basis of a third place in the downhill and a fifth in the combined slalom events. Charlie McLane, Dartmouth captain, placed third in the combined standing.

BRUINS BEAT HAWKS AFTER A SCORELESS GAME WITH THE LEAFS

Roy Conacher Scores Three Against Hawks

By JACK MITCHELL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

The playoff picture neared completion to-day in the National Hocey League, with the first-round opponents decided to all but mathematical possibilities, but there still remained the vital detail of home-ice advantage in each of the three groups to be painted during final two weeks of the lengthy schedule.

With New York Americans almost certainly eliminated from the Stanley Cup doings by their 3-2 loss to the sixth place Montreal Canadiens last night, the remaining clubs were well divided into three groups of two each. To the team occupying the highest slot in each group goes the important first-choice of ice for the preliminary playoff skirmishes.

Bruins Win 3 Points.

Toronto Maple Leafs and Boston Bruins, whose battle for the best spot in their post-season round involves also the league championship, set the pace for the close races when the Bruins took three of four possible week-end points to tie the Leafs for first place. After playing a scoreless deadlock with the Leafs in Toronto Saturday night, the Bruins moved to Chicago for a 4-3 victory over the Black Hawks while Toronto was idle.

With the two top berths out of reach, Detroit Red Wings and New York Rangers battled for third place and the Rangers tied the Wings for the spot by beating Canadiens, 3-1, Saturday night. But the Wings moved out in front again last night when they turned back the Rangers' challenge with a 4-2 overtime decision in Detroit.

Canadiens 4 Points Behind Hawks

Not as close as the others, the race fo rfifth position was tightened a little by Chicago's loss to Boston and Canadiens' week-end split. The results left the Montrealers four points behind the Hawks, with a chance of nosing them out in the remaining few matches.

Individual performances were the keynote of the week-end games, with Roy Conacher setting the pace with his brilliant feat of figuring in every Boston goal at Chicago. The sharp-shooting left winger scored three himself and helped Centre Bill Cowley bag the other Bruin tally.

A standing-room crowd of 17,569 watched Boston run up a 3-0 lead, only to have the Hawks tie it up on goals by Bob Carse, Johnny Chad and Rookie Joe Papike before Conacher notched the winning tally with four minutes to go. Cowley, shooting for a seasonal assist record, moved within one point of the all-time mark by chalking up his 36th assist on one of Conacher's goals.

Goalers Play Great Game

Boston's victory followed their hard-fought overtime draw before the largest crowd of the season at Toronto—14,865 paid admissions. The rival goalies—Turk Broda of the Leafs and Boston's Frankie Brimsek—staged a brilliant duel.

The individual standout in both Rangers' games was Bryan Hextall, the burly winger who has scored 20 goals or more in each of the last three seasons. Hextall counted twice again Canadiens and added another against Detroit to run his total for the season to 23, making him the leader among the loop's marksmen.

Hextall's third week-end goal followed a counter by Neil Colville and gave the Rangers a 2-0 lead in the third period at Detroit. A crowd of 10,848 watched the Wings stage a great rally, however, to knot the count on tallies by Sid Abel and Mud Bruneteau, forcing the match into overtime.

Rookie Joe Fisher broke the deadlock after 2:24 minutes of extra play and Syd Howe added a clincher.

Only Three Games to Play

The Rangers, with only three more games to play compared with Detroit's six, had pointed for the Detroit match, expanded a minimum of effort in beating the Canadiens before a crowd of 9,926 at Montreal. For two sessions, the Rangers stuck to defensive hockey while Tony Demers gave the Canadiens a 1-0 lead.

Faced with the deficit in the final frame however, the Patrick-men opened up. Alfie Pike bagged the tying rally in the eighth minute and Hextall fired two straight goals to win the match.

The Canadiens travelled to New York for their important victory over Americans, which left the Amerks needing to make up eight points in their remaining six games. Winger Ray Getliffe was the Habitant hero, twice beating Goalie Earl Robertson, recalled by Manager Red Dutton because of an injury to Rookie Charlie Rayner.

Bill Benson, young Winnipeg winger, fired both Amerk goals, twice putting his team into a one-goal lead. Johnny Quilty tied the count the second time late in the middle period, however, and Getliffe broke the 2-2 deadlock with the only marker of the final frame.

Evergreen Lose Round By 9-3

TWEED, March 3—(ENS).—Another stout-hearted team fell in the Centre Hastings Rural League semi-finals on Friday night, when the Evergreen squad took their second trimming, 5-2, in as many starts to lose a hard-fought two game series with Glen Ross Sailors by a score of 9-3 on the round.

Evergreen gained a 2-1 edge in the first frame, after Vandervoort opened the scoring for Glen Ross on a pass from Martin. Rodgers took a pass from Reid to tie the count, while Bernard put the Evergreen team one up unassisted.

Glen Ross moved up in the middle frame with Martin tying the score from Vandervoort and G. Pyear scoring two fast ones, one on a pass from Tucker and the other from Macdonald.

Pyear in the third secured the final tally of the game, when he took a pass from Vandervoort, who piled up in the nets after the puck to end the scoring 5-2.

The Glen Ross Sailors now meet the league leaders, Foxboro Foxes, for the championship of the league. Line-ups:

Glan Ross.—Goal, Brooks; defence, Brown and Armstrong; centre, Martin; wings, Russ Pyear and Vandervoort; subs., G. Pyear, D. Tucker, Macdonald.

Evergreen.—Goal, F. Rodgers; defence, D. Reid and D. Rodgers; centre ,Bernard; wings, Chuck Wright, Ross Bailey; subs., D. Cooke, B. Stapley, F. Stapley, B. MacMullen, D. Wright.

Bay View Wins Santa Anita Handicap Race

LOS ANGELES, March 3.—(AP)—They dropped the "lucky" from Charles S. Howard's title today and gave it to Tony Pelleteri of New Orleans.

Any man who can lose three $100,000 purses in three horse races by the combined margin of four feet or less doesn't deserve to be called "lucky."

And any man who can take a horse which has been kicked around from pillar to post and which was bought for a mere $1,500—and see him win the richest horse race in the world—he's the "lucky" one.

Charlie (Lucky) Howard, the San Francisco automobile magnate, saw his crack Mioland beaten by Pelleteri's unsung, unnoticed and previously unsought after Bay View in the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap Saturday.

Third Experience

It was sad news for Howard, but it was no novelty. In 1937 his Seabiscuit, the hottest thing in the betting rings, was beaten in the "Hundred Grand" by Rosemont. The distance was by a head.

In 1938 Seabiscuit, once again the favorite, went out for the $100,000 purse, and once again Howard saw the prize and honor fade away—by a head. Stagehand captured that race.

And Saturday it was Mioland, by a neck. The winner's share of $89,360 of the big purse and the glory, went to Bay View.

However, Howard has won two of these rich handicaps. Kayak II took it in 1939, and Seabiscuit finally came through last year in his third try. In addition, Howard to date had won something like $100,000 in the Santa Anita meeting of this year.

But any man who can lose three $100,000 handicaps by the margin of a head, a head and a neck, isn't lucky.

The Worm Turns

Bay View's victory was popular solely because of his owner. While the horse is registered in Mrs. Pelleteri's name, Tony is the boss and the hard luck trainer. He's been campaigning a big string of horses here for the last six years, and all around the country for many years before. Until this season he has never collected a major purse here. His Andy K won the Arlington Futurity two years ago, and then went bad.

Bay View took a quick lead, held it against fifteen of the toughest rivals in the handicap division, and then ran the favored Mioland into the ground in the last furlong. It took all he had to win, but he won, and paid off at the largest price in the handicap record—$118.40, $26.20 and $9.80. Mioland, a powerful entry with the threatening, fading Porter's Cap, paid $3 and $2.60, and Bolingbroke, a rank outsider, finished third to pay $6.40.

Admirers of the great Challedon were disappointed. He never was a factor and finished fourteenth in the field of sixteen.

Week-End Stars

(By the Canadian Press.)

Walter (Turk) Broda, Toronto, and Frankie Brimsek, Boston, hooked up in a brilliant goaling duel as the Leafs and the Bruins battled to a scoreless deadlock on Saturday night in Toronto.

Bryan Hextall, Rangers, took over the lead among goal-scorers by firing two tallies to pace the Rangers to a 3-1 victory over Montreal Canadiens.

Roy Conacher, Boston, figured in all his team's goals—scoring three and helping in the other—as the Bruins beat Chicago Black Hawks 4-3 last night.

Ray Getliffe, Canadiens, led the Habitants to a 3-2 victory over the Americans last night by scoring twice.

Bill Benson, Americans, duplicated Getliffe's scoring performance.

Joe Fisher and Syd Howe, Detroit, whose overtime tallies gave the Red Wings a 4-2 victory over the Rangers at Detroit last night.

BCI Shuts Tweed Out By 5-0 Score

TWEED, March 3 — (ENS). — Belleville Collegiate Interscholastic pucksters assured themselves of first place in the Senior Bay of Quinte C.O.S.S.A. on Friday with a win over the Tweed High School Interscholastic sextette by a 5 to 0 score.

With Ross Clare sparking the Belleville squad and being in on four of the Collegians' five goals, the B.C.I. experienced little trouble in disposing of their younger and lighter Tweed opponents in the senior game. Clare scored two goals and set up one for Warren, while Bruce Cronk bagged the fifth on a pass from Billie Holway.

The game displayed considerable feeling and resulted in personal contact and fisticuffs ensued. Line-ups:

Tweed High School—Goal, Wagar; defence, Hayes and Doyle; centre, Arber; wings, Luffman and Meraw; subs, Connor, Walsh, Vance, Alexander and Morrison.

Belleville C.I.—Goal, Clarke; defence, Clare and Jones; centre, Holway; wings, Cronk and Warren; subs, Mulholland, Hutchinson, Graham, Carter and Diamond.

Eggs Plentiful On Farm Market

Farmers must have been anticipating an increased Lenten demand for eggs on the market Saturday, according to the evidence of a broader volume of supplies. Prices for the larger sizes opened at 23 to 25 cents with 20 cents for the smallest grade, and after the noon hour the remnants of the larger ones were down to 20 cents with other sizes as low as 17 cents. Most of the morning's business was done in the 20 to 25 cents brackets, and the later quotations were offered as a concession to get rid of the surplus. At least that seemed to be the trend.

The attendance of buyers was much larger than in recent weeks. Chickens were comparatively scarce, and prices firm. Broilers were steady at 35 cents, roasters 20 to 25 cents, and pullets were also 25 cents. Butter was 34 and 35 cents a pound.

Outdoors beef was 13 and 15 cents a pound and pork 12 and 14 cents. Potatoes were $1.10 a bag of 75 pounds. Herb Doig quoted cabbage at 5 cents each, onions 30 cents a peck, and Northern Spy apples at 45 cents a peck.

George Stephens of Apsley quoted three cords of body maple cordwood at $25. Norman Moncrief's apple prices were: McIntosh Reds 40 and 50 cents a peck, Spies also 40 and 50 cents, Snows and Russets 35 cents and Starks 35 cents. J. H. Johnston's prices were Spies 50 cents a peck, Baldwins and Peewaukees 40 cents a peck or $1.45 a bushel.

Honey prices by Allan Brown were four pounds of white at 55 cents and four-pound tins of mixed at 45 cents, with some improvement in demand. Long absent from the market Erie Tully was selling Katahdin potatoes at $1.10, and Mr. Doig had Green Mountains at $1.10.

Police Break Picket Line At Buffalo Steel Plant

Buffalo city policemen swinging nightsticks break a way through picket lines of striking workers about the strike-bound Lackawanna steel plant of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation as they usher carloads of "loyal" workers to the plant. This melee marked changing of the working shifts at this plant which shares in Bethlehem's $1,500,000,000 worth of national defence contracts. Washington authorities are seeking means of preventing similar strikes which threaten stoppage of work on vital defence orders.

Hearing on Friday

The application by the Peterborough Milk Producers' Association was heard by the Ontario Milk Control Board in Toronto on Friday, and it was then intimated that a decision would be arrived at as soon as possible. The information of the granting of the producers' request was received by telegram Saturday afternoon with the further statement that a written order confirming the increase was following by mail.

Within the last two weeks several conferences of local milk producers and distributors failed to reach an agreement on the proposal that the price the dairies paid to the farmers should be raised 25 cents a hundred pounds, and at the last adjournment it was said that the producers intended to convey their claim to the Milk Control Board immediately.

The fact that producers throughout western Ontario and in some of the eastern cities, including Ottawa, Kingston and Oshawa, had been granted increased prices to meet the higher costs of farm labor, feeds, and other affecting factors, was regarded by Peterborough farmers as a strong assurance that their demand would also receive favorable consideration.

The Board declared after hearing the application that the milk producers of this area were entitled to the same general increase that had already been granted elsewhere in the province. In fact the producing section of the industry received everything they asked, and this action was declared to be determined on the ground that the industry of dairy farming had been too long struggling against high costs, and also that they could not be expected to maintain the supply of milk if they were not given a price sufficient to raise their income to a level at which they could make some stand against the increased city wages which were attracting labor from the farms.

High Quality Milk

At the recent meetings of the Peterborough producers and distributors, at which Ed. Butler, president of the Milk Producers, was chairman, the reason for their application were set forth and were reported by the Examiner.

It was pointed out at those conferences that the reports of the Peterborough Board of Health based on the examinations made from week to week by Sanitary Inspector Ronald MacPrerson, showed that the quality of the milk coming into the city from the dairy farms of this area was so consistently high that the Board expressed its appreciation of the response of the farmers to the recommendations and requirements of the city's Health Department.

Many changes had been made in the farm premises and in the general methods of handling milk to conform with the demands of the Sanitary Inspector, and it was felt that Peterborough was getting milk that was on a level with the best in the province. And it was also reported that the Health Department felt itself in the position of congratulating the dairy farmers on the fine quality of their product.

Farmers asserted that all these demands, to meet with the program of the Board of Health, had involved increased cost to them. Their herds are all "blood tested" and also tested for bovine tuberculosis. This improvement in the standard of the livestock had eliminated many cattle which farmers had to replace at more or less loss. Their contention was that as an Association their members had conformed to the city's sanitary regulations. However, since the war began other costs of labor and feeds had cut down their income to the point at which they were concerned about being able to carry on their industry on a profitable basis.

The Examiner was informed that the attitude of the Milk Control Board was entirely an endorsation of the case presented by representatives of the producers, and the hope was expressed that the dairies and the consuming public would understand the position into which farmers had been forced by circumstances of costs over which they had no control.

It was also reported that representatives of the dairies suggested that no change in the price in Peterborough should be made for the present, but the Milk Control Board's comments were to the effect that the dairy farmers had been getting too low a price, and the importance of their industry in the community demanded that they should be assured of an income that would enable them to meet increased costs and leave them with some margin of profit.

concerned itself with Greece, "unhappy orphan of the storm," perhaps hinting at plans for a Nazi-enforced peace between Greece and Italy.

(Some observers surmised that Mr. Eden's trip to Athens might be closely connected with this very possibility, that he might be in Greece to bolster the already-stiff Greek resistance by promise of troops or other help.)

British bombers already are operating in Greece and the eastern Mediterranean within easy flying distance of Bulgaria and Rumania.

Blasts at Oil Fields.

Reports in Negotin said heavy explosions had occurred in the Ploesti oil fields and that big fires had been started. These reports, noting that several fleets of unidentified planes had flown high over the town in the direction of the oil fields, attributed the explosions to British bombers. British authorities declined comment.

Two trainloads of Nazi infantrymen were said to have been despatched from Plovdiv, Bulgaria's second largest city, toward the Turkish frontier. Other units were said to be rolling into Plovdiv, which is 165 miles airline from the Dardanelles.

Air raid defence precautions went steadily ahead in Bulgaria and many citizens of Sofia, including Queen Ioanna, Crown Prince Simeon and Princess Marie Louise, left for the country.

King Boris, after receiving Mr. Rendel on the steps of the palace, conferred with the British minister for two hours last night. He was said to have told Mr. Rendel that he had chosen the course which he believed best for his people.

The Briton was understood to have replied that diplomatic relations probably would be severed tomorrow with a state of war "undoubtedly" to follow.

Met Germans First.

Bulgaria's unicameral Parliament approved Premier Bogdan Philoff's action of taking the nation into the Axis alliance. About a score of the 150 members voiced opposition on the oral vote and 18 of them later filed objections on the ground that "Bulgaria's entry into the pact creates many eventualities and places Bulgaria in the danger of war."

With German soldiers swarming in the streets outside, Philoff told the parliament that the "pressure of events" had forced Bulgaria to link herself to the Axis. He said Germany had promised to recognize Bulgarian friendship treaties with her neighbors and had taken cognizance of the recent Turkish-Bulgarian non-aggression pact.

Loud applause greeted his statement that the signing of the pact would not jeopardize Bulgaria's friendship with Russia.

To-day Bulgaria observes her Independence Day. It was on March 3, 1878, that Russia dictated the Treaty of San Stefano which finally brought the Bulgars freedom from five centuries of Turkish rule.

Nineteen Suits Stolen.

The loot consisted of six sport coats, 19 suits, eight overcoats, about three dozen shirts and 18 hats. The safe in the store was not touched by the burglars who contented themselves with carying off the clothing.

Jack Finnie, taxi driver, noticed a red car with four men in it parked in near the laneway that leads into the rear of the Riley Store at 5:20 Sunday morning and being suspicious of the men notified police. Constables John Naples and Gordon Trennum answered the call but the car had gone when they reached Hunter street. They investigated conditions in the neighborhood and discovered the break-in. Police in other cities were notified at once, and given the number of the car seen by Finnie and at 7 o'clock it was learned from provincial police in Bowmanville that the machine was one that had been stolen during the night from W. J. Challis of that town.

Police Tried Door

The break-in occurred between 3.35 and 5.20 o'clock Sunday morning. Constable Harold Mesley, during his rounds tried the Riley doorway at 3:35 o'clock and found everything all right then and when he passed the laneway 20 minutes later saw nothing wrong.

According to Toronto police the thieves after loading the goods from the Riley store into the stolen car, Roberts and Cross drove back to Toronto and left some of the clothes in a garage at the rear of George street. Detective Wm. Koopman and Plainclothesmen Harry Mabbott and Alex. McDonald of the Toronto police department lay in wait in a lane near the garage and surprised the pair. Koopman grabbed Robert, but Cross led the other officers over two back fences before he was captured.

The raid on the William Place address was carried out by Detective Sergt. Jos. Ewing and Detectives Robert Vance and Alex. Deans.

The Times, declaring that Bulgaria's submission to German occupation was no surprise to her neighbors or to Britain, said the presence of Mr. Eden and Sir John in the Mediterranean area of operations "suggests that fairly accurate guesses have been made."

The newspaper continued that the Kremlin had not broken its silence but "everything goes to show that Stalin has, not for the first time, preferred the role of discretion and is holding his hand for some more propitious occasion."

"The recent conferences at Ankara," it said, "give us no reason for supposing that Turkey is not prepared to face her own perils. There remains behind Turkey the mystery of Russia."

The Daily Herald, Labor newspaper, said the Nazi move into Bulgaria was a "counter-strike to Eden's visit to Ankara."

Nicolas Momtchiloff, Bulgarian Minister to London, was reported to have sent his resignation to his home government to show his disapproval for Bulgaria's affiliation with the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo alliance and the German troop occupation.

Obituary

MRS. CAVEN H. DUNN

Many friends will regret the passing last Sunday of Mrs. Caven H. Dunn, the former Bertha Margaret Bennett, at her home, 25 London street south, Hamilton. Mrs. Dunn, who was 39 years of age, had lived in Hamilton since 1930, coming here from Toronto when her husband was transferred from the Canadian General Electric Co. to the International Harvester Co. here. In religion, Mrs. Dunn belonged to the Presbyterian Church, and attended St. Andrew's Church in Hamilton. Her birthplace was Peterborough, Ont., and she was the daughter-in-law of Rev. George M. Dunn, former minister of Westminster Presbyterian Church, Toronto. Surviving are her husband; one son, Walter Norman, at home; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Bennett, of Peterborough; a brother, Harold, and a sister, Mrs. Wesley Bell, also of Peterborough. The funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from her home, and interment was made in Prospect Cemetery, Toronto.

As a girl Mrs. Dunn lived in Otonabee for years, was later employed in the Quaker Oats office until her marriage.

The Examiner Reaches 9468 Families Waiting To Be

TOLD AND SOLD DAILY

The headline to this advertisement isn't just merely a catchy but meaningless jingle — the thought it expresses is really based on the soundest logic and soundest merchandising, as a moment of reflection will prove. For it stands to reason that before a merchant can make a sale to a customer he must attract that customer into his store.

Every merchant knows the value of location — he knows that if his store is situated on a street which has considerable sidewalk traffic his business will vary in proportion to this traffic. He knows, too, that this takes place because potential customers are attracted by his offerings displayed in his windows. He sees to it that his windows tell passersby that he has money-saving values for them.

Examiner advertising offers all the advantages of an ideal "traffic" location and more. It is the modern magic carpet which daily transports more than 9,468 families on a tour of Peterborough advertisers' stores. It is the medium by which the greatest number of potential customers can be told at the least cost.

Each one of the Examiner's 9,468 daily papers has a definite destination — each one goes to a home where it is a welcome visitor, for which, time is set aside each day for its perusal — — when people are in a receptive mood. It is not left on the steps or verandah to clutter up the lawn, but is taken into the home and the news and advertising columns studied carefully by every member of the family — each one of which is a prospective customer. This is paid for circulation and is audited and sworn to, by an independent firm of auditors.

Peterborough families have found that The Examiner is a reliable index to authentic values — it gives them a chance to compare price and quality and saves them time, trouble and money.

Use The Examiner — where your message gets more exposures to potential customers at the least cost — "TO SELL MORE BY TELLING MORE."

THE CONSISTENT ADVERTISER GETS THE BEST RESULTS!

It pays to advertise consistently! Daily insertions add to the prestige and reputation of the advertiser, for they indicate that he has day-in-and-day-out values for Peterborough shoppers—values that are important enough to be publicized. Lack of advertising creates a negative impression —it implies that the merchant has no values worth advertising. Advertise in the Examiner every day to attract Peterborough shoppers every day!

KINSMEN ACTIVITY

Following a meeting of the executive of the Kinsmen club on the week-end it was decided that the club would hold its annual Shopping Certificate drive commencing on April 3.

GO TO PETAWAWA

The five officers of the Prince of Wales Rangers who have been on command at M.T.C. 32, at the Exhibition Grounds, left this morning for Petawawa, where they will take a further course. The five are: Lieuts. Sam Pattee, Ray Borland, Dick Stewart, Claude McWilliams, and Gordon Clegg.

CROWS ARE SEEN

Residents at Lakefield and Keene report that crows are becoming numerous near the villages, and one man also reports seeing several gray birds. It is believed the crows are newcomers and that they did not winter in the swamps of this county.

THE USUAL RESULT

Two men who pleaded guilty in police court this morning to a charge of having been drunk were fined $10 and costs by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., third man similarly charged asked for a week's adjournment and the request was granted.

CLASS WELL ATTENDED

Frank Daniel, president of the Peterborough Underwriters' Association was the speaker yesterday at the regular weekly session of the H.N.S. Public Speaking class. Thirty-eight men and boys attended. Next Sunday, W. B. Gordon, local lawyer, will discuss parliamentary practice.

WILL BE BROUGHT BACK.

Detective Sergt. W. E. Meagher and Constable Archie Menzies left for Toronto this morning to bring back to Peterborough the two youths arrested in the Queen City on a charge of breaking and entering the store of Ed. Riley on Sunday morning. The two will be arraigned here to-morrow morning. They face two charges of car theft in addition to the local break-in.

A SHORT-LIVED STRIKE

A report from the scene of ice-cutting operations on the Trent Canal reveals that truckers engaged in hauling the big blocks of ice from the canal to the Allin Ice Company refused to work on Saturday morning until there was an adjustment in prices. No work was done until 8.45 when a company official arrived and the strike was settled to the satisfaction of everyone, and the work proceeded.

ANOTHER CONTRIBUTION

Herbert F. Doig, Cameron street market gardener, donated ten bushels of carrots to the Peterborough British War Victims' Fund on Saturday, and they brought $5.10. The ten bushels were in seven sacks and they went like hot cakes when Howard Miles, auctioneer started to sell them at the market on Saturday. Following the sale George Benton, the clerk, turned the cash in to the Examiner. Both Miles and Benton gave their services free.

CHRIST JESUS."

"Christ Jesus" was the subject of the lesson-sermon for First Church of Christ Scientist of Peterborough on Sunday. The golden text was "Unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given....Of the increase of his government and peace there shall be no end, upon the throne of David, and upon his kingdom, to order it, and to establish it with judgment and with justice from henceforth even for ever." (Isaiah 9: 6, 7.) Selections from the Bible included the following from Matthew 1: 23: "Behold, a virgin shall be with child, and shall bring forth a son, and they shall call his name Emmanuel, which being interpreted is, God with us." Correlative citations from the Christian Science textbook included the following, "Jesus was the son of a virgin. He was appointed to speak God's word and to appear to mortals in such a form of humanity as they could understand as well as perceive.'"

SHOWING IMPROVEMENT

George Dunn, of King's Hotel, commercial traveller for National Grocers, suffered a stroke a week ago and is confined to St. Joseph's Hospital. Today he is reported to be showing some improvement.

SENDS EXAMINER

Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., today ordered two copies of The Examiner to be sent to the men of the 4th Anti-Tank Field Park Battery, at Debert, N.S., as long as they are stationed at that camp. The papers are being sent to Major John Harstone.

ARTILLERY OFFICERS

The following officers of the 4th Field Battery have been mentioned in district order as being successful in passing the part one paper recently written: Lieuts. J. V. Baird, G. S. Edwards, R. A. Phillips, D. R. McKimmie, J. O. Weldon, and F. R. Duncan.

TOTAL STILL GROWING.

Reports in the War Savings Certificate drive are still coming in from the workers and it is expected that by tomorrow most of the divisions will have completed their work. There is still some work to be done in the retail division and the women are working to wind up the house-to-house canvass in the city.

GEORGE STREET CONCERT

The members of the George Street Young Peoples' Union are staging a patriotic concert on Monday evening, part of the proceeds of which will go to the British War Victims' Fund. Among those appearing on the program will be Mrs. James Goldie, Clifford Cruickshanks and Victor Coleman. Refreshments will be served at the close of the evening.

TWO BROTHERS HAVE JOINED UP.

Joseph Lucano, former salesman for Walker's Bread, is now wearing the uniform of the Royal Canadian Air Force, and his brother, Michael, is serving with the First Division in England, Hastings-Prince Edward Regiment. They are sons of Michael Lucano, Aylmer Street. A brother-in-law, Ed. Wright, who worked at McGinnis' wood yard, also joined the Air Force within the past two weeks. His home is on Mark Street.

Report 24 Cases German Measles

The first outbreak of German measles in this city for three years took place during the month of February when a total of 24 cases were reported, and at the present time there are nine patients in the Isolation Hospital.

Included in the patients at the hospital are two soldiers from the military training centre, Exhibition Grounds. All told during the month there were 16 people admitted to the Isolation Hospital, most of them suffering from German measles.

The total cases for the month in the communicable disease classification included, 24 cases of German measles, 17 cases of common measles, 16 cases of chicken pox, one of scarlet fever and 2 cases of whooping cough.

Mortality Rate Of Infants Shows Decline

Statistics for 1940 compiled in the local Department of Public Health reveals that the infant mortality rate for Peterborough in 1940 is 40.8 per thousand live births which is considerably lower than the 1939 figure, and the lowest figure since 1933.

Dr. L. A. Clarke, M.O.H., pointed out that these figures might be lowered even more by re-allocation of certain deaths which should have appeared in the still-birth column.

He said that high infant mortality rates are to a large degree the responsibility of the people because by means of pre-natal care and infant supervision a good deal of it can be eliminated.

"An infant mortality rate in the middle thirties, that is 35 or 36, if consistently maintained would be considered satisfactory under present conditions," the doctor said.

400,000 Savers Still To Pledge

OTTAWA, March 3—(CP).—Canada's campaign to sign up 2,000,000 regular war savers entered its final week today with at least 1,600,000 persons already pledged to regular purchases of War Savings Certificates for the duration.

During February more than 189 communities reached their campaign objectives, while many more came "within sight" of their quotas, Walter P. Zeller, chairman of the national war savings campaign, said last night.

This week, it is expected, a house-to-house canvass in centres across the Dominion will be completed. The campaigns ends March 8 to leave a clear field for the combined appeal of the Canadian War Services Fund which begins March 24.

However, centres which do not complete their drive by the end of this week will resume their work after the charities campaign ends April 6, Mr. Zeller said.

In his report on February results, Mr. Zeller announced that campaign committees whose quotas represent 47 per cent. of the objective have reported a total of 988,619 pledges.

The report showed 612,216 cash applications totalling $9,405,930 had been received at Ottawa headquarters of the campaign during February.

Mr. Zeller said mining districts, the automotive industry and a number of smaller cities across Canada had achieved outstanding results to date. Special mention was given to Cornwall, Brantford, Peterborough, Belleville and Sarnia.

Special Prayers At Sacred Heart

A large congregation concluding the special day of prayer at the church of the Sacred Heart Sunday evening sang the nation's anthem, "God Save the King," with hymnal fervor after the special sermon preached by Rev. Father McBriarty of the Redemptorist Order. Toronto, who urged not only constant prayer for peace with victory but also sustained whole-hearted co-operation with the Government in all its efforts to win the war.

Father McBriarty quoted the statement of Winston Churchill that the British people are fighting for Christian civilization. If this Christian civilization is to survive it cannot be divorced from Christianity, and the watchword of the people should be "back to God" in their daily lives, at their work and in their families, that the enemies of the British people may be confounded.

Faith in the power of God should be deep in the heart of every Christian, the speaker said. He recalled the example of St. Augustine who inspired the people of Europe to turn to God when the barbarous Goth were threatening the continent. Faith in God demanded loyalty in His service. The people who were not called to the battle lines were enjoying all the benefits of Christian civilization, and upon them rested the duty of building up a strong spiritual order by putting Christ into their daily lives, keeping the commandments of God, and making all the sacrifices that were required of them.

Reserve Judgment

LONDON, March 3 (CP Cable)—The judicial committee of the Privy Council today reserved judgment on the appeal of the International Railway Company from a judgment of Ontario courts in favor of the Niagara Parks Commission.

The action was to recover some $300,000 interest from the commission on an award of $1,660,000 compensation to the company for the abandoned Gorge Route Scenic Railway which operated along the Niagara River for 40 years. The claimed interest dates from the time of abandonment of the line until the award was paid.

Havelock Pupils Donate $26.25 For War Victims

Havelock High School students set the pace in contributions to the Peterborough British War Victims Fund today with a cheque for $26.25, the proceeds from a dance held recently. The idea of having War Savings Stamps work in a dual role was conceived by Mr. Goheen, principal of the school and the plan was as follows: The pupils sold stamps which were used as admission tickets to the dance, then they were resold and the proceeds turned over to the Fund.

On February 28. last Friday, a dance was held at Keene and the sum of $24.70 was realized, so today the fund is richer by that amount. This group are to be commended on their promptness as the money from the dance was turned in the following day.

A dance sponsored by Percy Sweeting and Irven McIntosh is being held in the Co-op Hall on Tuesday night, and the proceeds will go to the fund.

Pupils at School Section No. 4 Smith, turned in a splendid donation today, contributing $11 to the fund. This is one of the largest donations sent in by any rural school so far.

Euchre Is Held For War Victims

DOURO, March 3 (ENS)—This week's euchre of the C.W.L. drew a packed house with almost 200 people in attendance. A splendid amount was realized for the War Victims' Fund. Winners game by game were as follows: 1, Mrs. Robert Heffernan, Jr., Mr. Oliver Pearson; 2, Miss Eileen Ayotte and John O'Leary; 3, Mrs. Dan Dwyer and Joseph Ryan; 4, Miss Isabel Towns and Clem O'Brien; 5, Mrs. Frank J. O'Brien and Joseph Tobin; 6, Miss Teresa O'Brien and Mrs. M. Sheehan; 7, Mrs. Fred Walsh and Vincent Condon. The C.W.L. extends thanks to Mr. P. G. Towns for free use of the hall; to Leahy Brothers for free music and to Richard, Carveth, caller, who also gave his services free.

Personals

Mrs. Edward Allen, Jr., and baby daughter, have returned from Bridgenorth, where she visited her sister, Mrs. Heard.

Mr. P. G. Towns is confined to bed with influenza.

Miss Mabel Allen has returned from Toronto where she has been undergoing medical treatment.

Officers Are Named By Jewish Lodge

The Peterborough members of the B'nai B'rith Lodge, the local Hebrew service club, had their election of officers at a meeting held over the week-end. Abraham Singer, president of the Toronto Lodge, addressed the 35 members gathered from Peterborough, Port Hope, Cobourg, Lindsay, and Fenelon Falls.

The officers elected at the meeting, who are to serve throughout the coming year, are: President, Syd Goldstone; vice-president, I. Moldaver; treasurer, Meyer Cherney; recording secretary, Morris Black; financial secretary, Benjamin Rogow.

They Let Her In

GARY, Ind., March 3 —(AP)—Twenty-five firemen, two ladder trucks, an aerial and service truck, two 1,000-gallon engines, a lighting unit and the assistant chief's car answered an alarm to fire box 34. There stood Mrs. Yancy Stetson. She said she's lost the key to her house and couldn't get in. A friend had advised her to call the fire department. She got in.

Off The List Now

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 3 (AP)—Fletcher Kettle, state superintendent of old-age assistance, received the following letter: "Please cancel my grandmother's assistance award. She has just married an old sweetheart and his new oil well."

Norwood Dance, Draw For Cow Nets WVF $275

NORWOOD, March 3—(ENS).—A capacity crowd filled the Town Hall for the dance on Friday evening when the lucky ticket was drawn for the Jersey cow which had been donated by Mr. J. Parker for the British War Victims' Fund.

The evening was enjoyed by all and a sum of a little over $275 was raised for this worthy object. The lucky winner of the cow was Tommy Stark, young son of Mr. David Stark. Great credit is due Mr. Parker for his effort. He is himself a veteran of the Great War.

Toward the close of the evening a lunch was served by the 40th Northumberland Chapter I.O.D.E. from which the sum of $26 was raised. This sum will be used by the chapter for war work.

Day of Prayer

The Women's World Day of Prayer meeting was held this year in Norwood United Church Sunday School with a fairly good attendance.

Part I, "The Coming of the Kingdom in our Individual Lives," was under the direction of the W.M.S. of the United Church; Mrs. William Puffer being leader, and Mrs. Claude Bongard, pianist.

Part II, "The Coming of the Kingdom in the Community and Nation" was given by Baptist Church Mission Circle, under the leadership of Mrs. R. Baker. Mrs. Roy Nevins, Mrs. L. Fife, and Mrs. A. Nixon each contributing prayers.

Part III, "The Coming of the Kingdom in Its Relation of a Family of Nations founded on the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Man," was taken by W.M.S. of the Presbyterian Church under the leadership of Mrs. Borland. The Bible reading was given Mrs. Small, and prayers by Mrs. Golloher, Miss Clysdale, and Mrs. Roxburgh.

Part IV, "The Vision of the Kingdom," was given by the Women's Auxiliary of the Anglican Church under the leadership of Mrs. George Wright. The address was read by Mrs. Walter Bitten.

The service closed with the singing of the National Anthem and the benediction.

Factories To Require More Milk To Produce Cheese For Britain

City people are spreading more butter on their bread since munitions jobs have been creating a new prosperity. They are also drinking more milk, two domestic demands on the cheese industry of Canada which has entered into a contract to supply Great Britain with 112,000,000 pounds of cheese this year, And that is only the minimum. The British government will buy just about all the cheese Canada can make.

To do this job, it was said at the meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Producers Association here Saturday afternoon, Canada will have to find 600,000,000 pounds of milk more than in normal years. That means 500 pounds more from each Canadian cow, and to get it something has to be done about it.

"And we've got to buckle down to it," George A. Elliott of Norwood, president of the Association, said. All the county factories except one was represented, and the attendance was around forty.

Cheese milk this year is going to be worth $1.35 to $1.40 a hundred pounds, nearly double the price of 1939, and the consensus of the meeting was that this year's market is financially attractive, apart from the patriotic demand that is pointing straight at farmers that they have got to put more into their work than they have ever done before.

Spring Campaign

It was agreed Saturday that labor is scarce, and that is an obstacle, but some relief may be devised before the factories open their doors. The first stage of the 1941 war responsibility of the cheese industry is to convince farmers to get their cattle in shape earlier than usual, to begin feeding them grain three or four weeks before they are turned out to grass, to see that the cheese factories are open two weeks earlier than last year, and that there is a flow of milk ready.

The Ontario Government and the Cheese Producers of the province are co-operating in this new effort to produce a concentrated food for the British people.

Series Of Meetings

Mr. Elliott and his associates decided to hold a series of meetings in the near future at all the factory centres, Young's Point, Warsaw, Hall's Glen, Norwood, Hastings, Trent Bridge, Bobcaygeon and Dunsford for the purpose of telling the farmers what has to be done and how to go at it.

If these meetings are not largely enough attended the factory groups are going to appoint some of their most active directors to go out and see farmers personally. It is hoped that the response is going to be enthusiastic, that local factories are going to show a big increase in cheese production, and that there will be a high average of top grade cheese.

One of the statements Saturday was to the effect that this is primarily a rural war time problem, and behind the news headlines recently has reappeared the intimation that butter may have to be rationed in Canada if the home demand continues to increase at its rate of the last ten or twelve months.

War Contracts

CAPITAL expenditure announced by the Department of Munitions and Supply Saturday included two sums allotted to Peterborough factories: Canadian General Electric Company $8,315,045 and Western Clock Company $12,800. There was also an electrical contract to the Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Company (Johnson Motors) for $38,210.

Gallow's Bail Set At $5,000

Louis Gallow, committed for trial on two charges of burglary and Lawrence Burns, committed on one charge appeared before Judge S. L. Smoke at the court house Saturday and elected jury trial.

Mannis Frankel on behalf of Gallow and T. J. Carley, K.C., acting for Burns made application for bail.

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., opposed the applications but Judge Smoke announced that he would fix bail in each case at $5,000.

It is expected that application for bail will be made this afternoon in behalf of the other suspects, William Bradd and Thomas Nicholls.

Kingston Paper Donates Mobile Kitchen

KINGSTON-ON-THAMES, England, March 3.—(CP Cable.) — A mobile kitchen for use in the relief of air raid distress was presented to-day to the Corporation of Kingston-On-Thames on behalf of the Whig-Standard of Kingston, Ont.

Maj. J. M. Humphrey, senior officer of auxiliary services at Canadian military headquarters presented the kitchen, which was accepted by Sir Edward Scarles, Mayor of Kingston. Maj. Humphrey was accompanied by three Canadian army majors, all graduates of the Canadian Military College—J. E. Gandong, Ontario; R. G. Rudolph, Ontario; and M. Embury, Saskatchewan.

"The spontaneity with which helpful gifts are being provided for the people of the Motherland from throughout distant parts of the Empire is testimony of the solidarity of our purpose," Maj. Humphrey said.

He added that the presentation was on behalf of the Whig-Standard, "of which Mr. Rupert Davies is president, and who is also president of The Canadian Press and as such doubtless has had many opportunities to hear how magnificently the people of England rallied to the defence of our cause."

The Mayor, expressing thanks, recalled that the Kingstons were closely associated a number of years ago when it was the custom of the two cities to exchange Union Jacks for display on Empire Day.

Before the presentation Maj. Humphrey and the Mayor inspected a parade representative of all Kingston's civil defence services.

Youth Fined $10 Stealing Paper

A three-cent morning paper cost a local young man $10 today. It happened this way. For some time Pete Goselin has been missing papers from his store at Hunter and Queen Street every morning. They are dropped off in front of the store before the place is opened, and the proprietor has been finding some of them gone and no money left to pay for them, so he complained to the police.

Sergt. W. E. Wigg was watching the store early this morning from a position on the north side of Hunter Street, east of Water Street, and he saw a young man take a paper from the bundle and start off westward. The youth was brought to the police station, and in court this morning pleaded not guilty.

He was convicted, however, on the evidence of Sergt. Wigg, and his statement that he had intended to pay for the paper later did not save him.

"I think that this is a case for a fine and not imprisonment," said Magistrate Langley as he proceeded to fine the accused $10 without costs.

Liner Pulls Free Grounding On Maiden Trip

BUZZARDS BAY, Mass., March 3.—(AP).—The powerful engines of the new $3,000,000 liner President Hayes floated the 9,300 ton vessel unassisted early to-day, three hours after she went aground at the Buzzards Bay entrance to the Cape Cod canal.

Irving T. Sorge, Boston agent of the American President Lines, said the liner would return to Boston for examination. He said the fact that the vessel, en route to New York from Boston on her maiden voyage, was able to get off under her own power, would indicate she was not damaged seriously.

The vessel, with accommodations for 100 passengers, carried only three "company passengers," a 1,500-ton general cargo and a crew of about 120 men. It was not necessary to lighten the cargo to free the ship.

The liner, which arrived in Boston only Saturday from Newport News, Va., where she was constructed, left Boston on a 29,000-mile 'round-the-world voyage a few hours before grounding.

Banting Funeral Set For Tuesday

TORONTO, March 3 (CP)—Funeral services for Sir Frederick Banting, one of Canada's premier scientists who died on empire service Feb. 21, will be held here to-morrow.

The scientist's body was flown here late yesterday from Newfoundland where Sir Frederick and two others were killed as a plane in which they were preparing to cross to Britain crashed in a lonely section of the colony's coastline.

Col. Duncan Graham, associate of Sir Frederick in both medical and military affairs, said last night that the scientist's body would lie in state in Convocation Hall at the University of Toronto from 10 a.m. to 12.30 p.m. Tuesday and that the funeral service would be held in the Convocation Hall at 2.30 p.m. with President H. J. Cody of the university officiating. Burial will take place in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

War Savings Stamps For Dance Prizes

Air Force and Army men home on leave were among the dancers, numbering three hundred, who attended the Y.M.C.A. Saturday Night Club party, and special numbers were played in their honor by Jimmy Duffus' orchestra. Announcement that all dance prizes given out until the end of the season will be in the form of War Savings Stamps to the value of at least one certificate of four dollars each night, was received with enthusiasm, with Miss Deline and Mr. King Lake winning the lucky spot Saturday evening, each receiving one dollar in stamps. Miss Elizabeth McKay and Mr. Karl Duffus were winners of the door prize of two dollars in stamps, drawn for by Pilot Officer Gerald Wooll.

Miss Audrey Rose and Mr. Pat Morroco won the spot prize the previous week, and the door prize was drawn by Sergeant Pilot Rollie Rennie and won by Miss Simmons. Sergeant Pilot Rennie was a member of the 1940 committee, and has

There is nothing more becoming to the woman who wears a larger size than a simple shirtwaist frock. The panelled skirt and slim line of buttons down the front add to the chic of this popular style. A softly rolling convertible collar is becoming as are the long, loose sleeves. This is the perfect dress to wear for all occasions especially if it is made of rayon crepe in a flattering color such as soft blue, wine or dark green, in solid color or a neat print.

WE . . . NOTICED

. . .That in clarifying the hosiery color or picture for spring, one stylist expresses the new trend to light shades in this way: "Lighter colors for spring do not mean that legs will pale out of the costume picture. Rather, it means that legs are given a new opportunity to become an integral part of the costume itself."

✧ ✧ ✧

. . .Light hosiery shades can almost provide a "match" between legs and skirts, as apparent in the case of closely blending beige costumes and stockings. When hosiery accents the costume, greater harmony can be achieved by the subtle accent possible in light colors. Hosiery means to retain its important "one-fourth" of the costume picture.

Welsh Church Service Held

Continuing an annual practice since its organization, a large number of St. David's Society members attended divine service in St. George's Anglican church on Sunday evening. Rev. T. H. Floyd, minister of the church, extended greetings to the Society, and Rev. J. L. Hughes, a former rector, and first president of the group, was heard in an interesting address in which he spoke of the contributions made to the world by the Welsh people. Among them were mentioned national love of music and poetry; a deep-rooted sense of the religious, and the love of freedom, which he declared were what a Welsh Society should strive to keep alive. Several of the hymns sung were to Welsh tunes familiar to the congregation. Mrs. A. King presided at the organ. At the close of the service the Welsh National Anthem was sung, followed by God Save the King.

Members of the Society spent a pleasant half hour after the service in the Sunday School rooms, where they chatted with Mrs. Hughes and her daughter, Eileen. Sincere regret that he would be unable to be present this evening when the Society holds its annual banquet in the Empress Hotel, was expressed by Rev. Hughes.

Ode To . . Waterbottle

In blitz-ridden England the lowly hot water bottle has filled such an important role during the past winter that a competition entitled "Tribute to the Hot Water Bottle" was inaugurated by the Manchester Guardian.

Winning "poem" goes as follows:

O. Bottle.

When wintry winds our noses mottle,
Then what'll bring such sweet solace as—the bottle!
Not bib-and-babble baby-bottle,
Nor blatant boozer's big black bottle
But just my blessed bedtime bottle
With nightly tightly screwed-in throttle,
My sweet, my neat, sheet-heating bottle,
My warm-foot comfort bottle,
My midnight bedmate bottle,
My floppy, flappy rubber-bellied bottle,
My mollywuddle-cuddle bottle,
My wobble-gurgle bubble bottle,
My wiggle-hug and snuggle bottle,
Bed boon! Bed bliss! Bed bottle!

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: I would like a reply to the following question: Is there ever any danger of ptomaine poisoning in home canned goods done in new improved gem glass sealers? I would like to know which of meat, fruit or vegetables are most subject to ptomaine poisoning if properly canned in glass sealers.—Mr. R. E.

ANSWER: Thank you for your letter.

There is danger of spoilage in home canned goods canned in any container if they are not given sufficient length of time to sterilize in the sealed container. But there are foolproof methods of canning anything.

In acid foods such as fruits and tomatoes, both forms of spoilage agents—molds and bacteria — are readily destroyed at the boiling temperature in a reasonable length of time. But in nonacid foods such as asparagus, corn, beans and peas, mushrooms, all meats and poultry the spore forms are heat-resistant and it may take from 6 to 10 hours or more to destroy them at boiling temperature. If cooked under 10 to 15 pounds pressure (240-250 deg. Fahr.) these same spores are destroyed in about 30 minutes if the product is thin—if heavy such as corn or beans they might require from 60 to 90 minutes at 240 deg. Fahr. All nonacid vegetables and meats should therefore be canned in the pressure cooked from the standpoint of time and safety, and also palatability and food value, since prolonged heat modifies flavor and destroys vitamins.

Bacteria in foods differ from year to year and in different localities. The spore forms of the botulinas bacteria are strongly heat-resistant and may produce toxic products in canned foods which are highly poisonous. Since these toxins may be present in a home-canned non-acid vegetable or meat without showing visible sings of spoilage, it is a wise precaution to boil these for 15 minutes before using. Commercially canned foods do not need this preliminary boiling before they are used.

If you intend doing extensive home canning you would be well advised to buy a pressure cooker, and to use new rubbers every time you use the sealers you mention.

Dear Friends:

This is the first time I have the liberty to write to you folks. As you will see by my address, I am a soldier serving in the Canadian Army, and I am writing this letter to thank you for the part your organization is taking in providing comforts for the troops

I was prompted to write to you because several nights ago, when I was passing a few hours away between duty, I chanced to pick up a magazine to read which had the name of your Chapter stamped on it. Supplying magazines may seem a small thing to some, but certainly not to the soldiers, and I can tell you that they are deeply appreciated by all who read them.

Again let me thank you for your interest in us,

Yours sincerely,
(signed) Pte. G. Dawson.

Magazines are sent to the soldiers through Peter Robinson Chapter, I.O.D.E., and magazines may be left at Belleghem's store, Hunter street. If contributions are to be called for, phone Mrs. S. Braund at 7209.

Test By Sea, Land Predicted During March

(By KIRKE L. SIMPSON.)

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(AP).—The month of March, reputed in respect to weather to go out like a lamb when it comes in like a lion, does not seem destined to live up to that reputation so far as war events are concerned.

It has come in like a lion with tension high in the Balkans and Germany claiming sea-war successes against Britain. It bids fair to go out roaring with action certainly in the Atlantic and possibly also in the Balkans and the far Pacific.

Germany reached her high-water mark in the first Great War in March, 1918. The Kaiser's armies all but cut the French and British forces apart on the west front in that spring drive. They risked everything on that final offensive in the hope of avoiding another war winter for Germany.

There is good reason to believe now that Berlin is prepared to risk all on a great sea attack on Britain for precisely the same reason. Another war winter in the strangling grip of the British blockade could threaten the Nazi regime with internal disintegration if British and neutral economists gauge German food and oil resources aright.

Time Must Come.

Nazi leaders from Hitler down have claimed repeatedly that they are prepared for a war of any duration. Months ago, however, United States observers back home from Berlin told this writer of their doubts on that score. They saw possibilities of an uprising in Germany only distantly. It depended, they believed, on either of two factors.

Even iron-fisted Nazi suppression at home, could not avert serious rumblings of discontent, they believed, if the German Army suffered a disastrous defeat. They felt certain that it was fear of just such a defeat that withheld a German attempt to invade Britain last summer or early fall when other conditions seemed right for the attempt.

The other factor which could undermine Hitler at home, they believed, was a grave food shortage; but they saw no prospect that it could develop before the winter of 1941-2. Economists who give close attention to the present or predictable food situation in Germany or on the Continent seem to share that opinion.

There is before the writer a recapitulation from authoritative sources of the German food situation as of to-day so far as it is known. There are many missing or incalculable factors, but it seems clear that the general mass of Nazi citizenry is now suffering from lack of the same fats for diet purposes that drove the German people of 1916 to revolt against the Kaiser.

War Workers Get Best.

Probably relatively few of them realize it. There is no lack of bulk in the German diet to-day. There is a definite lack of energy-building fats, however. German scientific publications filtering out of Germany tend to show that German workers not in preferred war-making classifications show distinct signs of "over-exertion."

That is another way of saying underfeeding in such essentials as fats, the prime energy-building element of a balanced diet. Presumably it does not apply to the army, to munition workers or to national groups granted special food preferences because of their war-making assignments. They are being fed well and nourishingly, however, at the expense of the masses of Germans and those too young and too old for work.

Perhaps this is wishful thining on this side of the Atlantic or in London. There can be no dispute of the thesis of the economists, however, that whatever may be the pinch of the British blockade on Germany to-day, it will be worse, much worse, next winter unless Hitler can break its grip.

Cobourg Smash Kills 1, Injures 2

COBOURG, Ont., Mar. 3 — (CP) —One woman lost her life and another is not expected to recover as the result of a car crashing into a tree inside the town limits here early this morning.

Miss Winnie Irwin, 21, was fatally injured. Mrs. Elizabeth Boyle, 26, her sister, is in hospital.

Miss Irwin died before she reached the hospital. Two Air Force members who were in the car, Ben Marcovitch and Stanley May, were placed in hospital. They are attached to the R.C.A.F. School at Brantford. Both are from Montreal.

Mrs. Boyle has a deep cut in the left side of the head. The two women were sitting in the rear seat. Mrs. Boyle, who was on the left, received most of the force of the impact when the car hit the tree.

Marks on the snow indicated that the car slewed off the road, leaped to the right, struck a large tree, and then bounced several feet. The party was returning from Montreal where the fliers visited their homes and Mrs. Boyle her husband who is in the Army.

Chief Constable Identifies Thomas Nicholls

When the crown had concluded its case Saturday afternoon in the preliminary hearing of a charge against Thomas Nicholls, Windsor and Toronto, of breaking and entering the C.D.S. store, Magistrate Langley anounced that he would reserve judgment on a motion to dismiss the case until Monday afternoon.

"This is the weakest case of the four," he said, "and I want to go into it a little."

Evidence by Chief Constable Newhall that Nicholls was one of the three strange men he had seen in front of the C.D.S. store at 11:20 o'clock on the Saturday night before the burglary was the feature of the afternoon session.

Chief Newhall stated that while driving home in a police car that night he had seen the three men jostling each other around and that Nicholls was the tall one of the three he had seen.

"When did you first make up your mind that the tall one was Nicholls?" Mr. Frankel asked in cross-examination.

"As soon as I saw him."

"When had you seen his features before?"

"I had seen him right here in Peterborough."

"When was that?"

"I can't say exactly when. It was when the National Grocers and other places were robbed. He was one of the men who did that job."

Nicholls jumped to his feet in the dock as if to make a violent protest at this statement but Mr. Frankel waved him down.

Diary Produced

Mr. Frankel asked if the chief constable had made any memorandum about seeing Nicholls near the C.D.S. store on the night before the break-in and Chief Newhall said that he had whereupon defense counsel asked that it be produced.

Chief Newhall returned to the witness box with a diary and pointed out an entry he said he made on Sunday, February 2 which mentioned seeing three strange men outside the C.D.S. store on the night before.

"I noticed that you did not use the name of Nicholls in that diary until after he had been arrested in Toronto," commented Mr. Frankel.

Provincial Constable Truax, Windsor, told of the finding of the small safe near that city. Detective-Sergeant John Nimmo testified to finding $44 in bills on Nicholls when he was arested. Detective-Sergeant W. E. Meagher to bringing the money back to Peterborough and handing it to the Chief Constable and Chief Newhall in turn, swore to turning the money over to Professor Joslyn Rogers.

Professor Rogers testified that fifteen of the one-dollar bills in the package showed considerable evidence of scorching and heaviest burning found on all the bills was on a five-dollar bill.

"In the envelope and between the bills," said the witness, "there was a very considerable quantity of a dark hard substance which was iron oxide of the same type as that found in the small safe."

Cross-examined by Mr. Frankel, Professor Rogers said that he believed that it would be quite possible for money to be scorched in that way by a rapid flick of a flame, even if the bills were contained in canvas bags.

"There is no evidence there," Mr. Frankel remarked when Crown Attorney McElderry announced that the crown's case was concluded.

Agreeing that it was the weakest case of the four Magistrate Langley announced that he would reserve judgment until Monday afternoon.

The second charge against Nicholls of breaking and entering the Wonder Bakeries office was dismissed when Mr. McElderry announced that he did not propose to offer any evidence.

Spoiled Children Never Grow To Upright Manhood. Mothers Alone Are to Blame if They Do Not Exercise Discipline When Their Offspring Is Young.

I have a letter from a mother who says that she is sick and tired of having everyone call her darling little 5-year-old boy a brat, and tell her how ill-behaved and unmannerly she is and generally regarded as a pest, when it isn't true at all. He is just high-spirited, and when he breaks the neighbors' windows and pulls up their flowers by the roots, or yells and whoops he just does it in a spirit of clean fun, and people are grouches and fusspots to object to it. And, anyway, if he is a little spoiled now, he will outgrow it, and his mother can't bear for him to be looked upon as an infant terror. The very idea! When he is so sweet and cute! I never wonder that mothers so bitterly resent any criticism of their children, for it is a scathing indictment of themselves for failing in the most important duty that they will ever be called upon to perform in life. Every child writes its mother's price ticket, and when one is a brat it shows that its mother is a moron who does not have enough intelligence to appreciate the crime she is committing against the child itself and against society. Or else she is too weak and cowardly to fight with a strongwilled youngster and make it behave. Possibly there are children born with a hereditary tendency toward evil doing that cannot be controlled. If so, such cases are few and far between. The ordinary child is what its mother makes it. She forms its character and turns out a fine man or woman, or the hand of the potter shakes and gives us the young hoodlums who fill our jails and reformatories.

Slack women, lazy women, self-indulgent women sigh and say that you can't tell how children are going to turn out, but this is not true. There is no luck about how children turn out. They are the product of the inexorable law of cause and effect working out to its desired end.

Grow as They Are Bent

If children are brats at five, they will be bums at 50. If when they are young and impressionable their mothers do not teach them respect for law and order, and steadfastness of purpose, and self-control and habits of industry and thrift, they will make the men and women who are always in trouble, who are failures and quitters and who are a curse to all who come in contact with them.

Granted that it is not easy to bring up a child properly, but there are no soft snaps in motherhood. From start to finish it is pain and work and worry, but its rewards are so great when the work is well done, and the penalties are so terrible when the mother lays down on her job that it is worth all that it costs any woman.

Time and Patience Needed

It takes time and patience to teach fumbling little hands how to hold a fork or spoon, and greedy little mouths not to gulp their food. Mother has to tell Johnny a thousand times to take off his hat when he enters a room, and how to speak easily and courteously to strangers.

But on the thousandth and first time he will do it of his own accord, and mother will have turned out a gentleman and given him the good manners that will be a first aid to success to him.

There is no woman in the world so stupid as not to know that the greatest harm she can possibly do her child is to spoil it. She sees too many illustrations all about her of the tragic results of pampering children and letting them know no law except their own wills.

She sees boys who are drunkards because they have never been made to control their appetites; who are lazy, shiftless, ne'er-do-wells because mother waited on them hand and foot.

Plenty of Experiences

She sees other mothers weeping over wild girls whom they cannot control at 20 because they did not teach them obedience when they were two. She sees the divorce courts filled with young women who wrecked their homes and orphaned their little children because their husbands would not spoil them the way their mothers did.

She knows that half the misery in the world is the result of mothers being too foolishly fond, too lazy, too weak or too cowardly to discipline their children and make them behave themselves.

Yet she goes on committing the same crime against her children, hoping that some miracle will somehow change them from what she has made them into what they should be.

No wonder that mothers resent their children being called brats. It is the public recognition of their failure as mothers.

Fascists Smash At Quake Centre

ATHENS, March 3 (AP) — The Greek Ministry of Home Security declared today that rescue work had to be suspended at Larisa during an hour-long Italian air raid yesterday on that earthquake stricken town.

"Enemy aviation, fully aware that on the previous day Larisa suffered terrific damage with quite a few casualties from an earthquake, and at a time when the ground was being shaken by continuing tremors and thousands of women and children were homeless, bombed the stricken town for a whole hour," the ministry said.

The bombings caused no additional casualties, a Greek spokesman said, because 90 per cent of the population had left the ruins of the town for nearby villages.

At least 75 schools in Tasmania have been equipped for motion pictures.

Camp Costs Loom As House Target

OTTAWA, Mar. 3. — Continuing the debate on the $1,300,000,000 War Appropriation Bill, the Conservative Opposition will press this week for more information on the money spent by the Government on the thirty-day training camps.

It is reported that the three thirty-day camps cost Canada $27,000,000, including construction and equipment charges. The Opposition will ask for a statement of what value was received in return for this money.

(Figures given the House of Commons on February 21 by Defence Minister Ralston indicated that the cost of the camps up to December 31 was $17,860,253. The third training period came in January.)

It is estimated that the four months' training plan now being launched will cost at least $1,000 a man. The Conservatives want to know what steps the Government is taking to protect its equity in trained men after they graduate. They want to know how many of the trainees are expected to enlist for active service or whether any estimate of this kind has been made.

The War Appropriation Bill will be before Parliament most of the week. There is no indication of any major legislation being brought down.

The resolution of Finance Minister Ilsley leading to introduction of the Appropriation Bill has been the dominant feature of the session since it was resumed on February 1. The Minister's motion to go into committee on the resolution was moved on February 18. It was debated that day and the next when it was adopted. In committee the House under this resolution has disclosed for four full days varied aspects of the war effort..

PITTSBURGH, March 3 (AP)—The magistrate was a bit dubious when 71-year-old Edward I. Clark, arraigned on charge of intoxication, said:—"I'm a music teacher — I teach piano and harmonica." To prove it, Clark produced a harmonica and broke into the strains of "Show me the way to go home."

"All right, dad," said the magistrate, joining in the courtroom laughter. "Case dismissed."

DRAFTED FOR LOVE

By RUTH AYERS

YESTERDAY: April decides to pose as her sister for one day, plans a picnic with Kent. But hardly are they underway and her courage begins to fail. She stops the car.

* * *

LAST PERFECT MINUTE
CHAPTER VI

As Kent turned to her in the sudden stopping of the car, something familiar rolled over the seat and into April's lap.

"Why, Nip," she choked, "whatever are you doing here?"

Kent began to laugh. It was the first time April had heard the sound from him and it did something to her. "Well, Nip, you old scoundrel—up to the same tricks all over again, aren't you?" he said.

"I'm sorry," April said. "He climbed in without me knowing. I'll turn back and park him."

"Park him, nothing. Nip's been with us where we're going today."

He reached over to find Nip's head and patted it. And then his hand, somehow, tangled in April's fingers and before she could speak, he had lifted them to his lips.

The firm resolution she'd made with herself to tell Kent she wasn't Ann, but April, began to crumble.

And crumpled even more when Kent said slowly, "Sweetheart, it's sort of funny, Nip coming along. They say you can't ever go back, that you can't have the same day over again. But I have a feeling that we're going to laugh at that jinx today."

* * *

Kent caught the hint of a sob. She felt him straighten, saw the puzzled frown. "You're not—you're not feeling sorry for me?"

"Oh, not that!" April almost shouted it.

Relief spread on Kent's face. "For a minute you had me scared," he said. "But now I want to tell you something. All the time after the accident, when I was in the hospital, too darn proud to write you because of that quarrel we'd had, I was hanging on to one idea. I believed that if you and I could pack up and have a day to ourselves in the hills, we'd fall in love all over again. That's what kept me going. You see how much it means?"

April let herself be lulled. Back went the blinders on her conscience; down went the resolutions. If this day was so significant to Kent, he must have it.

Tomorrow, oh surely tomorrow, Ann would be home. Mother and Dad would be back tonight and if all else failed, they could prevail on Ann to return. And April could explain everything to her sister, make her understand. Why, it was like being an understudy in a play, pinch-hitting until the real actress could come on the scene.

Kent was saying, "Oh, the major at the hospital was stubborn at first when I asked for a leave. Said he wouldn't hear to it. But I said what was most important in a pending operation was to have the patient ready for it. And because he's a fine surgeon, he knew I was right."

"Yes, you are right, Kent."

"Nothing can lick me, Ann, if we're together again."

"No, nothing can lick you."

Yes, that was it. She had to help him, couldn't let him down before Ann returned.

He leaned back, a certain shyness in his face. Nip settled between them and looking down at his wiry head, April couldn't help the smile pulling at her lips. Nip! Nip knew she wasn't Ann. But he couldn't say a word—only sit there with that wise-owl look in his eyes.

* * *

The road rolled and dipped. The miles sped. The three in the roadster raced on in a complete harmony of silence.

Now and then, April threw a glance at Kent. Each time it seemed as if she saw something else that made her pulse quicken. And when it appeared as if, actually, the drawn lines in his face were lifting, she could have cheered.

"Where are we now, Ann?"

Nip gave a derisive snort. April hushed him and said, "We are about to be welcomed to Jonesburg."

"Fine, I've always had a hankering to be welcomed to Jonesburg."

And a little later, "Let me guess, Ann. I bet there's a sign on the left that says, 'You are now leaving Crestwood.'"

"You're five miles too late," she said. "That sign was on the right and it said, 'Rockland, elevation 1500 feet.'"

"Fifteen hundred feet above the clouds! A mere nothing. Why, if all comes out right for us, I'm going to keep you 15,000 feet above the clouds all the time."

They laughed, fell silent again. The miles sped on across the county boundary line, passed state park, to the fork where the red road led off, as neat and easy to find as if it had been mapped before April's eyes.

Not long after they were on the red road, April spotted the windmill farm.

"There it is," she cried. "Why, it's heavenly, Kent!"

"Of course, and so are you."

She hurried from the car so the perfect minute wouldn't be spoiled. As it happened, it was the last perfect minute for quite a while.

* * *

As Octavia had reminded her, April hadn't been on an outing since her lollypop days. One thing was to talk about a steak fry and another was to get a steak to frying.

April helped guide Kent to what she figured was the best vantage point on the hill above the farm pasture. He carried the lunch kit, insisted he could build the grill.

As she carted the wood and stones to him, April became panicky.

This would be the give-away. Kent would know by her very clumsiness, by the way the steak tasted, that she wasn't Ann.

"Here," he was saying. "I think it's all set to light. Careful, Ann."

"It's going!" April cried. And suddenly everything seemed hushed and beautiful in the glow of the burning fire.

She felt Kent drawing her to her feet. "Ann'," he said, and his lips were on hers and he was kissing her, hungrily, possessively.

Kent drew her head to his shoulder. "You've never kissed me like that before, darling. For the first time, I can believe you're in love with me."

OBITUARIES

MRS. HECTOR BRYON WOOD

There passed away, in Nicholls Hospital on Sunday, Mrs. Hector Bryon Wood, the former Mildred Etta Fry, a resident of Fraserville for the past eight years, to whom death came after an illness of five years.

Born in Hope township in 1877, she was the daughter of the late John Henry Fry, and the late Mary Elizabeth Hunter. A resident of this district all of her life, she resided in South Monaghan until eight years ago. Widow of the late Hector Bryon Wood, she is survived by one son, Melville, of Fraserville.

A member of the Fraserville United church, Mrs. Wood was an ardent worker in its circle, and her passing will be mourned in her large group of friends who enjoyed her support even after ill health had confined her activities.

Surviving besides her son, are three sisters, Mrs. David Tunney, of Brock township; Mrs. Everett Wood, of South Monaghan; Mrs. James Hall, of South Monaghan; three brothers, Wesley Fry of Eston, Sask.; Harold, of Peterborough, and Stanley of Ballieboro.

The funeral will be from the Nesbitt Funeral Home, 347 Charlotte street, on Tuesday a 2.30 p.m. D.S.T. Rev. M. E. Rowland of Fraserville United church, will officiate, and interment will be in Fraserville cemetery.

THOMAS EDWIN JORY.

Thomas Edwin Jory, of Lakefield, passed away in Nicholls Hospital on Saturday, after a short illness. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Jory of Douro, and had lived in Lakefield for the past two weeks, having come from Regina.

Surviving are his sorrowing widow, the former May Edgar, three sisters, Mrs. Joseph Le May, Mary L. Miller, both of Lakefield, and Mrs. M. E. McCloy, of Brandon, Manitoba. One brother also survives, Samuel W. Jory, of Brandon.

Mr. Jory was born in Douro 77 years ago, received his education in the Lakefield school and for years farmed.

The funeral will be on Monday, March 3rd, from the home of his late brother, Robert Jory, Chippewa avenue, Lakefield, at 2.30 p.m. D.S.T. Rev. G. E. Kelly, of Lakefield United church, will officiate, and interment will be in Little Lake cemetery.

Manners Mean More Dates, Clever Girls Have Found

Her Taxi Etiquette is Perfect

The girl that other girls envy—how DOES she manage that thrilling whirl of a life?

The answer is probably her lovely polished manners. Men are proud to take her out, because she always knows the right, the pleasing thing to do.

When her escort pays the taxi driver she doesn't watch but tactfully drifts a few steps away. And though she's first to get in the cab, she knows her beau is the first to step out.

On the way home, she wouldn't dream of giving her address to the cabbie. That's her escort's place—just as, in the restaurant, it was his place to give the waiter her order.

Then she always seems to know the right thing to say. Meeting a new man, she never spoils that important first impression with a cheap "Very pleased, I'm sure." She correctly says: "How do you do."

And given a compliment, she smiles, "Thank you so much!" Never a giggling, ungracious "Oh, you don't mean that."

The result is naturally dates, dates, and more dates! Our 32-page booklet has etiquette for dances, dates, theatre, autos. Tells correct thing when visiting, entertaining, on the telephone, in the office. Advises on petting.

Send 15c in coins or stamps for your copy of ETIQUETTE FOR YOUNG MODERNS to Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

"The Authority on Authorities"

DON'T FOOL YOUR MATE

JUST BECAUSE your hand is bad, and you don't expect to take any tricks against the declarer, is no excuse for playing your cards carelessly. In a spot like that, you should bear in mind that your partner may have cards which will defeat the contract if he plays them to the best advantage. Your job then is to help him play them right, by giving him correct information about your own hand, thus, by indirection, telling him something about the cards held by the declarer. The only time you can safely false-card all over the place is when you are sure you hold the only important cards yourself, and can therefore mislead the declarer to the limit without worrying about your partner.

After West led the diamond 7 and the dummy went down, South saw three possible losing tricks—one in clubs, one in diamonds and one in spades. There seemed to be only one remote chance to make the contract—to lure his opponents into a very terrible combination of defensive mistakes, since the diamond lead made it very likely East had the Q. If he could only make East take his club A on a first round of that suit, and then lead a diamond, he would be home safely.

So South won the diamond 7 with the A, playing the 4 from his own hand, and immediately led the club 8. East studied the situation. He decided South might well have a singleton club, so played his A. Analyzing the diamonds, he saw that the 7 led by his partner must be either a singleton or a fourth-best, in which event he would have to hold also the J, 10 and 9. So he returned his diamond 2. That gave South his contract. If West had led the diamond 9, East would have played differently, and would have beaten the contract positively.

What is the correct defense by East and West against South's contract of 3-Spades on this deal?

Have No Escapes In Prison Camps Of Insect Horde

BELLEVILLE, Ont., March 3.—(CP)—Ten to 20 per cent of all crops, often more, grow for insects. The annual feed bill for the tiny pests runs into millions in Canada alone.

To reduce this bill, a score of men and women labor at the Dominion Parasite Laboratory here, conducting their studies and expermients in rooms where the temperature does not vary a degree with the assistance of an elaborate air conditioning system and windows with three panes of glass.

Dr. A. B. Baird, entomoligist in charge, states that the objective of the laboratory is to control insect pests by the most effective and economical method—by turning loose on them enemies which will maintain the balance of nature.

In buildings as spotless as any hospital—insects can be killed in their millions by an epidemic in a laboratory—the work of propagation and selection of parasites goes forward behind massive doors through which the smallest insect cannot find his way. When the parasites have to be moved, a vacuum system is used and each tiny fly is sucked gently into a screened cage.

"Sometimes, of course, one will get away" said Dr. Baird. "You will notice the lights in the hallways go out when doors are opened. This is to discourage insects flying out of the room the moment a door is ajar attracted by the light. When the doors are shut, the light is always on, because if one insect does get out we know he will head for the light and there will be found.

Take None Home

"In the hallways are mirrors where members of the staff may examine themselves after leaving a room where they have been working and see if any insects have clung to their clothing," Dr. Baird continued.

"There are dressing rooms with three compartments through which members of the staff pass when coming to work of leaving.

Clothing used when working with insects is left in the inner compartment for disinfecting, then comes the shower and street clothes are put on in the third compartment. Thus the possibility of harmful insects getting away to cause trouble in any part of the building is almost eliminated."

A telephone system connects every room so that a person engaged in an experiment can be consulted without work being dislocated. Each door has a small shutter and tiny glass window through which insects inside can be observed.

Skilled Collectors

"Our work has become completely scientific," declared Dr. Baird. "The boys who collect insects in matchboxes can do little to help us—and it seems as if they are fewer in number than they used to be.

"Yet collectors are essential—skilled collectors who trace to their original homes in Europe and elsewhere many of the pests which have run wild in Canada. These collectors find the pests in older lands, and, having found them, are able to establish the parasites which hold them in control.

"Sometimes the search is long and difficult. But once the enemies of the pests are found and sent to Canada we can go to work, to find the best for our purpose and put them in the service of the nation."

Harnesses The Sun's Power

A beginning towards the dream of scientists—the harnessing of the sun's power for light, heat and power—has been made with the invention by O. H. Mohr, of Oakland, Calif., of a device that utilizes the sun's rays to provide sufficient electric power to light three electric lamps. The TOP picture shows you the apparatus, which consists of a lead-free glass bulb, enclosing a cluster of wires, thermo-couplings, etc. Heating and cooling of the innards of this gadget generate 1:12 watts to light the tiny lamps, shown in BOTTOM photo. Tunnel Tests Safety First Of Airplanes

By JAMES McCOOK
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

OTTAWA, March 3 (CP)—Scientists, operating model airplanes in man-made gales, are playing their part these days in the national war effort.

Experiments with these models in the wind tunnel of the National Research Council save thousands of dollars annually and provide information which prevents accidents and helps protect human life, J. H. Parkin, director of the division of mechanical engineering, told The Canadian Press.

Model planes held at the desired angle of attack in 160 miles-an-hour winds are exact miniatures of machines to be flown in Canada. From the models' performance, National Research engineers can ascertain how the full-size planes will behave.

Civil and military aircraft brought to Canada from the United Kingdom and United States sometimes require alterations to suit them for operations here. One way is to make the changes on a machine and test it in flight. If the changes seriously affect performance of the machine the experiment will be costly and possibly dangerous. The alternative is to have a model made in scale and placed under test by the National Research Council.

Turned upside down to facilitate measuring forces on the wings and fins, the model is set in the centre of the wind tunnel through which a 13-foot, four-bladed propellor drives air at a speed comparable to that passing along the wings of an airplane in flight.

Checks Rate of Climb

Above the wind-tunnel, balances record forces on the model transmitted through the rods which hold it in place. Effect of aero-dynamic changes on top speed, rate of climb and stalling speed is established with scientific precision. The effectiveness of flaps in lowering landing speed can be ascertained by the delicate instruments which measure some forces to 1-1000th of a pound.

If the alterations will make the machine dangerous or reduce its performance, the model tells the story. If some revision of original plans will mean an improvement, that also can be discovered from the model in the wind-tunnel.

Mr. Parkin explained that much work before the war was with commercial aircraft being studied with to improving their performance. Sometimes the council received a model of a machine being planned and examination of its performance resulted in radical changes in the design finally used.

The wind-tunnel was employed to establish the best position for carrying a canoe attached to a plane. Tests brought a radical change in the appearance of aircraft skis, which at first resembled those used by skiers only wider and stronger. They had about three times the wind resistance of wheels on planes. The roundish' highly streamlined skis developed in the wind-tunnel have less than wheel resistance.

Mr. Parkin pointed to a model of a bombing plane which had never been tried on floats although as a land ship it had proved itself. "We tested the model on floats, established what would be the best type and size to use, and were able to give detailed information on its performance as a seaplane."

Fraserville YPS Takes Host Role

FRASERVILLE, March 3—(ENS). An event of interest took place in the hall on Thursday night when the young people of Bailieboro were guests of the Fraserville Y.P.U. Jean Holden spoke a few words of welcome to the visiting society and the following program was enjoyed: Poem, 'So Little,' by Bruce Cunningham; Elinor Pue, poem; solo, 'Heartaches,' Dorothy Moffatt; Mrs. W. Waterman gave a very interesting topic on the Light of the Torch; Frank Klassin g ave a poem, "The Glow Worm.'

The worship service in connection with the presenting of the torch took place. The president gave a message and called the vice-president, Eileen Tompson, of the Bailieboro society, to receive the torch, to which she made a fitting reply.

Mrs. Ouelette gave a poem, 'The Call to Youth,' and Ed Hogg gave 'A Carefree Boy.' Community singing was enjoyed for a short time. Jean Holden gave a humorous reading, 'A Cheerful Little Earful.' Rev. Rowland led the young people in an hour of merry amusements.

Lunch was served and Mr. Harland Seens of Bailieboro, moved a vote of thanks to the Fraserville society for their hospitality.

Norwood's IODE Reviews Splendid Year

NORWOOD, March 3—(ENS). — The monthly business meeting of the 40th Northumberland Chapter of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire was held at the home of Mrs. Basil Tucker on Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Tucker the Regent being in the chair.

Several interesting letters read from the local boys from overseas. The letters of thanks for gifts sent at Christmas are still coming in, and the woollen articles of all kinds seem to be so much appreciated, as good knitted articles are becoming quite scarce in England. In view of this it was decided to send the boys another parcel very soon with socks and other small articles hard to procure over there. A report of a very successful bingo party held during the month was given, $44.65 being the proceed. It was moved by Mrs. Geo. Wright, seconded and passed that $20 of this be sent to the British War Victims' Fund, together with the $20 so generously donated by Col. R. E. Birdsall and $10 to the Soldiers Recreational centre in Nova Scotia, and the balance in our own war fund.

The proceeds of the tea during the month for war purposes was also gratifying and a number of money donations from members and friends for the same purpose were gratefully acknowledged.

Annual Reports

This being the annual meeting the reports from the various departments were given. The secretary reported 15 regular and executive meetings were held during the year with an increase membership of six. Contributions were made to the Salvation Army War Funds, Bomber Fund, Navy League, St. Helena School, Fund for British Women in Canada, Lucy Morrison Memorial Fund. Ditty bags were packed before Christmas and sent to the Navy, while every soldier and airman from Norwood and vicinity has received some knitted articles, particularly the boys overseas, these boys have also received treats and cigarettes. A Salvage campaign was started and is making excellent progress, a buyer has been procured for what is already in storage, and it is hoped that collections will be made every two weeks when weather is a little better and spring cleaning begins. Householders are urged to save almost everything except tin cans and galvanized articles for this project.

Miss Rachel Young of the Children's Aid was the speaker at the last annual meeting.

The treasurer's report showed that during the year the sum of $689.15 had been raised for war purposes with disbursements $665.06 leaving a balance of $24.09. The regular fund recepits were 87.24, expenditures $84.85, balance $2.39.

826 Articles Knitted

The knitting committee reported that during the year 826 articles had been knitted. These were classified as follows:

Mailed to headquarters and Navy League—141 pairs socks, 48 scarves, 26 helmets, 52 pairs mitts, 153 wristlets. Mailed overseas and to our local boys—160 pairs socks, 11 scarves, 71 sweaters, 22 helmets, 24 pairs mitts. On hand—64 pairs of socks, 6 scarves, 14 sweaters, 19 pairs mitts, 2 helmets. Total value of the knitting, $645.

The Sewing Committee reported 4 leather seamen's jackets made, and several cartons of clothing of various kinds sent for British War Victims to headquarters, the last of which contained 7 more quilts and a knitted afghan from the Willing Workers.

The educational secretary reported that $10 had been spent in the Public School for books which were approved by the Board, 13 copies of Canada Within the Empire purchased, and 11 copies of "Our Creed." These were distributed in the rooms of our own schools and also to rural schools in the immediate vicinity.

It was decided to obtain 12 more ditty bags from the Navy League and fill them.

A dainty lunch was served.

More Quilts Sent

The Norwood Red Cross made another large shipment of goods to headquarters on Thursday.

In this were included 21 quilts, slacks, jackets, pullovers, blouses and pyjamas all for refugee and British war victims.

Contributions continue to come in all the time and as the consignments are ready, so they are shipped on.

Y.P. Social Eve

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Stevens opened at their home last week for the social evening sponsored by the young people of the Baptist church for the British War Victims Fund, and a nice number of people from Norwood and vicinity enjoyed a very pleasant evening.

The time was spent in the playing of games and contests, the feature of the evening being the radio quiz contest led by Mrs. Walter Hubble and Mrs. Jack Hyslop. This was followed by a jolly singsong.

At the conclusion lunch was served by the young people and a hearty vote extended to Mr. and Mrs. Stevens for the use of their home.

St. Andrew's Y.P.S.

Members of St. Andrew's Young People met last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. McNaughton. The vice-president, Arden McNaughton, in the chair.

Scripture lesson was read by Rev. D. K. Perrie followed by prayer. The program consisted of contests and games under the direction of Rev. Mr. Perrie and were greatly enjoyed by all.

At the close of the meeting lunch was served by the hostess, who received a hearty vote of thanks for the hospitality extended.

Christ Church W. A.

The regular meeting of Christ church Women's Auxiliary met in the parish room on Feb. 21 with a good number present of members and visitors, Mrs. Lemon, president, in the chair.

The afternoon was spent in patching a quilt, and a chapter of the Study Book entitled "The conflict, China, Japan and Christ" was read and much enoyed. Lunch was served and a social titme spent.

HAVELOCK

'Day Of Prayers' Well Attended

HAVELOCK, March 3—(ENS).—About seventy-five ladies attended "The World's Day of Prayer," held in the Anglican Church on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Joseph Holdcroft, president of the Women's Auxiliary of the Anglican Church, Mrs. A. McLauchlin, president of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church, and Mrs. A. S. Thomson, president of the Women's Society of the Presbyterian Church, presided.

A special order of service was used and the theme, "Thy Kingdom Come," was splendidly explained by Mrs. McFarlane of the Faith Mission, stressing her thoughts, from Hebrews, eleventh chapter and the fifteenth verse, "the call to Abraham."

Mrs. William Martin, read the Bible reading, Psalm 46, and during the afternoon Mrs. D. J. Holdcroft sang "O Saviour Who Died Our Salvation To Win," accompanied by Mrs. Lawrence Sanderson. Others taking part in the prayer day service were: Mrs. Spencer, Mrs. Gohean, Miss Staggord, Mrs. Poste, Mrs. Chiles, Mrs. McKay and Mrs. Price.

The February meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Knox Presbyterian Church was held at the home of Mrs. Colquohoun, with the president, Mrs. A. S. Thompson, presiding. The topic on "Medical Work In India," was taken by Mrs. William Martin, and the Bible reading, by Mrs. Kinnaird. Refreshments were served by the hostess and a social half hour was spent by the ladies.

Miss Betty Mathison, nurse-in-training at Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Mathison of town, was operated on last week following an acute case of appendicitis. Her many friends wish her a speedy recovery.

Mr. Melville Wight of Trent River has been given the contract to put in the ice supply for the Havelock Creamery this year.

Mr. Rae Williams is in Peterborough this week auditing the treasurer's books of the County of Peterborough.

Mr. Jack McLaughlin of the Bank of Toronto staff, has been transferred to Gananoque, and leaves Saturday for that town.

Mr. Alex Smith has returned home from the Belleville hospital where she underwent a serious eye operation.

Miss Ruby McIntyre, a member of the Havelock-Belmont Red Cross Society deserves special mention having knit nineteen pairs of socks, six sweaters, five helmets, two pairs of gloves, one pair of rifle mitts, six pairs of wristlets, besides contributing two quilt tops.

Mrs. Hunter Hostess To Lakevale Aid

FOWLER'S CORNERS, Mar. 3—(ENS). — Mrs. J. Hunter entertained the members of the Lakevale Ladies' Aid Society for their regular meeting and during the afternoon a quilt was quilted.

Mrs. R. McAdam, president, was in charge of the meeting when the Scripture was read by Mrs. M. Moncrieff, who also gave a commentary of the same. The roll call was answered with a verse of Scripture.

The holiday calendars were distributed. The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Ken Nurse, when the Scripture and commentary will be given by Mrs. G. Tully.

At the conclusion of the meeting the National Anthem was sung and a contest was conducted by the hostess, followed by a pot-luck supper.

AIR MESSAGE FROM HITLER SENDS TURKS INTO HUDDLE

Italians Shell Greek Villages

Hot Barrage Fails To Cut Supply Lines

Civilians Bear Brunt But Stick To Mountain Hamlets

WITH THE GREEK ARMY ON THE CENTRAL ALBANIAN FRONT, March 4—AP). — Italian guns, arching their fire seven miles across rugged mountain slopes, produced another night of death and terror in Albanian villages in this central battle zone.

Four persons were killed and five children badly wounded when shells struck native stone huts next door to the field quarters of this correspondent, high above Drinos Gorge in the Tepeleni sector.

This tiny settlement, bombarded three times by the Italians since the struggle for control of the Tepeleni keypoint began three months ago, again suffered a furious pounding as the Italians tried unsuccessfully to cut the Greek supply route to the front.

The villagers still cling tenaciously to their rock patches of land and herd their sheep and goats, despite the war raging around them.

Whole Family Killed

One shell hit squarely in the tiny living roof of one hut, and killed a family huddled around the fireplace. Weeping elders in neighboring homes carried out maimed children.

Despite repeated shellings, there has been no real effort to remove residents of these mountain villages.

War casualties include a score of shepherds struck down by stray bullets while they watched their flocks on the highland pastures.

Peterborough Boys Arrive In England

Among the thousands of troops from Canada who arrived in England over the week-end were Peterborough boys. The contingent was the heaviest guarded convoy to cross the Atlantic, and ABOVE are shown four airmen who have landed safely. They are (LEFT to RIGHT), Sergt. M. P. F. Robson and R. M. Croine of Toronto and J. E. Allen and W. J. Grady of Peterborough. J. E. Allen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Allen of Blackwater Junction, and W. J. Grady is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Grady, North Monaghan. The four sergeants are wireless operators air gunners. The role each play is an important one. He is not only the wireless operator, the link between the aircraft and its home base but his machine guns constitute the chief protection for the aircraft. These boys have spent four weeks in a Manning Depot, eighteen weeks at a wireless school and four weeks at a bombing and gunnery school perfecting their aerial marksmanship. They were then marshalled at Ottawa before being sent overseas.

50 U.K. Firms To Shut, Make Arms

Drastic British Move Frees Million For Vital War Jobs

LONDON, March 4—(CP).—The Government decided today to shut down or consolidate more than 50 civilian industries employing 1,000,000 workers and to shift all available manpower and materials to arms manufacture.

The program was announced to the House of Commons by Oliver Lyttleton, President of the Board of Trade.

The first industries to be affected will be hosiery, pottery, textiles and leather.

Capt. Lyttleton explained that the Government through its absolute control of raw materials would force the factories concerned to close down or to consolidate.

It was estimated the number of firms to be affected will range between 50 and 90.

Leaders of industries to be shut down or telescoped are being called in by the Government for drafting details of the plan. They are expected to make consolidation arrangements among themselves, with the Government helping to stand the business loss by the firms to be absorbed.

No Extra power needed

Capt. Lyttleton explained that no legislation is required because the Government already controls the flow of raw materials and labor. It also has power under the Defence Acts to conscript manufacturing plants.

He mentioned "hosiery, pottery, major textile industries, boots, shoes and some others" as the first to be hit because "they provide the main source of factory-trained labor for munitions."

He said the Government had ruled out part-time work in these industries because it is not economical, and declared:—

"The policy of the Government must therefore be to concentrate upon production in a reduced number of factories working full time."

Under the plan one firm in many cases will be expected to do the work of three others, preserving all trademarks. The Board of Trade is to keep records of all closed factories and "do everything possible to see they retain their good will and restart in good condition" after the war.

Break With Bulgaria

Sofia, Bulgaria, March 4 (AP) BRITISH Minister George Rendel informed the United States Minister, George Earle, today that Great Britain will break off relations with Bulgaria tomorrow.

As German reports run through the capital that Royal Air Force was photographing the country apparently in preparation for bombing, more than 100 fighter planes of German origin but bearing Bulgarian markings were lined up at a new emergency airport here.

Great military activity went on in Sofia. Nazi bombers and fighters and transport planes roared across the city toward the Greek and Turkish frontiers near which the Nazis have taken over the military airports. Bulgarian troops were on the march.

Roads were jammed with mud-splattered Nazi military vehicles, and staff officers were arrived.

Two Boys Plead Guilty To Robbing Store

Norman Cross, 20, of Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, and Harry Roberts, 18, Toronto, pleaded guilty in police court this morning to breaking and entering the store of Ed. Riley, George Street, early on Sunday morning, and stealing $1,000 worth of clothing and accessories.

The two youths also entered a plea of guilty to a joint charge of stealing an automobile belonging to Stewart Hallatt, Toronto, the case being tried here at the request of the Toronto authorities.

Cross and Roberts were arrested by Toronto police Sunday night after Jack Finnie, local taxi driver, had reported seeing a suspicious car on Hunter Street, and turned over the number to the police, and after Sergt. W. E. Wigg had communicated the information to the Toronto police department.

Stolen Goods Recovered.

Ed. Riley was in Toronto Monday with Detective-Sergt. W. E. Meagher and Constable Archie Menzies of the local police department, the latter bringing the two prisoners back to Peterborough. The bulk of the stolen goods was recovered in Toronto, although three suits, several overcoats, eighteen shirts and eight hats have not yet been located.

"I'll require some evidence," said Magistrate Langley this morning, after the two had entered plea of guilty.

Crown Attorney McElderry, K.C., suggested that the prisoners should be remanded for a week. "We will have the evidence and the records then," he stated.

Magistrate Langley, accordingly, rmanded the prisoners until Tuesday of next week. They will likely have to face a third charge of stealing an automobile belonging to W. J. Challis, Bowmanville.

Reds Bolster Rumanian Front After Rebuke To Bulgaria Sends Germans Pouring East

Rumania Arming Fast, Reds Black Out Two Biggest Ports

SOFIA, Bulgaria, March 4—(AP)—Soviet Russian forces in Bessarabia, across the Prut River from Nazi-occupied Rumania, are being reinforced, according to dispatches today from Bucharest.

These reports followed upon publication of a Russian note to Bulgaria declaring that entry of German troops into Bulgaria would serve for "extension of the war" and not for "consolidation of peace."

They came as Rumania's mobilization was accelerated under the direction of German staff officers.

Diplomatic dispatches from Bucharest said the Rumanian mobilization, which began late in January, was expected to bring 1,000,000 men under arms by March 15.

Most of the reservists being called up, they said, are sent to Russia border regions. Russia, the reports declared, again has ordered Odessa, her big Black Sea port, and Chisinau and Cernauti, in Bessarabia, blacked out, and has sent additional motorized units to the frontier from Kiev.

More Huns Move East.

At the same time, German troops poured from Rumania into Bulgaria and heavy Nazi troop movements were said to have started again from Germany across Hungary into Rumania.

These reinforcements, diplomatic sources said, apparently are to replace troops being moved from permanent bases in Rumania toward the Greek and Turkish frontiers of Bulgaria.

Hun Trip To Turkey Said To Assure Her Against Attack

ANKARA, Turkey, March 4.—(AP)—The Turkish cabinet met today to consider a message from Hitler to President Ismet Inonu.

The message was delivered by airplane courier.

The German mission, accompanied by Franz von Papen, German ambassador to Turkey, met President Inonu and Sukru Saracoglu, Turkish foreign minister, at noon and remained half an hour with them.

Neither Germans nor Turks would discuss the meeting.

Speculation about the message ranged from belief it gave "assurances" that Germany does not intend to attack Turkey to belief it contained promises if Turkey would stay out of the war.

The Nazi mission, numbering five men, landed at Ankara this morning after having been given special permission by the Turkish Government to fly over Turkey. It was understood to have come directly from Berlin.

Von Papen and his staff were at the airport. There were no Turkish officials present.

BERLIN, March 4.— (AP)— A D.N.B. German news agency, dispatch from Istanbul today quoted the Ankara radio as announcing that German ambassador Franz von Papen had given President Ismet Inonu "message of friendship from the Fuehrer."

The radio, D.N.B. claimed, added that Inonu received the message "with great joy" and asked von Papen to express his thanks to Hitler for sending it.

Wounded Back

Vichy, France, March 4 (AP)

THE newspaper Le Petit Journal said today 500 wounded French prisoners of war were expected to arrive at Clermont-Ferrand from Germany tomorrow.

Other reports said Germans recently have been stopping trains from Geneva at Bellegarde, in German-occupied France between Switzerland and unoccupied France, and examining passengers. One passenger was said to have been arrested.

Armistice Talk

Berne, Switzerland, March 4.

A SWISS telegraphic agency dispatch from Belgrade, Yugoslavia, today reported "increasing preliminary conversations are underway for an armistice between Greece and Italy."

(Nothing tending to substantiate this report has appeared from other sources.)

In Berlin Germany's attitude toward Greece was described today as becoming more frigid.

"No man can serve two masters," said a Nazi spokesman commenting on the Balkan situation.

Canadian Soldiers Well Guarded Crossing Atlantic

By LOUIS HUNTER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, March 4 (CP Cable)—It was disclosed today that units of the Royal Canadian Navy were included in the escort which brought the latest contingent of Canadian forces safely to Britain this weekend. Besides the Canadian warships, the escort included British ships, units of Allied navies, and former United States destroyers.

Several great liners, each estimated to be carrying between 1,500 and 2,000 men, crossed the dangerous ocean with one of the strongest naval escorts yet provided a convoy, such was its importance.

The entire operation was carried out with remarkable split second precision in accordance with a prearranged plan. Snow, ice and wind were not allowed to interfere. More than once snow and ice had to be cleared from decks and guns.

The escort sailed from a British base one night after dark to meet the convoy in mid-Atlantic and escort it to Britain. The rendezvous was a tiny pencilled dot on a chart representing a vast expanse of ocean.

At almost the minute arranged the convoy was sighted. The voyage back was uneventful except for occasional excitement when warships were detached from the escort and raced towards unknown ships to check their identity.

Before the warships parted from the liners the senior officer in charge of the convoy sent a message welcoming the troops to British waters and wishing them "every success in the enterprises they have come over here to share with us."

It was the first time that publication of such details had been allowed. The Evening Standard printed the story on its front page in large type under the headline: "More Legion From Canada."

The paper said it was "one of the strongest escorts ever to bring a convoy of troopships across the Atlantic."

The Evening News in a five-column streamer inside said "Another Big Canadian Army Arrives." The Star headline read: "Navy Goes to Meet Canadians — Vast Convoy Safe."

Crews Look Back On 9 Months Of Hot Action In Many Waters

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, Mar. 4 — (CP).— Canadian ships of war were home from the fight to-day.

Bearing light scars of battle but in keen fighting trim, they rode jauntily at their moorings as their crews looked back at nine months in strange waters that saw encounters with air and undersea enemies, rescues and narrow escapes, and plenty of workaday toil.

When the Royal Canadian Navy units rode into the friendly shelter of this port yesterday, it was their first taste of Canadian water since May of last year. Between then and now, they had been working with the Royal Navy around Britain, helping with her convoys and doing their bit to help her retain command of the seas.

The ships—their identities and numbers must remain undisclosed—met and fought submarines often. They fought air attackers. One of them was under the hot fire of shore batteries during the evacuation from France.

One of them picked up more than 800 survivors of a liner torpedoed on the Atlantic, landing them on the other side. They picked up the crews of many others, including 12 men who had sailed 750 miles in an open boat.

There were times, as one sailor put it, when shells were dropping so closely to one of the ships "you could touch the spots with a six-foot pole." That was when they were bringing French Poilus off from St. Valerie under the guns of the advancing German artillery.

But shrapnel pocks along their sides are the only discernible marks the ships bear for their months of conflict. And their crews are intact, except for one man lost overboard in heavy weather.

While the clashes with subs and aircraft were many, the officers laid no claim to the destruction of any Axis units. With the customary reticence of the "silent service,"

Hungary Feels the Hun Pinch

Food Curb Slows Down Budapest, Europe's Last Gay Capital

By EDWIN SHANKE
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

NEW YORK, March 4.—(AP). — Hungarians are bluer than the Blue Danube.

The pinch of war is making itself felt. The pace of life in Budapest, the last gay capital of Europe, is slowing down to war tempo.

Rationing, rising prices, wartime curtailments in almost every phase of life, the spectre of war itself—all have become real to a people fond of rich food, good wine and carefree living. Nazi penetration into the Balkans is putting its stamp on domestic policies.

Prices officially went up 14.5 per cent in 1940 compared with the previous year. Actually, however, cost of living sky-rocketed. Bootlegging of foodstuffs which are scarce, such as coffee, tea, sugar, flour, potatoes and fats, is especially responsible.

This trend in a rich agricultural land where before the war food was cheap and plentiful is due to German purchases of increasingly greater supplies of foodstuffs. Hungarians know they are tightening their belts to help keep the German war machine rolling.

In the province, rationing of certain staples is in effect inability of some stores to supply customers even though they possessed rationing tickets and waited in long queues has led to demonstrations and window smashing in some centres.

Control of food in restaurants is strict. The large portions of better days have disappeared. Shortages of beef and pork have obliged authorities to introduce three "meatless" days and one "single plate" day in restaurants in order to stretch the supply. But fowl is still abundant, and menus even on meatless days are much more attractive than in Germany.

Anti-Waste Experts Fail To Find Use For Dregs

Fred Rutt, 19, joined a rescue party exploring a bomb-shattered building. He heard a whimper. "It's a baby," he cried. Everyone began digging. Finally a mongrel dog was uncovered in the wreckage. It shook itself, looked around, and then ambled off.

Coffee grounds have the anti-waste experts at Ipswich baffled. "We mix tea leaves with coke — they make the coke burn longer," said an expert. "Orange and lemon skins, dried, can be used for lighting fires. But coffee dregs — they seem absolutely useless."

Forty Capital Ships On Tap

Japs Worth Watching—U.S. Building Monsters

LONDON, March 4. — (CP) — Evidencing the great powers' mighty naval expansion, the 1941 edition of Jane's Fighting Ships estimates no fewer than 40 capital ships are under construction, or on order, throughout the world.

It points out that paucity of official information makes estimates of the Imperial Japanese navy more difficult each year, but says Japan appeared to have launched at least three battleships of more than 40,000 tons each and an equal number of pocket battleships in 1939-40.

Pension Law Review Step Nearer

18,109 Men Discharged From The Army Over 10,000 Unfit

OTTAWA, March 4.—(CP)—Arrangements for a parliamentary review of Canada's military pensions laws in the light of needs of the men serving in the armed forces in the present war are a step further advanced today.

Yesterday Pensions Minister Mackenzie introduced amendments to the Pension Act which will be referred to a special committee composed of members who saw service in the First Great War and the House heard a number of suggestions from members about treatment of men discharged from the forces.

The amendments in the main are designed to give statutory sanction to orders-in-council passed in recent months which make the present Pension Act applicable to men serving in the new forces. That act is the product of several studies by committees of ex-service members of parliament—such as the one which will function this session—at various times since the end of the First Great War.

Among more important features of the amendments is provision for more liberal treatment of veterans suffering from tuberculosis, either incurred in or aggravated by war service.

Isles Theatre Of War

Significant of the change in the area of operations is a provision declaring the British Isles "a theatre of actual war." In the present Act, based on 1914-18 conditions, the swept along the German-held coast, hitting docks and quays at Brest, Ostend and Boulogne and bombing Nazi airdromes in occupied France.

A communique by the Air Ministry said "a strong force of aircraft of the bomber command" participated in the attack on Cologne, and added:

"Unfavorable weather, with thick and low-flying clouds, made both navigation and observation of results difficult, but the target was heavily bombed and a large number of fires was seen to be started, especially on the west bank of the Rhine."

Attacks on a "smaller scale" were made in the industrial Ruhr valley.

they would go no further than to admit the possibility of some success with both submarines and aircraft.

The Canadians, since last summer, had been operating as part of a Canadian group within the Royal Navy. Their duties combined fleet work and convoy escort, and they were based "all over England."

Submarines gave them their busiest time in September, October and November of last year. "That has eased off now," crewmen said.

The officers of the ships expressed confidence, too, that the submarine menace "is being overcome" and "before long it will cease to be a major factor."

Great Fire Raid Burns Trail Across Cardiff

CARDIFF, Wales, Mar. 4—(AP).—This important south-west port was raked for hours last night by a hail of incendiary bombs in what officials described as one of the greatest fire raids of the war.

Great fires were raging at the height of the attack, but all were under control this morning. Smoking ruins marked a trail of destruction across the city.

The number of casualties could not be determined immediately.

Anti-aircraft guns threw up a heavy barrage, and one raider was believed hit.

Nazi night raiders also attacked scattered areas elsewhere in Britain, including London, the north-east coast and south-east Scotland, but the Government declared these assaults were not on a large scale, and damage was not extensive.

"Total casualties during the night should not prove heavy," a communique said.

Several Cardiff business buildings were burned out, and damage to the residential district was considerable, but the Government said all

Hun Trip To Turkey

The source said the break would "not necessarily be followed by a declaration of war," but added that it has always been British policy "to seek out and hit the Germans" wherever possible.

A high neutral diplomatic source in Sofia said he had been informed today by British Minister George Rendel that he had decided to sever British relations with Bulgaria within the next 36 hours.

Mr. Rendel, this source said, told him he would leave for Istanbul, Turkey, with his mission by the coming week-end, and that early today he had received instructions from London granting him full freedom of action.

It was on these instructions, Mr. Rendel told the other diplomat, that his decision was based, adding that the difficulty of communicating with London was responsible for the delay in several relations.

German quarters circulated a report that Royal Air Force planes already had been sighted flying high over Bulgaria, photographing communications and other vital centres. The Nazi report lacked confirmation from independent sources.

Eden Is Given Free Hand In The Balkans

LONDON, March 4 (CP)—British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, Gen. Sir John G. Dill, chief of the imperial general staff, and the Athens government were reported today working out a plan to speed substantial aid to Greece, if she were attacked by Germany.

Informed sources indicated that Mr. Eden, who last week completed talks with Turkish officials at Ankara, had been given virtually a free hand in the Balkans and Middle East.

Commenting on the situation, the Times declared that should Germany attack Greece, British support on the ground, as well as in the air, would be indispensable, and that this support would be given "to the fullest possible extent."

The next German move in the Balkans "may not be far off," the newspaper suggested.

Official sources refrained from comment on Russia's advising the Sofia government that she disagreed with Bulgaria's policy in admitting German troops. Russia said the action "does not lead to consolidation of peace, but to extension of the sphere of war...."

The Russian Stand

The Press Association, however, warned Britons not to attach undue significance to the Russian statement, characterizing it as "a mere formal protest."

Those in close touch with the Balkan situation have yet to be convinced that it presages any action on the part of the U.S.S.R.," said ing for withdrawal of Japanese troops immediately from the four Central China provinces of Hunan, Kiangsi, Hupeh and Anwei, permitting Chiang to return to his former seat of government at Nanking.

After that, according to these informants, Japan gradually would withdraw her forces from all China south of the Yellow River—except at Shanghai, where a garrison of approximately 8,000 troops would be maintained either in the city or on the Chusan Island.

As soon thereafter as a plan of Chinese-Japanese political and economic co-operation could be put into practice, the Japanese also would leave the northern provinces, the Chinese sources said.

They declared Japan's purpose in the reported offer was to permit withdrawal of forces tied up in the China campaign so that Japan could concentrate all her energies upon expansion to the south.

Forty Capital Ships

reports suggested that German capital ships under construction might include two 40,000-ton vessels to be called the Friederich Der Grosse and the Hindenburg.

It asserts that reports the 35,000-ton battleships Bismarck and Tirpitz were in full commission must be treated with caution.

(The Bismarck was launched Jan. 14, 1939, and the Tirpitz, April 1, 1939. A Berlin dispatch of Nov. 20, 1940, said neutral observers in the German capital believed both might have been commissioned last June.)

A special "war loss" section, included for the first time since 1919, is prefaced by four aerial photographs of damage to Italian fleet units caused by the British raid on Taranto Nov. 11.

(The British Fleet damaged three capital ships and three smaller warships in that raid. Mussolini claimed Feb. 23 two of the three big ships damaged "are already nearly completely healed.")

Britain's loss in big ships is given as comparatively light, but the manual says more than 100 vessels were lost in such hazardous operations as minesweeping and the Dunkirk withdrawal.

When Jane's lists were compiled Britain had lost 36 destroyers and 23 submarines.

Excluding the damage at Taranto Italy lost a cruiser, seven destroyers and at least 11 submarines, the handbook adds.

It says Germany's fleet was reduced by the loss of the pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee, four cruisers and 13 destroyers, and that it was thought few of the 70 submarines Germany had at the beginning of the war still were in service.

How many submarines the Germans laid down was impossible to guess, it says, expressing belief that a figure of 300 was by no means unreasonable

Aside from Japan's new pocket battleships, all the world's new capital ship construction is of vessels of at least 35,000 tons displacement, and there are 20 or more of 40,000 tons or more, including four British ships of the Lion class. The first two of the latter class are to be completed in 1943.

Altogether, Jane's says, the United States has 17 battleships building or on order. It suggests that some of these may have the great displacement of 52,000 tons

The handbook says Japan was believed to have launched several cruisers, and that destroyers, submarines and light minelayers were being accumulated steadily.

The War Today

By J. F. SANDERSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

A Russian protest to Bulgaria over the admission of German troops appeared today as a step which might possibly strengthen Turkey's hand should Greece be attacked from Bulgaria

The Russian note, handed to King Boris by the Russian Minister at Sofia, declared the Russian government could not share the opinion of the Bulgarian government that the presence within its borders of German troops would preserve peace in the Balkans.

The note added that Russia could not support Bulgaria in its present policy

Some British quarters suggested the note was designed merely to excuse Russia for its failure to help Bulgaria when Germany started the threatening campaign which resulted in Bulgaria's yielding the right of passage from the Rumanian to the Greek frontier.

The note, however, could be interpreted as removing Turkish doubts concerning Russia's attitude should Turkey become involved actively in the defence of Greece. In other words, it could be interpreted as meaning Russia would remain on the sidelines rather than attack Turkey after she had become involved.

In this connection it was recalled also that the agreement reached between Britain and Turkey for closure of the Dardanelles followed a flying visit of Sir Stafford Cripps, British ambassador in Moscow, to Ankara, the Turkish capital, during the stay of Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Sir John Dill, chief of the imperial general staff.

Mr. Eden and Sir John now are in Athens and are believed to be drawing up a plan whereby Britain would rush extensive additional help to the Greeks should German troops attack from their new vantage points in Bulgaria.

Turkey did not merely declare the Dardanelles closed, but mined the entrances and sent naval vessels to see that the closure was airtight. Only by permission and with Turkish pilots aboard will ships be allowed through the waterway between the Mediterranean and the Black Sea and there was no mention of the nations to whom such permission would be granted.

The Russian attitude, it was believed also, might well weaken any campaign of threats Germany may start in an effort to bring about the capitulation of Greece. It is believed in some quarters that Germany first will seek to intimidate the Greeks into surrender and will fight only after this plan fails. Judging from the tumultuous welcome accorded Mr. Eden and Sir John in Athens the Greek populace is in no temper for surrender.

The immediate effect of the German-Bulgarian move was that Greece and Turkey rushed troops to their Bulgarian borders and hastened to strengthen defences there. Yugoslavia, on the other hand, showed considerable inclination to follow the example of Bulgaria.

Obituary

MRS. ROBERT DAVID HARPER.

The death occurred on Monday of Mrs. Robert David Harper, the former Margaret Marie Burke, of 164 Charlotte Street, after a lengthy illness.

Born in County Fermanaugh, Ireland, 72 years ago, she had lived in this city for the past 56 years. She resided in Minnesota before coming to Peterborough.

Surviving are her husband, Robert David Harper; two daughters, Mrs. Clarence Wilson of Toronto and Mrs. W. Swisteinikoff, Peterborough, and one son, Roy, of Hamilton.

A member of George Street United Church, Mrs. Harper was a faithful parishioner, and her passing has occasioned great sorrow on the part of a large circle of friends.

The funeral will be on Wednesday at 2.30 p.m., from the Nesbitt Funeral Home, 347 Charlotte Street. Rev. H. L. Roberts of George Street Church will officiate and interment will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

They Get Eight

London, March 4 (CP Cable)

THREE ships unaccounted for from a convoy attacked by a German raider off the Azores Feb. 12 are presumed to have been lost, a high naval authority stated today.

One of them is known to have been torpedoed and sunk 12 days after the convoy was attacked.

The Admiralty previously reported that 10 ships of the convoy of 19 had returned safely to port. Last Friday it was announced that an additional ship had reached port undamaged. Thus eight ships in all from the convoy have been lost.

(The Germans had claimed that 14 ships were sunk in this attack.)

Ontario's House Adjourns, Honors Banting

TORONTO, March 4—(CP).—The Ontario Legislature stood adjourned today to permit the members to attend the funeral of Sir Frederick Banting. Arrangements were underway for the members to attend in a group.

Prior to the one-day adjournment yesterday, prolonged discussion ensued during debate on second reading of a bill to amend the Magistrates' Act. Conservative Leader George Drew criticized Hon. Gordon Conant for "jumping into print" to reprimand court officials and the Attorney-General replied he had "every right and duty" to instruct crown attorneys in particular instances.

The amendment provides for permanency of magistrate in office and stipulated that after two years they cannot be dismissed except for misconduct as determined by a Supreme or County Court Judge or through inability to perform their duties.

Prior to the debate Col. Drew moved a resolution which stated it "was not desirable the Ontario Agricultural College be used for other purposes than that as an agricultural college." At the suggestion of Premier Hepburn, who said he wished to avoid immediate debate, the resolution was presented as a notice of motion and will be debated at a later date.

Burglary Trial Set For June

William Bradd, committed for trial in connection with the C.D.S. and Wonder Bakeries' burglaries, and Thomas Nicholls, committed Monday as having been involved in the C.D.S. break-in appeared before Judge S. L. Smoke in his chambers at noon today and elected trial by judge and jury which means that unless there is a change of mind on the part of the accused they will face trial at the June sittings of the county court, the first week of June.

T. J. Carley, K.C., made application for bail for Bradd. "The circumstances," he said, "are the same as in the other cases dealt with by Your Honor."

Crown Attorney McElderry did not oppose the application and Judge Smoke fixed bail at $5,000.

The same amount was named in the case of Nicholls whose counsel Mannis Frankel, Toronto, was not present at the brief proceedings this morning.

Although bail was fixed in the cases of Louis Gallow and Lawrence Burns on Saturday the two prisoners are still in jail as no bail bond has yet been put up.

Information indicating that Regent Prince Paul of Yugoslavia would go to Germany on Thursday to talk with Hitler strengthened belief in diplomatic quarters that Yugoslavia would enroll in the Axis pact.

Russia's declaration brought no apparent change in the Belgrade stand. Official sources said Yugoslavia, despite her friendship with Russia, was convinced she could get no help from the Soviet Union if she attempted to resist German pressure to enter the Axis.

Official Sofia quarters were silent on the Russian declaration. Neutral diplomatic sources, however, said it could not fail to have an important effect on the hundred thousand Bulgarian peasants and on members of Bulgaria's undercover Communist Party since Bulgaria always has been strongly pro-Russian and has looked to Russia for guidance ever since that country liberated her from Turkish rule 63 years ago.

The expected severance of diplomatic relations between Britain and Bulgaria apparently has been delayed, but British quarters here said they would be broken "at the opportune moment." They intimated that would be at the convenience of Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, Chief of Britain's Middle East Command, when his military preparations are completed.

140,000 Prisoners

Cairo, Egypt, March 4 (AP)

BRITISH headquarters announced today the capture of an additional 1,000 Italian prisoners in Ethiopia on March 1.

The daily communique said "our main advance is progressing."

British forces have occupied Iscia Baidoa and Buloburti in Italian Somaliland, a communique announced today.

The total number of captives in East Africa taken now is approaching 10,000, it said, and large stocks of arms, gasoline, food and other supplies are being discovered.

Approximately 140,000 Italians have now been made prisoners of war in Africa.

HOW TO OVERCOME ITCHING PILES
If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of letting these conditions become chronic. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from McDermid & Jury and Bond's Drug Store or any druggist, a package of Hem-Roid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hem-Roid is highly recommended, is easy to use, and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk a chronic pile condition when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost.—(Advt.)

Peterboro Brass Band Assists At Y.P. Concert

Brisk music by the newly-formed Peterboro Brass Band, directed by Mr. G. Matthews, provided an appropriate setting Monday evening for the military concert held in the Sunday School Hall of George Street Church under the auspices of the Y.P.U. Excellently rendered numbers were heard at the opening and noise of the program and during intermission.

Mr. George Nicholls was chairman of the concert, and led in patriotic songs, with Miss Helen Delahaye at the piano. The hall was gay with flags, bunting, and boughs of evergreen banking windows and platform. Following the program, tea was served at tables arranged in cabaret style and decked with British flags.

The program included a comic skit presented by Eric Mason, Joan Fletcher, Irene Constable, George Bouck, Jack Thompson, and a second brief skit in which Joan Fletcher and Geo. Bouck took part. Readings were given by Barbara Rose, solos by Miss Olga Westbye and Mrs. A. R. Bennett, with Mrs. Lloyd Ash at the piano, and by Mr. Victor Coleman accompanied by Miss Lily Bacon. A quizz contest in charge of Betty O'Brian, Harold Rogeres and Helen Wallman created much interest, and a cornet solo was given by Donald Ford.

TESTED RECIPES

By MARY MOORE

To make this dish you have to either have a stand-in with your butcher or be lucky. Order calves' hearts ahead of time—two fairly good-sized ones will serve six. Wash and remove clotted blood and arteries. Fill cavities with Bread Stuffing highly seasoned with sage and sew and tie securely. Roll in seasoned flour, sear in hot fat until well browned, and place in deep baking dish. Pour 1 cup water into the frying pan in which hearts were seared, bring to boiling point, and pour over the hearts; cover and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 2 hours or until tender. Place hearts on hot platter and strain over them the gravy made from the stock in pan. Fried parsnips are a delicious accompaniment. Gravy is essential.

While you are making these hearts it is a good idea to do four of them for they are so good sliced cold, when served with Worcestershire sauce or hot chili sauce. Corn Pudding is a good accompaniment when they are cold.

Home and School Association News

CENTRAL SCHOOL

Children of Central School took part in a program pertaining to religious education directed by Miss S. Bennett and arranged by Mrs. H. Ballard, religious education convener, at a meeting of the Home and School Association Monday evening in the Kindergarten Room. The part played by the church in the religious education of schools was spoken of by Rev. Dr. E. W. Young of St. Andrew's United Church, and Mr. Hamilton Gosse, director of boys' work at the Y.M.C.A., referred to camping, and religious education in that sphere, remarking on how out-door life draws boys closer to beauty and thus to God.

Mrs. George Leeming, president, opened the meeting by reading the fourth verse of "O Canada" as prayer. A brief business meeting folowed the program, which closed with the National Anthem.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA SCHOOL

Members and friends of Queen Alexandra Home and Schooll Association received a rare treat Monday evening, when Mr. Alex Kay, naturalist and guest speaker, thrilled his audience with a simple talk, giving his physchology of the right way of living as gleaned from his feathered friends, the birds, and all nature in general. Mr. E. R. Frost introduced the speaker.

It was amazing the simile the speaker drew to birds resembling human beings. Seven hundred and sixty-eight types of birds live in Canada during one season or another, Mr. Kay explained. There are 3,000 bird observers throughout the Dominion keeping a daily record as well as a bi-annual one. The fact that the swallows gather in California each year on the 19th day of March to commence their northward flight, and on August 7 for their leave-taking, is astonishing. The swallow is also the fastest bird in flight, moving at a speed of 102 miles an hour.

The valuable lessons in the right way of living as intended by the Maker of all things, and which may be learned through the association of out-of-door folks, were stressed by Mr. Kay, who was earnestly thanked for his excellent address by Mr. D. Crawford.

It was Fathers' Night, and the meeting opened with "O Canada" and the Lord's Prayer. Mrs. C. C. Doughty, president, was in the chair. Reports from standing committes were heard, interspersed with solos by Mr. Adam Hawley and Mr. Jack Smith, accompanied at the piano by Gwen Craw. Mr. E. R. Frost's room won the attendance for mothers and dads, with 21 present.

Mr. Jack Thornton, member of the "Y's Men's Club" asked the aid and co-operation of the parents in the splendid work of the summer boys' camp.

Layettes for British war babies made by the Red Cross units were on display, also another completed afghan.

A pleasant surprise during the evening was the presentation of a beautifully illustrated bird book to Mrs. C. C. Doughty, association president, by Mr. Kay for the use of pupils of the school.

The National Anthem closed the meeting, which was followed by a social hour, with refreshments served by Mrs. A. W. Brown and her committee.

QUEEN MARY SCHOOL

At the Queen Mary Home and School meeting Monday evening, Miss Mary Jory, school nurse, outlined the simple eye-tests given children by which such defects as near and far-sightedness, blurred vision and cross-eyes or squint is detected. In the latter case parents are always advised to consult a doctor as soon as possible, because the defective or squint eye soon becomes of little value through lack of use. Early attention, exercise and glasses in most cases save the weak eye. Forty per cent of children are near-sighted, Miss Jory said.

The Sunshine Club in connection with the Kinsmen Club has been most helpful in the past in aiding those children whose parents are unable to pay for treatment. Miss Jory regretted that more groups do not interest themselves in this very worthy cause of working with children in saving sight.

Because we have such a large percentage of sunless days, schools should be equipped with a little more than just enough artificial light, it was pointed out.

From the chair Mrs. L. H. Ingram announced a paper collection for which she asked the parents' co-operation and also the annual spring tea and open house on March 14, when parents and visitors are privileged to visit the classrooms. It was also made known that the next regular meeting will take place on Fathers' Night, April 7, with the fathers conducting the entire procedure.

Mrs. C. H. Crowe of the Home Education Committee read a paper from which parents might derive benefit in making the child's home one where he is treated as an individual rather than where he is treated as an individual rather than where he is pushed about to serve the convenience of parents too busy to bother.

Mrs. J. G. Wharry reported on the progress of the layette-making, remarking that the work had met with such whole-hearted co-operation that the three layettes, which were almost completed, might only prove a beginning. Comment was also made on the excellent work in knitting squares for shawls which had been done by girls of the senior grades of the school.

Master John Clark, accompanied at the piano by Miss Lily Bacon, entertained with two pleasant vocal solos. Mrs. T. J. Carley's regime of events in the war zone was comprehensive and enlightening. The roll call gave the senior banner to Mr. J. Telford's class, and the junior banner was tied for by Miss Robinson's and Miss I. Madill's class.

An interesting half-hour was spent in viewing screen versions of life in old China, where the East meets West, and the gaiety and color with which Scandinavian emigrants blend the old customs and dress with the new environment of Northern Quebec.

The singing of patriotic songs was led by Mr. Telford, with Mrs. H. V. Dobson at the piano.

Though you think yes, but give me your reasons, please. I want to see if they are strong enough to convince me.

MISS Z. A.

ANSWER—Of course I don't think you justified in committing suicide. First, because self-murder is just as great a sin as murdering any one else. And, secondly, because suicide is cowardice. It isn't playing the game. It is laying down and quitting because luck is going against you. It is running up the white flag of surrender because you are in a tight place in the fight. Instead of committing suicide, if I were you, I would go first to a doctor, because your brand of pessimism is almost invariably the result of ill health. A wit has said that whether life is worth living or not depends altogether on the liver, and when you get yourself straightened out physically you will find that you have ceased to take this jaundiced bilious view of fate.

Reconstruct Your Thoughts

Then I would go to a trust company and buy an annuity with whatever money I had so as to get the largest possible income on my capital. Then I would reconstruct my entire mode of thought. I would quit thinking that I was old at 40. It isn't true, to begin with. A woman of 40 is just in her prime and she is young enough to learn how to do anything she wants to do.

So instead of giving up life I would really start life. I would make up my mind what I wanted to do and I would study and perfect myself in it and get me a job, not only for the money that was in it, but for the sake of having an absorbing occupation and new interests.

Make Friends

So I do not see why you should think of committing suicide when life holds so much for you. And as for killing yourself for the sake of giving two girls a college education, that is simply idiotic. If the girls want a college education, let them go to work and earn it for themselves. Not take it as blood money—the price of a murder.

Happy Marriages Are Plentiful

Dear Miss Dix—are there no happy marriages? Are all husbands unfaithful to their wives, or tightwads, or grouches? Are all wives naggers, extravagant, lazy and thriftless?

ELEANOR

ANSWER—Certainly, there are plenty of happy marriages. It is only the unhappy ones we hear about. We take our good luck in marriage for granted. It is only the bad luck we howl to high heaven over.

If we know one philanderer, we know 50 men who are vamp-proof and who think no other woman in the world is as beautiful, as clever, as fascinating as the homely, commonplace ladies whom they led to the altar. If we know men who are stingy to their wives, we know 10 times as many men who lavish everything they make on their families and who toil through cold Winters and hot Summers in their offices that their Sallys may go to Palm Beach in January and the mountains in July.

If we know some men who are grouchy and grumpy and hard to get along with, we know far more men who are patient and kind and considerate, and bear with meekness the tyrannies of their fives.

If we know some wives who are selfish and extravagant and silly and frivolous, we could point you out hundreds of other who have scrimped and saved and toiled and have been the very foundation stones of their husband's fortunes.

And if now and then a fool woman runs off with an affinity, there are thousands of other women who have stood by their husbands through good and ill repute; who have been faithful when all others turned away; who have gone down into the gutter for the men they love and waited for them outside of prison doors.

So husbands and wives are not always a total loss and we do not always get stung when we get married. Very often we get a lot better than we deserve.

Married Men More Interesting?

Dear Dorothy Dix—Why are married men more interesting than unmarried ones? As a rule they are intelligent, ambitious and treat you with respect, but the young fellows haven't a serious thought in their heads and all they think about is petting.

If a girl tries to carry on an intelligent conversation with a boy, he thinks she is trying to trick him into a proposal, or he kids her about taking life too seriously, and says: "Come on and be a sport and have a good time." Don't think I am in love with any married man. I am not, and I detest the homewreckers. But I am

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER—Probably the reason that married men are more interesting than single men is because they are generally older and have had more time to think and read and consider life. Also, they are forbidden fruit because they belong to another woman and that makes girls hanker after them. Remember Eve.

DO YOU KNOW . . .

When washing a material containing several colors, pour two or three drops of blue-black ink in the water. This will prevent the colors from running.

✧ ✧ ✧

Before using benzine or gasoline to clean spots off material, wet the affected part with cold water. This lessens the risk of a stain when you have finished.

✧ ✧ ✧

Rub copper with a lemon cut in half and dipped in salt. This will remove tarnish marks and make the metal bright. To keep clean, wipe over with a very little olive oil immediately after polishing with a dry, soft duster.

WHY BOTHER WITH "TEMPORARY RELIEF" WHEN CONSTIPATION CAN BE CORRECTED?

Perhaps your constipation is the common type due to lack of the right kind of "bulk" in the diet. If so, how much more sensible it is to try to correct it, rather than to rely on harsh cathartics that bring only temporary relief!

KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, a nut-sweet, delicious cereal, supplies the proper "bulk" to help you keep regular. Eat ALL-BRAN every day, and drink plenty of water. See how this "Better Way" to treat constipation makes your old "troubles" disappear! But, remember, ALL-BRAN doesn't work like purgatives . . . it takes time.

Asking The Government

A meeting of more than 500 growers of sugar beeets at Chatham came to the conclusion that the Government should pay a subsidy or a bonus of $1 per ton on sugar beets in order to keep up acreage and production. It was also decided to ask the Dominion Sugar Co. to pay $7 per ton instead of their offer of $5.75. A committee of six was named to carry the request for a subsidy to the Minister of Agriculture.

There are sections in the West, particularly in Alberta where sugar beets are largely grown, and if there was a bonus plan for the Chatham district then there would be good cause for similar treatment in Alberta.

The fixed price for wheat is actually a bonus, and we are following the same plan in Ontario with a bonus for bacon and another for cheese. The latter two are justified because the price fixed for export on British contracts does not measure up to what production costs.

We bonus the use of coal by assuming part of the freight charges and there does seem to be a decided tendency to turn more and more toward the Government when any situation reaches the point where profitable operation does not seem possible. In the last year for which statistics are available we produced about 170,000,000 pounds of beet sugar in Canada, and in recent times the problem has been to sell it. But the people who grow the beets want to keep on growing them, and that is why they ask the Dominion Government for help.

We are not denying that they may be able to put up a pretty good case for themselves. The Government has only one place to get money, and that is by taking it from the people, and in most cases it means taking it from all of us to give to a few of us. As an emergency policy it can at times be condoned, but for general practice it is neither sound business nor fair treatment.

The Value Of Silence

Another large contingent of Canadian troops has arrived in England. All the information given out is that they are "Somewhere in England," and they came from an "Eastern Port in Canada."

That is little enough to be known, and yet it is sufficient.

It is more to the point to be able to announce that not one Canadian life has been lost in the trip between this country and Britain.

There is something right there which a good many people in this country might notice when they are calling for more information, more news, more of everything, regarding the war and our part in it.

The old democratic idea of telling everything out in the open or on the floor of Parliament does not work so well when a nation is at war. There are too many people who want to hear all about it because they desire to use the information they gather for our undoing.

The suggestion has also been made that the locations of our internment camps should all be given so that tourists from United States might be attracted. It would be a good drawing card and American money would thus be turned into Canadian channels. There again we would be looking for trouble if we adopted such a policy. Internment camps are well conducted, but there is always going on the battle of wits between those who are interned and those who are in charge. Inviting people from the United States or perhaps some from our own country to go up and look over these places and hang around would be the most unwise thing we could do. The policy of saying little except when a prisoner escapes is much the better way.

There is a lesson in the way in which our troops get across the ocean which we could well apply to a good deal of our entire war effort.

The Securing Of Revenue

James S. Duncan, president of the Toronto Board of Trade, and formerly Deputy Minister for Air at Ottawa, has ideas regarding taxation which he explained at the annual dinner of the Institute of Chartered Accountants in Toronto. In a general way Mr. Duncan was inclined to believe that the Government should watch carefully in increasing taxation to make certain that the increases did not eventually defeat their own purpose.

There is some place a "breaking point" in the incidence of taxation, and we take it that Mr. Duncan had in mind what used to be referred to as the law of diminishing returns. One could, we suppose, enlarge pumping apparatus on a well, but there would be no more water coming out eventually unless more were being put in.

There are two schools of thought about the proper way to secure increased war revenue for a government. One is to cut down on ordinary expenditure on the part of the public; do without things; save money and thus be able to loan it to the government. That seems to be the plan under which we are operating at the moment.

The other idea is to encourage the spending of money, and then through the operation of the sales tax, the luxury tax, the import tax and all special-article taxes to have a revenue flowing to the government. That plan means that the people are actually taxing themselves by spending their money, but when their earnings are made subject to direct levies such as wage taxes and stiff income taxes the desire and the will do indulge in much expenditure is taken from them. And necessarily so.

Mr. Duncan probably believes that free spending is one way in which to keep business generally in a healthy condition, and he is also of the opinion there is a possibility of drying up the springs from which revenues of all sorts come. Nor was he merely theorizing, but rather was he talking common sense, and Ottawa would be well advised to think it over.

If The People Act

Discussing the suggestion that chairs and tables should be removed from beverage rooms, and that patrons should stand up and do their drinking as they did in the days of the bar, the St. Thomas Times-Journal concludes that the real trouble is the way in which beverage rooms have multiplied. It is recalled that in the days before the previous war Sir James Whitney had a policy which meant hotel men had to "keep hotel" before they could secure a license, and the license was cancelled for serious or wilful infractions of the existing law. The aim then was to discourage drinking. The St. Thomas paper believes that "Now it's a case of the more that's drunk the greater the revenue to the Government."

From the Times-Journal we quote:

"Conditions instead of improving, are getting worse in many places, not improving in others. One of these fine days, unless the Government tightens up, the people—the real honest-to-good temperance folk and those who can take one or leave it alone—will rise up in their might and toss out not only the tables and chairs, but the entire beverage room."

Those who are inclined to scoff at such a prediction might be advised to wait and see. A good many communities are finding out that things are not running well. They have had disgusting incidents in their midst, and in our own city we have had them. Only recently a patron of a beverage room was thrown out when the street was filled with people on a Saturday night and his face was badly cut. Our belief is that when a man reaches a drunken condition in a beverage room the law has been broken, and a continuance of that sort of business constitutes sufficient reason for the permit to be lifted.

Basically the trouble is that the province desires revenue from the business, and that must be the reason why beverage rooms have been placed in buildings which could not well measure up to the standard of a good hotel. Without the revenue from the sale of beer and wine such places could not exist. We are lacking anything which looks or acts like control, and most people today regard the Ontario Liquor Control Board as nothing more or less than a sales channel. There's a war on now and officially we are advised from all corners that we must revamp our way of living and our scale of expenditure. It is difficult to reconcile that view with the policy which seeks greater revenue from the sale of beer and wine and liquor.

Asking Questions

A. M. Nicholson, M.P., asked a question in the House of Commons, and he desired the answer to come from the Minister of Mines and Resources (Mr. Crerar). It had to do with a man who had enlisted and who was now in danger of losing his farm. Mr. Speaker suggested that the member might put his question on the order paper, but Prime Minister King had another suggestion, and inquired if Mr. Nicholson had taken the matter up with the minister, or in his absence with the Deputy Minister. The reply was that inquiry had not been made at the department, and Mr. King suggested that if this question were taken up there the answer could be furnished directly, and the time of the House would not be taken up with the answering of the query.

We believe the same principle could be applied to a number of questions which find their way to the pages of Hansard, where the question itself is printed and then comes the reply which may at times be long and of little interest outside of the locality where it has originated. The feeling persists that many of these questions are placed on the order paper so that it will be on record that the member has asked the question, and often enough there is probably some political consideration in the background.

In order to secure the answer it is necessary for some one to go to the proper department and secure it, and there are many occasions where the member asking the question could just as well go and find out himself.

It's Well To Be Prepared

One agency of distribution has forwarded a series of articles on gardening. It is claimed that when we get into March it is high time to let the thoughts turn to such matters. The soil, the outdoors, the growing things, and for these one should prepare in advance. No doubt that's right.

In the interests of thoroughness there is published in one article a plate showing garden tools which are recommended. And such a list! Twenty-eight in all. Three, four kinds of shears, three shapes of hoes, several spades and forks, knives, rakes, watering pots, and what have you.

Yes, it seems right enough. Let's see; we did have a rake, and it hadn't been used enough to wear the maker's label off the handle; had it last fall when the leaves were blowing about. Think it was placed in the corner of the garage but haven't noticed it there. Better check.

Used a hoe now and then last season; handy little contraption if you care for it; have a hazy idea one of the neighbors came over and got it and was told to be in no hurry about bringing it back. (Better check on that too).

Also there was a spade, but feeling grows it was borrowed. Yes, it's down stairs standing by the furnace and it has been handy for several months. May inquire later if some of the neighbors will be needing it. There's nothing like being prepared when the season of the great outdoors waits happily just a short distance ahead.

NOTE AND COMMENT

It was stated at the Ontario Association of Rural Municipalities that the cost of education is more than the people can bear. Whether it is greater than the cost of not having an education is something yet to be proved.

Government of Quebec has started a physical culture centre to help young people who slid down during the recent period of unemployment. So we can put that down as something which must not be again tolerated.

Young airman from New Brunswick, on a flight from near Kingston, Ont., landed near Waterdown, N.Y., on the wrong side of the line. That boy has been moving around considerable so no wonder he was off his bearings.

Canadian Press report from Ottawa mentions Peterborough as being one of the places across Canada where "outstanding results" were secured in the campaign for selling War Savings Certificates.

One point not generally understood is that there can be no tie vote in the Senate. If such a thing did occur it would be ruled the motion is lost because it failed to secure sufficient support to carry it.

DELAY

(By A.R.K.)

¶ When it turns mild for half a day, I think about the days of May, and of the coming Spring; when there are puddles on the street, I know the happy days I'll greet, a little tune I sing.

¶ I bring out then the catalogue, can hear the singing of the frog, and then it will be hot; I get a paper and a pen, and start to plan right there and then, about my garden plot.

¶ Some little spots the ground is bare, I sniff the signals in the air, my hope runs rather high; I know of stuff I missed last year, it grew up stunted and so queer, but once again I'll try.

¶ Although some folk might think it queer, I'll have a garlic patch this year, some beans and also corn; I'll get to work now pretty soon, I'll hoe a little bit at noon, and early in the morn.

¶ I see some daisies in the book, and rather like the way they look, I'll get another vine; I'll make a ladder, paint it red, and put in out beside the shed, my flowering thing can climb.

¶ I dream at night upon my bed, of posies pink and blue and red, much better than before; but when I wake to greet the sun, I look to see what weather's done—and it has snowed some more.

CAP and BELLS . .

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

As a book for random reading I know none to equal "Bartlett's Familiar Quotations"; first published by a Cambridge, Mass., bookseller, it has run into eleven editions since 1855 and is generally admitted to be the best book of its kind in the English language. But it is not as a work of reference that I like Bartlett best; it is as a work of enjoyment. I open it at random and what do I find? "Love me, love my dog," a proverb attributed to John Heywood, born in 1497 and died in 1580; a learned footnote tells me that Heywood derived his proverb from a saying in the time of Saint Bernard. Can it have been a Saint Bernard dog that inspired the saying I wonder; despite their benign appearance St. Bernards are snappish beasts. I could only love a Saint Bernard from a safe distance.

C & B

Heywood was the inventor of many a phrase still in daily use. Listen to a few: Out of the frying-pan into the fire....The more the merrier....The cart before the horse....Give an inch and take an ell....There is no smoke without fire....Enough is as good as a feast....Strike when the iron is hot....The fat is in the fire....Make hay when the sun shines....and so on, for pages. Heywood is one of our greatest phrase-makers, a mine of homely wisdom.

C & B

I turn a handful of pages and what strikes my eye? A quotation from Sir William Blackstone, the great eighteenth century judge whose "Commentaries on the Laws of England" is familiar to every lawyer. He says: "The royal navy of England hath ever been its greatest defence and ornament; it is its ancient and natural strength—the floating bulwark of our island." With all due respect to the R.A.F., was there ever a truer word spoken?

C & B

Across the page from Blackstone is Oliver Goldsmith, and at once we see "the loud laugh that spoke the vacant mind" standing out on the paper in the way of familiar words. This line from "The Deserted Village" is almost always misquoted, sometimes even as "The loud laugh bespeaks the vacant mind." I once knew a schoolteacher who always distorted it so in order that she might be sarcastic at her pupils' expense. It is often used as a reproach to anyone who has a hearty guffaw, but Goldsmith meant it to refer to an actual village idiot. In these gloomy days I think that anyone with a loud, merry laugh is a good friend to the community and should be recognized as such. He might, for instance, be allowed something off his income tax because he did valuable service in keeping up the public spirits....It is Goldsmith, also, who gives us the poem beginning:

When lovely woman stoops to folly
And finds too late that men betray,
What charm can soothe her melancholly?
What art can wash her guilt away?

And he provides his own solution to this vexing problem:

The only art her guilt to cover,
To hide her shame from every eye,
To give repentance to her lover,
And wring his bosom, is—to die.

Really this seems a very drastic course to take; personally I think the lady's best plan under such circumstances would be to move to a new home, forget the whole matter, and make a fresh start. To die merely in order to make another person feel repentance is to make rather a bad bargain.

C & B

Again I turn over a generous handful of pages, and I notice the name of an author unfamiliar to me and , I dare say, to most of you. He has the distinguished but cumbersome title of Von Munch Bellinghausen; he has nothing to say, surely, that could be familiar to us? Indeed he has; he is no less than the author of Two souls with but a single thought,

Two hearts that beat as one.

This much overworked sentiment comes from a play once popular but now forgotten called "Ingomar the Barbarian." It is about a noble savage called Ingomar who falls in love with a beautiful Roman lady; despite his barbarism (or maybe because of it) Ingomar is able to make love at great length and in very sticky poetry, of which this familiar quotation is a part.

C & B

In the next column to honey-tongued Ingomar I find general Pierre Bosquet who, on October 25, 1854, when the Light Brigade was sent to its death by a wrong order, said "It is magnificent, but it is not war." Thus Bosquet by a single memorable pronouncement, lives in memory as does that Count de Salvandy who, at a party in 1830 said gloomily "We are dancing on a volcano." To Mussolini the editors of Bartlett have credited several quotable utterances, notably, "Speeches made to the people are essential to the arousing of enthusiasm for war." Recently he has demonstrated the need for speeches of explanation during the course of war. And to Paul Richard is given the cynical remark, "The vagabond, when rich, is called a tourist."

C & B

For anyone who cannot find a book to his liking, or who finds his mind growing stale, I command Bartlett for half an hour's reading. It gives a sense of immeasureable luxury to find the most popular snippets of the world's wisdom and poetry lumped together in a book, where one can pick and choose like a gourmet confronted with an enormous buffet of hors d'oeuvres. It is a special brand of literary luxury.

SO IT SEEMS

Letters To The Editor

HER FACTS IN ORDER

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—I would like to submit the following letter in answer to, or rather to confirm the one sent in by "Discouraged Peterborough Born Girl." She is expressing the sentiments of a good percentage of our Peterborough youth.

To quote an instance, a young man I know has been out of work since last fall. Since that time he too has tramped the streets looking for work but in vain. All around him he sees men being taken on that have just recently come to the city, when who have never had to pay rent or taxes or to help with the city's growth in any way. He was advised to take the course at the training school at the Collegiate and he would have work within ten days after (so he was told). The course has been finished for him for over a month now and he does not seem to be any nearer to getting work. This young man has been the virtual support of his family for years and of course had no opportunity to save some money when he was employed. Now he must leave the city to enable him to live and to save his family from going further into debt. Where is the justice here? I think it is about time the youth of this city demanded action from their council. It is a known fact that outsiders get the privilege in our local factories. This is not going to build the spirit needed to win this war. Surely a country such as Canada can meet the needs of its youth. We would all like a share in helping democracy live but give us something to fight for. A discouraged youth is of no help to any nation.

I hope that this letter and the one just recently published will have some effect on the employment situation in Peterborough. Our city fathers will do well to look into this matter as regards the local factories. "Hire Peterborough and Buy Peterborough should be our slogan." Let's make it mean something.

A SISTER TO DISCOURAGED PETERBOROUGH GIRL.

Peterborough, March 3.

ORGANIZING FARMERS

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—Hurrah for the farmers of Ontario. There is some kick in the hayseed yet. Having read the account of the meeting of the farmers at London, we wonder what will come out of it in the great movement that is called the Canadian Federation of Agriculture. While we have some reasons for doubting this organization, still it is a beginning at any rate, something like the lady who went to war with a poker in her hand claiming they could at least tell which side she was on.

Now we are asked to cast in our lot with this movement as soon as possible. We are also reminded in the book of holy writ that before we embark on some great enterprise we should first sit down and count the cost lest we should not be able to carry on and thus end our undertaking in failure.

Now I wonder if some man of letters would tell us Douro farmers through the Examiner just a few things we would like to know. Will this organization be world-wide or just a section around Peterborough? Will it be a brotherly love movement in which a great fund will be subscribed to help the poor farmer in case he is not able to pay his taxes? And what about farm help? If we sow shall we be able to reap? If the young men go to town after the high dollar or to war, then what provision is being made to meet that situation?

Will it not develop into a selfish, sit-down strike on the part of the farmers? "Just 15 bags of potatoes for me," said a farmer the other day. I suggested to a farmer the other day that this business of pegging the price of butter and bacon came because there were too many farmers and perhaps it was the means for controlling over production. He replied that when folks were compelled to tighten their belts they would give the farmers some consideration.

Will we wait patiently for the developments? Anyway it appears that some sort of organization is the solution. Wonder how many farmers have heard this story with a moral attached:

Sambo in company with a traveller was going along the road, and the traveller was amazed at the way Sambo would pick off every fly as it lit on the mule's back. But coming to a nest of hornets the traveller said rather nervously: "Will you be able to get them, Sambo?" The answer was "I guess I could if I wanted to, but I guess I better not. Those fellows are organized."

SELLING HOGS

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—In looking for a title I recall the humorous book "Pigs Is Pigs," but I will call this "When Is a Pig Not a Pig." When Ivan caught up with a jack rabbit and used the screwdriver to give it a knock out it was still a rabbit, but when I send a pig to the packers and they give it the knock out and then it becomes A grade, B 1, 2, 3, C 1, 2, 3, D 1, 2, 3, etc. In fact there are 16 grades in all. Recently I shipped along with others a pig which must have had both feet in the trough. I hope I never have one which is classed as "extra heavy" for then I am sure I would owe money to the packing house.

When I was at a dinner at George St. Church I brought this matter to the attention of a prominent member of the Federation of Agriculture, and he said "No, that couldn't be possible, you just go down to the packing plant and see the inspector."

So I went and I will say the gentleman used a great deal of tact in asking if I meant he did not understand grading hogs, or that the Department of Agriculture didn't know what it was doing. I had with me some clippings about the income of farmers which had been attached to the Sirois report, showing the income of the farmer to be $8 per week, also when a 200-pound hog brought $6.50, while now the deduction for a heavy is about half that.

But the packers seem able to give these pigs yet another coup de grace, for by the time John Citizen buys this pork out of the store it has gone back pretty well to the start, except that it has become ham, shoulder, bacon, etc. The inspector may be efficient at his work, but if he gets his feet under the table and tried to tell what grade of pork he was eating I don't think he could do it.

Probably we should have an enlarged grades sign hung up for the pigs to see, with another telling that "narrow is the gate and crooked is the way, and many there are who do not enter therein."

I asked who it was that got out all the grades, and the answer was the packers sanctioned by the Department of Agriculture. Were the farmers consulted? Were the truckers consulted? To get my six pigs out at proper time the trucker would have had to call three times. Looks as though he would have to drive over the country every week through snow, mud and greasy farm yard.

I was out in Regina in 1911 and heard there of a farmer who had two pigs. He wanted one for his own use but the butcher bought them both. When the farmer went for his pig all nicely cut up it cost him $2.50 more than he got for both pigs. I wonder how many farmers could afford to sell pigs to packers and then buy them back.

If the government can set the price of butter why can't they set the price of pork used in Canada? If they had let the price of butter find its own level there would not be so many dairy cows shipped to United States, and it would have given the farmer more incentive to milk and fill the British cheese order.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

These six things doth the Lord hate: yes, seven are an abomination unto him: a proud look, a lying tongue, and hands that shed innocent blood, an heart that deviseth wicked imaginations, feet that be swift in running to mischief, a false witness that speaketh lies, and he that soweth discord among brethren. —Prov. vi, 16-19.

A Bit of Nonsense

On the Quiet

"Don't they teach you to salute in your company?" roared the major to Patrick Malone, who had passed him without raising his hand.

"Yes, sir," replied Pat.

"Then why didn't you salute?"

"Well, sir," said Pat, "I didn't want to attract more attention than necessary because I'm not supposed to be out without a pass."

The Give-Away

Got It All

"I hope you enjoyed your game with the major," said the hostess to one of her guests.

"He's very clever at cards, isn't he?"

"He certainly is," replied the guest. "He started by telling my fortune, and now he's counting it."

Dying Civilians Heaped About Vimy Memorial

LONDON, March 4—(CP)—Scenes of battle around the Vimy Ridge Memorial to Canadian war dead are described in an new book by an anonymous artillery officer.

Entitled "Return via Dunkirk," the book devotes several chapters to scenes around Vimy Ridge during the German drive to the Channel last summer.

The author's battery was located for a few days near the Canadian memorial on the Ridge and the captain directed fire from an observation post in the warden's residence, 200 yards from the sandbagged white pylons.

After going into Belgium with the British Expeditionary Force, this field regiment retired south to Arras before going north again to Dunkirk. In this movement, it twice crossed Vimy Ridge.

Describing the situation around Vimy on the way back, the writer, known only as "Gun Buster," wrote: "I took the battery along to reoccupy our old positions on Vimy Ridge. The sight that greeted me turned my blood cold. Heaps of dead and dying men, women and children filled our gun pits. They were refugees who had taken cover there, and had been literally blasted out of life some hours earlier by German bombers, probably looking for us.

Spectacle of Horror

"From the interior of these piles of torn, limbless, decapitated bodies sounded an occasional groan where some unfortunate still drew breath. A sickening stench pervaded the warm air. Upon this spectacle of horror the midnight moon shone brightly from a cloudless sky. My driver and I stared at each other speechless. Our feelings were beyond words."

Ordered to establish his observation post near the memorial, the captain climbed up on Canada's monument to her first war dead.

"The base of the memorial offered a good view of the countryside, but I decided I could do better at the warden's residence, a house with a tower, 200 yards away, stuck there on the Ridge just like a little bit of England, very un-French looking, with flower and vegetable gardens, and a sandpit for a child."

The place had been ransacked and looted. The observation post was located in the tower, the ledge of the lamp used to flood the memorial supplying a ready-made table.

"The pall still hung over the direction of Arras to the south, where the battle was raging. Farmhouses were burning here and there, and occasionally red gun flashes darted beneath the smoke. Otherwise there wasn't much visible to indicate the terrific nature of the struggle going on.

"Out battlefield must have differed considerably in appearance from the same scene of last war. No elaborate trench systems scarred it: no no man's land. Ours was a moving war. Moving at top speed."

The battle line narrowed to within 2,000 yards of the Ridge, and from each flank the roar of fighting grew in intensity. "You could see the tracer shells of the anti-tank guns firing at the German tanks quite plainly and the spurts of machine-gun fire, and tiny figures of men running hither and thither every now and then, in an out of the curtain of smoke," wrote the captain.

"An enemy tank concentration was reported in a wood near Mont St. Eloi. We worked the target out of the map and fired a salvo which apparently caught the tanks just as they were emerging from the wood. Four of the twelve were knocked out and the others retreated."

Finally, wrote the captain, the artillerymen had to retreat, but he made no mention of the condition of the memorial.

Springbrook WI Hold Shower

BONARLAW, March 3—(ENS)—The Springbrook Women's Institute held their meeting Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Hugh Jones, with a very good attendance. Mrs. J. F. Baker opened the meeting.

It was reported 13 quilts have been sent to refugees.

It being a shower for soldiers, a number brought parcels to be sent overseas. The baskets will be packed at the home of Mrs. Lindsay Mumby on March 4.

Mrs. Allen McComb thanked the branch for the cards she received while ill.

Mrs. Baker read a clipping from The Peterborough Examiner by Mrs. Thomas Reid, Rylstone, and all congratubiated Mrs. Reid on her splendid talk on Canadian women. It was moved by Mrs. George Eastwood and seconded by Mrs. Mumby that money be donated to the War Victims' Fund.

A paper on the motto was given by Mrs. A. Burkitt. Topic, How to make religion a vital factor in the education of the child, was given by Mrs. W. A. Bateman.

Current events were given by Mrs. A. P .Williams and Mrs. A. V. Brown also gave a splendid paper.

Lunch was served and a social half hour spent.

MARMORA, Mar. 4 — (ENS). — The funeral of the late Margaret E. Sullivan was held to the Sacred Heart Church, Marmora, on Monday morning, and was largely attended. A high requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. Father H. J. Farrell.

The pall-bearers were W. A. Sanderson, R. E. Bonter, J. A. Paquet, H. A. McNally, J. E. Dunlay and G. Forestell.

Interment took place in Sacred Heart Cemetery.

MRS. JOHN LAKE

ALDERVILLE, March 4.—(ENS)—After an illness of one week the death occurred at midnight Sunday of Mrs. John Lake at the home of her son, Austin, Alderville. She was in her 65th year. She was Charlotte Assence, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Assence of Christian Island. A member of the Ojibway tribe, she spoke the Indian tongue fluently, but very little English, using her native language as she conversed with members of her family.

Seldom going out of her home she spent her hours in fashioning fancy baskets, quill work, and leather articles, preparing the deer hides for this latter work.

Mr. and Mrs. Lake came to the village of Alderville from Christian Island about thirty years ago. Mr. Lake passed on in 1933.

Surviving are two daughters and one son, Mrs. Stanley Hager and Austin of Alderville and Mrs. Bernard Hearns of Havelock.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday at 2:00 p.m. at Alderville United Church, with interment in Alderville Cemetery. Rev. Eugene Beech of Roseneath officiated.

HAROLD WEBB

HASTINGS, March 4—(ENS). — Word was received in Hastings on Saturday morning of the tragic death of Harold Webb of Smith's Falls, well known to many friends and relatives near Hastings.

He was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Webb of Smith's Falls, formerly of Roseneath; his mother, Louise King of Hastings. He was born in Roseneath 26 years ago, and was formerly employed at the Frost and Wood Company, but a short time ago commenced work on the C.P.R. as a brakesman.

On Friday evening, while working at Kingston, he fell beneath the wheels of a string of freight cars being shunted, and died instantly. He was believed to have been standing on the front platform of a yard engine which was travelling backward, pulling the cars near the Cataraqui street crossing. He cut the cars free to allow the string to enter a siding as the engine continued, but is believed to have been caught and dragged with them.

Besides his sorrowing parents he leaves to mourn his loss, his young wife, formerly Edith Kendall of Smith's Falls, and a son Ronald, three years of age; also his sister, Mrs. George Edwards of Brockville.

The funeral was held on Monday afternoon at 1 p.m. from the Smith's Falls Anglican Church, of which Sunday School he was superintendent. Interment will be at Smith's Falls.

Special Cavan Rally Observed

CAVAN, March 4—(EN).—The World's Day of Prayer was observed in Cavan United church on Friday afternoon with ladies of the community and St. John's church, Ida, participating.

Mrs. J. H. Snider, president of Cavan W.M.S., presided, with Mrs R. M. Howden, vice-president of St. John's W.A., assisting. During the service, Mrs. W. E. Honey and Miss Jean Lough sang two beautiful solos, with Miss Lough acting as accompanist.

On Thursday afternoon eighteen ladies of the Cavan Women's Institute met in the Sunday school rooms of the church and quilted five quilts for the Red Cross or the British War Victims. A pot luck dinner was served.

Mrs. W. E. Honey was hostess for a pot luck dinner on Tuesday, under the auspices of the Cavan W.A. Guests included Miss Annie Tinney, Mrs. H. Gardiner, Mrs. Trew, Mrs. Armitage and Mrs. Ray Syer.

On Thursday afternoon the Cavan Cadettes held the last meeting of their course on "The club girl stands on guard,' at Mrs. Oakley Carley's home.

There were eight members present. Mrs. D. Tinney conducted the meeting. There were discussions and demonstrations on the care of the teeth, eyes, feet, skin and proper clothing. The meeting was informal and a pot luck supper was a feature. There are ten members in the club.

Warkworth Holds "Day Of Prayer"

WARKWORTH, March 3—(ENS). —The world day of prayer was fittingly observed on Friday afternoon in the basement of St. Paul's United Church, with a large attendance.

It was of unusual significance in this season of war when women of all denominations not only in Warkworth and vicinity but in all continents united in prayer with the theme "Thy Kingdom Come." The same order of service was used all over the world.

Mrs. George Helson as leader was assisted in the service by the presidents of the different church organizations in Warkworth and vicinity.

Special hymns and prayers for our King and Queen, for those on active service, for peace among our nations, for missions, were heartily responded to by those appointed.

Mrs. A. F. Ball gave an interesting and inspiring address on "The Supreme Need of the Hour." Mrs. Gordon McCubbin sang very sweetly, "We shall shine as the stars of the morning."

The singing of the National Anthem and the benediction brought to a close a very impressive service.

Bulgaria Move Sows Seeds Of 2-Front War

WASHINGTON, March 4—(AP). —Nazi strategy has scored by sending troops to "protect" Bulgaria; but it has sowed the seeds of two-front war for Hitler.

Moreover, it appears to have sown new seeds of dissatisfaction in the mind of Hitler's "friend" Stalin. If a Soviet reproof to Bulgaria for admitting the German troops can be taken at face value.

That reproof raises some interesting speculation as to Russia's future attitude. For example, it may encourage Turkey to take counter measures against any further German moves, say in the direction of Macedonia. Turkey may feel that it can count on at least passive Russian approval if it takes a firm stand.

Utter silence cloaks British counter strategy. There is general expectation in London, however, that the British High Command was fully prepared to met the situation with positive and aggressive action when it forced the issue with Germany in the Balkans. And Nazi absorption of Bulgaria has cleared away the last barrier to British air attacks on German's most vital resource, Rumanian oil.

Reports that the Royal Air Force has already struck there seem premature. There can be little doubt however, that such a British counter-attack is fully expected in Rumania, in Bulgaria and in Berlin. Whatever Britain's reason for delaying that thrust, Bulgarian neutrality no longer stands in the way of a posible telling stroke against the very life-blood of the Nazi war effort by sea, air and land.

The fly in Hitler's Balkan ointment is that British air and naval power is solidly based in Greece. From the Island of Crete, now a little British Gibraltar in the Eastern Mediterranean, and from other Greek bases ever closer up, British air power is in easy bombing distance of not only the Rumanian oil target; but also of the now greatly extended Nazi Army front in Bulgaria.

Just why it has not yet struck back in Bulgaria is not clear. It may have been due to some new British commitments to Turkey or to the hope of avoiding incidents that could turn Bulgaria from a passive to an active ally of the Axis. That could add greatly to the jeopardy in which Greece stands. Foreign Minister Anthony Eden's conversations in Turkey and Greece are still to be revealed in their full significance.

Pressure on West Eases

It has been British habit over the years to count on the outcome of the last, not the first, battle. Even if the Greeks yield to Nazi pressure and make peace with Italy, that could not strip Britain of the power to make two-front war on her Nazi foe. It would not, for example, break the choke-hold of British sea power on Italy. Only a major German war effort to crash the Dardanelles against the indicated certainty of Turkish resistance could seriously imperil Britain's hold on the Eastern Mediterranean.

Hitler has repeatedly made it plain that he expects to win the war with Britain—if at all—in the West, not the East. He could lose it in the East, however, and seems trying now to salvage Italy without risking too much on the Balkan front. It is pressure politics he is using against Greece there, backed by a formidable military parade through Bulgaria, calculated to be awe-inspiring.

Yet a comparative lull in the Nazi air attack on Britain indicates the price the Nazis are paying for their Balkan moves. Berlin dare not reduce the heavy air concentration in the Balkans to augment the air attack on the United Kingdom.

Hastings W.A. Hosts To Men

HASTINGS, March 4—(ENS)—A debate, "Resolved, that a neat scolding wife makes a better companion than a slovenly good-natured wife" was a special feature of the social evening under the auspices of Trinity Women's Association when the men of the congregation were entertain on Thursday evening in the church basement.

The affirmative was taken by Miss Carrie Doxsee and Miss Flo German, and the negative by Miss Claudine Hoard and Miss Kate German, who cleverly and with humor capably upheld their sides. Three young unmarried men, W. W. Knight, Marvyn Preston and Earl Darling, as judges, gave their decision in favor of the negative side.

"Treasure Trail" was another added feature of the program with Rae Perdie impersonated by Miss Kate German and Al. Savage by Mrs. H. Edwards. Many witty sayings, humorous actions and courious questions and answers created heaps of laughter.

Other numbers on the program were a piano solo, by Earl Darling; reading by Mrs. H. Edwards, solo by Learl Humphries, and saxaphone solo by W. W. Knight.

The ladies of the W.A. met shortly after noon and completed three quilts, served a pot luck supper and later served refreshments at the social.

Plans were also made for the father and son banquet to be held on Friday, March 14.

Born, in St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, on Tuesday, February 25, to Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Fanning of Fenella (nee Mary Jones of Hastings), a daughter.

HOW LONG DOES IT TAKE YOU TO EAT?

In these busy days, many of us have to satisfy our hunger with a sandwich, often bolted hurriedly. We know we're playing fast and loose with our insides, but the job must take first place. Irregular meals, irregular sleep, and new ways of living are all causes of constipation.

How to Get Gentle Relief

Constipation, as you know, is caused mainly by the disappearance of moisture from the large intestine. Therefore, that moisture must return. This is done by the action of the several mineral salts which are present in Kruschen. At the same time Kruschen, by its diuretic action helps to flush the kidneys, thus ridding your bloodstream of its accumulated toxic poisons.

It stands to reason that the size of dose for relieving constipation depends on the individual. But once this initial constipation has been relieved, a small daily dose — just enough to cover a dime — will help to keep you regular, and cheerful. Start today to remedy the mischief wrought by irregular meals and hours. You can get Kruschen from any druggist—25c and 75c.

Draw Brings $24 For Red Cross

MILLBROOK, March 4.—(ENS). —Miss Florence Johns of Toronto, made the draw, on Saturday evening, for the pair of skiis, and the boots and hockey skates, donated by Rufus McKnight, the proceeds to go toward the Red Cross funds.

Holding number 177, John Yelland won the skiis, and Wilfrid Gillies the boots and skates with number 144. The draw was made in R. A. Ford's store, Miss Johns being a visitor in Mr. and Mrs. Ford's home over the week-end.

MARINE LADIES TAKE THREE POINTS FROM WESTCLOX BOWLERS

Lucky Strikes Take Four From AYPA Girls

Marion Timm of the Outboard Marines got off on the right foot when she bowled in last night's opening games of the Ladies' City League at Duffus' Alleys. The Outboard Girls were in a tough spot, being matched against a hand-picked aggregation of stars from the Westclox softball team, but Marion Timm came through at the opportune moment with a brilliant 815 score, the best to date for ladies this year.

There were no weak bowlers present last night, head pins and corner pins stopped some of them, but big scores as a rule popped up in all directions. Marg Selkirk trundled a fine 729 for the Westclox and Lahring Parsons duplicated with a 705 for Lucky Strikes. A number of City League men watched the parade of big singles dished up when Miss Timm led off with 316, 278 and 221 games while Mrs. J. C. Green counted 313 and Kay Calladine 305.

The only hitch in last night's proceedings was the lack of a team to meet Kawarthas. The Brintons who were counted on could not field a team due to the fact that two of their stars were shanghied by the Westclox. However that difficulty will be ironed out before another weeks goes by.

Curling Notes

By HERB MARTIN

There was no curling last night, but we expect tonight to have the Leads and Seconds Competition well under way at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m.

A number of our curlers are motoring over to Oshawa tomorrow to play in the bonspiel, sponsored by the Oshawa Curling Club.

Norman Hamley and Elmer Metcalfe are taking two mixed rinks up to Bobcaygeon on Wednesday to play in their mixed bonspiel.

Ray Best, member of the executive committee of the Ontario Curling Association, is in Toronto today to attend a meeting of that body and also to see his son, Don, play in the MacDonald Brier competition. Don, who is piloting the Northern Ontario quartet, did well yesterday winning his two games quite handily.

He is one of the local boys who is making good in curling circles. He began curling here with the junior boys some years and was once or twice on the rink that won the Junior Ontario Tankard.

We local curlers will be watching with great interest the progress of the MacDonald Brier, and wish the Northern Ontario boys the best of luck.

The Stars Say

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, March 5

A DAY in which some definitely quickening action may be brought to bear on some static, crystallized or lagging situation or project. New life may be instilled with enterprise, initiative and constructive plans of a practical and successful quality. Such purpose may be best furthered by association with large groups, political, diplomatic, fraternal or humanitarian. But there is need of much precaution in handling all papers and business deals as well as safeguarding family welfare and harmony.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a very progressive and productive year, with many stagnant and crystalized conditions springing into new life by a well directed and virile attack, with fresh plans and enthusiasms revitalizing and pushing to a constructive and gratifying finish. However, energetic cooperation of important bodies is indispensable no matter what the desired objective. Also caution and sagacity is needed as to handling of business and all other documents or correspondence. The personal life also calls for efforts to maintain harmony and understanding.

A child born on this day should have much audacity and initiative in bringing to fruitful issues old, effete and static affairs, by the infusing of new and dynamic tactics as well as determined effort and hard work.

Some Ball Camp Training Notes

(By the Canadian Press.)

ANAHEIM, Calif.—Connie Mack is glad that "I've got Eddie Collins." Collins, son of the former Athletics second sacker, now a Red Sox executive, is counted upon to fill the shoes of Wally Moses if it develops the fleet outfielder has a dislocated shoulder instead of merely a bruised arm as at first believed. Moses was injured in an automobile accident en route to camp.

FORT MYERS, Fla.—Despite giving seven runs in two innings in his first start of the year in an intra-squad game, Mel Harder, veteran Indian right-hander, is pleased about the condition of his arm. For several years Harder has been bothered with arm stiffness in the early season and usually is unable to win until hot weather comes around.

LAKELAND, Fla.—A spring training season free from holdouts is assured for Detroit Tigers, Manager Del Baker indicated today in announcing that all players are in camp or are on the way. Eight more Tigers arrived yesterday. Buck Newsom and Fred Hutchinson have been delayed by business.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Pitcher Clyde Shoun drove into camp by automobile from his Tennessee home last night, conferred twice with President Sam Breadon and signed his contract. He thus reduced the Cardinals' holdout list of five to four.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas — The Browns are one big happy family now. Roy Cullenbine signed yesterday, ending the club's holdout problems.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Joe Gordon, New York Yankees' regular second baseman, will play first base this season, says Manager Joe McCarthy. He ended speculation about a successor to Bable Dahlgren, sold to Boston Bees last week, only a few hours after Gordon signed his 1941 contract.

Quebec Outfit Are Crowned Army Champs

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, March 4—(CP Cable).—A Western Quebec Regiment was crowned hockey champion of the Canadian army in Britain Monday when it defeated the Royal Canadian Engineers 3-1 to win a two-game series with a total goal count of 8-5.

Before a crowd of 2,500 fans including Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, General Officer Commanding the Canadian Army Corps; and his wife; Maj.-Gen. Victor Odlum, Commanding the 2nd Division, and Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, Commanding the 1st Division, the Montrealers never were behind, carrying the play to the Sappers.

After the game, Lt.-Gen. McNaughton presented the Vincent Massey Trophy to the winners.

By RUTH AYERS

YESTERDAY: Kent tells April just how much this day means to him, so she continues the masquerade. She finds Ann's favorite picnic grounds easily, helps Kent build the grill. Then he kisses her. "You've never kissed me like that before," Kent says. "For the first time, I can believe you're in love with me."

THIS MUST BE LOVE.

CHAPTER VII.

When Kent kissed her and said, "I believe you're in love with me," April stood trembling, scarcely daring to move.

Then she whispered, out of this daze of happiness, "Yes, I think I am."

"It had to be like this, Ann."

Ann. Her sister's name. It was Ann he thought he held in his arms.

Reality came back to April. She was falling in love with Kent Carter, her sister's sweetheart. This couldn't happen. When she'd started out on this jaunt with Kent today, it hadn't been to fall in love with him herself, but to keep him in love with Ann.

Kent was saying, "We're a lot alike, Ann. We both hate cheap love-making. That's why this means so much. It's the real thing."

"The real thing." She repeated it slowly, wonderingly.

She looked down to see the brave spurts of flames in the fire sputtering out.

"Wait a minute," she tried to speak gaily. "I'll have to rush for kindling. There isn't enough fire left to toast a marshmallow."

"A good squaw," he grinned.

All the time she was getting the grill hot and unpacking the lunch kit, April wrested with an inward turmoil. Kent was Ann's sweetheart. So she, April, must forget him, stop caring before she cared too much.

Her eyes smarted from the smoke; she rubbed a smudge across her cheek; she blistered her fingers. It was in the quick, tingling pain that everything suddenly cleared itself.

There wasn't a problem any more. Kent loved the girl he had just kissed. What a difference would it matter if she told him she was April? He might be startled for a minute, but then he'd surely have to laugh at what had happened—laugh and then kiss her again and say how wonderful it was that things had turned out this way.

She would tell him as soon as they'd eaten. All about how Ann had gone to New York for a singing career, how she, April, had started to pinch-hit, and then fallen head over heels in love.

She came out of her daydream as Kent spoke. "Is it true that when you're in love you're not supposed to have an appetite?"

"That's what I've heard."

"Gosh," he said, "that counts me out. I'm starving."

"Maybe it counts me out, too," she said, always remembering in the last split second to speak softly as Ann would, instead of shouting in a gay, glad outburst.

"You mean you have an appetite?" He pretended to be very disapproving.

"Well," she apologized, "I didn't eat any breakfast."

"I missed it myself. A nice meal, breakfast. Specially the coffee."

"Octavia sent along the breakfast brew in the thermos."

"So I discovered when you were foraging for the firewood."

"Kent, you cheated. For that you can twiddle this fork while I have a cup my myself, too."

He moved awkwardly to the fire. She placed the fork in his hand, touching the steak with it to give him his bearings. He didn't want sympathy. He hated being fussed over and pampered. Funny how she seemed to understand him so well.

Funny, too, as she sipped the hot coffee, that she couldn't take her eyes from him. She was certain now that the wind and sun had whipped out the whiteness in his face. Even the dark glasses didn't look so frightening. And what a swell smile he had. It went straight to your heart. Her heart. April Burnett really falling in love for the first time.

She kept making herself think that he would understand, that he wouldn't care because she was April and not Ann. Every time doubts lifted up, she downed them.

"What's it like in the army, Kent?" She started conversation for a little while to keep from thinking too much.

"Ah, it's a grand experience," he spoke warmly. "You'll have to see the camp with me some time soon. It's impressive, magnificent. When you get up early in the morning, you look out and first thing you see is the flag flying at the post. It does something to you. I always find myself saying, 'Good morning, glory.' Yes and I'm thinking of you and the flag all in one. Hundreds of us there, Ann, and I guess most of them feel the same way I do."

"Tell me more, Kent."

"Drills, mess, manoeuvres, all this because everyone in olive drab has someone back home, something at stake that he's ready to defend.."

"You can talk like this, Kent, after what happened to you?"

"What happened hasn't turned out so bad," he said. "I've lost my eyes for a little while because a rookie lost his head. But if it hadn't been like that maybe you and I would be miles apart and growing farther away all the time."

April winked back tears. When pride in a man mixed with the new stirring of love, it made a dynamic combination.

"I'll remember this day the rest of my life," she found herself saying aloud.

Kent's face was alight again. "I knew we could come back," he said. "I was sure of it."

When lunch was over and Nip had been stuffed with steak scraps, April led the way to a stone wall, where two flat rocks adjoined to make a love seat.

This was the time to tell him. She braced herself. She fortified herself with the thought that all was fair in love and war — and wasn't this a little of both?

"Kent," she began, reaching for his hand, "you were right. This—this is the real thing."

He held her hand tightly. "I love you more than ever," he said. "It almost seems as if I had to go blind this way to discover how wonderful you are."

"I've changed," she whispered, holding her breath. "I'm not—I'm not the same girl, Kent."

His head went up. It seemed as if his mouth had suddenly curved in a grim line.

"Yes, you're the same girl," he said, "but you've come into your own. You're not just a shadow of the Glitterbug any longer."

In her quick, startled gasp, he went on, "I knew it from the minute you met me at the train."

"You—you what?"

"April made a career of out-dazzling you, outshining you until you'd lost all confidence in yourself. Thank heaven you've had your eyes opened to her at last."

SPORTS - DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

Peterborough's Junior B squad will be fighting in the last ditch tonight when they battle Frank Black's Oshawa team in the Motor City in the fifth and final game of the series for the group championship. The teams are tied with two wins each, the Petes grabbing off the first two and Oshawa coming back strong to take the last pair just when it looked as if Archie Weir's kids had the thing in the bag. Now it's all up to tonight's battle in Oshawa. The Petes have won there before this season and are determined to get back to the form that enabled them to turn that trick. They realize that it will be an uphill fight but they are full of the old college try and will give every last ounce to pull off a win and continue into the O.H.A. playdowns. The addition of Andy McMullen to the Oshawa squad has made a difference but not enough to explain the reversal of form in the last two games.

The juniors are not the only Peterborough team to swing into action on a foreign cushion tonight for Manager Cec. Courneya's juveniles are playing in Port Hope tonight in the first game of a home and home series to decide the O.J.H.A. group championship. It was thought at first that no playoff would be necessary but one has been ordered so the teams will tie into each other tonight in the first game and the second fixture will be staged at Lakefield, the home ice of the juveniles later in the week. Total goals on the two games will decide the winner. The Peterborough youngsters who have gone through the regular schedule undefeated are confident that they can put Port Hope away and go into the provincial playdowns. Manager Courneya will use the following lineup tonight: Goal, Leether; defence, Gillespie, McGregor, Lawson; forwards, Hallihan, Garvey, Huard, Jones, Murphy, Smith, Hudson and Close.

Incidentally the Ontario Minor Hockey Association has been making a last minute effort to get the Peterborough juveniles to accept an "A" instead of a "B" rating. J. H. Stafford secretary-treasurer of the organization in a letter to the local club says that while their entry was accepted in the "B" category there has been complaints from others teams in the group that the Peterborough youngsters were too strong and the Petes are asked to go into the higher bracket to play off with Kingston and Oshawa. The answer of the local juveniles has been a prompt "No." The Ontario body has been informed that the club would like to play in the faster series but the question of expenses makes that impossible. As it is the Petes are forced to play their home games in Lakefield in an effort to reduce the overhead.

About A Famous Race

From Frank G. Menke, famous American sport writer whose record books have been a source of accurate information for years comes a copy of a little book entitled "Churchill Downs and the Kentucky Derby." This is a Menke masterpiece. In a small volume he has packed an enmorous amount of information in regard to the celebrated race, the history of the Derby from 1875 on, summaries and charts, the latter showing the detailed running of every Kentucky Derby for the past 38 years, the names of every Derby starter since 1875, Churchill Downs track records and a thousand and one bits of data of interest to horsemen and to sport writers. As a reference volume, covering about everything that any one would want to know about one of the most famous horse races in the world, the Menke book could not be beaten. And like everything in the line of records and sport history that Frank Menke has turned out this work is authentic.

Bryan Hextall fired three successful shots over the week-end and now leads the whole N.H.L. parade in goals scored. A consistent guy is the Grenfell lad who patrols right wing for the Rangers. He has been four seasons in the big show. The first year he rang the bell seventeen times, in his second season he fooled opposing goalies exactly 20 times, last year he came back with 24 markers to his credit and now he has 23 with a good chance of adding two or three more to his string in the five games the Rangers have to play. That is about as steady a performance as anybody under the big top can show and it explains why Hextall is regarded as likely to cop right wing position on the National League All-Star team for the second year in succession. It must be remembered that in addition to this ability to score goals Hextall is regarded as one of the hardest checking forwards in hockey. High scorers often go only one way but Hextall is as good defensively as he is on the attack.

Says Bill Walshe in the Kingston Whig-Standard: "Scoring statistics of the Kingston-Peterborough rivalry this winter show some interesting facts and all prove that the Combines were the better at the finish, which is what generally decides competitions in sport. An odd feature of the finals is that the teams were tied in the third period of all four games and in the two scheduled games the teams were only a goal apart in the last sessions. Kingston won four games to two for Peterborough during the season and the Petes finished with a 24 to 23 margin on the total score but most of it was gained in an 11 to 3 win in Peterborough when the Combines opened up wide in the last period in a futile effort to wipe out a one-goal deficit. The Petes may claim injuries weakened their team in the playoffs but when the figures for the season are considered the Combines must be conceded an edge, although it was mighty slim. One pleasing feature of the keen struggle, in fact a feature of the Eastern Ontario senior schedule, was the good sportsmanship that prevailed. There were only a few penalties and although the rivals fought hard they always parted on friendly terms."

South-End Games Postponed

The final games in the South-End League scheduled to be played tonight have been postponed owing to the snow yesterday making it impossible to have the Sacred Heart Rink available for tonight. An effort was made to secure Brock St. Rink for the games but that cushion is not open for hockey this week, it was stated. There will be disappointment among the young players over the delay but under the circumstances there was nothing but a postponement possible. The difficulty of 'teen age groups in getting hockey facilities except on open-air rinks is one reason why the supply of hockey players coming up from minor organizations remains comparatively small. Here is the South-End League without ice for its playoffs and the O.J.H.A. team taking its home games to Lakefield because it is cheaper to do that than to play here.

Visiting in town yesterday was Angie Macdonald, son of George A. Macdonald of the Quaker Oats Company and himself connected with that organization but better known in Peterborough because of his connection with Central Ontario League baseball back in the days when that loop was still flourishing. Angie was an enthusiastic member of the Petes for a number of seasons, giving a good account of himself on the pitching mound and galloping around the outfield whenever his services were needed out there and he was a prime favorite with the fans and especially with his teammates on the Peterborough club. He is living in Chicago now and doing nicely too in his business career.

Marlboros Beat Saints 4-1 To Even Series

TORONTO, Mar. 4 — (CP). — It is still anyone's choice in the Senior A section of the Ontario Hockey Association finals. Toronto Marlboros and St. Catharines Saints stand with a game each in the best-of-seven series as a result of Marlboro's defeat of St. Catharines last night.

Displaying a brisk, business-like brand of hockey, the Toronto team brought encouragement to the home town fans, many of whom left the rink willing to bet even money that Marlboros would take the series.

Leading performers for the Toronto team in order of merit were Captain Frank O'Brien, who bagged two of the goals, goalie Bas Bastien and Johnny Inglis. Shamlock and Kirby scored the team's other two counters.

Although Marlboros took a two-goal lead in the first period, they had plenty of trouble in the second stanza when St. Kitts forced the play and Paul Mundrick tossed in the team's only goal. It was in the third period that O'Brien settled matters with another goal and Bastien turned aside every attempt of St. Catharines to score.

The third game of the series will be played in St. Catharines Wednesday.

TWO ONTARIO, ONE MANITOBA RINK UNBEATEN IN TANKARD PLAY

Don Best, P. Hall Wakefield Face Stiff Tests

TORONTO, March 4 — (CP) — Three unbeaten rinks will lead competitors at the 15th annual MacDonald's Brier tankard event into the second day of play for the Canadian Curling championship here today, but as yet only one of the unbeaten quartets has met a stiff test.

Victorious in yesterday's two draws were Alber Wakefield's Manitobas, Don Best's Northern Ontarios and Perry Hall's Ontarios. The three are tied in first place as the rinks prepare for the third and fourth draws this morning and afternoon and all are drawn against strong opposition.

Wakefield's Winnipeg Strathcona rink had the most strenuous assignment of the three unbeaten fours yesterday but came through with a surprising 12-6 victory over Billy Finlay's strong British Columbia rink in a first round game before winning 14-11 over the comparatively little-favored Prince Edward Island quartet skipped by W. R. Cruikshank.

Meanwhile Best's Kirkland Lakers won their 16th and 19th straight victories, beating Prince Edward Island 15-10 and New Brunswick 15-7, as expected.

The two wins to which Perry Hall skipped his Kitchener Ontario squad were against New Brunswick and Quebec, 21-9 and 11-6 respectively. Neither of Ontario's two opponents were expected to give much more trouble than they did.

Gallery Favors Dunbar.

Despite the records, which are in favor of the unbeaten rinks, the gallery last night mostly favored the Saskatchewan rink skipped by Bill Dunbar. Wakefield made a definite impression in his victory over Finlay's four.

Although Dunbar was beaten quite soundly by the surprisingly strong Nova Scotia rink skipped by F. E. Heath in the first round, his showing against Howard Palmer in the second was brilliant. Heath beat the Dunbar aggregation 13-10, but while Dunbar outscored Palmer's Albertans 9-8 with the winning point on a tense final end in the second round Heath's rink bowed before the last shot artistry of Billy Finlay. Finlay's rink trailed 10-11 going into the final end but the veteran far-western skip counted twice with his own rocks to win 12-11.

Best's 10-straight wins started with the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario bonspiel in Timmins last month, with 15 straight for a place in the Northern Ontario Consols final. He won two straight in that final and another couple yesterday.

In to-day's games both Northern Ontario and Ontario will meet in their most important tests of the competition so far. Northern Ontario is drawn against Quebec in the third round this morning and is expected to win easily as the Quebec rink, skipped by C. H. Handley, was beaten badly by both Alberta and Ontario yesterday. But in the fourth round Best's rink will meet Billy Finlay's British Columbia rink, one of the steadiest fours in the ten rink competition.

If Hall's Ontario quartette can beat Bill Dunbar's Saskatchewan rink this morning, Hall may be the one to beat for Brier honors this year. Hall's rink will meet Prince Edward Island in the fourth round.

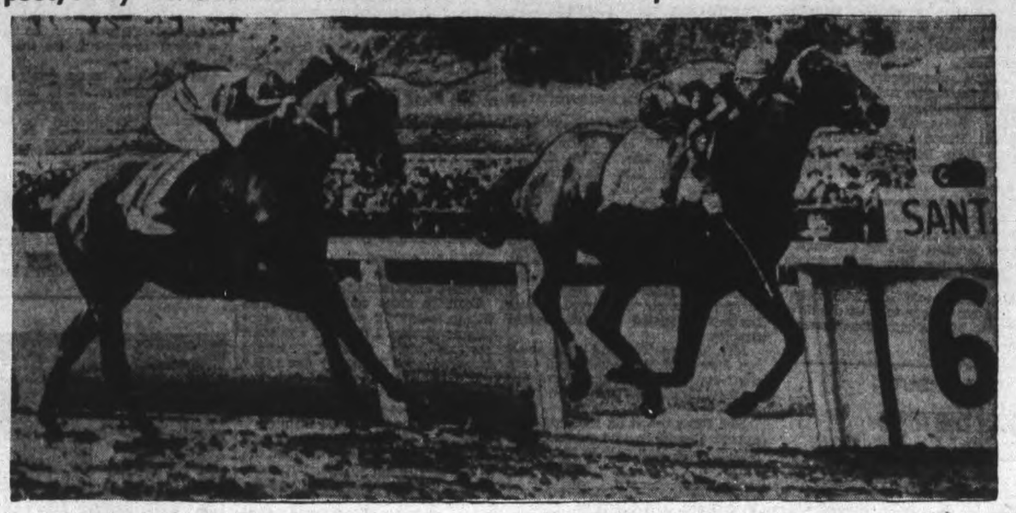
Upset, Fifty-To-One Shot Wins Santa Anita Handicap



Scoring the most staggering triumph in the history of the event, Bay View, four-year-old gelding owned by Mrs. Tony Pelleteri, of New Orleans, beats Mioland by a neck to win the seventh running of the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap. Mioland is nearest the camera here. Nickie Wall is up on the winner. The "sloppy" track accounted for time of 2.05 2-5, almost three seconds slower than the previous slowest time for the race. Bolingbroke, another rank outsider, finished third.

Rangers Drive To Oust Detroit Wings

TORONTO, March 4 — (CP). — In terms of Stanley-Cup importance, the belated bid of New York Rangers to run the gauntlet from world's champions to comeback kids in the span of one season rivalled today the National Hockey League championship duel waged by Toronto Maple Leafs and Boston Bruins.

Fresh from their playoff triumphs of 1940, the Rangers proved a sorry excuse for Stanley-Cup holders this campaign. Their cause helped none by injuries, the Blue-shirts were rarely better than fifth until they managed to move up a notch by shaking off Chicago Black Hawks about two weeks ago. With a five-game winning spurt, Rangers pulled into a third-place tie with Detroit Red Wings, only to have the Wings go ahead again by defeating them, 4-2, in overtime Sunday. The revitalized Rangers meet the Wings in a return engagement at New York tonight with still a chance of edging into the third berth. A rare scrap is in prospect, for the Red Wings, Cinderella team of the current campaign, are in no mood to lose the berth they have held all year. Good enough to come from two goals down for their victory last Sunday, the Red Wings have dropped only one game to the Rangers this season.

One other game is on the card tonight, with Boston getting a golden opportunity to take the lead in their first-place battle with Toronto. Tied with the Leafs, the Bruins meet the fifth-place Chicago Black Hawks at Boston while the Leafs are idle.

Tweed Snipers Whip Flying Six

TWEED, March 4—(ENS). — At Tweed arena the Separate School Snipers chalked up a score of 10 to 2 against the Consolidated School's "Flying Six.

Raymond Rashotte, hard hitting defence-man on the Separate School team handed out some hard bumps, and was ably assisted by Clifford Rivers, who scored four of his team's goals. Edwin Champagne made a smart play, scoring on a rebound off Goalie Grant Elliott's pads. Lynn Trudeau, in the nets for the visitors, stopped all but two of the shots directed at him. The boys look like future T.V.L. champions.

US Opens Gates On 138 Key War Products

WASHINGTON, March 4—(AP)—Blanket authority was issued today for the export from the United States to Great Britain and Northern Ireland of 138 key war products, including aluminum and aircraft parts.

In accordance with a federal licence order issued by Brig.-Gen. Russell L. Maxwell, export control administrator, the state department notified all collectors of customs that any exporter, without the requirement of an individual licence, may export any of the articles on the list to Britain and Northern Ireland.

The list is similar to one previously in effect for Canada.

The list includes 94 blanket licences for such things at aluminum, magnesium, optical glass, wool, copper and products, nickel and productions, aircraft parts, armor plate, shatterproof glass, fire control instruments, crude oil, lubricating oil and gasoline.

In addition, a licence was issued for the export of specifically-enumerated machine tools including dyes, gauges, and many types of machines.

Pension Law

British Isles was no included in the war theatre.

Another amendment makes the benefit of the Canadian Pension Law available to Canadians who serve in the naval, military and air forces of the United Kingdom, providing they were residents of Canada on the outbreak of war and remain residents of this country.

This will cover thousands of men who proceed into the Royal Air Force through the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan and smaller numbers who may serve in the British army or navy. They or their dependents will be able to draw pensions on the Canadian scale, instead of the British scale, if they are disabled or killed.

As yesterday's sitting began, M. J. Coldwell, acting C.C.F. House Leader, speaking on a question of privilege, directed against The Ottawa Citizen a charge of "false and malicious accusation of personal dishonesty which infringes upon the rights of members of Parliament."

The charge was based on a Citizen editorial published last Saturday which charged him with "twisting" a Citizen editorial published January 11, leading Justice Minister Lapointe to agree with him that it was "subversive."

Today the House resumes consideration of the motion to revive the committee which reviewed the Defence of Canada Regulations last session. This year, it will also consider changes in the naturalization laws.

Plans for another important committee relating to the war effort, the one to review war expenditures, will also be discussed today.

18,109 Discharged

In connection with the pensions legislation Mr. Mackenzie informed the House that 18,109 men have been discharged from the Canadian army so far in this war, out of about 200,000 enlisted. Of these 10,829 were discharged as medically unfit and 4,067 as unlikely to make efficient soldiers or for failure to qualify.

Defence Minister Ralston told the House the medical examination of men applying for enlistment at the start was not as efficient as the defence department hoped, due among other reasons, to the fact that medical examination boards were new and not fully conversant with military requirements. He outlined steps taken to correct the situation.

Col. Ralston also described steps taken to cut down on the number of men discharged for inefficiency. He said orders had been issued that men were not to be discharged until all possible steps to make them efficient soldiers had failed.

In addition the power to make discharges for this reason had been taken away from unit commanders and vested in district officers commanding. Thus men would not be turned out of the army merely because they did not fit in where they were first enlisted, because a commanding officer did not like them or because he saw a chance to enlist other men he thought might be better.

Air Minister Power told the House medical boards were "100 per cent better in this war than in the last," and that conditions then prevailing when large numbers of unfit men got into the forces had not developed.

148 Given Pensions

Mr. Mackenzie said so far only 148 discharged men had been awarded disability pensions, 273 pensions had been granted to dependents for the death of members of the forces and 63 gratuities had been paid discharged men in settlement of disabilities.

Howard Green (Con. Vancouver South) complained men were being discharged too freely and with little regard for their condition of health. He contended when a man was found unfit for further service he should be nursed back to health before being returned to civilian life.

Both Mr. Mackenzie and Col. Ralston assured the House the government was anxious to help men get established after discharge and said the defence and pensions departments co-operate to bring this about. Mr. Mackenzie said ex-servicemen received preference in employment in the civil service and in technical training establishments operated by the labor department.

In debate on the reference to the committee on the Defence of Canada Regulations Mr. Green pleaded for action to improve the machinery of naturalization of aliens. State Secretary Casgrain agreed with Mr. Green's suggestion that the conferring of Canadian citizenship on aliens should be invested with dignity and solemnity in order to impress the new citizens with their obligations.

Mail Order Naturalization

Mr. Green said aliens became naturalized "by mail order" at present. After they had been approved for citizenship by a judge who had not the "slightest possible chance to get down to the real merits" of whether they were entitled to Canadian citizenship, applicants were sent a form of the oath of allegiance to sign and swear. When they returned it to the secretary of state they received their naturalization certificates by mail.

He said when aliens were naturalized they should be required to take the oath before a Judge, perhaps in the presence of leading citizens of the community, and the Judge should present the certificate to them personally.

Provision for the deportation of enemy aliens after the war was also urged by Mr. Green. He said the law as it stood was inadequate in this respect.

Other suggestions from the Vancouver member were that schools and textbooks be provided for the instruction of applicants for naturalization in Canadian history, institutions and ideals. All that was required now, he said, was a knowledge of French or English and that knowledge need not include the ability to read and write either language.

John Diefenbaker (Con. Lake Centre) said he thought judicial tribunals should be set up to review and finally dispose of cases of British subjects interned under the Defence of Canada regulations.

He said he believed the regulations were second and he expressed complete confidence in their administration, but he believed some misgivings in the public mind would be removed by creation of such tribunals. In all cases where tribunals decision was unanimous he would remove from the Minister of Justice the discretion to say when and when not a British subject should be released from internment. In cases of divided opinion he would leave the discretion with the minister where it now rests in al cases.

Opposition to the regulations in their present form was expressed by T. C. Douglas (C.C.F. Weyburn) who contended every person and organization accused should have the right to a defence before a judicial or quasi-judicial tribunal. He objected to such organizations as Jehovah's Witnesses, Technocracy, Incorporated, and the Ukrainian Temple being declared illegal without opportunity to state their case.

Welsh Citizens Honor Patron Saint

Some of the stories of the Welsh and their ways were told to the members of St. David's Welsh Society of Peterborough at the annual banquet held in the Empress Hotel on Monday night. The speaker was Rev. George Kelly of Lakefield, a Welshman by birth, and one well qualified to speak on the anniversary of St. David's Day.

The speaker referred to the Welsh as being a driven people, and qualified his statements with passages from their history. They were, he said, driven into their country; their foes, first the Romans, then in succession the Saxons and Danes, repeatedly made them take refuge in the mountains and valleys of the land they learned to love fervently; so fervently that the prayer ofttimes unspoken remains in the heart of Welsh folk no matter where they may be. "Cymru, Am Byth'—Wales forever.

A natural characteristic of the Welsh, the speaker continued, is their ability to excel in the world of music, and their charms in that direction are natural ones he said. Perhaps it is because of the physical aspects of their country that they are so favoured, the hills amongst which they live force them, and has for centuries, to climb, and in this manner their lungs have become developed. It might even be, the speaker went on, that the climatic conditions themselves have much to do with the matter, for the climate of that country is not dry and harsh, it is moist and pleasant.

The ability of the Welsh as a nation to pioneer was referred to by the speaker, and he told of their numbers in Canada at the present time. According to the last national census there were 62,494 Welshmen in Canada, 22,680 in Ontario, and the city of Toronto had more than 5,000.

The fact that the Welsh were among the first to sing harmony is told in history, Mr. Kelly said, and writers were astounded at the extent of thir collective ability in that direction in ages gone. Chapters have been written about it, and tradition has been mouded out of this national virtue.

No people in the British Isles have suffered more because of social and economic difficulties than have the Welsh, the speaker said, and the changes through which they have been driven have left deep impressions upon their history. The industrial revolution had an effect upon the country perhaps unparalleled. The development of the coal industry centralized population to an extent that made for more social and economic difficulties, difficulties which drove many of them out into the world at large.

The question naturally arises, the speaker said, in the heart of every Welshman, "What is my country doing in the great struggle in progress in the world to-day?" and the answer is one not hard to find. It is doing as it always had done, and as it always will do, he said, it is fighting for freedom and justice. It was thought, at the beginning of the war, that Wales would be an area of safety, it was in the minds of the British as a whole to such an extent that many thousands of children were evacuated from "danger areas" in England and Scotland, to Wales. It has since been proven that Wales is in the front line of the battle being fought, and here he referred to recent raids by German aircraft on Cardiff, and other centres.

The program, under the chairmanship of the president of the society, Mrs. G. Packenham, who is serving her third year in that office, included many musical numbers, and incidental remarks by members. The toast to Wales was proposed by Mrs. R. Jones, and was responded to with the singing of the Welsh National Anthem. A vocal solo was then given by Mrs. C. Armstrong, and Welsh airs were played on the piano by Miss M. Flowers. Rev. T. H. Floyd proposed the toast to Canada and vocal solos were heard, sung by John Cairns. The Welsh National Anthem was sung in English by Mrs. W. J. Davies, who was accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. E. Pearse, and another vocal solo was given by Miss Gladys Mills.

The typical Welsh love of music was manifested throughout the meeting, when a liberal sprinkling of community singing was appreciated. Miss M. Flowers played for all the songs as harmonious Welsh voices blended in British songs of all types.

under the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan.

The text of the motion, as it will go on the order paper, follows: "That the members of this Legislature approve of the principle that every public building actually needed for the effective prosecution of our war effort should be made available whenever required but they believed there is no justification for taking over the buildings of the Ontario Agricultural College for use as a wireless training school, and that better and quicker results will be obtained by erecting wooden buildings for that purpose."

The amendment to the Magistrate Act is a result of a recommendation by the special committee which investigated court administration in Ontario. It was introduced by Ian Strachan, Liberal Whip and member for Toronto St. George.

When opposition developed to another clause which provides that only lawyers could be appointed as magistrates, Mr. Strachan agreed to withdraw this sections.

Women On Guns

LONDON, March 4.—(CP).— The hand that rocks the cradle soon may guide the guns that rock Britain's skies.

Lady Carlisle, chief commandant of the Auxiliary Territorial Service which included 35,000 voluntary women war workers, said the government was looking favorably at A.T.S. operation of anti-aircraft instruments.

"They say woman's smaller hands may be better adapted to operating these delicate instruments," she said.

German planes, for the first time, made use of a new type of "chandelier" flares to light up objectives at one point in East Anglia.

Observers said the new device consisted of a perpendicular chain of white lights, with a brilliant orange flare in the centre. When struck by anti-aircraft fire, the flares broke into "thousands" of smaller lights which brilliantly illuminated the area below.

Explosive Bombs Follow

With widespread fires lighting the city, the German bombers followed up with high explosives.

Cardiff's chief constable, James Wilson, said: 'It was a real pyrotechnic display. I doubt if any town has had more incendiary bombs showered upon it in any one raid."

In one hospital where surgeons were working over bomb casualties, one of the operating theatre was struck, but no casualties resulted.

Motion picture theatres were showing to capacity crowds when the fire bombs began to fall. In some, the audience remained seated, joining in community singing, while nearby business blocks were burning.

It was officially stated that one of the German raiders over Cardiff was destroyed by anti-aircraft fire.

Landmark Burns Near Zion Hall

TWEED, Ont., March 4 (ENS)—Another old landmark of Hastings county, the homestead of Mr Ernest Cronkwright, Zion Hill, 8th concession of Thurlow township, was completely destroyed over the weekenn when fire razed the fine old residence.

The old stone house, one of the first to be constructed in the Zion Hill district, was one of the last connecting links between the present and past generations, and the older residents of that district will regret its destruction.

Cause of the fire was stated to be sparks catching in the roof of the house. The flames had gained considerable headway before being noticed, however, and the family, aided by volunteer fire-fighters of the neighborhood were only able to save part of the household furniture.

The house was tenanted by the owner, Mr. Ernest Cronkwright, and his son, Sherman and family, who lived in one half. The amount of insurance on the property and on the household furnishings was not determined.

broke faith with their fellow-Canadians have gone to jail. You heard of these things. How?

We've had many courageous men in many fields who have done courageous and unselfish things. The news of their deeds has come to you also. How?

There are dozens of new plastics that promise us an amazing list of useful products, and that already are playing their part in the concerted war-time effort . . . There's a startling new revolution in adapting peace-time industries to war-time needs . . . There's a sale of men's shoes today at one store, of table-cloths at another . . . Sulphanilimide is effecting sensational pneumonia cures . . . These things are news which you've picked up somewhere. How?

In your newspaper, of course!

* * *

How news is gathered, how it is brought to you in articles and dispatches and advertisements is a long and interesting story. But you get the news—cheaply, accurately, quickly. Now let's see what you do with it when you get it.

In the first place you, the people, govern yourselves . . . you regulate the affairs of your community, the Province, the Dominion. Because you get the news, you are able to adjust your lives and your laws and your thoughts to the actual and factual world. In Germany or Italy fairy tales will serve as well as news, because the subjects of those states have all their thinking and governing done from what passes for the top! But not here!

In the second place you, the people of Canada, having the news and information about all that's offered in the market place, know how and where and when to buy the things you need. You are equipped with FACTS to buy wisely and still play your part in the war effort. In some countries you'd stand in line and take what was offered—if anything. In Germany, even before the war began, you'd get measured amounts of "ersatz"—substitutes—and like them.

In Canada, then, the things you learn from your newspaper contribute largely to your liberty and mightily to your comfort. The "Freedom of the Press", therefore, is something not simply of concern to publishers—it is vitally important to you and to me as individual citizens. We can't afford to let anything interfere with it. For, in the last analysis, it is our freedom, too!

MAIN STREET TOPICS

SAILORS RETURN

At least one mother in Peterborough has had good news since word came that the Canadian Fleet was in. Jimmie Lawson, well known Peterborough athlete of a few years ago has wired his mother that he will be home on leave as soon as he can get here.

A MINOR ACCIDENT.

James Holland, 584 Murray Street, was driving south on Park Street as H. C. Sootheran, 455 Gilmour Street, backed his car out of a laneway on the west side of Park Street. Holland tried to swerve to the east to avoid a collision but his right front fender collided with the left rear bumper of the other car. The damage was not heavy.

TO ANNUAL MEETING.

Seven members of the Peterborough Federation of Agriculture are going to Toronto Wednesday to attend the annual meeting of the Ontario Federation of which James Gifford is president. They are M. H. Johnston, Milton Clark, C. E. Moore, Clayton Hanbidge, Fred Eason, Elmer Milburn and Joseph Crowley.

SHOW NEW NOZZLE.

Alderman Ovens, chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, invited the council and citizens Monday night to see a demonstration of a gadget called a "fognozzle" that is being added to the equipment of the fire Department. It will be shown at the corner of George and Sherbrooke Street Thursday at 2 p.m.

WANTED MONTH'S ADJOURNMENT.

"I am pleading not guilty and asking for a month's adjournment," said a local man when charged as a second offender drunk in police court this morning. Magistrate Langley looked a little surprised at the request but told the accused that a week was the best he could expect in the way of adjournment, and that he would have to be ready a week from today.

MONTH'S FIRE LOSS

Chief Gimblett reported to the council last night fire loss on buildings and contents of $20,609.38 last month.

SKATING PARTY

Plans have been completed for the Prince of Wales Rangers skating party on Thursday night. The band of the regiment will furnish the music. A dance will be held for the Rangers and their friends after the skating, in the Legion Hall. The public is invited to the first part of the evening's entertainment at Brock Street Arena.

RIDE ON PLATFORM

C.N.R. authorities have complained to the police about the actions of two boys who rode bicycles in a reckless manner around the station platform Monday as passengers were alighting from a train. Finally one of the riders collided with a baggage truck and when the two were remonstrated with it is said they replied with an outburst of foul language.

WHO FOUND THIS PURSE?

On Saturday a soldier's wife placed five ten-dollar bills of her monthly allowance of $79.00 in a small purse and then had the misfortune to lose the purse. She has her family to feed and clothe and the balance of her money is going fast for the ordinary essentials of the home. Her husband has been on active service for many months. The person who finds the $50 is urged to get in touch with the Examiner. A reward will be paid.

FACES TWO CHARGES.

Facing charges of vagrancy and second offence drunkenness, a local man who was allowed to go on suspended sentence a short time ago on condition that he get out of town and refrain from troubling his family, pleaded guilty to both charges in police court this morning. On the drunkenness charge Magistrate Langley fined him $50 and costs or a month in jail, and on the vagrancy count he was remanded until next week.

32-Mill Rate Is Struck By City Council

Peterborough's municipal tax rate was finally determined by bylaw at 32 mills for public school supporters and 33.34 mills for separate school supporters at the regular meeting of the council last night.

Alderman Cotton's resolution, seconded by Alderman Bradburn, concluded weeks of examining estimates from the constituent departments of the civic administration, reports of which have already been published. The climax of all this committee work reached the climax last night with the striking of the tax rate for 1941. The bylaw was passed without comment.

Alderman Gordon sponsored a resolution, seconded by Alderman Curtis, that the municipal nominations next December be held in the evening during an hour beginning at 7.30 o'clock. This departure from custom which assigned nominations for Mayor, Board of Education and Utilities to an hour in the morning, following by the aldermanic nominations at night, was recently heralded by Alderman Gordon's declaration of intention to effect a change which would bring the Board of Education before the more largely attended public meeting in the evening. He said recently that the taxpayers would have a better chance to interrogate nominees for the Board regarding its administration of school affairs. The resolution was unanimously supported by the council.

A letter from the secretary of the Board of Education last night advised the council that their proposal that the board delete from their estimates an item of $4,000 for anticipated reduction in the grant from the Ontario Government would be considered at a meeting of the finance committee of the board, Tuesday, March 4.

"Received," said Mayor Hamilton on a broadly extended, down the scale note, causing a smile around the aldermanic circle.

Public Water Fronts.

The council passed two recommendations from the Peterborough Tourist Bureau. One was a familiar appeal to the Department of Highways to complete Highway No. 28 from Apsley to Bancroft. The other was a request to the Department of Lands and Forests to sequestrate water front areas of Crown lands to be used as camping sites and picnic grounds by tourists and the public generally. Both motions were moved by Alderman Dutton and seconded by Alderman Swanston.

"There will soon be no place that can be used by the people," Mayor Hamilton said, commending the idea of reserving strips of land on lakes and rivers. Other passing remarks by several members of the council accentuated Mayor Hamilton's remark.

During the last fifteen or twenty years many complaints have been heard in and about Peterborough that people were being excluded more and more every year from water fronts, many of which had been used as picnic places for generations. The Tourist Bureau is probably the first organization to make an appeal to the provincial authorities to set aside water frontages on Crown lands for use by the general public.

Heads Canadian Hillel

Rabbi Ben Zion Steindel, who has been appointed director of the first B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation to be opened in Canada. The new Foundation will serve the Jewish students at Queen's University, Kingston, where Rabbi Steindel will also be spiritual leader of the local synagogue and Jewish chaplain at the military training center.

9 New Members Introduced To Lions' Club

Nine new members were initiated into the Lions' Club at the regular bi-monthly dinner meeting held Monday evening at the Kawartha Club, and the membership for this service club now stands at 29. The objective for the present is 35 members.

Fred Cripps, past president and past district governor supervised the initiation ceremony, in the absence of delegates from the Port Perry Club who were unable to get through to Peterborough because of the snow. He defined the word Lions as standing for "Liberty, Intelligence, Our Nation's Safety," and in the course of his remarks explained to the newcomers, the nature and scope of the work done by this service club.

Finance Tonsil Work

Following the initiation service, Mr. Cripps explained that since inauguration the local Lions Club has financed close to 30 cases of tonsil work, in families where circumstances prevented the work being done, and he also described the training which had been given boys in band work.

Herb. Jamison, president of the club, extended a warm welcome to the members, and urged all to be Lions in spirit as well as in name, by taking a full share of the service work responsibility. He also extended an invitation to all to attend a dance on March 17th at the Kawartha Club, with the proceeds going to the British War Victims' Fund.

Sell Band Instruments

The Club has decided to dispose of the band instruments to the Salvation Army and to use the money along with the necessary amount from the club funds to purchase one $500 War Savings Certificate. This is to be deposited and set up as a sinking fund for future club work.

Tickets for the summer carnival were distributed and the prizes this year will be one $500 War Savings Certificate and one $200 War Savings Certificate. One will be given away each night of the carnival and if the lucky winner is on the grounds he will receive a cash bonus of $25.

On April 7th the Club will observe Safety Night, and on this occasion representatives from the Board of Education, Separate School Board and the Police Department will be guests of the club. Following the meeting they will meet the safety committee and discuss a program of safety for children.

War 25 Years Ago

By The Canadian Press.

March 4, 1916 —Russian force landed at Atani on the Black Sea under cover of fire from fleet. Germans suffered heavy losses in fighting before Verdun. German raider Moewe returned to home port after capturing 15 Allied ships in South Atlantic cruise.

Lucky Canadian Ship Has Close Shaves

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, March 4.—(CP).—A "lucky ship" is the designation seamen on the other side of the Atlantic apply to a certain Canadian naval unit that has been operating over there for several months.

Seamen returning to Canada after serving on her through heavy actions and tedious routine duties told about it yesterday as they landed. "She really is a lucky ship," they agreed.

"We had plenty of narrow shaves," said A.B. Bert Offin of West Kootenay, B.C., "but we never caught anything serious.

"Sometimes," he said, "we'd go out in a convoy, and nothing at all would happen while we were in it. Then, just after we'd left, it might be attacked.

Often we'd be patrolling and would get a call that some ship was being attacked. We'd rush up in a hurry, only to find the attackers had beat it. The men in the convoys got to look on our vessel as lucky, and I guess they were right."

In all her activities up and down and off the coasts of Britain and France, the vessel lost just one man. He was washed overboard in a heavy sea.

A.B. George Padden of Toronto, swept overboard at the same time, survived. Both were aloft lashing down some gear when a great wave licked over the ship and dragged them down into the water.

Both wore heavy boots and the thick 'lammy coats" that navy men don at sea. But Padden kicked off his boots, slipped out of the coat and managed to get rid of most of his other clothing as he kept himself afloat.

It took an hour to bring him back aboard. With the high seas thrashing, it was difficult to manoeuvre the ship into position to take him on without having him smashed against its sides.

Padden was down to his underwear when he was finally lifted aboard, limp and cheerful.

Oldest Native Mrs. Cookson Dies Age Of 92

Death took Peterborough's oldest native citizen on Monday when Mrs. Edward J. Cookson passed away at her home, 508 Aylmer street, after a lengthy illness.

Born in the old "Bundy" block 92 years ago, Mr. Cookson before her death could recall the sights familiar to Peterborough residents of the 19th century, her birthplace is now marked by the modern building of the Canadian Departmental store at the corner of George and Charlotte streets. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jason Lundy, and one of the very few who were in Peterborough during the 1860's.

An Anglican, Mrs. Cookson was a member of St. John's church, and her interest in its affairs never flagged. While her health permitted she was a faithful attendant and worker.

Her husband, the late Edward J. Cookson, was a carriage turner by trade, until death took him from her side more than 50 years ago. Mr. Cookson was well known to those in the city during that period.

Surviving are four sons, Edward, Charles, John and Frederick, all of Toronto, two daughters, Mrs. N. Munro, and Miss Mary E. Cookson, of Peterborough, and one brother, R. D. Lundy, of Toronto.

Always a popular person, the wisdom accompanying age was hers, and Mrs. Cookson often found herself the centre of attraction when friends came frequently to visit her. Possessed with a ready wit always appreciated, the old lady was willing to share it at all times.

The funeral will be on Thursday, from the family residence, 508 Aylmer street at 2.00 p.m. Rev. Canon W. P. Robertson of S. John's will officiate, and interment will be in Little Lake cemetery.

Rambling Reporter

A VICTORY STEAM-ROLLER

Another report of staggering proportions came from the Peterborough Collegiate today as the record for sale of War Savings Stamps soared to a new high. Two weeks ago, the total was $720.00, the following week, it jumped to $880.00 and now the new total for the week ending Monday is $975.00 almost four times the original objective set up way back last fall. The sale of War Savings Certificates for cash also showed an increase with a total sale of $352.00 worth.

G. A. Gillespie To Direct Plowing Match

George A. Gillespie has promised the local plowmen to accept the chairmanship of the general committee which will direct the provincial match to be held here next October.

Howard Quinn, president of the Peterborough Plowmen's Association, informed the Examiner that he had been urging Mr. Gillespie to take charge of the big job, "and I think I've got him persuaded." Mr. Quinn seemed to be both happy and confident about the prospects under the management of Mr. Gillespie.

Mr. Gillespie confirmed the Quinn report this morning. "I always played second fiddle to Joe (Senator Duffus), but seeing that he has retired from activities this time I am willing to do anything I can to help the boys make a success of it."

Some of the plowmen still don't believe that the Senator is going to stand along the sidelines as the months of preparation go by. "We might as well make an early start," Mr. Gillespie said. "We are not undertaking to spend any money until away on in the summer, but there is quite a lot of work that can be done before long. Then, if things go well with us in Europe there will be nothing to hold us back as the plowing match time gets nearer. That is the way I feel about it.

Support From City.

"I know we are going to get a great deal of support from the city. Mayor Hamilton and members of the City Council are going to be actively with us, and many others are just like ourselves. They know as we do that the nation is in great danger, and the haven't any time right now for distractions that are far away in October, but they will be with us in the fall if everything goes all right in the meantime."

Mr. Gillespie is holding a little meeting at his house some night this week at which he will sit in with Mr. Quinn, Vern Campbell, Frank Paterson, and some of the other officers, merely as a preliminary, to talk things over, while the snow is deep on the ground. Mr. Paterson has been suggesting that the local committee could obtain at a bargain price a lot of the equipment that was used last fall at St. Thomas, and that is one of the first items to be considered.

But any way, "come wind or weather"—du Maurier—the plowing the plowing match is not going to be shelved and neglected while Mr. Gillespie is at the head of it. There may not be much trumpeting during the spring months, while hearts are anxious about affairs in Europe, but the ground work is going ahead, and the beginning is being made this week.

9 Bank Pledges To Aid War Come From Cafe

For twenty-five years, Hum Hoy, manager of the Paris Cafe has been doing his part as a citizen of Peterborough and in the War Savings Certificate Drive nearing completion now, he has shown the way to others in the city by signing up the entire restaurant staff.

This morning H. C. Sootheran, manager of the Royal Bank reported to committe headquarters that he had been handed in nine bank pledges by a member of his committee who had canvassed the cafe. The pledges were signed by Hum Hoy and by the eight Chinese who work for him. This is a 100 per cent effort and each man is lending a substantial amount every month.

At six o'clock on Monday night the total number of subscribers in the drive had climbed to 9,093, which is 2,093 over the original objective of 7,000 and incidentally one of the finest efforts of any city in the same population bracket across the province. The returns are still coming in, and it looks now as if final reports will be in the committee rooms before the end of this week.

The total of 9,093 consists of the following: Bank pledges, 316; honor pledges, 1,453; Retail division 1,896; Industrial, 5,261 and special purchases, 367.

Practically Completed

The house to house canvass in the city is practically finished, as only two women still have to report. Delay was occasioned because one woman canvasser was ill, the other had to recanvass several houses as the people were not at home the first time. The final report on this branch of the drive is expected tonight.

Ward chairmen who planned and directed the work of several teams of women in this mammoth undertaking have voiced their pleasure at the fine feeling of enthusiasm and co-operation which characterized the work of the women. Several workers called up their team captains telling they had enjoyed working in the campaign and that they were ready at any time to assist in a similar venture again.

County Engineer Meets Council

D. A. Maciver, county engineer, was introduced to the city council Monday night by M. H. Gainey, the city's representatives on the Suburban Area Commission. He is also county road superintendent, and is in charge of the work done on the roads in the suburban area system to which the city is contributing $10,000 a year at present.

Mr. Gainey called on the council last night to report to them on the work done by the Commission last year, and briefly discuss this year's program.

"Your Commission is doing a grand job," Mayor Hamilton said, "and we appreciate the way the Commission is always ready to cooperate with the city, and especially when we make any suggestion."

Plans Submitted For Power Line

Plans of the new Hydro power line into the Canadian General Electric Company's plant by way of Sherbrooke street and Rutherford avenue have been submitted to the City Council.

These are high tension lines bringing increased power for a bigger production program. Details of location of poles have been left to City Engineer Parsons and Hydro engineers.

It is understood that work will be begun within a short time on a new substation building immediately east of what is called the boiler house and in the late afternoon shadow of the big stack.

Incidentally the phrase "boiler house" is to otepid and colorless to do justice to the hell-fires they stoke up in two huge structures called boilers. And they actually are boilers but to the layman they look like pretty nearly anything else. A great roaring and hissing at times sounds like the realism of an inferno as coal ground to the constituency of flour is blown into the fire and flames around and through the tubes containing the water. After all big as it is the huge outfit consists of nothing more than magnified proportion of a steaming tea kettle except that the steam is harnessed and put to work.

Drought Shuts Schools

HILO, T.H., March 4 (AP)—Because of a water shortage, nine schools will close today if no rain falls. Hilo's high school was closed yesterday. Hilo, perhaps the rainiest city of its size under the United States flag, had a mean annual rainfall over a 52-year period of 140 inches, with 207 inches recorded in 1923.

HALF-HOLIDAY.

From January through to October 31 the Peterborough Doctors are observing Wednesday Afternoon as a Half-Holiday, with three doctors on call. Those on call on Wednesday Afternoon of This Week are: Dr. S. Y. Welsh, Dr. J. M. McCulloch, Dr. D. C. King.

Don Best's Rink Wins 20th Game

TORONTO, March 4.— (CP).— The brilliance of Perry Hill's Kitchener rink overshadowed other fine performances here to-day in the third round of the Canadian curling championships, with Hall winning his third straight game in the stiffest test he yet has faced in this 15th renewal of the annual Macdonald's Brier tankard event.

Hall's last rock on the last end of a match with Bill Dunbar's strong Saskatchewan rink gave Ontario a 10-9 victory and retained for Ontario a place among the three leading rinks. Manitoba and Northern Ontario, who share first place with Ontario in the 10-rink, round-robin event, came through their third round matches easily.

Don Best's Kirkland Lake rink, representing Northern Ontario, won its 20th straight game — three straight in this bonspiel—with an easy 17-2 triumph over the winless Quebec Curling Club rink skipped by C. H. Handley. Albert Wakefield's Winnipeg Strathconas also remained in the unbeaten circle by trouncing New Brunswick's St. John Curling Club rink 11-3. J. S. Malcolm is the New Brunswick skip.

Other Results.

In other games, Howard Palmer's Alberta Calgary rink proved too steady for Bill Finlay's British Columbia entry from Vancouver in a 13-8 victory and F. E. Heath's Nova Scotia representatives won 14-6 over the Prince Edward Island rink piloted by W. R. Cruikshank.

For the more ardent followers of the curling game it was significant that at no time in the Ontario-Saskatchewan match did one rink win two consecutive ends, the skip with last rock counting each time.

It was that way with the rock which won the game. When the thirds threw their last rocks Ontario had shot rock, but Bill Dunbar raised in one of his from just inside the hog line to be shot. Then Hall's first rock came down and raised Dubar's counter through the house, leaving the original Ontario shot counting—just biting the outside circle.

Dunbar drew beautifully in behind a guard shot almost to the button with his final rock and most observers believed the match was over, that such a shot could not be duplicated. But Hall showed them. His rock shaved the guard finer than had Dunbar's, and that final rock won the game.

Urges Town Bombing

LONDON, March 4 —(CP)—Dr. Paolo Treves, Italian Socialist exile, urged a heavy air attack on Italian towns during an address to the Oxford University Democratic Socialist Club. "I feel there is a necessity to strike hard at Italy," he said. "If we bomb Italian towns we can hasten the revival of Italy."

Balloon Cuts Power

HELSINKI, March 4 (AP)—Elevators and trolleys halted and lights went out in this Finnish capital last night. The confusion lasted for about 20 minutes. A barrage balloon which had floated across Europe fouled power lines.

Housewives of Malaya are demanding electric refrigerators.

City Increases Grant To Women

City council's grant to the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Peterborough War Service Council was increased last night from $100 to $150 by Alderman Dutton's motion, seconded by Alderman Ovens.

The members of the Auxiliary wish to buy three bugles and two drums to complete the instrumentation of a band organized by the 3rd Field Park Company of the Canadian Engineers. The cost of these instruments was said to be $105.

The council also recommended to the Auxiliary two queries in which it was thought they might be interested. One was a letter from Mrs. J. H. (Mary) Morecraft of Montreal who is planning to raise a fund of $25,000 from the Marys of Canada to buy an engine for the Dorothys' Spitfire airplane. Mrs. Morecraft requested the name of some woman in Peterborough whose christened name is Mary to take charge of an appeal to local women of that name for contributions to the proposed fund.

The other letter was from Lady Gertrude Craig, Mayoress of Peterborough, England, asking for local assistance to an association of the families of soldiers, sailors and airmen in Great Britain. Lady Craig explained that the fund was organized in the Old Country to raise money for the aid of families of men in the three services.

The council last night decided on Alderman Dutton's motion, seconded by Alderman Swanston, to refer both these letters to the Ladies' Auxiliary of the War Service Council as outlining activities in which they might engage.

Good As His Word

IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich. March 4 (AP)—Nels Mortensen, 65, climbed into a barber chair for a haircut and began a conversation about a mutual friend who died suddenly. "When I die, I'll go just like that," he said. A moment later Mortenson collapsed and died.

Two Deaths In Family Within Two Days

Death struck twice within two days at a Toronto home of a family which lived for years in this community. On Friday last John Speers, former Ashburnham grocer and one of the old guard from Ashburnham passed away, and on Sunday his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Thistlewaite died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Knight in Toronto.

The late Mrs. Thistlewaite's maiden name was Elizabeth Speers and she spent a great deal of her life in Peterborough. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Wm. Knight and Miss Annie of Toronto. Three sisters also survive, Mrs. Thos. Corner, Toronto, Mrs. Steve Gaskina of New Jersey and Mrs. Stanley Matchett of Hunter street east Peterborough.

The funeral will take place from the Ross Craig Funeral Home, Queen street west, Toronto on Wednesday at two in the afternoon.

Nearly 3,500,000 sheep and 1,350,000 goats are being raised in Mongolia.

Omemee Y.P.S. Aid War Fund

Young People's Union of Trinity United Church, Omemee, turned $8 over to Harry Lamb at Omemee this week, and the money was handed in to the British War Victims' Fund today by Mr. Lamb, who is the Fund Representative in the village.

Over in Ashburnham, another group of students added their pennies to the fund, when Grade 3, King George School, sent along $2. The total now stands at $9,744.51, just $246 short of the $10,000 mark.

Tickets are now on sale for the four-piece set of silverware, and on this topic, an interesting letter was received from Mrs. James Haggis at Perth, Ontario, this morning. Mrs. Haggis said in her letter that they receive the Examiner every day, and on seeing the item about the draw, and knowing the donor, they decided to send along $1 for tickets on the set and as a contribution to the Fund.

Members of the Fire Department have undertaken the sale of tickets on a Red Cocker Spaniel donated by W. J. Donnelly, veteran of the last war who lives on Union street.

The list is as follows:—

Previously asknowledged	$9,730.25
Box at McLeod's Drug Store	1.18
Young People's Union, Trinity United Church, Omemee	8.00
Grade III, King George School	2.00
Box at In and Out Shop	2.39
Box at R. Fair, Ltd.	.60
Total to date	$9,744.51

London girls will be called to help with the 1941 sugar beet harvest.

Samuel Carver Is Laid To Rest

As Spruce Glen was hushed, and a large circle of friends bowed their heads, Rev. Dr. G. S. Easton spoke of Samuel Delevel Carver, nature lover, temperance worker, and Christian, who was laid to rest in Little Lake Cemetery on Monday.

A minister is seldom privileged, Mr. Easton said, to have in his parish a man of such outstanding virtues. Mr. Carver had been a charter member of the old Charlotte Street Methodist Church, and continued his attendance and devotion after it became Trinity Church.

As one of the members of one of the oldest families in Peterborough district, Mr. Carver had enjoyed the confidence and respect of numbers who knew him, the speaker said, and as an exponent of nature he was well qualified. His studies in that direction had enabled him to predict when the various birds would arrive and leave. His keen insight into the lives of others made him an understanding man, and one of whom his many friends were proud.

Born Where He Died

He was born where he died, Dr. Easton explained, and his passing indicated the end of a family well known in the district which had been its home. Spruce Glen has been in the Carver name for more than 125 years, and it is more than unusual to find such distinction in times like these. One son, Leslie Deleval Carver carries on that name so well known throughout this section of Ontario.

Dr. Easton referred to the life of Mr. Carver as one in which Godly qualities stood out. He had never tasted liquor or smoked, and his frequent communions with nature tempered his life. His work among those interested in temperance in Ontario was appreciated.

Chief among the mourners at the funeral were his sorrowing widow; his son; two nieces, Miss Alice Carver, and Mrs. M. Whaley and her son Bruce of Caledonia. One nephew, Bruce Carver, journeyed from the House of Commons in Ottawa to attend the funeral, as did many friend from Hamilton, Oshawa and other points.

The pall-bearers were V. J. McElderry, K.C.; A. W. Pratten, R. J. Kidd, Arthur Stinson, Arthur Stenson, and R. E. Knox.

Plenty To Say Later Nicholls Tells Cadi

"There will be lots to say later on about some features of this case but this is not the time or place for it," declared Thomas Nicholls in police court Monday afternoon after Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., had committed him for trial for breaking and entering the C.D.S. store.

His statement was in reply to a question from the magistrate as to whether the prisoner considered it unfair to have proceeded without Nicholls' counsel, M. Frankel, Toronto, being present.

The court waited for over half an hour beyond the time set to give the lawyer a chance to get there.

"I had understood Saturday," said Magistrate Langley, "that your lawyer would not be here today."

"The snow may have stopped him," said the accused, who added that he was quite willing to go ahead without his counsel.

Magistrate Langley then committed Nicholls for trial.

Farmer Has Not Been Getting A Square Deal Mayor Favors Anything Reasonable For Him

"What do you think of the cent increase in the price of milk?" a reporter enquired with a strong feeling that he could anticipate Mayor Hamilton's answer almost word for word.

His Worship is a farm appeaser. He believes in the community of interest of city and country people, and when he says, as at a dinner recently, that he hoped the people from the townships would regard themselves as at home when in the city, he meant every word of it. After all, he grew up in the farm implement business.

"Well, now..." His Worship began, and then halted a moment. "I don't like to see an increase just now, because I think there are some people who are not in the best position to pay it, but there are fewer people in that position than there were two or three years ago. On the other hand I am convinced the farmer has not been getting a square deal, and I am in favor of anything reasonable to give him increased revenue. You can't expect agriculture to do its best in war time production if it is not getting enough money for its requirements."

SAILORS RETURN

At least one mother in Peterborough has had good news since word came that the Canadian Fleet was in. Jimmie Lawson, well known Peterborough athlete of a few years ago has wired his mother that he will be home on leave as soon as he can get here.

A MINOR ACCIDENT.

James Holland, 584 Murray Street, was driving south on Park Street as H. C. Sootheran, 455 Gilmour Street, backed his car out of a laneway on the west side of Park Street. Holland tried to swerve to the east to avoid a collision but his right front fender collided with the left rear bumper of the other car. The damage was not heavy.

TO ANNUAL MEETING.

Seven members of the Peterborough Federation of Agriculture are going to Toronto Wednesday to attend the annual meeting of the Ontario Federation of which James Gifford is president. They are M. H. Johnston, Milton Clark, C. E. Moore, Clayton Hanbidge, Fred Eason, Elmer Milburn and Joseph Crowley.

SHOW NEW NOZZLE.

Alderman Ovens, chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, invited the council and citizens Monday night to see a demonstration of a gadget called a "fognozzle" that is being added to the equipment of the fire Department. It will be shown at the corner of George and Sherbrooke Street Thursday at 2 p.m.

WANTED MONTH'S ADJOURNMENT.

"I am pleading not guilty and asking for a month's adjournment," said a local man when charged as a second offender drunk in police court this morning. Magistrate Langley looked a little surprised at the request but told the accused that a week was the best he could expect in the way of adjournment, and that he would have to be ready a week from today.

MONTH'S FIRE LOSS

Chief Gimblett reported to the council last night fire loss on buildings and contents of $20,609.36 last month.

SKATING PARTY

Plans have been completed for the Prince of Wales Rangers skating party on Thursday night. The band of the regiment will furnish the music. A dance will be held for the Rangers and their friends after the skating, in the Legion Hall. The public is invited to the first part of the evening's entertainment at Brock Street Arena.

RIDE ON PLATFORM

C.N.R. authorities have complained to the police about the actions of two boys who rode bicycles in a reckless manner around the station platform Monday as passengers were alighting from a train. Finally one of the riders collided with a baggage truck and when the two were remonstrated with it is said they replied with an outburst of foul language.

WHO FOUND THIS PURSE?

On Saturday a soldier's wife placed five ten-dollar bills of her monthly allowance of $79.00 in a small purse and then had the misfortune to lose the purse. She has her family to feed and clothe and the balance of her money is going fast for the ordinary essentials of the home. Her husband has been on active service for many months. The person who finds the $50 is urged to get in touch with the Examiner. A reward will be paid.

FACES TWO CHARGES.

Facing charges of vagrancy and second offence drunkenness, a local man who was allowed to go on suspended sentence a short time ago on condition that he get out of town and refrain from troubling his family, pleaded guilty to both charges in police court this morning. On the drunkenness charge Magistrate Langley fined him $50 and costs or a month in jail, and on the vagrancy count he was remanded until next week.

32-Mill Rate Is Struck By City Council

Peterborough's municipal tax rate was finally determined by bylaw at 32 mills for public school supporters and 33.34 mills for separate school supporters at the regular meeting of the council last night.

Alderman Cotton's resolution, seconded by Alderman Bradburn, concluded weeks of examining estimates from the constituent departments of the civic administration, reports of which have already been published. The climax of all this committee work reached the climax last night with the striking of the tax rate for 1941. The bylaw was passed without comment.

Alderman Gordon sponsored a resolution, seconded by Alderman Curtis, that the municipal nominations next December be held in the evening during an hour beginning at 7.30 o'clock. This departure from custom which assigned nominations for Mayor, Board of Education and Utilities to an hour in the morning, following by the aldermanic nominations at night, was recently heralded by Alderman Gordon's declaration of intention to effect a change which would bring the Board of Education before the more largely attended public meeting in the evening. He said recently that the taxpayers would have a better chance to interrogate nominees for the Board regarding its administration of school affairs. The resolution was unanimously supported by the council.

A letter from the secretary of the Board of Education last night advised the council that their proposal that the board delete from their estimates an item of $4,000 for anticipated reduction in the grant from the Ontario Government would be considered at a meeting of the finance committee of the board, Tuesday, March 4.

"Received," said Mayor Hamilton on a broadly extended, down the scale note, causing a smile around the aldermanic circle.

Public Water Fronts.

The council passed two recommendations from the Peterborough Tourist Bureau. One was a familiar appeal to the Department of Highways to complete Highway No. 28 from Apsley to Bancroft. The other was a request to the Department of Lands and Forests to sequestrate water front areas of Crown lands to be used as camping sites and picnic grounds by tourists and the public generally. Both motions were moved by Alderman Dutton and seconded by Alderman Swanston.

"There will soon be no place that can be used by the people," Mayor Hamilton said, commending the idea of reserving strips of land on lakes and rivers. Other passing remarks by several members of the council accentuated Mayor Hamilton's remark.

During the last fifteen or twenty years many complaints have been heard in and about Peterborough that people were being excluded more and more every year from water fronts, many of which had been used as picnic places for generations. The Tourist Bureau is probably the first organization to make an appeal to the provincial authorities to set aside water frontages on Crown lands for use by the general public.

Rabbi Ben Zion Steindel, who has been appointed director of the first B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation to be opened in Canada. The new Foundation will serve the Jewish students at Queen's University, Kingston, where Rabbi Steindel will also be spiritual leader of the local synagogue and Jewish chaplain at the military training center.

9 New Members Introduced To Lions' Club

Nine new members were initiated into the Lions' Club at the regular bi-monthly dinner meeting held Monday evening at the Kawartha Club, and the membership for this service club now stands at 29. The objective for the present is 35 members.

Fred Cripps, past president and past district governor supervised the initiation ceremony, in the absence of delegates from the Port Perry Club who were unable to get through to Peterborough because of the snow. He defined the word Lions as standing for "Liberty, Intelligence, Our Nation's Safety," and in the course of his remarks explained to the newcomers, the nature and scope of the work done by this service club.

Finance Tonsil Work

Following the initiation service, Mr. Cripps explained that since inauguration the local Lions Club has financed close to 30 cases of tonsil work, in families where circumstances prevented the work being done, and he also described the training which had been given boys in band work.

Herb. Jamison, president of the club, extended a warm welcome to the members, and urged all to be Lions in spirit as well as in name, by taking a full share of the service work responsibility. He also extended an invitation to all to attend a dance on March 17th at the Kawartha Club, with the proceeds going to the British War Victims' Fund.

Sell Band Instruments

The Club has decided to dispose of the band instruments to the Salvation Army and to use the money along with the necessary amount from the club funds to purchase one $500 War Savings Certificate. This is to be deposited and set up as a sinking fund for future club work.

Tickets for the summer carnival were distributed and the prizes this year will be one $500 War Savings Certificate and one $200 War Savings Certificate. One will be given away each night of the carnival and if the lucky winner is on the grounds he will receive a cash bonus of $25.

On April 7th the Club will observe Safety Night, and on this occasion representatives from the Board of Education, Separate School Board and the Police Department will be guests of the club. Following the meeting they will meet the safety committee and discuss a program of safety for children.

War 25 Years Ago

Lucky Canadian Ship Has Close Shaves

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, March 4.—(CP).—A "lucky ship" is the designation seamen on the other side of the Atlantic apply to a certain Canadian naval unit that has been operating over there for several months.

Seamen returning to Canada after serving on her through heavy actions and tedious routine duties told about it yesterday as they landed. "She really is a lucky ship," they agreed.

"We had plenty of narrow shaves," said A.B. Bert Offin of West Kootenay, B.C., "but we never caught anything serious.

"Sometimes," he said, "we'd go out in a convoy, and nothing at all would happen while we were in it. Then, just after we'd left, it might be attacked.

Often we'd be patrolling and would get a call that some ship was being attacked. We'd rush up in a hurry, only to find the attackers had beat it. The men in the convoys got to look on our vessel as lucky, and I guess they were right."

In all her activities up and down and off the coasts of Britain and France, the vessel lost just one man. He was washed overboard in a heavy sea.

A.B. George Padden of Toronto, swept overboard at the same time, survived. Both were aloft lashing down some gear when a great wave licked over the ship and dragged them down into the water.

Both wore heavy boots and the thick 'lammy coats" that navy men don at sea. But Padden kicked off his boots, slipped out of the coat and managed to get rid of most of his other clothing as he kept himself afloat.

It took an hour to bring him back aboard. With the high seas thrashing, it was difficult to manoeuvre the ship into position to take him on without having him smashed against its sides.

Padden was down to his underwear when he was finally lifted aboard, limp and cheerful.

Born in the old "Dundy" block 92 years ago, Mr. Cookson before her death could recall the sights familiar to Peterborough residents of the 19th century, her birthplace is now marked by the modern building of the Canadian Departmental store at the corner of George and Charlotte streets. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jason Lundy, and one of the very few who were in Peterborough during the 1860's.

An Anglican, Mrs. Cookson was a member of St. John's church, and her interest in its affairs never flagged. While her health permitted she was a faithful attendant and worker.

Her husband, the late Edward J. Cookson, was a carriage turner by trade, until death took him from her side more than 50 years ago. Mr. Cookson was well known to those in the city during that period.

Surviving are four sons, Edward, Charles, John and Frederick, all of Toronto, two daughters, Mrs. N. Munro, and Miss Mary E. Cookson, of Peterborough, and one brother, R. D. Lundy, of Toronto.

Always a popular person, the wisdom accompanying age was hers, and Mrs. Cookson often found herself the centre of attraction when friends came frequenty to visit her. Possessed with a ready wit always appreciated, the old lady was willing to share it at all times.

The funeral will be on Thursday, from the family residence, 508 Aylmer street at 2.00 p.m. Rev. Canon W. P. Robertson of S. John's will officiate, and interment will be in Little Lake cemetery.

Samuel Carver Is Laid To Rest

As Spruce Glen was hushed, and a large circle of friends bowed their heads, Rev. Dr. G. S. Easton spoke of Samuel Delevel Carver, nature lover, temperance worker, and Christian, who was laid to rest in Little Lake Cemetery on Monday.

A minister is seldom privileged, Mr. Easton said, to have in his parish a man of such outstanding virtues. Mr. Carver had been a charter member of the old Charlotte Street Methodist Church, and continued his attendance and devotion after it became Trinity Church.

As one of the members of one of the oldest families in Peterborough district, Mr. Carver had enjoyed the confidence and respect of numbers who knew him, the speaker said, and as an exponent of nature he was well qualified. His studies in that direction had enabled him to predict when the various birds would arrive and leave. His keen insight into the lives of others made him an understanding man, and one of whom his many friends were proud.

Born Where He Died

He was born where he died, Dr. Easton explained, and his passing indicated the end of a family well known in the district which had been its home. Spruce Glen has been in the Carver name for more than 125 years, and it is more than unusual to find such distinction in times like these. One son, Leslie Deleval Carver carries on that name so well known throughout this section of Ontario.

Dr. Easton referred to the life of Mr. Carver as one in which Godly qualities stood out. He had never tasted liquor or smoked, and his frequent communions with nature tempered his life. His work among those interested in temperance in Ontario was appreciated.

Chief among the mourners at the funeral were his sorrowing widow; his son; two nieces, Miss Alice Carver, and Mrs. M. Whaley and her son Bruce of Caledonia. One nephew, Bruce Carver, journeyed from the House of Commons in Ottawa to attend the funeral, as did many friend from Hamilton, Oshawa and other points.

The pall-bearers were V. J. McElderry, K.C.; A. W. Pratten, R. J. Kidd, Arthur Stinson, Arthur Stenson, and R. E. Knox.

Rambling Reporter

A VICTORY STEAM-ROLLER

Another report of staggering proportions came from the Peterborough Collegiate today as the record for sale of War Savings Stamps soared to a new high. Two weeks ago, the total was $720.00, the following week, it jumped to $880.00 and now the new total for the week ending Monday is $975.00 almost four times the original objective set up way back last fall. The sale of War Savings Certificates for cash also showed an increase with a total sale of $352.00 worth.

G. A. Gillespie To Direct Plowing Match

George A. Gillespie has promised the local plowmen to accept the chairmanship of the general committee which will direct the provincial match to be held here next October.

Howard Quinn, president of the Peterborough Plowmen's Association, informed the Examiner that he had been urging Mr. Gillespie to take charge of the big job, "and I think I've got him persuaded." Mr. Quinn seemed to be both happy and confident about the prospects under the management of Mr. Gillespie.

Mr. Gillespie confirmed the Quinn report this morning. "I always played second fiddle to Joe (Senator Duffus), but seeing that he has retired from activities this time I am willing to do anything I can to help the boys make a success of it."

Some of the plowmen still don't believe that the Senator is going to stand along the sidelines as the months of preparation go by. "We might as well make an early start," Mr. Gillespie said. "We are not undertaking to spend any money until away on in the summer, but there is quite a lot of work that can be done before long. Then, if things go well with us in Europe there will be nothing to hold us back as the plowing match time gets nearer. That is the way I feel about it.

Support From City.

"I know we are going to get a great deal of support from the city. Mayor Hamilton and members of the City Council are going to be actively with us, and many others are just like ourselves. They know as we do that the nation is in great danger, and the haven't any time right now for distractions that are far away in October, but they will be with us in the fall if everything goes all right in the meantime."

Mr. Gillespie is holding a little meeting at his house some night this week at which he will sit in with Mr. Quinn, Vern Campbell, Frank Paterson, and some of the other officers, merely as a preliminary, to talk things over, while the snow is deep on the ground. Mr. Paterson has been suggesting that the local committee could obtain at a bargain price a lot of the equipment that was used last fall at St. Thomas, and that is one of the first items to be considered.

But any way, "come wind or weather"—du Maurier—the plowing the plowing match is not going to be shelved and neglected while Mr. Gillespie is at the head of it. There may not be much trumpeting during the spring months, while hearts are anxious about affairs in Europe, but the ground work is going ahead, and the beginning is being made this week.

9 Bank Pledges To Aid War Come From Cafe

For twenty-five years, Hum Hoy, manager of the Paris Cafe has been doing his part as a citizen of Peterborough and in the War Savings Certificate Drive nearing completion now, he has shown the way to others in the city by signing up the entire restaurant staff.

This morning H. C. Sootheran, manager of the Royal Bank reported to committe headquarters that he had been handed in nine bank pledges by a member of his committee who had canvassed the cafe. The pledges were signed by Hum Hoy and by the eight Chinese who work for him. This is a 100 per cent effort and each man is lending a substantial amount every month.

At six o'clock on Monday night the total number of subscribers in the drive had climbed to 9,093, which is 2,093 over the original objective of 7,000 and incidentally one of the finest efforts of any city in the same population bracket across the province. The returns are still coming in, and it looks now as if final reports will be in the committee rooms before the end of this week.

The total of 9,093 consists of the following: Bank pledges, 316; honor pledges, 1,453; Retail division 1,696; Industrial, 5,261 and special purchases, 367.

Practically Completed

The house to house canvass in the city is practically finished, as only two women still have to report. Delay was occasioned because one woman canvasser was ill, the other had to recanvass several houses as the people were not at home the first time. The final report on this branch of the drive is expected tonight.

Ward chairmen who planned and directed the work of several teams of women in this mammoth undertaking have voiced their pleasure at the fine feeling of enthusiasm and co-operation which characterised the work of the women. Several workers called up their team captains telling they had enjoyed working in the campaign and that they were ready at any time to assist in a similar venture again.

County Engineer Meets Council

D. A. Maciver, county engineer, was introduced to the city council Monday night by M. H. Gainey, the city's representatives on the Suburban Area Commission. He is also county road superintendent, and is in charge of the work done on the roads in the suburban area system to which the city is contributing $10,000 a year at present.

Mr. Gainey called on the council last night to report to them on the work done by the Commission last year, and briefly discuss this year's program.

"Your Commission is doing a grand job," Mayor Hamilton said, "and we appreciate the way the Commission is always ready to co-operate with the city, and especially when we make any suggestion."

Plans Submitted For Power Line

Plans of the new Hydro power line into the Canadian General Electric Company's plant by way of Sherbrooke street and Rutherford avenue have been submitted to the City Council.

These are high tension lines bringing increased power for a bigger production program. Details of location of poles have been left to City Engineer Parsons and Hydro engineers.

It is understood that work will be begun within a short time on a new substation building immediately east of what is called the boiler house and in the late afternoon shadow of the big stack.

Incidentally the phrase "boiler house" is to otepid and colorless to do justice to the hell-fires they stoke up in two huge structures called boilers. And they actually are boilers but to the layman they look like pretty nearly anything else. A great roaring and hissing at times sounds like the realism of an inferno as coal ground to the constituency of flour is blown into the fire and flames around and through the tubes containing the water. After all big as it is the huge outfit consists of nothing more than magnified proportion of a steaming tea kettle except that the steam is harnessed and put to work.

Drought Shuts Schools

HILO, T.H., March 4 (AP)—Because of a water shortage, nine schools will close today if no rain falls. Hilo's high school was closed yesterday. Hilo, perhaps the rainiest city of its size under the United States flag, had a mean annual rainfall over a 52-year period of 140 inches, with 207 inches recorded in 1923.

HALF-HOLIDAY.

From January through to October 31 the Peterborough Doctors are observing Wednesday Afternoon as a Half-Holiday, with three doctors on call. Those on call on Wednesday Afternoon of This Week are: Dr. S. Y. Walsh, Dr. J. M. McCulloch, Dr. D. C. King.

Don Best's Rink Wins 20th Game

TORONTO, March 4.— (CP).— The brilliance of Perry Hill's Kitchener rink overshadowed other fine performances here to-day in the third round of the Canadian curling championships, with Hall winning his third straight game in the stiffest test he yet has faced in this 15th renewal of the annual Macdonald's Brier tankard event.

Hall's last rock on the last end of a match with Bill Dunbar's strong Saskatchewan rink gave Ontario a 10-9 victory and retained for Ontario a place among the three leading rinks. Manitoba and Northern Ontario, who share first place with Ontario in the 10-rink, round-robin event, came through their third round matches easily.

Don Best's Kirkland Lake rink, representing Northern Ontario, won its 20th straight game — three straight in this bonspiel—with an easy 17-2 triumph over the winless Quebec Curling Club rink skipped by C. H. Handley. Albert Wakefield's Winnipeg Strathoonas also remained in the unbeaten circle by trouncing New Brunswick's St. John Curling Club rink 11-3. J. S. Malcolm is the New Brunswick skip.

Other Results.

In other games, Howard Palmer's Alberta Calgary rink proved too steady for Bill Finlay's British Columbia entry from Vancouver in a 13-8 victory and F. E. Heath's Nova Scotia representatives won 14-6 over the Prince Edward Island rink piloted by W. R. Cruikshank.

For the more ardent followers of the curling game it was significant that at no time in the Ontario-Saskatchewan match did one rink win two consecutive ends, the skip with last rock counting each time.

It was that way with the rock which won the game. When the thirds threw their last rocks Ontario had shot rock, but Bill Dunbar raised in one of his from just inside the hog line to be shot. Then Hall's first rock came down and raised Dubar's counter through the house, leaving the original Ontario shot counting—just biting the outside circle.

Dunbar drew beautifully in behind a guard shot almost to the button with his final rock and most observers believed the match was over, that such a shot could not be duplicated. But Hall showed them. His rock shaved the guard finer than had Dunbar's, and that final rock won the game.

Urges Town Bombing

LONDON, March 4 —(CP)—Dr. Paolo Treves, Italian Socialist exile, urged a heavy air attack on Italian towns during an address to the Oxford University Democratic Socialist Club. "I feel there is a necessity to strike hard at Italy," he said. "If we bomb Italian towns we can hasten the revival of Italy."

Balloon Cuts Power

HELSINKI, March 4 (AP)—Elevators and trolleys halted and lights went out in this Finnish capital last night. The confusion lasted for about 20 minutes. A barrage balloon which had floated across Europe fouled power lines.

Housewives of Malaya are demanding electric refrigerators.

City Increases Grant To Women

City council's grant to the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Peterborough War Service Council was increased last night from $100 to $150 by Alderman Dutton's motion, seconded by Alderman Ovens.

The members of the Auxiliary wish to buy three bugles and two drums to complete the instrumentation of a band organized by the 3rd Field Park Company of the Canadian Engineers. The cost of these instruments was said to be $105.

The council also recommended to the Auxiliary two queries in which it was thought they might be interested. One was a letter from Mrs. J. H. (Mary) Morecraft of Montreal who is planning to raise a fund of $25,000 from the Marys of Canada to buy an engine for the Dorothys' Spitfire airplane. Mrs. Morecraft requested the name of some woman in Peterborough whose christened name is Mary to take charge of an appeal to local women of that name for contributions to the proposed fund.

The other letter was from Lady Gertrude Craig, Mayoress of Peterborough, England, asking for local assistance to an association of the families of soldiers, sailors and airmen in Great Britain. Lady Craig explained that the fund was organized in the Old Country to raise money for the aid of families of men in the three services.

The council last night decided on Alderman Dutton's motion, seconded by Alderman Swanston, to refer both these letters to the Ladies' Auxiliary of the War Service Council as outlining activities in which they might engage.

Good As His Word

IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich. March 4 (AP)—Nels Mortensen, 65, climbed into a barber chair for a haircut and began a conversation about a mutual friend who died suddenly. "When I die, I'll go just like that," he said. A moment later Mortenson collapsed and died.

Two Deaths In Family Within Two Days

Death struck twice within two days at a Toronto home of a family which lived for years in this community. On Friday last John Speers, former Ashburnham grocer and one of the old guard from Ashburnham passed away, and on Sunday his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Thistlewaite died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Knight in Toronto.

The late Mrs. Thistlewaite's maiden name was Elizabeth Speers and she spent a great deal of her life in Peterborough. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Wm. Knight and Miss Annie of Toronto. Three sisters also survive, Mrs. Thos. Corner, Toronto, Mrs. Steve Gaskins of New Jersey and Mrs. Stanley Matchett of Hunter street east Peterborough.

The funeral will take place from the Ross Craig Funeral Home, Queen street west, Toronto on Wednesday at two in the afternoon.

Nearly 3,500,000 sheep and 1,350,000 goats are being raised in Mongolia.

Omemee Y.P.S. Aid War Fund

Young People's Union of Trinity United Church, Omemee, turned $8 over to Harry Lamb at Omemee this week, and the money was handed in to the British War Victims' Fund today by Mr. Lamb, who is the Fund Representative in the village.

Over in Ashburnham, another group of students added their pennies to the fund, when Grade 3, King George School, sent along $2. The total now stands at $9,744.51, just $246 short of the $10,000 mark.

Tickets are now on sale for the four-piece set of silverware, and on this topic, an interesting letter was received from Mrs. James Haggis at Perth, Ontario, this morning. Mrs. Haggis said in her letter that they receive the Examiner every day, and on seeing the item about the draw, and knowing the donor, they decided to send along $1 for tickets on the set and as a contribution to the Fund.

Members of the Fire Department have undertaken the sale of tickets on a Red Cocker Spaniel donated by W. J. Donnelly, veteran of the last war who lives on Union street.

Farmer Has Not Been Getting A Square Deal Mayor Favors Anything Reasonable For Him

"What do you think of the cent increase in the price of milk?" a reporter enquired with a strong feeling that he could anticipate Mayor Hamilton's answer almost word for word.

His Worship is a farm appeaser. He believes in the community of interest of city and country people, and when he says, as at a dinner recently, that he hoped the people from the townships would regard themselves as at home when in the city, he meant every word of it. After all, he grew up in the farm implement business.

"Well, now..." His Worship began, and then halted a moment. "I don't like to see an increase just now, because I think there are some people who are not in the best position to pay it, but there are fewer people in that position than there were two or three years ago. On the other hand I am convinced the farmer has not been getting a square deal, and I am in favor of anything reasonable to give him increased revenue. You can't expect agriculture to do its best in war time production if it is not getting enough money for its requirements."

Plenty To Say Later Nicholls Tells Cadi

"There will be lots to say later on about some features of this case but this is not the time or place for it," declared Thomas Nicholls in police court Monday afternoon after Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., had committed him for trial for breaking and entering the C.D.S. store.

His statement was in reply to a question from the magistrate as to whether the prisoner considered it unfair to have proceeded without Nicholls' counsel, M. Frankel, Toronto, being present.

The court waited for over half an hour beyond the time set to give the lawyer a chance to get there.

"I had understood Saturday," said Magistrate Langley, "that your lawyer would not be here today."

"The snow may have stopped him," said the accused, who added that he was quite willing to go ahead without his counsel.

Magistrate Langley then committed Nicholls for trial.

Plan To Sell Shares On Pickford Purse

The Peterborough B'nai B'rith Lodge will sell shares locally for the highly valued diamond studded Mary Pickford purse.

It is the intention of our B'nai B'rith Lodges across Canada to raise an enormous amount of money to further Canada's war effort, and negotiations are now under way to have these tickets sold in the U.S.A. by approximately 150,000 members of this organization, there.

It would be real nice for some Peterborough person to win this purse, as there is a standing offer of $2000.00 by one of Canada's leading jewellers for it.

The entire proceeds of the sale of these shares will be given to a non-sectarian Canadian War Effort. It has the endorsation of Lady Eaton, Lady Kempt, and the Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, and is authorized under the Canadian War Charities Act.

The B'nai B'rith Lodges are sponsoring entertainment for soldiers all across Canada. They had the honor of giving the first concert in Lee Auditorium at Camp Borden, which seats 3,000.

Tickets may be secured locally by all members of this lodge. For further details see advertisement in Friday's paper.

Obituary

MRS. JAMES WOOF

WARKWORTH, Mar. 4—(ENS). — Mrs. James Woof passed away after a three weeks' illness at the home of her son, Aubrey Woof, at Codrington, on Wednesday.

Mrs. Woof, formerly Margaret Anne Loomis, one of a family of thirteen, was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Cromwell Loomis. She was born in the vicinity of Codrington and spent all her life in that neighborhood. She was ninety-three years of age. Despite her advanced age she was remarkably active previous to her illness. Her fine Christian character and cheerful disposition endeared her to all who knew her.

The funeral, in charge of Rev. J. A. Plant, Norham, was held from the residence of her son on Friday afternoon. She is survived by one son, Aubrey Woof.

The pall-bearers were William, Cecil, and Grant Goodfellow, George Robinson, Arthur Rodgers, and George Puddephat.

The flower-bearers: John Goodfellow, Lindsay Rodgers, and Jack Cameron.

Interment was in Warkworth Cemetery.

MISS ALICE M. VANCE

MILLBROOK, March 4 (ENS)—The death of Alice Mary Vance, which took place at Toronto on Wednesday, February 26, after an extended period of ill health, removed a member of a family long connected with the development and history of Millbrook.

She was the eldest daughter of the late William Vance, and his wife, Elizabeth Ewing, early and highly-respected citizens of this community, Mr. Vance having filled the position of postmaster for fifty years. The large Vance homestead, King street centre, now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Dawson, was always known for its generous hospitality, and the happy home life of the family, and as Miss Vance grew to young womanhood and on into later years, by her unselfish devotion to the home and its interests, she contributed greatly to making these qualities outstanding.

Educated for a teacher, Miss Vance followed this profession for a comparatively short time, Cairo school, on Provincial Highway 28, near Fraserville, having been one place where she taught. Later she obtained the position of general secretary to the Young Women's Christian Association at Edmonton, Alberta, but failing health on the part of her parents, made it necessary for her to return home and give herself to their care and comfort.

A life-long Anglican, she was devoted to St. Thomas' church, and its various undertakings, singing in the choir, teaching in the Sunday School, and assisting with other organizations as her home duties would permit.

Following the death of her parents, Miss Vance and her younger sister moved to Toronto to reside, but for the last few years had been living at Bancroft, the final removal to Toronto taking place just about two weeks prior to her death.

The immediate surviving relatives include three sisters: Mrs. Albert Elliott (Annie), of Fort Erie, Ontario; Mrs. James Colling (Laura), of Bancroft; and Charlotte K. (Lottie), of Toronto. Previously deceased were two brothers: Judge George Vance of Barrie, and J. Arthur, of Winnipeg, Man.; also one sister, Margaret, who passed away in girlhood.

The funeral took place on Friday at 2 p.m., at St. Thomas' church, Millbrook, the Venerable Archdeacon William Simpson, B.A., conducting the service. Beautiful floral tributes were laid in loving memory on the casket.

The pallbearers were: T. A. Campbell, L. H. Winslow, H. B. Allen, A. A. Needler, Eric Lefroy, and R. I. Pallis.

Interment was in the family burial plot at St. John's cemetery, Ida.

KEENE

Five Soldiers Home From Debert Honored

KEENE, Mar. 4 — (ENS). — A most successful dance was held in aid of the British War Victims Fund, sopnsored by a branch of the Red Cross at Mather's Corners in honor of the boys in active service, in the Town Hall on Friday evening. Proceeds amounted to $25.00. Round and square dancing was enjoyed to the music of James Miller's Orchestra, with H. Bidgood as floor manger. A number of spot dances were held and War Savings Stamps were given as prizes. Among those present were Ptes, Alexander and Jack Patterson, Stewart Manley, Jack Draper and Frederick Renwick, local boys who are stationed at Petawawa, and are home on leave.

Quilts on Display.

Two quilts were on display, one donated by Mrs. Alfred Fletcher, and Mrs. D. D. Edwards, and quilted by ladies at Mather's Corners, was auctioned off and netted $19 for the Red Cross, with David McIntyre being the lucky winner. A draw was made on a quilt on which the Tillicum Class of the United Church had sold tickets, in aid of the British War Victims, realizing $35.00. William F. Redpath was the lucky winner. This quilt was donated to the Tillicum Class by Mrs. Frank Elmhirst. Refreshments were served and dancing resumed.

Trim Spring Slip Cover Simple to Make Yourself

Fit By Pinning Fabric to Chair

That faded Cinderella of your chairs may become a queen overnight. For today you can pin on colorful spring slip-cover material—and tomorrow you can baste and finish.

It's as simple as that to make such a smart slip cover as we've pictured—and smart it is, in beige crash and coral fringe, with seams finished in coral welting.

Working the pin-on way, remove the chair cushion and smooth your fabric over the inside-back and seat, leaving a 4-inch tuck-in between. For welted seams, work with fabric wrong side out. Then you pin every 3 inches and cut off surplus material outside the pins, allowing 1½ inches for seams.

In the very same way, fit the arms, sides, back and cushion. Now pin together all seams and baste, inserting the welting from the right side.

This half completes your slip cover! All that remains is to stitch it up and add the fringe.

Our 32-page booklet gives exact details, step-by-step diagrams for making slip covers for differently shaped chairs and sofas, also auto seats. Tells how to trim, make pleated flounces.

Send [illegible] or stamps for your co[illegible]W TO MAKE SLIP COVERS to Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

"The Authority on Authorities"

WHY DID HE DO THAT?

TO BE A REAL bridge player, you must constantly ask yourself questions about the bids and plays made by the others—your partner as well as the opponents. If you do, you often can tell exactly what somebody else is trying to do, and hence can read his probable holding. If you don't, you may play right into the hands of the opposition.

Bidding about like that occurred at most tables of a social duplicate game, in which there was a quite wide range of ability. Where there were players with no particular studious attitude toward the game, West's lead of the club K was followed by the Q—it should have been the J—and then by the J, which South ruffed. The declarer ran three trumps, later lost to the two red aces and thus made exactly 3-Spades.

At another table, East overtook the club K with his A, laid down the diamond A and then led his club 5 to the J. West returned the club Q to be ruffed by South, and so the same 3-Spades got made at that table.

Where a bit stronger defensive players were on the job, East likewise overtook the club K with his A, laid down his diamond A and returned his club 5 to the J. That West player, however, asked himself why his partner had laid down the diamond A before repeating the club. He decided it was because the diamond was a singleton. So he then led his diamond 6, which East ruffed. The latter then tried his heart 4 to seek to give West the lead again. This also was successful. After taking his heart A, West led another diamond, his 5, and East scored a second ruff. Thus the defenders had taken the first six tricks and held the declarer to a total of seven, beating the contract two tricks, solely because West asked himself why his partner had played as he did.

Ontario's Milk Best Protected Minister Says

No country in the world has better protection against milk-borne diseases than Ontario, Hon. Harold J. Kirby, Minister of Health, this week advised members of the Ontario Legislature, when he announced that less than two years after the compulsory milk pasteurization bill became law more than 98 per cent of all milk sold in the province for fluid consumption is pasteurized.

Prior to the Act of 1938 session, he said, only 50 municipalities of the 812 now under the legislation had made pasteurization compulsory under local powers granted in permissive laws. In 15 others the total milk supply was pasteurized without the aid of special legislation.

As an indication of the degree of protection afforded, the minister stressed, practically every summer resort area in the province has total pasteurization in effect during the holiday season. In some, due to the sparcity of the winter population, pasteurization is discontinued for that period. "The tourist, whether he be from the United States or the compulsory pasteurization areas of older Ontario, is given complete protection," said Mr. Kirby.

The success of the Ontario measure has stimulated interest in the other provinces and in many states of the Union. Only last September, the Canadian Public Health Association, in conference at Winnipeg passed a resolution asking for compulsory pasteurization measures across Canada and the basis of the resolution was the conclusion "that it had proven a success in Ontario."

Improvement in Quality

Terms of success are counted in general by an improvement in the quality of milk, as has been discovered through analyses of milk samples in the provincial laboratories.

In particular they are counted in a reduction of 45% in the number of cases of undulant fever; in over 50% of typhoid fever cases; and in a substantial reduction of bovine tuberculosis, paratyphoid fevers, infant mortality, septic sore throat, diarrhoea and dysentry.

Admittedly, the health minister pointed out, it was impossible to determine in exact numbers by how much the reduction in these diseases in the first year of complete pasteurization can be attributed to the milk policy of the government.

"It is a matter of fact," said Mr. Kirby, "that these diseases can be spread through milk. It is also a matter of fact that the number of cases in these diseases have been reduced since compulsory pasteurization came into effect. We can come to no other conlusion but that pasteurization has been a fator, if not the chief factor, in this reduction."

Germs In Raw Milk

In the case of undulant fever, for example, the germs are found in raw milk taken from a cow suffering with contagious abortion. The record of the disease is incomplete because not all its victims develop sufficiently high fevers and other symptoms to need medical attention and consequent reporting to the department as a contagious disease. In its more acute forms, it may cause a complete lay-up of several months. It is estimated that, before compulsory pasteurization, sickness loss in acute cases and efficiency loss in mild ones cost Ontario $100,000 annually. That the danger of infection is widespread can be appreciated when it is understood that, in some counties, 17 per cent of the cows have contagious abortion. This problem is so acute, in fact, that the Select Committee on Agriculture of the Legislature, during the past year has devoted several conferences to the problem and has pressed both the Provincial and Dominion Governments for action.

"There is one other thing," said Mr. Kirby, "the problem of bovine tuberculosis. Premier Hepburn, in pressing for enactment of the pasteurization bill, told the House how he had been taken by Dr. Alan Brown, Physician-in-Chief of the Hospital for Sick Children, through the wards of that hospital and how he had seen row after row of children crippled, some for life, by bone tuberculosis.

"In this hospital, an extensive survey has been made over a period of years in which nearly 500 children, admitted because of tuberculous dissease of the bones, joints, or organs of the body other than lungs, have been studied. In about 10 per cent. of these the infection came from cows, through the use of raw milk, and every one of these cases was from outside the city. Compared with this is the striking example of Toronto, where for over 20 years not a single case of tuberculosis admitted to this hospital was due to milk, the total supply of which has been pasteurized during this period."

One of the criticisms of the bill, added the minister, is that it has placed the distribution of milk in the hands of the big interests. "I am told by Dr. A. E. Berry, Director of the Division of Sanitary Engineering, of my department, who has charge of the supervision of pasteurization plants, that approximately one-third of the pasteurization plants in Ontario are on farms and are serving small communities. In addition there is a whole raft of farmer distributors who take their milk and cream to pasteurization plants to have it processed and then sell it, so compulsory pasteurization certainly does not exclude the small distributor."

Crash Kills Youth

FORT ERIE, Ont., Mar. 4 — (CP). — Leslie Stephens, 19, of Buffalo, died in hospital here Monday, following an automobile accident Sunday night on Niagara Boulevard three miles north of Fort Erie, when machine driven by him skidded on the slippery highway surface, swerved in soft snow on a shoulder, crossed a ditch and struck a tree with terrific impact. He died of a fractured skull.

Three passengers are in hospital here, William Stone, 20, Buffalo, lacerated wrists, cuts and shock; Miss Jean Barnhart, 19, Fort Erie South, head injuries and shock, and Miss Madeline Horning, 19, Fort Erie, fractured left upper arm and shock.

Hear War Will Take $1,000,000 A Day

C. Fraser Elliott, K.C., LEFT, Dominion commissioner of income tax, with James S. Duncan, CENTRE, president Toronto Board of Trade, and W. G. H. Jephcott, president of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Ontario. The commissioner told the midwinter banquet of the institute that under new wartime tax regulations, direct taxation would take seven per cent. of the national income, or something over $1,000,000 a day. Replying to the speech, Mr. Duncan warned that excessive taxation defeats its own object by weakening the economic structure of the country.

CAMPBELLFORD

Charter Given Junior Chapter

CAMPBELLFORD, Mar. 4 (ENS) —Recalling the formation of the Bemersyde Chapter 25 years ago, Mrs. W. H. Ashton, honorary regent, addressed members of the newly-formed Trent Valley chapter which received its charter from the local Regent, Mrs. G. A. Ironside. Mrs. Ashton carried her thoughts back to the last war when she herself was Regent of the senior branch, and welcomed the formation of the Bemersyde chapter. She spoke of the great amount of responsibility which fell upon the branch at that time, as there was no Red Cross Society here to assist in the work. To the newly-formed group, which is the third to be formed in this town, she said: "Much of your work will begin at the end of this carnage, when the tremendous responsibility of helping the people to readjust themselves to peace will come to you."

Clara Lucy, regent of the junior chapter, accepted the charter from Mrs. G. A. Ironside. Mrs. A. D. Bennett, honorory regent of the junior chapter, read the prayer of dedication.

Draw Is Made

To Mrs. Ashton also went the honor of making the draw for an oil painting and quilt on which members have been selling tickets to raise money for their war work. Douglas Maybee held the winning ticket on the painting, and Miss Hazel Atkinson won the quilt. Since the last meeting the branch had spent in the neighborhood of $146 for wool and other materials, according to the regent, who felt that some plans should be formulated at once to add to the treasury.

Continue Collection

During the business part of the meeting the regent announced a continuation of their house to house collection for paper and scrap metal in the Spring. Mr. D. Bowen, local trucker, has offered his services to the chapter for this purpose. Gladys Stephens announced that one shipment of books and magazines had already been made, and Eleanor Ferris gave the room report. Shipments recently made to the Navy League, I.O.D.E. Headquarters, and soldiers on active service (overlooked at Christmas) were itemized by Mrs. S. Hopping. To the Navy League, 12 scarves, 2 sweaters, 5 pairs mittens. To headquarters, 17 scarves, 20 pairs sox, 6 pairs mittens, refugee clothing. To date 140 pairs of sox have been turned in to the chapter.

The meeting closed with a brief prayer service in charge of the regent.

OMEMEE

Institute To Aid War Victims

OMEMEE, March 4—(ENS). — The February meet of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. A. Sloan on Wednesday evening with fourteen members and two visitors present. The president Mrs. T. E. MacPherson was in the chair.

Roll call was answered with a proberb, during business period ways and means of raising money for British War Victim's Fund were discussed. The quilt committee reported that it has six quilts on hand to be quilted.

Readings were given by Mrs. James Magee, Mrs. H. Fisher, Miss Florrie Sloan after which all joined in community singing. At the conclusion a dainty lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. A. Sloan and Mrs. A. Lloyd.

Miss Maye Magee and Mrs. Ross Rehill were hostesses at a delightful miscellaneous shower held at the former's home in honor of Mrs. S. Moore (nee Myrtle McQuade). The evening was spent in playing bingo and crokinole. Mrs. N. Hay won the first prize in crokinole and the consolation prize went to Miss Margaret James.

The bride was asked to read a chain of letters, each directing her to a different part of the house until finally she arrived back in the living room where a lovely pink and white basket filled with attractive looking parcels awaited her. Mrs. Moore then thanked her friends for the lovely gifts. A dainty lunch was then served by the hostesses concluded a pleasant evening.

Earl Barnard of R.C.A.F., from Nova Scotia, is home on two weeks' leave.

Mr. Haig Laing has been accepted as a motor mechanic and is stationed at Toronto.

The Young People's Society met at the home of Alexander Watt, with a good attendance. The meeting opened with prayer by Rev. M. E. Rowland. The evening was spent in the form of a valentine party. A dainty lunch was served, followed by the National Anthem.

The W.A. of the United Church held a very successful hot meat pie supper in Mrs. Bateson's hall on Friday evening. The president, Mrs. W. Jewison, assisted by her many helpers, served the guests. Following the supper Mrs. Fred Jewison and Clara Seens held a guessing contest, causing much merriment. Tickets were sold on a quilt. Mrs. Edwin Eagleson was the lucky winner. Proceeds were very encouraging.

A number of young men of the township staged a dance in the South Monaghan hall in aid of the War Victims' Fund, realizing approximately $32.00. Another such event is to be held March 5 in aid of the same cause.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lang were visitors to Toronto Friday.

Millbrook Holds Splendid Service

MILLBROOK, March 4—(ENS)— The call to intercession in connection with the Women's World Day of Prayer was answered locally by a well-attended gathering in the parish hall of St Thomas' church, the three women's missionary auxiliaries of the community uniting for the service, on Friday at 3 p.m.

The Anglican W.A. was hostess this year for the hour of intercession, the president, Mrs. C. M. Westmacott, taking the chair. The Auxiliary of Grace Presbyterian Church had charge of the second period: "The Coming of the Kingdom in our Community and Nation," the president, Mrs. A. R. Gibson, leading.

Assisting with the intercession, under the heading mntioned were Mrs. J. R. Thompson, Mrs. S. E. Eakins, and Miss Agnes Johnston. For the third section, continuing the general theme of "Thy Kingdom Come," the Auxiliary of St. Andrew's United Church had charge, under its president, Mrs. A. L. Sisco. Mrs. Edmund Ball offered prayers, and the general prayer for world peace was taken in unison.

Miss E. L. Hetherington gave the 5-minute devotional address, stressing the need and value of prayer, and the object lesson of the cross of Christ, after which the offertory was received by Mrs. T. A. Campbell and Mrs. J. E. Allen, soft music being played by Miss M. L. Collins. The dedication of the offering preceded an appropriate duet, "Spirit Of God Descend Upon My Heart," sung by Mrs. R. A. Ford and Miss Mary Nattress, and the concluding period of intercession was by the hostess society, those leading for special subjects being Mrs. Percy Hamilton, and Mrs. L. M. Bonneville.

The amount received in 1940 from the offerings taken at the World Day of Prayer services was $8,150 which was devoted, in varying amounts, to the printing and distribution of Christian literature the world over. The offering locally on Friday was $6.50. The service was prepared by a committee of Chinese, Japanese and American women at Shanghai, China.

Suffered Years With Stomach Troubles, Headache. Could Not Sleep, Felt Nervous, Fatigued and Rundown.

MRS. ANNIE WARD

Painful gas and bloat—indigestion after meals — sleeplessness—nervousnes—burning sensation and pains in the chest—sharp pains in the side—palpitation and shortness of breath due to gas, headaches, backache, and rheumatic pains due to excess acidity— weak, worn out feeling. These are some of the penalties of an Upset Stomach. Many local people have suffered that way for YEARS. But now, Syntona Herbal Tonic is relieving them by the hundreds. Here, for example, is the experience of Mrs. Annie Ward, 593 Maitland Street, London, according to her recent report:

"For several years I suffered with stomach troubles constipation and bilious spells. I couldn't get a good night's sleep and I had become so nervous and rundown that the least bit of work played me out. After eating my stomach became so bloated with gas that I could hardly draw a full breath and I was subject to frequent sick headaches. There was a bad taste in my mouth, my breath was bad and my complexion was sallow.

"I had tried so many different medicines and tonics without getting any real benefits that I didn't think anything would help me any more. But a friend who had got good results from Syntona persuaded me to try it and I was surprised at how quickly it began to help my stomach. In the few weeks I have been taking this medicine it has rid me of all that gas and indigestion. I don't get headaches or dizzy spells like I used to and my general health has improved wonderfully. My nerves are relaxed, I sleep better and I have more energy than I had in years previously."

Let this pure herbal compound help you as it has hundreds of other local people. It is pleasant to take and it costs only a few cents a day to take it. Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store.—(Advt.)

Alexander Asks House For More Men, Ships To Crush New Drive

LONDON, March 5—(CP Cable)—A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, today told the House of Commons the Royal Navy has more ships in most classes, especially destroyers, at sea or ready for sea "than at any time since the war began," but asked for more ships, men, stores, to "fight the battle of the Atlantic now opening."

While a group of admirals in gold braid and a dozen ratings looked down from the visitors' gallery, Mr. Alexander reviewed the naval situation in presenting a token naval appropriation of £100 ($445). This is a wartime measure to keep navy expenditures secret.

The House as is customary agreed to the token appropriation without a record vote.

Praising the Empire's contribution in sea warfare, Mr. Alexander said "Canadian destroyers have taken no mean share in the vital task of protecting our sea-borne trade across the Atlantic."

"Never in the history of our seapower have we had such need of numbers of ships and men," Mr. Alexander said.

"To reinforce the fleet I ask unhesitatingly for many more ships, for great numbers of men and for great quantities of stores to equip them.

Carol Escapes

Bucharest, March 5 (AP)

FORMER King Carol of Rumania, who has been under protective guard in a hotel room in Seville, Spain, was reported to have escaped across the frontier into Portugal with a Polish passport.

Mme. Magda Lupescu was reported to have fled with him.

King Carol abdicated last September, leaving the throne to his son, Prince Michael. He fled through Yugoslavia and Italy to Switzerland, accompanied by Mme. Lupescu.

From Switzerland they went to Spain where the monarch sought without success to get permission to travel further, perhaps to the United States.

Canadian Division Already At Salonika Says Gayda, Blaming U.K. For Balkan Rift

ROME, March 5 — (AP). — Virginio Gayda, Fascist editor who two days ago declared the British had landed troops at Salonika, Greece, today identified them as "almost complete division of Canadians."

Replying in Il Giornale d'Italia to a Greek news agency's denial that British troops had been sent to Salonika, Gayda declared such a denial was "useless."

"The fact is that one Canadian division is now almost complete at Salonika, followed by numerous detachments," he wrote. "Arms have already been sent from England to Greece. So the responsibility for the new Balkan political and military events falls entirely upon the London Government and adventurous policy."

Observers here said that with only a month or two of fighting weather left in North Africa before the sun becomes too hot, Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, British commander-in-chief, presumably would be able to leave a reduced force in Libya and divert many of his armored units to Greece.

Gayda estimated the British command has 20 divisions in the Mediterranean area, much motor-hauled artillery, motorized anti-aircraft and other armored equipment; "furnished largely by the United States," and large naval forces.

Therefore, before Britain could land large numbers of troops, observers argued, the Nazis would open their campaign against Salonika.

LONDON, March 5 — (CP). — No comment was available in London today on the assertion in Rome by Virginio Gayda that a Canadian division had landed at Salonika, Greece.

OTTAWA, March 5—(CP). — Military spokesmen here declined comment today on a Rome dispatch which quoted Fascist Editor Virginio Gayda as identifying troops he claimed landed at Salonika, Greece, as "an almost complete division of Canadians."

Hun Agents Busy Undermining French Morocco

LONDON, March 5—(CP). — The Government told Parliament today Germany has a "considerable number" of soldiers and technicians in French Morocco, within 150 miles of the vital Strait of Gibraltar.

R. A. Butler, Parliamentary Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, said "a representative of the German armistice commission has been at Casablanca for some time."

"Early in February a considerable number of German officers and non-commissioned officers and men are reported to have arrived there in uniform and bearing arms," he said. "Estimates of their number vary. The commission is said to include technicians of many kinds."

Gen. Charles de Gaulle, leader of the Free French forces, charged on Saturday that 80 carefully chosen Germans had arrived at Casablanca for the task of "carrying on the progressive disintegration of France and her empire."

Double Nazi Plan

These disclosures coincided with reports by neutral military observers who recently returned from Mediterranean tours that Britain is on the alert to counter German moves against both Gibralta and the TURKISH military preparations continued at an urgent tempo today as the whole nation waited for the government's official reaction to Hitler's message to President Ismet Inonu.

The message, according to qualified informants, said the Nazis wanted to look after Turkey's "interest and well-being," but official quarters expressed belief it would have little effect on Turkey's pro-British policy.

The Turkish cabinet met yesterday shortly after the five-man German mission, bearing the message, arrived by plane. Field Marshal Fevzi Cakmak, chief of the Turkish general staff, attended the session to hear the message read and to discuss it.

Terrific Attack Fails To Stop Cardiff's Pace

By DOUGLAS AMARON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

CARDIFF, Wales, March 5.—(CP Cable.)—Cardiff, bomb-scarred by German fires of two succesive nights, carried on defiantly to-day. Ships churned in the waters of the Bristol channel, factory chimneys poured out smoke, stores were crowded and trains, buses and trams ran almost on schedule.

Monday's attack was the most intense this Welsh town had received but the damage was not so severe as the attack. Casualties, too, were slight and fewer than in previous raids when the people disregarded shelters and braved the bombing.

Crowds of sightseers following diversions around streets blocked off by debris, toured the bombed area and gaped at ruins Londoners would pass by as "just another crater."

"It was awful," said the waitress who served me breakfast. "Fires seemed to be burning everywhere and it was worse in my district. The next street to mine was closed by fire."

She passed the same street on the way to work yesterday after the bodies of three of her friends were carried from the ruins of their home. That was why she did not think it mattered much that all the windows of her own home were blown out and plaster blasted from the walls and ceilings.

Just "Out For Lunch."

The "chin up" signs which appear after bombings were plentiful. Damaged shops carried on and atop the wreckage of one rested a sign "out for lunch."

From wrecked homes people were busy salvaging furniture and personal belongings. One woman paused to tell of the comforts a priest brought her when, after extinguishing a fire in his church, he went to her shelter and conducted a service.

The raiders returned last night flying in relay and dropped incen-

Catch Duce's Ships Off Valona And Nearby Chimara

ATHENS, March 5 —(AP)—The Royal Air Force made two bombing attacks on enemy warships in the Adriatic yesterday—one on vessels lying off Chimara, Albania, now in Greek hands, and the other off the Italian-held port of Valona—a communique said today.

The communique did not mention the effects of the attacks, but said that British fighter planes protecting the bombers shot down nine of the Italian planes guarding the naval units and damaged others.

(Chimara lies just south of Valona at the entrance to the Adriatic.)

Dispatches reaching Athens from the battle front said Greek patrols encountered a numerically superior Italian force in the central sector and drove it off after hard fighting. The Italians left more than 200 dead and wounded behind, and the Greeks took 160 prisoners, including five officers, the dispatches said.

Sedan Hits Truck 1 Dies, 3 Injured

HAMILTON, Ont., March 5. — (CP).—Mrs. Andrew Gibb, 65, of Galt, was killed instantly and three others, Mrs. Annie Gibb, Jessie Whitla and Mrs. Annie Whitla, critically injured shortly before noon to-day when the light sedan in which they were riding ploughed head on into a heavy gasoline truck on No. 5 Highway, two miles west of Clappison's Corners. The light car was telescoped into the front of the truck, and thrown back into the ditch by the impact.

The car contained four women from Galt and had been travelling east on the highway when it neared the road leading to Dundas is believed to have got out of control.

Had Them Skewered

Cincinnati, March 5 (AP)

FOUR war production workers in Watford, Staffordshire, England, have asked the Cincinnati Enquirer for the correct answer to a crossword puzzle published in its edition of last Sept. 8.

The Britons found the paper packed around a machinery shipment from Cincinnati.

"We have endeavored to solve the puzzle during those short periods from time to time when it is deemed advisable to adjourn from our labors," they wrote, enclosing the partially worked puzzle.

"If it be possible, we should be glad to learn just what 'meat is roasted on a skewer' and why?"

The Enquirer's solution to the puzzle showed that "meat roasted on a skewer" is kabob, also known as city chicken.

Alex Elliott Is Chairman Of Private Bills

TORONTO, Mar. 5 — (CP). — Alex L. Elliott, one of the younger Liberal members of the Ontario Legislature, was chosen chairman of the Private Bills Committee at its first session to-day. The post is generally held by a Cabinet minister.

TORONTO, March 5.—(CP).— A bill, purpose of which was to limit to 50 acres the amount of tax free land owned by the University of Ottawa in the township of Gloucester, was reported on favorably by the Private Bills committee of the Ontario Legislature to-day when farmer members of the committee outvoted their lawyer colleagues.

C. C. Gibson, Carleton county solicitor, explaining the bill, said the university operated a 300-acre farm some six miles from Ottawa. Taxes had been paid on their property up to 1938 at which time the university declined to continue its payments, claiming exemption under the University of Ottawa Act of 1933. The Act granted the university exemption from taxation of real property.

Products Sold On Market.

Mr. Gibson said the products of the farm were competing on the Ottawa market with those of the vegetable growers of the township and for that reason the county and township contended the land should be taxed. The taxes prior to 1936 were $669 annually.

New Orders From Eden Send Minister To Yugoslav Chief

Rendel Tells Premier Nation's Conduct On Level Of Barbarians

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, March 5 (AP)—British Minister Sir Ronald Campbell requested an urgent conference with Premier Dragisa Cvetkovic and Foreign Minister Aleksander Cincar-Markovic today after flying back from a secret trip to Athens to see British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

Regent Prince Paul today was at Castel Brdo, in Slovenia, a few miles from the German border, while the German minister to Belgrade, Viktor Von Heeren, was at Sagreb.

Diplomatic quarters said they heard the minister would escort the regent across the frontier into Germany tomorrow for a meeting with German Foreign Minister Ribbentrop regarding possible Yugoslav adherence to the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo Alliance.

(Belgrade yesterday heard reports Prince Paul would go to Berlin Thursday to confer with Hitler. German spokesmen in Berlin denied these reports.)

Emergency Orders

It was reported Sir Ronald had received emergency instructions from Mr. Eden for use in the event the German army entered Yugoslavia in the near future.

Crowds of British nationals, meanwhile, as well as persons having Netherlands, Belgian, Polish and Norwegian passports, jammed police headquarters here this morning seeking exit permits to leave for Turkey via Salonika, Greece.

Greek authorities were reported making special facilities available to speed departure of refugees through Greece to Istanbul.

Yugoslavia continued calling up reserves in specialized branches of the military service.

Placards appearing in Belgrade ordered all men of classes from 1890 to 1920 living in the capital to report to the military council and have their mobilization papers checked.

This ordinarily is a procedure to prepare the country for possible mobilization.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, March 5. — (AP).—Great Britain severed diplomatic relations with Bulgaria today and charged the Balkan kingdom with co-operating with Nazi Germany in preparations for an attack on Greece.

The break came a few minutes after 10 a.m. when the British Minister, George Rendel, read a declaration to the Bulgarian Foreign Minister, Ivan Popoff, and then asked for his passports.

"It is a matter of indifference to His Majesty's government what steps Bulgaria may see fit to take to protect herself against external danger," the British declaration said.

"But the pressure and ever increasing number of German troops on Bulgarian soil and the growing subservience of the Bulgarian government to German policy is incompatible with the maintenance of British diplomatic relations."

Warns of Bomb Attack

Britain already had warned Bulgaria that she might be subject to Royal Air Force bombing because of the presence of German troops on her soil, which perhaps would make her a major theatre of war.

The Bulgarian Government "broke relations" yesterday with the Polish, Netherlands and Belgian legations and asked those missions of German-conquered nations to leave the country.

The British note stressed Premier Bogdan Philoff's statement after his return from signing the Axis pact Saturday at Vienna that Nazi soldiers would remain "temporarily

The Japanese claimed the purge was executed "under direct orders of the Third Internationale to eliminate friction among party members and destroy undesirable elements."

Four Tots Die In Fire

Toronto, March 5 (CP)

FOUR children burned to death upstairs in their suburban York Township home today while their mother, Mrs. Richard Mullen, stood outside the burning building, stopped from going to their rescue by the dense smoke from the fire.

The dead: Ernest, five; Lorraine, three; Doreen, 1½; and Bobby, three months.

The fire started in the kitchen. Mrs. Mullen ran across the street to Mrs. Kenneth Rowe and asked her to telephone police and fire departments. By the time she ran back the interior was ablaze and smoke was pouring from all the windows.

Three other children were at school and Mr. Mullen was visiting his mother in hospital.

Bomb Scarred Cargo Boat Saves 50 As Craft Sinks In Minute

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, March 5.—(CP)—Survivors of two British freighters torpedoed in a Nazi attack on a westbound convoy added new tales to those of German undersea warfare.

Some from the British Isles and others from distant Arabia, the 50 seamen were landed here yesterday after a stirring rescue by a British freighter. They said their convoy was attacked in the North Atlantic by "at least three or four" submarines but had no knowledge of the fate of other vessels in the convoy.

Twenty-nine shipmates and their two captains were lost when torpedoes sank the ships. Most of the rescued admitted they too had given up all hope of seeing land again, but the British freighter dared the underseas raiders to pick-up the men and land them here yesterday.

The rescue boat did not escape unscathed. Riddle with bullets and shrapnel and with her superstructure blown away, she slipped into the safety of Canadian waters only after dodging a German bombing attack.

Seventeen of the 50 survivors were from a freighter which sank in flames only four minutes after two torpedoes crashed into her vitals. The engine-room crew were killed by the explosions, with 27 reported lost before the rescue ship hove in sight.

A third officer of the ship described the attack:

"The men," he said, "had no time to do anything but cut loose the four rafts and leap into the heavy sea after them. There was no chance to launch the lifeboats.

"Several men were killed when the sinking ship hurled us from a lifeboat in which we were trying to escape. I was flung into the drink and held onto about half a hatch for nearly half an hour before catching hold of a raft."

New Ottawa Figures Cut Income By Millions

OTTAWA, March 5 (CP) — A greater volume of information on Canada's tourist trade during 1940, made possible by the Canadian government's increased interest in the trade because of its value in bringing foreign exchange to Canada, revealed that previous estimates on the favorable balance of tourist trade were too high, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported today.

The bureau's report on tourist trade in 1940 showed a favorable balance to Canada of $85,000,000 and "it is impossible to state what the estimates would have been in 1939 had the same amount of information been available," the report said.

Australians Brand His London Speech Conciliatory To Japan

SYDNEY, Australia, March 5 — (CP Cable).—Prime Minister R. G. Menzies' luncheon speech in London on Monday, which was conciliatory towards Japan, has caused astonishment in Australia, as it conflicts with the recent warnings of the Acting Prime Minister, Arthur Fadden.

Mr. Fadden's declarations were intended to brace Australia to face the perils of Japan's southward move, and Mr. Menzies' London remarks are so contrary to recent press news from London and the United States concerning developments in the Pacific that the War Advisory Council probably will request the full text.

Some citizens describe the Prime Minister's speech as harking back to the days of appeasement. One member of the War Advisory Council expressed the opinion that Mr. Menzies seemed to discount entirely the reality of Japan's adherence to and support of the Axis aggressors.

The Sydney Morning Herald in a strong editorial today said that whatever Mr. Menzies' motive his references to Japan's adherence to the Axis are "puzzling and bewildering."

(Mr. Menzies said Australians should not drift into "an atmosphere in relation to Japan which is at least dubious and might quite frankly be dangerous."

("We are aiming at getting nearer to Japan," Mr. Menzies told the Foreign Press Association. "We are not aiming at sitting suspiciously in our corner...do not let us become victims of that most pernicious of habits—the habit of believing that a possible conflict becomes inevitable.")

The Sydney Morning Herald declared "we have the right to be dubious about the good-will of a neighbor who, when the Empire is fighting for its life, forms a military alliance with its enemies."

VANCOUVER, March 5—(AP).— A strange-looking creature of the sea has been found on the rocks of the Kitsilano foreshore, its long body and horse-shaped head closely resembling descriptions given by persons who claim to have seen caddborosaurus, British Columbia's famed sea serpent.

An associate professor of biology at University of British Columbia examined the greyish form last night, and today Dr. W. A. Clemens, director of the biological station at Nanaimo until recently, will make a more thorough examination.

The body was found late yesterday by four boys hunting worms on the rocks below the foreshore.

Hanson Urges Probe Of War Cost

King Denies Attitude All Be Secret; Mrs. Nielsen Rapped

OTTAWA, March 5. — (CP).—Subject to the necessity of keeping information from the enemy and guarding the safety of the State, Conservative House Leader Hanson wants a public investigation into war expenditures.

He insisted on this last night as the House debated Prime Minister Mackenzie King's resolution to set up a special Commons committee to conduct the investigation and report on any economies which might be effected. Discussion of the resolution was to continue to-day.

The Prime Minister gave no assurance on the point raised by Mr. Hanson but disputed the Opposition leader's interpretation of the position Mr. King took at confidential conferences relating to the proposed committee.

Mr. King said he never took the ground the committee must hold its meetings behind closed doors but felt the committee itself should make the decision and that it might follow the practice of a similar committee in Great Britain which held its meetings in camera.

He said one aggressor could not be allowed freedom of movement "cherishing the delusion that whatever happens to others he is immune."

Mr. Curtin said Australia desired to keep her door open as peacemaker but had bolted it securely against any disturber.

LONDON, March 5—(CP).—Prime Minister R. G. Menzies of Australia told a press conference today that he "greatly resented" any suggestion that he favored appeasement in his speech of Monday advocating friendly relations with Japan.

The Prime Minister, here on a visit, said he was completely mystified by Australian cables saying there was a conflict of opinion between his views and those of the Advisory War Council.

He said Australia still had "real apprehension of war" and that she is prepared to defend her vital interests with all the force at her disposal.

ed joint defence pact between the United States and Canada, thus providing for protection of both southern and northern flanks of the continent.

Military, naval and air force experts of the United States and Mexico, the state department disclosed, are already at work on specific plans for co-operative defence against aggression, and it was believed that the agenda included Mexico's establishment of naval and air bases which would be available for United States use in any emergency.

The understanding with Mexico was the first to be negotiated with any of the western hemisphere republics under an agreement reached by representatives of the American nations at Havana July 31, 1940, and was expected to be followed by similar defence collaboration with other hemisphere nations.

In preliminary U.S.-Mexican discussions during the last several weeks, it was reported, one of the major proposals was that Mexico construct new or enlarged naval bases in Magdalena Bay (Lower California) and at Acapulco on the West Coast, for protection of Panama Canal approaches, and one or two others at strategic points on the Gulf of Mexico.

Under this proposal, the bases would be constructed with funds loaned by the United States, but Mexico would retain full sovereignty.

Bristol Channel Bears Brunt Of Night Raids

LONDON, March 5 (CP)—South Wales bore the brunt of German aerial attacks for the second successive night as Nazi bombers scattered incendiaries along Bristol Channel last night and set fires which burned until early morning.

The bombers made Cardiff, South Wales port, their chief target for the second night in succession.

Lesser attacks were launched against various points along the English south coast, a town on the Thames estuary and London. The raids ended about midnight.

One Nazi plane was shot down in the Bristol Channel, and unofficial reports indicated the destruction of two more.

The daily morning bulletin of the ministries of air and home security made light of the attacks, but said "some fires were caused in Wales.

"Most of these were soon extinguished, and all were under control in the course of the night," the communique said. Casualties were characterized as small.

These sources said it was believed Hitler is preparing two alternate campaigns for the spring and summer.

One of these plans, they said, is to make an attempt to seize North Africa and control of Gibraltar by "infiltration" through French territory from Italian Tripoli. A swing through Spain for a direct attack on Gibraltar might supplemeent this plan, it was said.

The other plan is supposed to hinge upon a thrust in the Balkans through Greece and Turkey to Suez and the Iraq oil fields.

Military sources said these moves might be made as a prelude to an invasion attempt against Britain, or they might be tried as an alternative if an invasion fails.

It added that Britain could not allow or permit such threats to "our ally, Greece."

The note declared the German claim that Nazi troops were here to "protect the neutrality and independence of Bulgaria" was "specious excuse for making an ulterior motive."

"His Majesty's Government was well aware that the peace and neutrality of Bulgaria were never threatened by any nation outside of members of the Tripartite Pack," it added.

Mr. Rendel told newspapermen in explaining the break, that the mysterious disappearance of Wodin Grenovich, British passport officer, was"—(here the telephone connection between Sofia and Berlin was cut off, the Berlin operator explaining that the Sofia exchange was unable to give a reason.)

(Grenovich, a Russian by birth but a natualized British subject, disappeared from a train last week while en route from Sofia to Istanbul, Turkey. Associates said they had "good reason to believe" he had been seized "by Bulgarian police at the behest of the Germans.")

(Telephone communication later was established between Berne, Switzerland, and Sofia, and the Associated Press despatch was continued by that route.)

Rendel Speaks Sharply.

The British note did not specifically mention the mysterious disappearance of Grenovich, but Mr. Rendel said he told Philoff that "This case was one of the sparks."

"It was absolutely scandalous," he continued in his remarks to the Premier. "It put Bulgaria back on the level of barbaric countries. It shows that our impression that Bulgaria was a western nation was wrong, at least as far as the police are concerned."

"I tried for years to deal with Bulgarians as a civilized western people. That now appears impossible."

Mr. Rendel also referred to the "Gestapo methods of the Bulgarian police" and said he was convinced the German Gestapo actually was in control of local officials.

Bulgarian fear of the Turkish army is groundless, he asserted, adding that "Turkish troops never constituted a threat to Bulgaria unless Bulgaria lost her independence and let the German army go through her territory."

"Bulgaria's only danger," he added, "is created by not telling her neighbors she would not allow passage of German troops. The Turkish threat is German propaganda."

Need All Workers' Efforts.

"In facing the battle of the Atlantice now opening we need every ounce of our workers' energy and ever-increasing production."

Mr. Alexander assured the House that "the great body of the fleet of August, 1939, remains intact" and said ships coming into service in 1941 would "of themselves make up a formidable force judged by almost any other naval power's standards."

He warned that by gaining French bases Germany now has her submarines close to the Atlantic hunting grounds and German aircraft "are enabled to prey upon our convoys far out at sea."

The 50 United States destroyers "handed over to us in our hour of greatest need" helped meet the U-boat menace, Mr. Alexander said.

"Some have already delivered attacks on enemy submarines and others in the course of their escort duties have borne their part in the rescue of seamen."

Of the bomber menace to shipping the First Lord said:

"I can give this assurance—that counter-measures to this new form of attack are being developed though I know the House will not expect me to reveal what they are."

U.S. Planes In Service

A few minutes later he told a cheering House that "American aircraft are now in service with the fleet air arm and many more are yet to come. During the course of the year we shall receive from America a great reinforcement of ordnance and stores which will go to swell the fighting power of our fleet."

In reviewing the naval operations, Mr. Alexander announced British submarines have sunk "something like 100 enemy warships and supply ships."

He said that "one one or two occasions a raider has encountered a convoy with inferior protection and has inflicted relatively heavy loss."

Scores Get Through.

However, "for every convoy thus attacked, scores have come through without molestation," and "great armies with their equipment have been successfully shepherded by the Navy to the Middle East without loss of a single ship."

Up to May, 1940, he said, losses to British, Allied and neutral merchant ships averaged 40,000 tons a week. For the next seven months they averaged 90,000, but during the last 11 weeks dropped to 51,000.

"I do not attribute this diminution entirely to the measures we have taken but we are justified in counting them as at least one certain reason among other possibilities," he said.

Mr. Alexander disclosed that "not one" of the United States destroyers "had to delay its departure for lack of a crew to bring it across the Atlantic to waters where the battle for survival of the democratic idea is being fought out."

Mr. Alexander drew cheers when he disclosed that in December alone three merchant ships fought duels with submarines and "had the better of the exchanges."

He added that up to the present two enemy planes attempting to bomb merchantmen had been brought down by merchant ships' guns and 15 others probably were destroyed.

The Admiralty, he said, "faithfully publishes" all shipping losses due to enemy action.

More than two-thirds of British merchant tonnage lost has been replaced by new ships, plus tonnage acquired abroad and captured enemy ships.

Tourist Balance

Estimates made in 1939 indicated a favorable balance of $165,975,000, but "more comprehensive information obtained in 1940 indicated that the previous estimates for net receipts for 1939 may have been too high by an amount to the order of $80,000,000 to $90,000,000."

This would indicate a more favorable balance in 1940 than in 1939 as a result of more complete information.

The favorable balance was reached in spite of a decline in tourist entries to Canada during 1940, the report showed. Tourist receipts were $128,000,000, while expenditures were $43,000,000, a reduction from previous years.

During 1940 there were 13,502,429 tourist entries, compared with 16,578,119 in 1939, a decline of 2,985,690 persons, the report showed. On the other hand, Canadian pleasure travel, limited by government restrictions to conserve foreign exchange, dropped by 4,863,314 persons in the last six months of 1940, resulting in the reduced expenditures.

STRANGE BREAKFASTS

Peterborough has become a veritable centre for those who do not eat their morning meal at home. More and more men seem to breakfast downtown, and the odd tastes might well be the answer. A casual tour of the leading cafes on George street any week-day morning will yield much information of value to Robert E. Ripley.

One young man in this city orders each morning in the week—pork and beans; another, a fruit cocktail with whipped cream; still another, malted milk, then the list includes six doughnuts, Coca Cola, a hamburger, and others. The strangest ever heard of in this city however, is six sausages and fried potatoes. — JWH.

Navy Captures Germans On Norse Isles

LONDON, March 5—(CP)—British naval forces successfully raided "German interests" in the Lofoten Islands off Norway yesterday, the Admiralty said today.

A communique:

"A raid was successfully carried out yesterday morning against German interests in the Lofoten Islands off Norway. Further details will be issued as soon as they are learned."

The Lofoten Islands are a rocky chain with an area of about 2,000 square miles scattered along the northwest coast of Norway and guarding approaches to Narvik fjords.

British authorities said they were

Britain Breaks Relations With Bulgaria

SOFIA, Bulgaria, March 5 (AP)—Great Britain severed diplomatic relations with German-occupied Bulgaria today under circumstances indicating this little Balkan country might become a major theatre of war soon.

Shortly after 10 a.m. (4 a.m. ED T), British Minister George W. Rendel visited Bulgarian Foreign Minister Ivan Popoff, read a formal statement announcing his government's decision, then demanded passports of himself and his staff.

The statement said one reason for the diplomatic break was that the Bulgarian army was co-operating with Nazi troops.

Military censorship interrupted telephone calls going out of Bulgaria shortly after Mr. Rendel asked for his passport.

The statement's full contents were not disclosed immediately, but only a few moments before going to the foreign office Rendel intimated British air attacks on German-held communications in Bulgaria might be expected soon.

At Mr. Rendel's request, United States Minister George H. Earle arranged to take over British affairs here.

Signs in English, German, Bulgarian, Greek and Turkish were tacked to the British legation and other property announcing: "This building is protected by the United States government."

Rendel received final instructions last evening from Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, now in Athens, con-

For Thursday, March 6

OPPORTUNITY may come knocking at the door on this day, judging by mainly propitious planetary auspices. The mentality may be keyed up to brilliant coups of a progressive and productive character, which may impress capital or big business with their merit. This may approach the documentary status signing of paper, correspondence, etc., but be prepared for some sort of non-cooperation from an elder or superior. This may be broken down by convincing arguments or other mental shrewdness or sound acumen, as well as personal popularity and good fellowship.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of definite progress with definite opportunity for demonstrating their mental brilliance as well as sound business acumen. New and meritorious propositions should assure capital and influence from high places for promotion, despite some slight measure of opposition from an elder or superior. All pertaining to writings, documents, legal matters, travel should thrive.

A child born on this day should be blest with a brilliant as well as shrewd mind, and should have much ingenuity of a practical as well as intellectual sort. It will have worthy ambitions and should attain preferment from influential sources.

The War Today

By J. F. SANDERSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

Britain severed diplomatic relations with Bulgaria today amidst signs that Yugoslavia was about to succumb to German threats and join the Axis

In many quarters the immediate sequel was expected to be Royal Air Force bombing of German establishments and communications in Bulgaria.

Some persons believed, however, that British authorities would hold their fire for a few days to allow their diplomats to cross the Turkish border, and might even wait until as many as possible of their nationals had left Yugoslavia.

A surprise appeared in news from Belgrade that Sir Ronald Ian Campbell, British minister to Yugoslavia, had been on a secret aerial trip to Athens to see Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden. Sir Ronald's trip became known when he asked urgently for a conference with Yugoslavian Premier Dragisa Cvetkovic and Aliksander Cincar-Markovic, his foreign secretary. It was surmised his mission concerned the Yugoslavian attitude toward the Axis which Yugoslavia was reported in some quarters as ready to join tomorrow.

A German march to the Yugoslav-Greek border and a thrust across it in conjunction with a similar thrust from the Bulgarian-Macedonian frontier might prove serious for Greece as it could create a heavy pincer squeeze on northern Greek troops.

Two possible, but hardly probable, counter-strokes to such a thrust were these: An attack by Turkish troops, or British forces operating with Turkish permission ,through Thrace against South-eastern Bulgaria; a Russian attack against Rumania to divert Nazi forces which have taken that country under their "protection."

An alternative, more probable, was British reinforcement of the Greek army, either by forces brought from the quiet sectors of the African fronts or by fresh forces brought from Britain or the Dominions.

In fact it was believed that bolstering of Greek resistance in case of a German attack was the main subject of conversation between the Greek Government and High Command and Mr. Eden and Gen. Sir John Dill, Chief of the Imperial Staff.

Northey—Bolton

The marriage of Miss Lillian Bolton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bolton of Douro, to Sapper Gerald Northey of the Royal Canadian Engineers, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Northey of Lakefield, took place in George Street Church parsonage Monday afternoon, Rev. H. L. Roberts officiating.

A floor-length frock of cornflower blue embossed marquisette, made with bouffant skirt and square neckline, was worn by the bride, and her veil of bridal net was arranged with a halo of orange blossoms. Miss Verna Bolton, wearing pink chiffon, with headdress of pink and blue flowers, attended her sister. Mr. Wellington Wood was groomsman.

A reception was held at Hooper's Palm Rooms, Mrs. Bolton receiving in a navy sheer ensemble.

Outlines Qualities Of a Christian Home

A comprehensive view of the distinguishing qualities of a Christian home, in which she stressed the grave responsibility of parents in leading the way, was given by Mrs. V. E. R. Zufelt at a meeting of the Helen Roger Auxiliary of Knox church, held at the home of Miss Blanche Sloan, 514 Chamberlain street. Mrs. Zufelt pointed out that when teaching a child to attend Sunday School it is much easier to say "come" than "go."

Mrs. H. Clegg, president, opened the meeting with a short period of silent prayer, and the offering was received with thoughts especially for East Indian comrades in the World Church. Mrs. E. Mesley introduced the study book, "Links Between East and West," sketching briefly the historical and geographical importance of Trinidad, that small British island off the northern shore of South America, where went Miss A. J. Archibald, a young school teacher from Nova Scotia who became associated with missionary work. Mrs. R. Goodfellow outlined her missionary career as Mother of Iere Home, an institution for the training of young girls. Miss Archibald's work as principal of Naparima High School was given by Miss Inez Barrer, and a number of interesting experiences in Miss Archibald's life were related by Mrs. Mesley.

Mrs. Irwin Oesch told of the life and work of Rev. Ychan Masih, D.D., of Indore, Central India, stating that there are few men in the history of the Indian church who have made a greater contribution to the Christian cause, or have left a more definite and lasting impression upon the life of mission, church and community.

During the business period, Miss Mary Morton, christian stewardship secretary, gave a brief review of obligations as stewards of Christ, and implored the members to deny themselves during the current month in preparation for the Easter thank-offering, to be received during the April meeting at the home of Mrs T. Taylor, 203 Reid street. Because it is the duty of a Christian citizen to have accurate knowledge concerning the critical issues facing her country, Mrs. G. Hutchinson, christian citizenship secretary, read a timely article on the Rowell-Sirois report. An invitation was read from the C.G.I.T. group asking Auxiliary members to meet with them on Monday evening, March 10, in the Primary Room.

To Make Further Clothing Appeal

An appeal from various women's organization of the city that the overseas supply of used and new clothing donations be continued as in past weeks will be made through the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Civic War Service Council. All new clothing will be sent overseas through the Red Cross and I.O.D.E., but because the space chartered by these groups is in such close proximity to foodstuffs, they are unable to ship used clothing, which, in accordance with health regulations, will be forwarded by the Salvation Army.

At a meeting of the Auxiliary to the Peterborough War Service Council next Monday night in the Canadian Legion Hall, ways and means will be discussed of meeting the request of Lady Gertrude Craig, mayoress of Peterborough, England, for local assistance to an association of the families of soldiers, sailors and airmen of Great Britain, and of helping with the $25,000 fund which Mrs. J. H. (Mary) Morecraft of Montreal is planning to raise with the assistance of Marys in Canada. Women in Peterborough whose surnames are "Mary" will be contacted in connection with this fund, which is planned for the purpose of supplying an engine for the Dorothys' Spitfire Airplane.

Children's clothes and quilts made by members of the Auxiliary from citizens' donations will be on display at the Monday meeting.

Memorial Book Presented To Gracie Fields

Gracie Fields, who won the hearts of Peterborough folk when she appeared in concert here last fall, and through whose entertainment of Canadian audiences $100,000 was raised for the Empire's sailors' fund, has been presented with a memorial volume of her triumphal visit to this country.

She is still on this side of the Atlantic, singing her way into the hearts of hundreds of thousands of Americans and raising large sums of money for British War Relief. On a recent appearance in New York City, the revenue from a midnight show was $38,000. Everywhere she has appeared record crowds greet her. For an appearance in Philadelphia next week, 15,000 seats were all sold three weeks in advance.

Taking advantage of her appearance in Buffalo, Mr. E. F. Trimble, General Secretary of the Ontario Division, Navy League of Canada, on behalf of Dr. D. H. Gibson, President of the Dominion Council of the Navy League, presented her there with a large volume testifying to the acclaim of the press on the occasion of her transcontinental tour. The Canadian papers had reflected the public's enthusiasm for Gracie Fields and the critics from every city in Canada were collected in a magnificent book of remembrance. Miss Fields, to whom this gesture came as a complete surprise, was deeply touched by the Navy League's expression of goodwill and appreciation, and stated: "This book is by far the loveliest gift I have ever had and will be the choicest memento in my home for all time," thus showing once more the very gracious spirit which endeared her so greatly to all Canada.

WE . . . NOTICED

. . . That all silk lingerie is going to be one of the luxuries women are going to miss. Real silk is being replaced with rayon and celanese fabrics in ladies' lingeries and before long it might be impossible to get pure silk. Some very fine fabrics are made, but so far they do not take the place of the pure silk, satins and crepes. Perhaps silk lingerie is not quite as important as hosiery, but there is nothing more luxurious than satin slips and nightles.

✧ ✧ ✧

. . . That for out-and-out stimulating interest in dress silhouettes, wide skirts of the circular cut of the skating variety ought to be classed as a pleasant memory. The practically sound people who make their style changes gradually, are showing full skirts but toned down, and definitely looking different from those circular skirts that already are beginning to have a "kid-is" look on anybody over 16.

DOROTHY DIX

A chirpy old lady in her late seventies was discoursing to a group of middle-agers the other day about the consolations of age. "Dont take getting old so hard," she said, "It's fine when you get used to it. I admit that finding your first gray hair gives you a shock that you never really get over, and that when other women begin helping you down the stairs and giving you the easy-chair out of the draft you feel like committing mayhem upon them. But after you accept the idea that you are no longer a girl, and don't have to keep up the pretense of being one or trying to look like one, you realize that Browning knew what he was talking about when he said: "Come, grow old along with me, the best is yet to be." Believe me, my dears, age has many perquisites and emoluments. For one thing, it is the great emancipator. No woman ever really knows what freedom is until she gets past 60 and knows that nobody is going to take a second look at her anyway, so she can wash the cosmetics off of her face, let out her corset strings, buy a pair of flat-heeled shoes and be comfortable. It doesn't matter whether she is fat or thin, so she doesn't have to count her calories and she can dip into the mayonnaise and whipped cream as heavily as she chooses, and doesn't have to live like a starving refugee to keep her figure. Why, just being able to eat all the lemon pie you want without feeling like a criminal is a compensation for being 10 years older by anybody's figuring.

"Then you are done with the man proposition, which is a worry that turns young women old before their time. When you are in your 50's if you haven't caught a husband you know you are never going to catch one, so you give up the chase and sit down in peace and rest your feet.

Older People Always Happier.

"If you will look about you, you will see that all the real old maids are jolly and happy. It is the ones who are in the girl-bachelor stage and who are still struggling and praying for a miracle who are sour and disgruntled. There is nothing so settling to the spirit as giving up hope.

"Same way about marriage. It takes 20 or 30 years for a wife to get her husband off her mind so she can really enjoy him and get some fun out of marriage. Up to that time she is always afraid she is going to lose him to some platinum blonde, or she is worrying about trying to make him over according to her own pattern, and it is only when she gets along toward her golden wedding day that she gives up and quits and lets nature take its course.

"For by then she knows that he is so devoted to her that she couldn't lose him if she tried to, or she is so tired of trying to hold him that she is glad to let him go and be rid of him. Any woman who wants him can have him, and welcome.

"Another advantage of age is that you can do business on such a little capital. When you are young so much is expected of you that you have to put on a big show to even be noticed, but so little is expected of you when you are old that you can get by with any sort of mediocre performance.

"Any old woman who powders her nose and whose store teeth fit is called pretty. If her clothes are of this year's vintage she has a reputation as a good-dresser If she reads the newspapers and talks about topics of current interest instead of maundering on about the time her Johnny had the measles 40 years ago and repeating the smart sayings of her grandchildren, she is esteemed a brilliant conversationalist. And if she is sweet and amiable and gracious she is a personage in the community to whom they take visiting firemen to see.

"And age is the time of peace. The shouting and the tumult, the struggle and the striving are over for you. Your hard day's labor is done and you can sit in the twilight and rest with folded hands. Your worries no longer torment you. Your fears are stilled, because so many of the things you dreaded most have never happened, that you have learned to trust life and have faith that somehow, someway, everything works out for good.

"And perhaps the real consolation prize of age is that it is the one perfect alibi for all we want to do and all we don't want to do. We are too old to have to take care of our grandchildren when their mothers want to play bridge or go on a trip or to have to serve on committees or to be bothered with boresome people, but we are young enough to take a tour around the world if we want to and to go to gay dinner-parties and otherwise enjoy ourselves.

"It is a great racket being old," said the old lady.

Outstanding Actor, Actress Of 1940

Knit Mitts For Highlanders

Sixty-seven pairs of mitts have been knitted during the past month for soldiers of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, Miss Anne Heideman, war work convener, reported at the March meeting of Jeanette Scott Chapter, I.O.D.E., held at the home of the honorary regent, Mrs. Fred Hooper. Mrs. G. F. Fishor presided in the absence of the regent, Mrs. W. Preston.

A raffle of War Savings Certificates was planned, the first draw to be an eight-dollar certificate, and second and third draws to be four-dollar certificates each. The draw is to take place at the Chapter's annual garden party in June. Arrangements were made for a rummage sale in April. An interesting paper, read by Miss Violet Davidson, was entitled "It Pays Not to Advertise."

Tells of Mission Work Among New Canadians

The Murray Street Women's Mission Circle held its annual Home Mission Thank-offering meeting Tuesday in the church parlor. The speaker of the afternoon was Miss Nellie Smith of the Royce Avenue Baptist Mission for New Canadians in Toronto. Miss Smith's visit had a touch of personal interest, as she is a sister of Rev. C. G. Smith of Temple Baptist church, Montreal, who in former years was a frequent visitor at Murray street.

The work of the missionary among the Polish and Ukranian people of the Royce Avenue district was told in such graphic an interesting fashion as to hold every listener at fascinated attention. One was impressed with the dynamic personality and keen sense of humor of the speaker, as well as her spirit of devotion and consecration to her work.

Mrs. W. H. Kidd expressed to Miss Smith the appreciation of the meeting. The devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. A. H. Campbell and Mrs. D. A. Loomis led in prayer. The beautiful hymn, "Lead, Kindly Light" was sung by Miss Phyllis Rome with Mrs. J. Roberts as accompanist. It was announced that the April program would consist of lantern slides depicting mission work in Bolivia.

During the month of March a retiring offering will be taken at a Sunday morning service for the support of mission work in Indian reserves in Ontario. Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe pronounced the benediction. The social hour at the close of the meeting was in charge of Mrs. M. Storey, assisted by Miss E. Smith, Mrs. L. A. Grant, Mrs. W. Miller, Mrs. D. Vincent, Mrs. N. Barrie. Small British flags were effective on the tea table.

Help the Young People To Health - Happiness

What a common sight to see a young person whose bloodless face and feeble frame are evidences of poor circulation and weakness where bounding health and rosy cheeks should reign.

Young people in such a condition are generally of an anæmic nature and require a preparation containing iron to improve the blood content.

Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills meet this requirement, as they contain three concentrated forms of iron of an easily assimilated nature together with other valuable ingredients indicated for building up the system and helping to improve the blood content.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

That Russian Note

It may be spectacular enough to find that Russia has forwarded a note to Bulgaria saying that the position of the latter nation in entering the war with Germany is not correct, and predicting that such a movement will merely increase the area of war and will yield nothing in the interests of peace.

If one were looking for something or anything significant or arresting in Russia's message it might be found in its indirect reference to Turkey. Telling Bulgaria that Russia is withdrawing any previous understanding of assistance is about the same as saying that Russia will take no action if Turkey desires to attack either Bulgarians or Germans passing through Bulgaria.

It does look as though Russia had a policy which is being followed regardless of which nations stand or fall, and that policy is to see that Russia stands. Our belief is that Russia is not vitally interested in the ultimate success of the British or the Germans, and it is most unlikely that Moscow has any intention of entering the war. She prefers to live in a world with a weakened Germany and a weakened Britain. That can be put down for fact.

Where Can They Go?

The people who live in the villages of Albania are suffering on account of the war being carried on in their districts. The story comes of shells from Italian guns, seven miles distant, dropping on some of the little homes and wiping out the entire family, who from reasons of fear or a desire for warmth had been huddled around the small fire place in the house.

Life can be neither pleasant nor generous for these people at any time. They exist on a standard of living which we would find it difficult to understand and probably impossible to emulate even if we had the strange incentive which would cause us to attempt it. The land goes up and down and it is rocky; the ground between the rocks yields little, but they herd their goats and thus they live.

Frequently we have noticed reference made to the fact that these people refuse to leave their homes even if battle goes on near them. One correspondent answers it all by asking two questions: (1) Where would they go? (2) How would they go? The government of Italy is not interested in their welfare, although Italy was the power which entered and wrested the land from the Albanians. That crude little house (we would probably refer to it as a hut) is the only home they know, and if they left that they would be forced to wander in the open.

Mussolini may refer if he is still so minded to "my invincible legions," but the Albanian shepherds killed by stray bullets and the families wiped out by shells which come from seven miles distant are surely the innocent victims of his mad desire for conquest and expansion.

Some One Was Looking

A local store was robbed in the early hours of Sunday morning, and two youths have pleaded guilty. The case is still before the court, and we are content to leave it at that. But there is something in this case which deserves notice.

The time selected for the robbery was probably between the hours of four and five in the morning. Possibly one might conclude that at such an hour there would be the minimum opportunity for any one to be about. It might even have been surmised that it would be possible to operate in between the calls paid by the night police.

On the face of it the thing looked all right. But it did not turn out that way. A local taxi man saw the strange car, took the number and description and called the police. Before police arrived the car had gone, but the number was immediately turned over to Toronto and other points. The arrests followed.

So often it happens in those cases that some person is looking. We recall cases where some person has started out to walk in the dead of night along streets where he was not known, and yet some witness would appear to say the individual had been seen at a named place. Possibly there are more people see persons walking or driving than one can well estimate. One of the most difficult things known is to indulge in crime or questionable movements and do so without being observed.

Not At All Likely

Allan Lamport is member of the Ontario Legislature for one of the Toronto ridings, and he is also connected with the air force as Flying Officer. Recently he had occasion to make an address in which he dealt pointedly with Henry Ford's latest statement about the war, and in that address the Toronto member let him have it with both barrels.

Within a short time notice came through that Flying Officer Lamport had been transferred from the manning pool in Toronto to a base in Eastern Canada, and after that came the charge that the transfer and the address were tied. One was the result of the other.

It does not seem one bit likely that those in charge of transfers in the R. C. A. F. would be engaged in that sort of business, or would be busy shoving men around because they did this or that. If what they were doing was objectionable there would be discipline applied. Moving a man from the manning pool in Toronto to some other base may quite well be one way of advancing him.

And yet there were a number of statements and protests made, all of them based on the assumption that Flying Officer Lamport was being shifted on account of the address he had made about Henry Ford. We are not at all inclined to believe the Air Force is operated on any such basis.

Public Business

During the debates at Ottawa it was disclosed that 200,000 men had enlisted and 18,829 had been discharged. Of this number 10,000 were weeded out as medically unfit for the physical exactions of active service. When that debate was on there was a good deal said regarding the work of doctors who had been examining and passing these men and it was not complimentary.

Dr. J. J. McCann, M.P. from Renfrew South came to the defence of the doctors, claiming that what had been said was a reflection on the medical profession. His contention was that the Canadian doctors had actually made a better showing than had been done in United States when they were examining men for army service in that country.

It is hard to understand why the member from Renfrew should seek to straighten out matters or why he should resent the opinions and views of other members of the House. It was—and is—public business, and the opinion of a good many members, including some of cabinet standing, was that the work had not been properly attended to. When they come to that conclusion it is their business as public servants to say so.

They Don't Go To Church

We know well enough it is a problem to get people in cities to attend church services on Sunday evening. There are places where for a certain season of the year the Sunday evening service has been dropped entirely, while in other places it has been turned over to the young people.

We are informed that some of the villages are having the same question to deal with. One place in particular in Western Ontario brought the ministers together to see what could be done, and the first thing they did was make either a survey or an estimate of the number of people who were attending either morning or evening services.

The result was that the number of those attending church at all was placed at 35 per cent. of the population, and this village has about 900. The attendance at the services is greater than that figure indicates because a number of people from the surrounding country attend services in the village.

Going a little deeper into the matter it was found a number of those who attended morning service never came out at night. Some of the older members remain home and listen to sermons on the radio; it was found that in several homes where they wanted to listen to certain radio programs which come on at church hour, and on such programs there is no sermon featured. There are three churches in the village and it is said that all the people who turn out at night could be readily taken care of in one building.

So the same trouble which we have in cities is finding its way into the villages; right into the places which we regard as being substantial and unspoiled by modern trends. Evidently something is wrong and the finger has not yet been put on the cure. People generally go where they want to go, and if they are not going to church it is because they do not want to do so. And to put that through a finer screen, it's plain indifference.

She Married a Count

And now she has married a Count! That is the sequel of a novel plan staged in New York sponsored by a dozen "men-around-town." It was a "coming-out" party with a definite purpose because the young men were fed up with what they described at the time as the "Over-exploitation of pampered daughters of a so-called society that doesn't exist any more."

The young men went on the search for a girl with no so-called "social standing," and they found her living with her father on a river barge. Name was Wilma Baard and her "debut" was not at all like that recognized and sanctioned by the leaders of the social world in the city. But it worked and caught on.

Last report is she has married Count Nava de Tajo. Who he is or what he has is not stated, but for the moment it is sufficient that the girl from the river barge married a Count. And across the line where they claim to abhor titles that is regarded as quite an accomplishment.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Hitler's father died when he was a lad of 13, after which there was no one to lead him to the woodshed.

The price of milk in St. Catharines has been set at 12½ cents per quart, and we have always wondered how in our currency one paid a bill of that sort.

Bulgaria was taken in by Berlin to save the land from falling into the hands of the British. Haven't we heard that one before?

There are 234 Indians in the Canadian army. As a bit of propaganda we might increase that number and also spread the report that they are still very fierce people.

We read that farmers in the St. Thomas district are going to organize on much the same lines as labor unions. Gee! If they don't pay their dues out they go.

Russia assures United States that all goods entering that country are used there, and none go to Germany. We like to accept people's word as correct, but on that issue we'd prefer to have a signed and sworn statement.

St. Thomas City Council has been arguing about granting licenses for slot machines. Apparently there must be some gentlemen in Jumbo Town who consider they have more authority than those who framed the Criminal Code.

Thirty Italian planes shot down by a single squadron of the R.A.F. without the loss of a single British plane will give the Germans an idea of what to expect if they push further through the Balkans.

Polish soldiers interned in Rumania after the fall of Poland have been taken to Germany for forced labor. So base an act will be remembered in the final reckoning with that puppet state of Hitler's.

The palm tree grows best beneath a ponderous weight, and even so the character of man. The petty pangs of small daily cares have often bent the character of men, but great misfortunes seldom.—Kossuth.

Willkie Proves Quite A Problem For Politicians

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON.—Wendell Willkie's a problem to politicians. Since his appearance as an aid-Britain witness before the senate's foreign relations committee he's been as much talked about on Washington's Capitol Hill as President Roosevelt himself.

Wendell Willkie

Partisanly this talk is all mixed up. Administration Democrats, plugging for F. D. R.'s policy, speaking of the recent Republican candidate for the White House, refer to him as simply grand because he generally agrees, despite a few qualifications, with their program of 100 per cent help to John Bull, short of America's actual participation in the war. Isolation Democrats, on the opposite hand, roast him bitterly. Old-line Republicans, who never did want him on their ticket, equally roast him, though they're glad that now he's read himself out of the G.O.P., as they say, by supporting F.D.R.'s overseas plans. Nevertheless, there are Republicans who favor the all-aid formula, and consequently maintain that Wendell's o.k. in the position he takes.

Anyway, he breaks at least evenly with the executive mansion's tenant as a subject of current comment, whether friendly or hostile.

Illustratively of the hostile sort:

A big delegation of war-scared women descended on Washington a few days ago to oppose the lease-lend bill. They called themselves Crusading Mothers or Paul Revere Sentinels. Besides creating a ruckus in congress' ante-rooms and getting themselves thrown out—although not until after they'd beaten up a Capitol policeman—they hanged an effigy in front of the British embassy. It was an effigy with two heads. One was labelled President Roosevelt, the other Wendell Willkie.

"AS BAD AS F.D.R."

IN OTHER WORDS, the Crusading Mothers rated Wendell as just as bad as F.D.R.

But the pro-lease-lenders rate him as just as good.

Now, suppose that, at this juncture, F.D.R.'s White House tenure was just expiring and that the lease-lenders were picking a successor to him. Wouldn't Wendell be their ideal choice? He made a corking good impression on the senate foreign relations committee's witness stand. Isolationist questioners didn't upset him a bit. He decidedly outclassed Charley Lindbergh, the isolationists' star testifier, who was pretty good, too. And since then his broadcasts and interviews have been first-class, from the lease-lenders' angle.

But, if chosen, which party ticket would he run on? The Republican?—though the old-line Republicans say he never was one of them and that he's completely reverted to the Democrats now, by boosting for F.D.R. Or the Democratic?—though he ran presidentially as a Republican the last time.

Of course, everything undoubtedly will be different in 1944.

If we lease-lend up to the limit and it works all right, if Britain wins and we don't get into the war, that'll be one thing.

If we lease-lend and we do get into the war, whatever its outcome, that'll be something else again.

And there's also the chance that the war still will be going on in 1944.

There are all those contingencies to be reckoned with.

Predictions as to Willkie's 1944 prospects depend on 'em, and they are too numerous and uncertain to calculate on.

Right now, though, Wendell's as prominent a man as anybody in the country. He's more so than when he was running for president.

DELIBERATE BUILD-UP

THERE are folk who insist that his deliberate intention has been to build himself up, with a view to four years hence. If so, he's an extraordinarily slick publicity man for himself—or has been up to date.

Defeated presidential candidates usually lapse into comparative obscurity after their respective lickings, like Alf M. Landon. William Jennings Bryan didn't, but he was an exception to the rule. Al Smith didn't, either, immediately, but he did after a while. Ordinarily, they lose and then subside. Wendell gets more ebullient daily.

He certainly has the politicians guessing.

They can't tell whether he's a political genius or just an accident—a lucky one, for himself, thus far. Will his luck last, or blow up sooner or later? That's why they're asking themselves and one another.

EASY STORAGE

WHEN they started to tear down the Village Hall of Bronxville, the municipal librarian was on a spot, since his books were housed in the building and he had no place to keep them until a new structure could be erected. He got out of this predicament by urging all local readers to take as many books as posible out of the library, with the understanding that they must not be returned until there are shelves to receive them. Everybody's happy now, and heaven knows how cultured.—The New Yorker.

Letters To The Editor

MEN WHO NEED INCREASES

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—Several letters have appeared in this column re the increased pay to city men who have white-collar jobs. Ald. Bradburn was right and he alone had enough courage to tell the Finance Committee members where they got off at. The men who got the increased pay and those who were lined up to get good increases do not need the money to live on. They are getting enough on which to live and to bank some that's left over. Any man getting $1,500 a year on the staff is receiving plenty.

The men who are receiving less than $1,200 a year are the ones who need attention. Many men who work for the city at 40 cents an hour do not get $1,000 a year. Many factories do not pay over 38 to 40 cents an hour and yet we are expected to live, pay rent, light bill, fuel, feed and clothe our families on $15 to $20 per week according to the hours we work. We laborers and skilled men who work for such wages find the going hard. There are children in these families who are not well clothed and fed, and yet the doctors say a growing child should drink a quart of milk per day.

I drew less than $18 last week as a skilled factory worker due to short hours. How could I buy three quarts of milk for my three children? It would cost me $2.31 per week; my rent is $5 fuel $3.50, light and water $1, food $9 for five, and that makes $18.50. There is nothing left there for milk, clothes, doctor, dentist, war savings, insurance, or anything else.

The working men in a factory today are too much like the cogs in a wheel, when one wears out put in another, and the same applies to working men generally. They work from the time they are 20 until they reach 60, a total of 40 years. Then he is through and the factories do not want him. He has given the best in him but he has had no chance to provide for his old age.

The trained mechanics in certain trades have received increases of from 20 to 40 cents an hour on war work. They can stand the increases in the cost of living, but the men who are not in war work and who are not much in demand are still working for the same old rate. A plumber told me before the war he got from 50 to 60 cents an hour, but at Camp Borden he was paid $1 per hour and is getting the same on a local contract, yet I am supposed to put up money so the government can pay these fellows almost three times what I am receiving.

Our municipal council, provincial and Dominion governments should take the lead in seeing that the under dog is getting a decent wage. Many families could not exist today if they did not rent rooms or take in boarders, or have their children work after school and on Saturdays. I know in my own home that is the only thing that has kept us going. Living costs indicate that the man who is under $25 per week is the one who needs the increase. Nor do I think local people get a fair deal in securing employment.

INDECENT STUFF

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—The following letter is one which was received by a min... of the Gospel in this city, and I think it speaks for itself.

Dear Sir:—It is my regret to have to speak to you concerning a matter as distasteful to both you and me but it is high time someone did so.

Very recently the newsstands of this city have been infested with indecent literature which is sold indiscriminately to young and old. The great danger is the sale of this literature to teen-age boys. By it passions are aroused and especially where the will is weak indecency and vice will prevail. This is a vice that must go and anyone in his senses can easily see the dangers of it.

The stories contained in these magazines have no real plot or literary value except to turn the mind toward sex. They also contain many illustrations and real pictures which also serve this purchase and they even advertise books containing real life photos and true love experience which the publishers would be afraid to offer even to the newsstands lax as they are. This is an evil that simply does exist and the longer we allow it to exist the more of a hold it will get over human nature, and so therefore I appeal to you good Christian gentlemen to help rid us of this vice. It is you preachers of the Gospel who can reach the public and enlist their support against the patronage of this type of literature.

Other cities have been cleaned of this trash and it will only be through men like yourself that our city will be cleaned.

I am certainly sorry to have to take up your time in this manner but you will I am sure readily see the necessity of immediate action.

I remain,

A CHRISTIAN.

WETRE FRIENDS ONCE

IN 1916 Sir Archibald Wavell became the right hand of General Allenby who was defending Egypt against the Turks. With the invaluable aid of "Lawrence of Arabia," who later was to incite the Arab world to revolt, Wavell succeeded in bringing some order among the rebellious nomads of North Africa. And it was at Kufra Oasis that the paths of Wavell and Marshal Graziani crossed. They were soon to part—Wavell to engage in the Palestine campaign, and Graziani to remain in Cyrenaica.

One wonders, does each still carry the daggers which they exchanged at the Kufra Oasis, and on which were inscribed, "United we are masters."—Die Weltwoche, Zurich, Switzerland.

GERMAN BRUTALITY

SINGLE Czech girls over 17 years of age are being sent to Germany on forced labor and to provide amusement for German soldiers. In order to avoid such a fate they marry as soon as they reach this age. But, if they are accused of having this motive in contracting the marriage, they are sentenced to jail for sabotage. The penalty is one year imprisonment for the young woman and 14 days for the parents. There can be no appeal from such a sentence.—News Czecho-Slovakia.

MR. CHURCHILL'S JOKE.

WHAT a fellow the Prime Minister is! Few people in history have ever had more on their minds than he has today; few people have been more beset with awesome problems. Yet he can come to a Parliamentary debate in which the Government has not made too good a showing and wind it up (without having heard a great deal of it) in a most vigorous and persuasive speech, artfully pulling the legs of the Government's most effective critics, getting everyone—or nearly everyone—into a good humor and by way of substance delivering an admirably reasoned argument on a point of political theory of the first importance.

As a joke I liked the little aside in which he (an Harrovian) offered to translate primus inter pares for the benefit of any old Etonian present.—London News Statesman.

HEROIC SALVAGE

A HEROIC salvage is told about the great tanker, San Demetrio, which was in the convoy gallantly defended by the Jervis Bay. The tanker was set afire, abandoned and two days later part of her crew went aboard and put the fire out, expecting an explosion almost any time. Six days later she was picked up by a British warship and the cargo, worth $1,200,000, was saved. The crew received in Admiralty Court $60,000 for salvage fees, including an award to a greaser who died on board.—St. Catharines Standard.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

Let no man deceive himself. If any man among you seemeth to be wise in this world, let him become a fool, that he may be wise. For the wisdom of this world is foolishness with God. For it is written, He taketh the wise in their own craftiness.

And again, The Lord knoweth the thoughts of the wise, that they are vain. Therefore let no man glory in men.—I Cor. iii: 18-21.

A Bit of Nonsense

Trick of the Trade

Two strangers in a first-class compartment were in friendly conversation. The windows had been closed by previous occupants, and the desultory talk had drifted to the subject of ventilation.

"I make it," said one, "an invariable practice to advise people to sleep with their bedroom windows open all the year round."

"Ho, ho!" laughed the other. "It is easy to see your profession."

"Indeed, and what do you think it is?"

"It is fairly obvious," came the reply in lofty tones, "that you're a doctor."

"Not at all," retorted the first, very confidentially. "To tell you the truth, I'm a—burglar!"

Body Of Dr. Banting Lies In State

Paying their last respects to a great scientist and humanitarian, thousands of persons filed past the body of Sir Frederick Banting as it lay in state in Convocation Hall, Toronto. Officers of the University of Toronto contingent, C.O.T.C., guarded the bier.

Famed Scientist, Soldier, Banting Buried

TORONTO, March 5 (CP)—On a flag-covered gun carriage, the body of Sir Frederick Banting was carried to its final resting place in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery yesterday after hundreds paid the scientist-soldier tribute in a public funeral service in University of Toronto's Convocation Hall.

The funeral service for Sir Frederick, who died in the crash of a plane carrying him to England on his war duties nearly two weeks ago, was simple. There was a brief service and an address by Canon H. J. Cody, president of the university, before the funeral cortege proceeded to the cemetery.

"Tragic" asked Dr. Cody of Sir Frederick's sudden death on a lonely stretch of the Newfoundland coast with two members of the plane's crew. "Yes, but also triumphant. Was it not a noble passing.

"It is not given to everyone to die for his country, for freedom and for justice, to die in the path of duty, to die on a mission fraught with deep significance to science and to the success of the great cause for which we fight."

After Dr. Cody's address, Dr. Healy Willan played the Dead March in Saul at the organ and Lt.-Col. G. O. Fallis, senior chaplain of military district No. 2, pronounced benediction.

Then the plain mahogany casket was carried from the hall, where hundreds had filed past the flower-banked bier while the body lay in state for two hours yesterday morning.

All Dominion Has Part

The flowers came from organizations and individuals in all parts of the Dominion and the United States. Officers from the university's contingent of the Canadian Officers' Training Corps formed a guard around the flag-draped casket.

Inside the coffin was a single wreath of deep-red roses bound in crimson ribbon. It was from Lady Banting. Sir Frederick's sword and cap rested on top. The body lay in the hall where the scientist received his degree as a doctor of medicine more than a score of years ago.

Monday night Lady Banting and her 11-year-old son visited the chapel where a quiet intimate service was conducted by Rev. Peter Addison, who had known Sir Frederick since his youth in Alliston, Ont.

A number of those who visited the funeral hall were diabetic sufferers, liberated from the grip of the disease by Sir Frederick's discovery of the secret insulin 18 years ago.

All classes of people, including mothers leading children by the hand, elderly men with canes, students, airmen, soldiers and sailors, passed slowly by the bier in groups of three. Among them were Thomson Banting of Alliston, a brother of the soldier's scientist and Charles McCrea, former minister of mines for Ontario.

Millbrook Shows Balance Of $11

MILLBROOK, March 5—(ENS)—An abstract statement for the receipts and expenditures of Millbrook has been prepared by the auditors, J. L. Byam and T. H. Collins, the receipts totalling $25,771.22, and the expenditures $25,659.61, leaving a balance of $11.61.

The assets include the following items:

Cash in bank, $116.61; taxes outstanding, 1937, $302.20; for 1938, $492.16; for 1939, $901.61, and for 1940, $1,571.69. The village share in Town Hall, $5,000.00; in Fire Hall $2,500.00; fire engine and equipment $2,500.00; Public School building, $60,000.00; share agricultural park, $300.00. Total, $73,679.35.

Liabilities: Bank of Toronto note, $1,600.00; outstanding cheques, $97.05; total, $1,697.05. Debenture debt: 13 school debentures, 13 years, $18,819.22; 3 school debentures, 20 years, $1,128.81; 8 sewer and paving debentures, 20 years, 11,853.91; 15 Hydro debentures, 16 years, $8,304.71; total liabilities, $41,803.70; surplus, $31,857.65.

We believe the balance sheet gives a true and correct statement of the Corporation's affairs, as shown by the books of the municipality:

Auditors found the municipal property satisfactorily insured as follows: Town Hall, $10,000.00 in Gore District Mutual and Economical Insurance Co.; Fire Hall, $3,000.00, in Norwich Union; school buildings and equipment, $40,000.00, in Economical $20,000.00, and in Federal Fire and Wellington $20,000.00.

Debenture debt on paving is $11,853.91, with annual payment of $1,843.06, and with no payments overdue. Debenture debt on schools, $19,948.03, with annual payments of $2,482.55, with no payments overdue; Hydro debentures for $8,304.71, with annual payments of $721.06, with no payments overdue.

Unity Of Canada One Bright Spot

TORONTO, March 5—(CP)—Premier Thane A. Campbell of Prince Edward Island said Monday that unity in Canada was one of the bright spots in the picture of the British Empire at war.

"I think it is rather significant that one of the principal expressions of this unity has come from the Prime Minister of Quebec (Hon. Adelard Godbout), he said in an address to the Canadian Club of Toronto. Mr. Campbell said he was "greatly impressed" with a speech in Toronto by Mr. Godbout late last year pledging his province's co-operation in the war effort.

Premier Hepburn of Ontario had given voice to another expression of this unity at the Dominion-Provincial conference in Ottawa in January, he said. Mr. Campbell quoted the Ontario premier as saying that "whatever might be the divergent views of the provinces regarding the fate of the (Sirois) report, the Province of Ontario is ready to co-operate with the other provinces in anything that might lead to the efficient prosecution of the war."

Reviewing the events of the war, Mr. Campbell said some of the factors behind the fall of France reflected "the too-great criticism of the two-party system."

"I do believe," he said, "that when the two party lines get broken down to the stage where the government of the day is dependent for its stability upon one or more outside groups, then the stability and forcefulness of any government is apt to be seriously hindered."

Smith Couple Given Cabinet Of Silver

LAKEFIELD, March 5.—(ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. Percy McIlmoyle of Smith township, near Selwyn, quietly observed the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage on Saturday when they entertained at dinner.

The bride and groom of twenty-five years ago were married in Lakefield at the Baptist parsonage by Rev. Slimon, their attendants being Miss Muriel Sweeting (Mrs. Cephas Bullock) of Young's Point and Mr. Percy McFadden of Lakefield.

Marking the occasion on Saturday Mr. and Mrs. McIlmoyle were presented with a beautiful cabinet of silver and silver butter dish.

Those present were Mrs. Joseph Nicholls, Miss Ruby Nicholls, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Darling and family and Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Murduff and baby son, John.

Prefer Ex-Army Older Men In New Classes

TORONTO, Mar. 5 — (CP). — Directions have been issued to give returned soldiers and older men preference in seeking students for far emergency training classes, F. S. Rutherford, director of Vocational Education for Ontario, told a service club at luncheon yesterday.

Five thousand men now are in training in technical classes in 31 of Ontario's 40 vocational schools for the purpose of providing semi-skilled workers for war industries, and 3,000 already have been placed, he said.

"Directors have been advised individuals 21 years of age, or those approaching that age, are not to be enrolled unless they have been declared medically unfit."

The director said that Ontario's graduation of semi-skilled workers for war industries, geared to produce 50,000 trainees within a year, currently is slightly in advance of demand.

"It is intended that schools act as a brake on enrolments until industry has absorbed the trainees already precautiously with respect to future demand.

McMullen Leads Oshawa To Group Victory

Peterborough juniors vanished from the O.H.A. scene last night when they were beaten 8 to 1 in the fifth game of the playoff series by the Oshawa Bees at Oshawa.

Led by McMullen, who played a sparkling game going both ways for the Oshawa team, Frank Black's outfit were too good for the Colts in this final battle. They opened the scoring a little over a minute after the game got under way and they were in the driver's seat all the way through. Morrison in the Petes' nets was beaten by a couple of easy one but the Oshawa superiority stood out nevertheless.

They have improved remarkably in the last two weeks and had a surplus of speed and teamplay to throw into action against the Petes who tried hard but were just not equal to the task of holding the group leaders. Oshawa led by 3 to 0 at the end of the first period and by the close of the second were in front 7 to 1. The Petes battled to the end and held Oshawa to one goal in the final period.

Incidentally the only counter credited to Archie Weir's lads was scored by Andy McMullen who accidentally heaved the rubber into his own net.

Teams and summary:
Oshawa: Goal, Burkhart; defence, Galbraith, Hinton; centre, McIntyre; wings, Furey, Sawyer; subs, A. McMullen, J. McMullen, Davies, McBrien, Bouckley, Painter.

Peterborough: Goal, Morrison; defence, Parnell, Vitarelli; centre, Rochetta; wings, Leonard, Cauley; subs, Eason, Shields, Curtis, Stewart, Scriver, Horton.

Referee—D. A. Houston, Toronto.

First Period
1—Oshawa, Davies 1:15
2—Oshawa, A. McMullen (Davies) 12:30
3—Oshawa, Furey (Sawyer).. 13:40
Penalties—Horton, Furey.
Second Period
4—Oshawa, Davies (McIntyre) 1:38
5—Oshawa, Davies (Galbraith) 6:17
6—Oshawa, A. McMullen (McBride) 13:15
7—Peterborough, Eason 16:26
8—Oshawa, McBrien (A. McMullen) 17:25
Penalties—Rochetta, Hinton, Davies, Cauley, Hinton.

9—Oshawa, Ladd (McBrien). 17:00

SPORTS - DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

Peterborough's O.H.A. hockey disappeared off the stage last night when Archie Weir's youngsters were badly beaten by the Oshawa Bees in the fifth and deciding game of the group playoffs. After the decisive victory of the Motor City youngsters here last Friday night their triumph on their own ice in the final fixture was no surprise. The addition of Andy McMullen had added a lot of drive to the Oshawa team and the rest of the outfit seemed to take the tempo from him and step along faster than they had been doing all season. In earlier games the Oshawa crowd did not look any better than the Colts but the Peterborough entry tailed off as the playoffs swung into the final stages. That 12-1 defeat in the third game of the series was the payoff and the Petes failed to recover from the shock.

* * * * * *

The result is disappointing chiefly by reason of the fact that the Petes almost had the group championship in the bag and then let it slip out again. When they started the playoffs by taking the Bees right in Oshawa they gave themselves a decided edge on the series and they followed that up with a second victory over Frank Black's kids in the next fixture played here. However the Oshawa club reached down into the old sock and came up with McMullen and the whole complexion of the series changed when the Bees not only grabbed off a win but overwhelmed the Petes in doing the trick. Archie Weir's team still had a royal chance with the fourth game at Brock St., but they found Oshawa a much tougher proposition than in their previous appearances here and when the invaders copped that one to even up the series the Petes chances were at the vanishing point.

Without importations junior hockey runs in cycles. That is every now and then some town will be blessed with a good crop of kids who are above the average in ability and for a year or two that particular community is favored with fine junior hockey. That team passes along and for some years there is a lean period and promising players are sadly in the minority. That has been the case for several seasons in Peterborough and the unfortunate part about it all is that opportunities for youngsters to learn the game have been fading so as this city is concerned. This season both the City and Church Hockey Leagues folded up and only the South-End League offered a chance for kids to play organized hockey. That is an unfortunate condition and it may be reflected for several seasons to come in a scarcity of young players capable of starring in O.H.A. competition unless the O.J.H.A. team comes along to fill the gap.

Petawawa For Gerow

Walt Gerow who played ball for the Petes in the Inter-City Major Loop part of last summer and recently did a hefty share of chucking the Peterborough hockey club into the discard by his opportune scoring as a member of the Kingston Combines has been transferred from Kingston to Petawawa. Walt is a member of the 3-47 overseas battery and had been on duty for some time in Kingston. Now he is at the big Petawawa artillery camp and is helping the camp hockey team in the Upper Ottawa Valley finals, playing a large part in a Petawawa victory over Smith Falls the other night. According to the Kingston Whig-Standard, Gerow will probably commute from Petawawa for future Kingston Combine games. Our understanding was that a soldier could play in the town in which he was stationed but lost his residential status so far as that town was concerned if transferred. However, if the Combines can get away with it, that's all right with us. But it would be tough on Kingston if Walt was detailed for guard duty on the night the Combines are booked to play an important game.

It looks as if O.A.B.A. basketball will be on the bill-of-fare for some time at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium. The Outboard Marines, still undefeated in the Ontario competition are likely to tie into the Trenton Flyers this Saturday night and the game should be one of the best of the season. Two weeks from then, March 22, the Y.M.C.A. junior O.A.B.A. entry will play their first home game in the Ontario competition when they will clash with the Kingston team. They play in Kingston March 15. Points on the two games will decide the winners. The junior squad has been improving in their City League battles and should be in good shape for their round with the Eastern representatives.

Don Best is not the only curler from this district who is figuring largely in the Macdonald Brier competition in Toronto. In fact, Skip Bill Dunbar and two other members of the Saskatchewan rink from Kinley, Sask., all hail originally from Kinmount where Dunbar and his cousins Bert and Ernie McMahon were born. Dunbar himself has blazed a brilliant trail in Western sport. Frank Hughes who knows him well says that in his earlier days the Saskatchewan skip was a fine ball player with shoulders like Babe Ruth and the ability to hit a baseball almost as hard as the famous Sultan of Swat. Later he was persuaded to take up football and although he had had no previous experience in the gridiron game soon developed into a brilliant ball carrier who was about as hard to bring down as Dr. Smirlie Lawson used to be in his Varsity and Argonaut days.

The Bruins On Top

The Boston Bruins are out in front in the National Hockey League parade by two points, but the Maple Leafs have a game in hand. The Bruins have five more to play; the Leafs six and anything can happen. Sam Lo Presti, Chicago Black Hawks' goalie did his best last night to keep the Bruins out of the first slot by stopping no fewer than 80 Boston shots. The three he didn't stop however were enough to beat the Hawks who were defeated 3 goals to 2 at Boston. Lo Presti gave one of the greatest exhibitions of goaltending ever seen by Boston fans, standing off a steady bombardment over the whole route. It was a remarkable one-man stand against a team that has power plus and it is not surprising that eventually the Bruins shot enough past Lo Presti to win the ball game.

The 6-0 win scored by New York Rangers in their game with it will throw somewhat of a scare into the other clubs around the Detroit last night may not give the New Yorkers third place but circuit. The Rangers have the old machine all oiled up and ready for the playdowns and they may cause a lot of grief before it is finally decided where the Stanley Cup will summer. Stories from New York are that the Rangers played their smartest hockey of the season last night and it must be remembered that when the Rangers play smart hockey the result is usually trouble for the enemy. They were smart enough to grab the Stanley Cup last season and with the same battle array now and going strong all and sundry had better keep a close watch on the Young Men of Manhattan.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Kingston Combines were nosed out 5 to 4 by Oshawa G-Men in an exhibition game at Kingston....Sutton keeps rights on winning with Powassan as the latest victims....Junior O.A.B.A. team and the Bees will play a City League game in the Y gym at 7 o'clock tonight....Bryan Hextall has broken his own record for scoring goals. He came through with a pair against Detroit last night and now has 25 to his credit, four ahead of Sweeney Schriner....Don Best's Kirkland Lake rink after winning three straight in the Macdonald's Brier Competition lost to British Columbia yesterday afternoon but are still much in the running....Bill Cowley scored two assists last night, setting a new record of 38 assists on the season's play. The previous mark was 37 set by Joe Primeau ten years ago....A line with Bryan Hextall and Sweeney Schriner, the two highest goal-scorers of the campaign on the wings and Cowley, one of the game's greatest playmakers in the centre, would take a lot of beating.

Gym Team Wins By 17 to 4 Over Y Cadets

Y Gym strengthened their position in the upper bracket of the Ladies Senior City Basketball League standing at the expense of their sister team, the luckless Cadets, lacing the junior team 17-4 at the Y.W.C.A. on Monday night.

Although Y Gym was figured to win without too much trouble, Y Cadets made it a battle before falling behind. Y Gym gained an 8-2 margin in the first half. Holding a slight edge over the losers throughout the tussle, Y Gym gradually pulled ahead, taking the lead early and being out of danger most of the way. Cadets fought hard, but Y Gym's greater experience, better shooting, and harder defensive work was too much to overcome. Y Gym used a smart passing, fast breaking attack and although they threw away plenty of scoring chances, cashed in often enough to win easily. Cadets had a fair share of the play, but too many intercepted passes and faulty shooting spelled their doom. Y Gym made one of the two free throws awarded them, while the losers missed a good chance to add a few points by failing to convert any of their seven chances. B. Flynn, I. Young, R. Ellis, and R Sullivan shared the honors for the winners, while N. Smith made all of the losers' points in a good showing.

The teams:
Y Gym 17—B. Flynn 4, I. Young 4, R. Ellis 4, S. Ecobichon, R. Sullivan 5, S. Zacks, D. Ackford.
Y Cadets 4—M. Lawless, J. Collins, T. Stewart, N. Smith 4, S. Pringle, B. Pringle, P. Upper.
Referee—W. Thirnbeck.

Curling Notes

By HERB MARTIN

They may have their McDonald Brier competitions in Toronto, but we still have our Leads and Seconds bonspiel. And just before we go any further on this 'spiel we are going to go the limit and say that the brand of curling put up last night equals that of any other competition held this season; and those of u who had to be content to stay in on Number 8 got our eyes opened. Out of the ten games played there were five tied coming home, and two other games went into overtime.

The semi-finals and the finals will be played this evening. Our tip to the patrons of No. 8, is: Don't miss these games.

The draw has been made for the Vice-Skips' bonspiel. This will commence tomorrow evening at 7 p.m. Double headers will be plaed each night until the final is reached.

Secretary Harry Foote has sent out notices for our last open bonspiel of the season. It will be held on Wednesday, March 12, and is for the Canada Packers Trophy. More details later.

Don Best Leads Northern Ontario

G. W. Sayles, lead; W. Ruskworth, 2nd; J. C. Tuck, 3rd; Don Best, skip, who represent Northern Ontario in the Brier Tankard. In first four games this rink lost one game. Don Best is the son of Peterborough's veteran curler, Ray Best, and learned his curling at the Peterborough curling rink.

Juveniles Win The First Playoff

Manager Cec. Courneya's Peterborough Juveniles will carry a lead of three goals into their second playoff game with Port Hope in the O.J.H.A. group finals. Last night at Port Hope, the undefeated Petes succeeded in defeating the youthful Ontarios 6 goals to 3 in the first game of the playoffs. The second game will be played in Lakefield later in the week.

In last night's battle the Peterborough Juveniles got the jump on the Port Hopers by outscoring them 4 goals to 1 in the first period and then held off a persistent Port Hope ganging attack in the last two periods. Gillespie and Leether were stars for the Petes, while Downey was Port Hope's best bet. The teams and summary:

Port Hope—Goal, Anderson; defence, R. Bailey, B. Bailey; centre, Dotsho; wings, Keeler, Downey; subs., Smith, Walsh, L. Ashby, Watts, G. Ashby.

Peterborough—Goal, Leether; defence, Gillespie, McGregor; centre, Garvey; wings, Huard, Smith; subs, Murphy, Jones, Close, Lawson, Hudson.

Some Ball Camp Training Notes

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 5.—(CP).—The Phillies joined the vitamin parade to-day. Manager Doc Prothro ordered Pitchers Gordon Pixley, Tommy Hughes, Dale Jones, Roy Bruner and Catcher Tommy Livingston to take pills as a means of putting on weight.

AVALON, Calif. — Chicago Cub Manager Jimmy Wilson says Paul Erickson, Tulsa rookie, "has the appearance of a future great pitcher."

PASADENA, Calif.— Mike Kreevich is a White Sox question mark after a poor 1940 season. "He's the big 'If' on our club," Manager Jimmy Dykes said to-day. "If he hits, we've got a chance to go some place."

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—Earl Averill, veteran outfielder, is beaming with confidence. Signed by the Bees as a free agent, Averill asked —and received—permission to condition himself in his own way.

LAKELAND, Fla.—Louis (Buck) Newsom appeared belatedly at the Tigers' camp yesterday and asked, "Where's my uniform." Donning one, he participated in a strenuous workout and indicated, by word and action, that opposing batsmen will find his pitches just as troublesome as last season

MIAMI, Fla. — Bill Jurges, New York Giants' ailing shortstop, has decided to remain in camp a while longer to see if he has any more dozzy spells. He took part in batting practice yesterday and fielded a few grounders without ill effects.

ORLANDO, Fla. — Ossie Bluege has rejected a Senators' contract as coach at a reduced salary and has asked to be restored to the active player list.

Hockey's Big Seven

(By The Canadian Press).

Bill Cowley of Boston, widening his lead in the National Hockey League's scoring race, set a new record for assists last night by making the play for two goals as the Bruins defeated Chicago, 3-2. The two assists brought Cowley's seasonal total to 38—one more than the record set by Toronto's Joe Primeau in 1931-32. Bryan Hextall of New York Rangers, scoring twice in the Rangers' 6-0 win over Detroit, strengthened his hold on third place in the big seven while two teammates, Lynn Patrick and Neil Colville, tied for the next berth when Colville bagged a goal and an assist and Patrick an assist. Eddie Wiseman of Boston earned a goal and an assist to consolidate the last berth.

The leaders:

BRUINS DEFEAT THE BLACK HAWKS 3 TO 2 TO TAKE LEAGUE LEAD

Lo Presti Is Brilliant In Hawks' Goal

By JACK MITCHELL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

One more all-time record was inscribed to-day in the National Hockey League books for Boston Bruins, with slick Bill Cowley drawing specific credit on a triple play typifying the perfect timing of the Bruins' great centre.

The 28-year-old Cowley, stylist and play-maker extraordinary, eclipsed nine-year-old mark for assists in one season as the Bruins beat Chicago Black Hawks, 3-2, last night, serving a three-fold purpose, his record-making assist came on the winning goal in a victory that put Boston ahead in their first-place battle with Toronto Maple Leafs.

Sparkplug of the history-making Bruin drive through 23 straight games without a loss, Cowley set up Eddie Wiseman for the winning goal with the count deadlocked at 2-2 in the last three minutes of play. The counter ruined a great stand by Sammy Lo Presti, rookie Chicago goalie, who allowed only two goals in handling a total of 33 Boston shots.

The triumph put the Bruins two points ahead of the Leafs in their stretch battle for the championship when Toronto was idle meanwhile. One other game was played last night, with Goalie Dave Kerr turning in his second shutout of the season as New York Rangers overwhelmed Detroit Red Wings 6-0, to tie the Wings for third place.

2 Assists for Cowley.

One point behind the assist record when the game started before a crowd of 11,000 in Boston, Cowley set the stage for his mark by helping on the second Bruin tally. His two assists gave him a total of 38—one more than bagged by Joe Primeau of Toronto in the 1931-32 season.

Described by Coach Ralph (Cooney) Weiland as "the last of the great stick-handlers," Cowley went eight points ahead of the injured Syl Apps of Toronto in the race for this season's scoring crown. The Bruins got their first counter by Roy Conacher after 26 minutes of play. This nullified Winger Mush March's first-period counter for the Hawks and Schmidt took Bobby Bauer's pass to put the Bruins into a 2-1 lead. In the final frame, Max Bentley tied the score, but Lo Presti finally yielded the winning goal when Wiseman fired from close in.

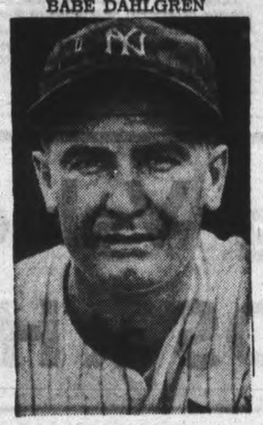
At New York, meanwhile, the Rangers played their smartest hockey of the season to rob Goalie Johnny Mowers of almost all possibility of winning the Vezina Trophy. The six goals scored on the brilliant rookie jumped his total to 93, while Turk Broda of the Leafs has allowed only 82.

Bryan Hextall, leading the league's marksmen, fired his 24th and 25th goals of the season to pace the Rangers' attack. The other counters went to Dutch Hiller, Neil Colville, Kilby Macdonald, and Alex Shibicky.

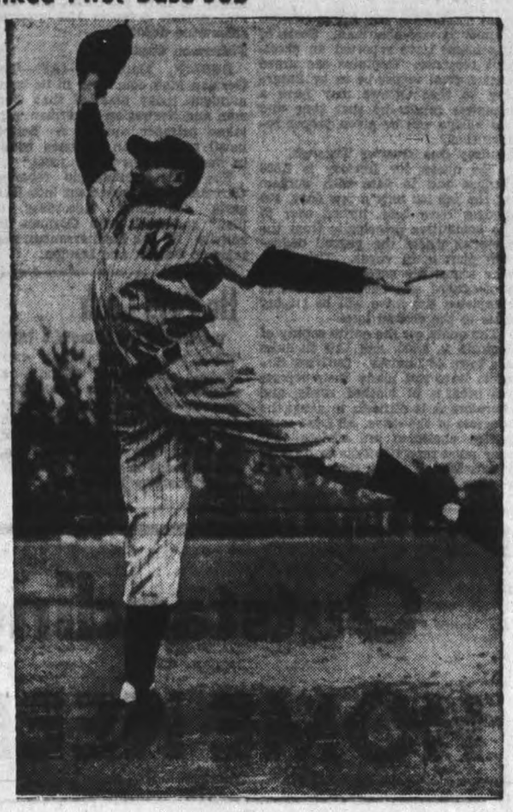
Coming as their sixth victory in seven games, the triumph lifted the Stanley Cup holders into a third-place tie with the Wings.

Rookie May Get Yankee First Base Job

BABE DAHLGREN



JIMMY STURM



STURM IN ACTION

In a surprise move the New York Yankees sell Ellsworth (Babe) Dahlgren, first baseman, to the Boston Bees, promoting Rookie Jimmy Sturm, from Kansas City, to a varsity job. Dahlgreen, a fine fielder but comparatively weak at bat, succeeded Lou Gehrig when that veteran was forced to quit. Sturm batted .312 for Kansas City last year. If Sturm needs more seasoning the Yankees may shift Tom Henrich or Joe Gordon to first or buy George McQuinn from the Browns.

Farnsworth Bees Whip Imps 6-2 In Opener

In a game interspersed with arguments, Farnsworth Bees took the Roslin Imperials into camp 6-2 in the first game of the finals of the East Hastings Rural League, to lead the series with one win to nil.

Farnsworth gained a 2-1 lead in the first period with Porritt scoring the first counter on a solo rush, and D. Meraw taking a pass from brother Leo for the second goal for the Bees. Collins in the last few seconds of play in the period took Bailey's pass to rap home the first Roslin counter.

Taking a rink wide pass from Porritt, Lajoie banged in the third Farnsworth counter early in the second frame, while L. Meraw made the count 4-1 on a pass from Marsh.

Mattis scored for Roslin on a face-off in the third when he flipped a shot in the general direction of the nets which found its mark. The downfall of the southerners came in the last three minuts of play, when Green was ordered to the box for tripping and prolonged argument. D. Meraw drove the puck at Hinton, who stopped it, and then picked up the rebound off his own drive, to bang the rubber into the nets. D. Meraw then took a three way pass from Long and L. Meraw to make the count 6-2. With a minute to go, Green stepped on the ice, and the game ended in a free for all between Long and Green.

Attempting to bolster their team for the playoffs, Farnsworth brought in players from the defeated team, and Roslin skated off the ice before the game commenced. After prolonged arguing, Farnsworth were allowed to keep one outside player.

Line-ups:

Farnsworth Bees—Goal, Mouck; defence, D. Porritt, R. Palmateer; centre, D. Palmateer; wings, J. Lajoie, H. Long; subs, L. Meraw, D. Meraw, J. Marsh, A. Palmateer.

Roslin Imperials—Goal, Hinton; defence, Mattis, Parks; centre, Empson; wings, Green, Gray; subs, Collins, Bailey, Gray, Chisholm, Chumbley, Harrison.

Referees—Maguire, J. Orr.

Remember When—

(By the Canadian Press.)

Right-winger Charlie Conacher, possessor of one of the hardest shots in hockey, practically clinched the 1935 National Hockey League scoring honors when he scored four of Toronto's 10 goals against Canadiens at Montreal six years ago tonight. Conacher, now playing defence for New York Americans, went on to take the scoring championship with a total of 36 goals and 21 assists.

Cunningham Runs Score To 62 Points

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Mar. 5 — (AP). — With only a few games left, Les Cunningham, Cleveland ace, tallied a goal and figured in two others last week to bring his total to 62 points and virtually clinch the American Hockey League scoring honors.

Fred Thurier, Springfield's crack shot, kept pace with Cunningham, scoring thrice to move into the runner-up spot, but under the circumstances hasn't much of a chance of overtaking the leader. The same holds true for Glen Brydson, Thurier's teammate, who has 51 points.

Ed Bush of Providence, with 31 minors, four majors and a match penalty, appeared also to have annexed the "bad man" title.

The Sports Round-Up

By EDDIE BRIETZ, AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK, March 5—(AP). — Here are a couple for the book: All six horses in the fifth race at Oaklawn yesterday won their last starts. And Glen Rose, Arkansas coach, played on the team that set a record for winning all 12 Southwestern Conference basketball games and coached the only team to tie it. ....President Ed Barrow will be late arriving at the Yankees' camp because Mrs. Barrow has a cold and Ed a splitting headache, caused by that DiMaggio feller....Jack Doyle wires from Palm Beach that for the first time in 30 years he may not put out a big league book this season because of the uncertainty of the United States Army draft.

4 Straight Wins Place Hall Favored Rink

TORONTO, March 5 — (CP). — Perry Hall's Kitchener Granite Club rink today is favored to bring the 1941 Canadian Curling Championship to Ontario during the next five rounds of the 15th annual Macdonald's Brier Tankard event.

The Ontario representative has won four straight games so far in the classic and will go into today's two round favored to extend the string. A stern test will come this afternoon when Ontario will meet Manitoba's Albert Wakefield rink, but on comparative records the Hall quartet should win, having beaten Bill Dunbar's Saskatchewan's 10-9 yesterday before the Dunbar rink beat Manitoba by the same score.

Hall has been on a Canadian championship rink before, in 1939. That year he was vice-skip on a rink piloted to victory by his brother, Bert Hall, who also represented Kitchener and Ontario. Three other times Perry played vice-skip to brothers. Russ Hall of Kitchener skipped the Hall rink in 1930 and Bert in 1938 and 1940. This year Bert and Perry split forces only to meet, each skipping a rink, in the final of Group 8 in the Ontario British Consols competition. Perry won with his last rock on an extra end.

This is the fifth consecutive time that Ontario has been represented by a Kitchener rink in Dominion competition—three times by Bert Hall, this once by Perry and in 1937 by another Kitchener rink skipped by E. Dunker.

One Other Brier Man.

Art Lehnen, who played second on the Dunker rink in 1937, is the only other member of Hall's rink who has played previously in the Brier. Jack Lucas, third on the Hall rink, was a football star for McMaster University nearly 20 years ago and is rated one of the best vice-skips ever to play in the Brier. He has been curling since 1916.

Bill Henderson, Jr., the lead, was born in Aberdeen, Scotland, but learned his curling in Waterloo, starting about nine years ago.

In addition to the Ontario-Manitoba match in the fifth round today, Howard Palmer's Albertans will face Northern Ontario, skipped by Don Best. Billy Finlay's British Columbia quartet will get a brief rest from heavy competition with a match against the winless Quebec City four piloted by C. H. Handley, F. E. Heath's Nova Scotians will clash with J. S. Malcolm's New Brunswick rink and Dunbar's Saskatchewan squad will meet the Prince Edward Island rink skipped by W. R. Cruikshank.

Yesterday's final games left Ontario alone on top of the standings with four wins and no losses. Northern Ontario, Manitoba, Nova Scotia and Alberta are grouped in second place with one loss and three wins each. British Columbia and Saskatchewan each has won two and lost two, while Prince Edward Island, Quebec, and New Brunswick are winless in four games.

Dunbar's 10-9 victory over Wakefield's Manitoba rink was the feature of fourth-round matches, although British Columbia Billy Finlay's 15-8 upset victory over Don Best's Kirkland Lakers was a ranking surprise. In other games Nova Scotia beat Quebec 12-6 and Alberta won 12-7 over New Brunswick while Bert Hall's Kitchener four trounced Prince Edward Island 16-5.

City Council Misinformed As To Grants

Finance committe of the Board of Education decided on Tuesday night that the Ontario Workmen's Compensation offered the best form of protection for janitors and casual workmen employed by the Board of Education during the year and the committee framed a resolution to the Board along these lines.

Discussion on the question of employees liability insurance and workmen's collective and medical expense took the attention of the members for more than an hour, and at that point, D. G. H. Melton summed the question up when he said an insurance policy would cost either $85 or $110 while the Compensation would cost $210. He said this type of insurance has certain limits but the Workmen's Compensation offers the fullest coverage required by law with definite limits, and would relieve the Board of legal and financial responsibility in the event of an accident. Mr. Melton's motion pointed out also that based on the experience of the past, the Board could expect to employ casual labor at 10 cents an hour less with an approximate saving of $110 a year. The motion urged that the Board give serious consideration to the Workmen's Compensation Plan, and was seconded by Alex Donnelly.

Payroll Plan Reviewed

Some time ago the Board discussed the possibility of paying the teachers on the Public and Collegiate staff through bank deposits and thus get away from the making out and signing of 160 cheques a month. Letters were sent to several cities of a similar size in Ontario and the results reviewed indicated that eight of ten paid the teachers in ten equal instalments and the other two in 12 equal instalments. On the other hand five paid by personal cheque and five had adopted the bank pay system and recommended it. In one city it was the custom to send one cheque and the pay sheet to one bank and on this sheet each of the teachers would have designated the bank in which they wished their money deposited. It worked no hardship on the teachers because most of them had bank accounts and had to come downtown to get pay cheques cashed.

On motion of Mr. Melton and Mr. Walker the committee recommended to the Board that they institute a deposit system of salary payment, depositing the salary in banks to be named by the teachers and other employees and that each employee be compensated to the extent of 10 three-cent stamps annually. The motion suggested further that the Board give consideration to the payment of teacher's salaries in 12 monthly instalments rather than 10 as at present. In the motion the teachers are invited to express their opinions on the point for the guidance of thee Board.

Council Misinformed

A letter from City Clerk Outram to the Board pointed out that apparently the Board had estimated for $4,300 additional anticipating a reduction in provincial grants, and the City Council wished this point reviewed in the hope it could be eliminated.

Discussion revealed that the Board estimated on the reduced grant in 1940, not on the actual amount received in that year, and figuring that there will not be a further reduction placed the figure at $12,500 which is actually $1,000 over the amount received in 1940.

J. E. Huggins, secretary-treasurer, gave the meeting the following figures: In 1939, the Board paid salaries amounting to $55,951 estimated for $14,500 and received $14,046. In 1940 the salaries amounted to $57,849, the estimate was $15,230 but the Board received only $11,583.

The Board did not budget $4,300 under the amount received in 1940 but rather $4,300 under the standard grant, which is computed on a sliding scale depending on the amount paid in salaries.

It was the wish of the City Council that a special meeting of the Board be held to deal with this point.

After the discussion Mr. Walker moved that the letter be referred to the regular meeting March 13, and that no action be taken because the letter had not given any information that was not already known to the Board, and moreover the Board had acted on advice from the Department of Education.

There was no seconder for the motion, but Alex Donnelly pointed out that the City Council was apparently working on the mistaken thought that the Board had budgeted $4,300 too high in the estimates. He suggested that the City Clerk be advised that the estimates of the Board covering government grants for 1941 were based on information received direct from the Department in a letter received January 17 from W. K. Campbell, chief accountant. Mr. Walker agreed to have his motion include this and Mr. Donnelly seconded it.

Mr. Diplock, chairman of the finance committee, explained that the letter advised the Board to figure on the 1940 reduction and the Department was not able to assure the Board that there will be any further reductions in 1941.

New Suits Designed For Bombed Children

view of the committee the information, if divulged, would be a source of comfort to the enemy and when the safety of the State may be involved," said Mr. Hanson.

Yesterday's sitting was one of the liveliest of the session and was wholly devoted to the creation of two special committees, the War Expenditures committee and a Committee on the Defence of Canada Regulations. The latter discussion was ended and the committee constituted.

Lapointe Hits Back

It brought the sharpest attack on the regulations yet heard in the House from Mrs. Dorise Nielsen, the only woman member, who represents North Battleford as a representative of the Unity party.

"The government is trying to silence the protests of the people," she said. "They are asking for unity but they are trying to enforce unity of opinion."

If the regulations were not amended, she said, the government had no right to call itself a Democratic government. The tall, dark-haired mother of three children, wife of a soldier farmer, referred at length to the seizure of pamphlets containing extracts from some of her speeches. She said it was an attempt to intimidate her which failed and she had to thank the government for good advertising.

Justice Minister Lapointe said the Royal Canadian Mounted Police were within their rights in bringing the pamphlets to the notice of the legal authorities. In some places they were distributed by the same persons as distributed Communist literature.

While he did not question Mrs. Nielsen's motives he suggested she kept "bad company." One member of the Communist party who was interned had said in a letter now in R.C.M.P. files that Mrs. Nielsen shared his views.

The minister said that the pamphlets had not been suppressed and Mrs. Nielsen had not been interfered with in any way. The speeches she made in and out of the House were a conclusive answer to her charge that Democracy no longer existed in Canada. He asked if she could have made the same speeches in Germany, Italy or Russia.

Only a few members of trade unions had been interned, said the Minister, not 70 as Mrs. Nielsen had stated in one of her speeches. They had been interned because they were Communists.

In reply to a question the Minister said 70 persons had been interned under Section 21 of the regulations, 10 of them women.

Debate on the proposed war expenditures committee centred largely around the discussions leading up to the proposal and reports and criticisms in the newspapers.

Protests On Editorials.

The Prime Minister complained an editorial in the Montreal Gazette was "libellous" because it was "false" and "malicious" and infringed the privileges of the House, and said an editorial in the Toronto Globe and Mail contained a false statement.

The Gazette editorial referred to a conference held last Monday between Mr. King, certain of his Ministers, Mr. Hanson, Hon. Grote Stirling (Con., Yale), John Diefenbaker (Con., Lake Centre), and Howard Green (Con., Vancouver Centre) to discuss the terms of reference to the committee.

The editorial said Ottawa reports were to the effect the deliberations were not amicable; "they were on the contrary, heated and acrimonious, assuming the correctness of information obtained by The Canadian Press."

The editorial said "the substance of the story is that Opposition members tried to insist upon the committee's right to examine all war expenditures since the commencement of the conflict, whereas the Prime Minister was prepared only to permit examination of current outlays as is done in Britain."

It said the inference was that Mr. King was "afraid of a full investigation" and referred to "the amazing statement" that the Prime Minister threatened to resign if he could not have his way. Surely the country was entitled to something better from the head of its government than "the behavior of a temperamental prima donna."

No Tips Given Out

Mr. Hanson suggested and Mr. King agreed the reports of the conference were "perverted." Mr. King said no member of the Government gave out information about the conference, and Mr. Hanson said no Conservative gave out any.

Later Mr. Hanson said he could not enter into Mr. King's controversy with the newspapers, but suggested the newspapers "appeared to have mixed up two things." He did not elaborate.

The Globe and Mail editorial said the special committee on war expenditures had been conceded by the Government under strong pressure of public opinion "as a substitute" for the Public Accounts committee.

"I say that statement is an entire falsehood," Mr. King said. "The committee which is being set up, if this House accepts this resolution, is not in substitution for the Public Accounts committee; it is in addition to the Public Accounts committee."

Mr. King said that "in these days when one had reason to know a good deal about the possible trend of the world situation, when one faces from hour to hour the possibility of having to make some announcement to the House about a development which fills the minds of all with immediate concern, it is not an easy burden, may I say, to have one's motives continually misrepresented to the public as being those of a person who is considering only what he can hide or what he can conceal, a person having ulterior motives in everything he does," said Mr. King.

He said the power of parliament was superior to the press and all other agencies and when the press infringed the privileges of parliament it was his duty to assert the rights of parliament.

"I believe I have been long enough in this House of Commons for members to know where I stand on questions of public integrity," he said.

"I believe I can let my life record speak for itself in that regard. But if I say to this House that there are some considerations which make it impossible today, in a time of war, to proceed as we would ordinarily proceed in times of peace, it will be understood that I have the very best of reasons for so stating."

War Savings Drive In Rural Areas Indicates Splendid Support

Peterborough city is not alone in the determination to make the drive for War Savings Certificate subscribers a success, as reports from all parts of the county indicate splendid results. Farmers and villagers are all giving serious thought to the question of financing the war and leaders in every community of the neighboring counties have pitched in with a refreshing enthusiasm to obtain the pledge quotas in their respective districts.

In Cavan Township, the chairman of the local committee is Reg. Sutton and the secretary Joseph Burns. These two are arranging for a meeting at Millbrook on March 5 of all school trustees who will canvass the district.

Millbrook Going Strong.

The quota for Millbrook Village is 150 pledges, and already two captains have turned in 55 pledges, and are still on the job. Reports from the other two teams still have to come in. It is hoped that in Millbrook the canvass will be finished by March 8 so that it can be wired to Ottawa.

A committee has been formed in Manvers Township headed by W. J. Boggs of Pontypool, with Mrs. J. J. E. Mason of Bethany as vice-chairman and J. E. Cumminskey of Bethany as secretary. Within a few days Mr. Boggs will call a meeting of the trustees in the north section and give them materials and instructions for canvassing the district. Following this there will be a meeting of the trustees in the southern school section for the same purpose.

Otonabee Average $600.

David McIntyre of Keene, chairman of the committee in Otonabee, is turning in splendid reports of the War Savings drive in this thickly-populated farming community. His first report from a school section indicates the average yearly amount from the section to be $600, and this is one of the best reports received so far in the rural areas.

In Douro Township blocked roads have prevented the workers from starting their canvass, but material and instructions have been issued, and the work will start just as soon as weather conditions permit. James Healey heads the committee, with Jeremiah Mahoney as secretary.

All villages in the district are supposed to have a complete report ready for Saturday next, and it is expected that Norwood will be right up with the leaders. The chairman is L. E. Nelson, with Mrs. Tucker as vice-chairman. The village workers were divided into four teams and team captains report the response is encouraging. One woman claims she has not had a single refusal in three days of canvassing. The chairman is urging all workers to turn in all pledge cards before Saturday.

Campbellford Wants 600.

The thriving town of Campbellford on the lower Trent has a quota of 600 for its objective, and it is confidently expected that when all the returns are in on Saturday that this town will have gone over the top. In the absence of H. H. Carr, M.P.P., Dr. E. A. Smart and P. C. Denyes are doing good work in trying to get the canvass completed within the allotted time.

The Havelock quota is 250 pledges and H. T. Matheson heads the village committee with T. P. Lancaster as vice-chairman. No report is available as yet, but it is known that favorable progress is being made.

In Lakefield, Village Clerk Harry Hill is a busy man as head of the local committee, and Reeve Charles Tanner is vice-chairman. Some of the teams have reported an excellent response. Captains are urged that a final report be in by Saturday so that Ottawa may have a complete return by that time and the village will be given proper recognition.

Lindsay One Quarter Through.

The quota for Lindsay is 2,000 pledges and to date with workers on the job for only a few days, 500 pledges have been turned over to the committee principally from the factories where the payroll deduction plan is in vogue. This week four teams are covering the retail, professional and business places in completed the drive will be mighty close to the desired total.

The quota for the entire county of Victoria is 5,700, and this includes the town of Lindsay. Outlying districts have not made their reports yet because of blocked roads, and therefore it is difficult to gauge the progress of the drive. All local committee chairmen are advised that they must report to Ottawa on Saturday, Mar. 8, on all signed pledges received.

cerning the note to be delivered to the Bulgarian government, and sat up most of the night working upon it and putting his affairs in order for departure.

He said he expected to leave for Istanbul by special train some time during the coming week-end, accompanied by his staff and heads of the Netherlands, Polish and Belgian Legations.

The latter announced last night they would follow the lead of Britain in severing relations with Bulgaria.

Before the formal break came, it was disclosed that British citizens in Yugoslavia had been advised to depart for home as soon as possible.

Diplomatic circles accepted this as an indication Britain expected that Yugoslavia soon might follow Bulgaria's lead and join the Axis. At any rate, it was pointed out, a German drive into Greece from Bulgaria would cut off the only land exit for British nationals in Yugoslavia.

To-day's decisive step came 25 years and five months after Britain and Bulgaria severed relations before coming to grips in the First Great War.

Bulgaria went down to defeat with Germany in that conflict, which resulted in a shrinkage of her national territory and led to the exile of Czar Ferdinand, father of the present monarch, King Boris.

The break came less than 96 hours after Bulgaria joined the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo alliance and Nazi troops entered the country.

Britain broke off relations with Nazi-occupied Rumania only 23 days ago.

Rendel looked tired and worn as he entered the foreign office in formal attire of striped trousers and morning coat to make his important declaration.

On the way to his meeting with Popoff, the British Minister was forced to weave through a line of German military vehicles parked outside the building.

Fishermen Captured

BERLIN, March 5 —(AP)—The German high command in its communique today asserted that German and Norwegian fishermen were taken prisoner during a British naval raid on "an unarmed island in the north Norwegian reefs."

The Nazi communique reported German troops movement into Bulgaria continuing "according to plan" and dealt with German air activity in the Mediterranean and raids on Cardiff and London.

Providence, R.I., March 5 (AP)

THE biggest income tax ever paid in Rhode Island — a cheque for well over $4,000,000— was received yesterday. Collector Joseph V. Broderick said he could not disclose the exact amount of the cheque nor who it was from, but he made it plain it was the biggest he ever had seen.

West To Fight Wheat Mites

OTTAWA, March 5—(CP).—Dominion and Provincial authorities today organized a fight against a mite—which is a threat to stores of wheat in the west.

The science service of the Department of Agriculture urged farmers if pests were found to shovel grain over several times unless it could be run through a fanning mill.

Ventilation and movement of grain control the mites which, if left undisturbed, might damage or destry vast stores of grain in a year when Canada has to find accommodation for some 500,000,000 bushels of surplus wheat.

The mite has been reported at many points in the west. H. E. Gray, in charge of stored product insect investigation, undertook a comprehensive survey and reported to Ottawa recently.

Large storage facilities present a more difficult problem than that faced by the individual farmer, science officials explained. In elevators, filled to the brim with grain, the necessary movement is difficult. The service is conducting research work in association with the Board of Grain Commissioners, seeking a fumigant which will assist control where grain cannot be turned.

AID FOR DEPENDANTS

LONDON—(CP).—A new fund to provide occasional assistance to war disabled officers and men, and widows or other dependents of those killed in the defence of Britain, was announced by the Minister of Pensions.

UNSIGHTLY BARRICADE

J. J. Turner and Sons have suggested in a letter to the City Council that the owners of the Grand Opera House have surely had ample time to make the changes that were announced at the time the property was purchased, that the high barricade could now be removed with considerable improvement to the appearance of that part of George street, removal of snow from the sidewalk and other improvements in that locality. The Council fell in with this suggestion Monday night, and decided to write the owners of the old theatre to do something to restore something of the appearance of the theatre front, which adjoins the J. J. Turner and Sons building.

DAY OF PRAYER.

"The seeming impatience of Moses when he requested 'Show me now Thy way,'" was the subject of the sermon at the Keene United Church on Sunday, following in the spirit of the observation of the World Day of Prayer in the church on Friday. The choir sang "A Prayer for Peace," and a solo, "The Garden of Prayer," was heard. On Sunday, March 9, the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed, and the preparatory service will be held on Friday, March 7.

Vegetable Men Propose Land Tax To Raise Money To Aid Farmers

Peterborough Vegetable Growers' Association subscribed on Monday night to the proposal that farm land be taxed one-fifth of a mill for the purpose of raising a fund to be placed at the disposal of the Federation of Agriculture.

This group did not hesitate to declare themselves in favor of a policy and also a principle which has been advocated by the Federation of Agriculture as a means of equalizing rural support of an organization that has been instituted, although the instituting is not complete, for the sole object of promoting rural interests.

An element of compulsion in this idea has stirred up opposition among some farmers and also some legislators. They affirm that they did not like the idea of ordering a farmer to pay for the upkeep of an organization in which he is not interested. Critics say it is not democratic, and that it is another step away from the individualism of the farmer.

Federation farmers, on the other hand, argue that they put up the money, get things done, and the rest of the industry shares in the benefits without ever having contributed a cent or attended a meeting. It was stated authoritatively several weeks ago that the Federation of Agriculture's efforts this winter have lined the pockets of Ontario with $10,000,000 extra, or will do so before this year's farm income is all in.

Supporters of the Federation contend that it is not democratic to let an indifferent or tight-fisted group in their community coast along on the Federation efforts and pay nothing to meet expenses and keep things going. They also point out that enforced contribution would be small, something like fifty cents on a $2,500 farm assessment, that it is equitable, that it would be sufficient to set up and maintain the offices that are required, especially at Ottawa, and that it is like a net, it gathers up the constructive elements of the industry as well as the indifferent, the incompetent and the miserly.

Many English Folk Are Planning On Coming To Canada After War

"The two copies of the Examiner's Mail-It-Away edition I received were read and re-read and handled so often that the papers were worn to shreds,'" said Sergt. Charlie Telford yesterday in telling of how much the tourist number was appreciated not only by Canadian soldiers in England, but by English people who saw the special edition.

"The English people were greatly impressed with the scenery of this district as displayed in the Examiner's pictures," remarked Sergt. Telford, "and I believe it would be good business to send a bunch of the next edition over there. A lot of English folk have decided to come to Canada when this war is over, and the Examiner's tourist edition might be the means of bringing them to Peterborough. English capital will be coming, too, and British firms will be looking for sites in the Dominion."

Sergt. Telford, who enlisted in Peterborough with the Canadian Artillery in the First World War, re-enlisted in Stratford early in the present conflict with No. 2 Canadian Army Field Work Shop, and went to England in December, 1939, with the 1st Canadian Division. He was on duty in England for over a year, and only a few weeks ago was invalided home to Canada, and will likely receive his discharge from the Army in the near future. Although a Peterborough man, Sergt. Telford has been living in Toronto for some time.

"The spirit of the British people is wonderful," he said.

"They are standing up to bombing in a manner that you would have to see to really appreciate. They simply refuse to let Nazi terrorism get them down, no matter how severe the damage may be."

Woman Aged 91 Dies In Valentia

LINDSAY, Ont., March 5.—(CP)—While sitting in front of her radio beating time to a tune last night, Mrs. Charlotte Pogue, wife of the late David Thompson of Valentia, grew weary and retired. A few hours later she died in her sleep. She was 91.

The late Mrs. Thompson was born in the township of Mariposa, near Oakwood, and resided within the borders of the township all her life. For 64 years she lived on the farm where her death took place.

Ask For Radios On Lake Boats

TORONTO, March 5 (CP)—The Canadian Seamen's Union in convention here today passed a resolution urging that all ships on the Great Lakes, regardless of size, be equipped with means of direct communication between ship and shore either by wireless or radio telephone.

Speaking in favor of the resolution, E. Dillon told the convention that there was some talk of sealing ships' radios, on the lakes as well as on the ocean, and he urged them to protest against any such move. Ships and cargoes are insured against loss but there is no insurance on the lives of the seamen on the lakes, Dillon said.

The resolution referred to the sinking of two Canadian freighters, the Anna C. Minch and the Novadoc, with the loss of more than 20 Canadian sailors during a storm last November, and expressed "our bitter protest at this lack of interest for the lives of Canadian seamen...."

Want Officials Freed

Delegates spent a large part of the morning session discussing what could be done to obtain the release of the union's four national executive members interned under the Defence of Canada Regulations. The four are President J. A. (Pat) Sullivan, Secretary Jack Chapman, Charles Murray and Dave Sinclair.

One delegate suggested that the men insist on the release of the four and if they were not released, should refuse to go back to their ships when the navigation season opens. "Tie the boats up, then if one of us goes (into internment) we all go," he said.

Ernest Donne, head of the Montreal branch of the union, said "Sullivan and other officials are being detained for nothing more than trade union activities."

The convention decided to re-elect the interned officials to their union offices.

OBITUARY

THOMAS EDWIN JORY

LAKEFIELD, March 5 (ENS)—Death claimed a second member of a family within two weeks with the passing of Thomas Edwin Jory, of Lakefield, in Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, on Saturday, March 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Jory had only recently come to live in Lakefield with the late Robert Jory and it was the day following his brother's funeral that Mr. Jory was taken ill and rushed to the hospital.

Born in Douro seventy-seven years ago he was son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Jory. Before moving to Ricoton, Sask., district 27 years ago he had served on the Douro council for a number of years and also on the board of trustees of the Pine Grove school.

Prior to coming to Ontario a few months ago, he had farmed eight miles south-west of Regina, and was a member of the session of the Sherwood United church in that city. Always taking a keen interest in all community activities, he will be greatly missed by his friends in Saskatchewan as well as those from Lakefield and district.

Surviving besides his wife, the former May Edgar of Peterborough, to whom he was married in 1916, are three sisters, Mrs. Joe Lemay and Mrs. J. Millar of Lakefield, Mrs. M. C. McClory of Brandon, Manitoba, and one brother, Samuel W. of Brandon.

The funeral, held on Monday afternoon from his late brother's residence in Lakefield, was largely attended, testifying in what high esteem Mr. Jory was held by his Lakefield and district friends. Rev. G. F. Kelly of the Lakefield United church officiated.

Pallbearers were Howard Sanderson, Ivison Walker, Albert Darling, William Frankish, H. J. Abbott and Roy Kidd.

Flower bearers were Maitland Ryan, S. Sanderson, S. E. White and George Spence.

Those from a distance who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Maitland Ryan, Markham, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Jory, Beamsville, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Stubbs and family, Miss Hazel Kelly ad Cephas Lemay, all of Toronto, also Miss Mabelle Whiteman of Kippen.

Interment was in Little Lake cemetery, Peterborough.

BBC Employees Given Warning

LONDON, March 5—(CP).—The British Broadcasting Corporation was reported yesterday to have told more than a dozen of its employees to sever connections with the Leftist People's Convention or face loss of their jobs.

The News-Chronicle said the employees had been given a week in which to state in writing that they had withdrawn support from the convention, which recently urged "a people's peace."

Michael Redgrave, actor, one of those affected, told The News-Chronicle he had refused to write any such letter and had informed a BBC official that his personal views were "none of their business."

A BBC official, commenting on the matter, said the "policy of the BBC is not to invite any person to the microphone whose views are opposed to the national war effort."

Tax Collections Up 25 Million

OTTAWA, March 4 (CP)—Income tax collections last month amounted to $29,573,887, an increase of $25,533,098 over the $4,040,789 total collected in February, 1940, Revenue Minister Gibson announced yesterday.

During the 11-month period from April 1, 1940, to Feb. 28, 1941, collections amounted to $232,179,485, a net increase of $103,627,839 over the corresponding period of the previous fiscal year.

Increases were recorded in all 19 income tax collection districts of the Dominion. Largest amount, $77,361,451 for a $34,147,533 increase, came from the Toronto district.

Figures for 11 months in other cities with increases in brackets: Hamilton $18,574,097, ($9,440,065); London $17,291,172, ($6,473,186); Belleville $1,205,760, ($663,541); Kingston $1,019,044, $588,670).

Aged Man Is Found With Hands And Feet Frozen

LAKEFIELD, March 5.—(ENS)—Richard Smith, nonagenarian of Lakefield village died last night under rather unusual circumstances and today death was declared due to exposure and natural causes and no inquest will be held.

He lived alone, and on Tuesday morning he was found in his home by a neighbor. He had both feet and hands frozen, and was suffering from exposure to such an extent that he was unconscious. Andrew Redpath who was making a regular call to seee if Mr. Smith was up and around for the day, found him and immediately secured medical aid.

Door Open

On nearing the home he found the wood shed door open and the inside kitchen door had also blown open, while the old gentleman was lying on the kitchen floor.

It is thought he had taken a weak turn and lain there most of the night as the water in the kettle on the stove was also frozen.

Although over ninety years he had always been quite active splitting his own wood, shovelling snow and attending to the necessary household duties.

One Of The Old Guard

The late Mr. Smith was one of the old guard in the village. He had lived alone since the death of his wife about twenty years ago, and during the summer months he took great pride in his garden.

In his younger days he spent several years in the Canadian West, and later farmed for years in Smith township, coming into Lakefield village about forty years ago. The only immediate relative as far as is known is a son, Max Smith, merchant of Apsley.

Legion Auxiliary Turns Over $37.50 To Aid Victims

The total in the British War Victims' Fund climbed nearer the $10,000 mark today when the contributions received since yesterday noon totalled close to $100.00 and the grand total now stands at $9,829.51.

At the Lakefield High School Commencement Exercises a collection was taken up and the proceeds amounting to $20.00 was turned in by J. McKerchar, manager of the Royal Bank at Lakefield. Major Bennett Chapter of the I.O.D.E. contributed $25.00 and the Canadian Legion came back this week with another substantial donation, of $37.50 which represents 25 per cent of the proceeds from their bingo games for the month of February.

On Thursday afternoon W. J. Hancock is holding a White Elephant sale in the auction rooms on George street, and anyone wishing to donate any article to be sold at auction and the proceeds to go to the fund is invited to do so.

Review Printing Company donated the draw tickets for the Cocker Spaniel donated by W. J. Donnelly. City firemen are selling the tickets.

Town Council Refuses To Sell Utilities Building

CAMPBELLF-ORD, Mar. 5. — (ENS).—The suggestion that Council should turn the building occupied by the Water and Light Commission as an office over to the Utilities was given the "thumbs down" signal following a lively discussion at this month's Council session. The plan was fostered by Councillor Grant Anderson, who was willing to turn the building over either with or without any cost to the Utilities, but he failed to get the support necessary, as only Councillors Fowlds and Maguire voted for the motion.

According to Councillor Anderson the Council was taking a selfish attitude toward the Commission one after all "they're paying for it with our money."

In an effort to get the feeling of other members the Mayor asked Reeve Calver if he was in favor of selling the building, to which the Reeve replied, "I am in favor of selling it—for more money."

Reason for the suggested transfer was given by the Mayor, who explained the Commission had control of different properties and were required to keep a stock of new transformers on hand. The present building was not altogether suitable for the purpose, and the Commission was reluctant to spend more money on improving the present site for which they pay rent to the corporation. It was with a view to working the matter out to the best advantage of all concerned that the Commission had fostered the idea. "The warehouse built by the Commission has saved the town a lot of money," asserted the Mayor, over the vociferous objections of Deputy-Reeve MacMillan, who protested that every time he had even visited the building it was filled with trucks. "If they want land for transformers, there's lots of land," said he.

Also opposed to any change in the town's policy toward the Commission was Councillor O'Sullivan, who claimed he desired to help the Commission in every way, but did not want to see the building "out of the hands of the town." Looking ahead he suggested the Commission might be extinct in a couple of years whereas there would always have to be a Council.

Police Regulations.

To end controversy in the Police Department which had come in for its share of trouble during the preceding year, the chairman of the Police Committee, Oscar Mason, announced that a list of regulations governing the conduct of the police had been prepared. Both Chief Constable George Hardy and Night Constable P. Bartley had their contracts renewed, the former at $1,200 and the latter $840 per year. Recommendations made by the committee and adopted by Council included the suggestion that the police should be in uniform when on duty and begin the day by supervising traffic at the Front and Bridge Street intersection from 8.30 in the morning until school children were safely past. There were 17 items dealt with in all and the regulations covered everything from supplying uniforms to the limitation of duties outside the corporation.

At the conclusion of the report, Mayor Long commended the committee on its thoroughness. Its adoption was unanimous.

Chairman of the Relief Committee Grand Anderson reported on the matter of sending an indigent family to a Western Ontario town, and the matter was left with the chairman of Relief and Finance Committees with power to act.

An offer to purchase the building now used as a hospital was revealed to Council by chairman of the Property Committee, J. R. Battisby. He pointed out the building would have to be enlarged at considerable expense in order to be maintained as a public hospital. The matter was left over for further consideration at the next meeting.

Reeve Calver told Council that the 1940 auditor's report had been filed and he suggested a meeting of the Finance Committee should be called this week. The clerk was instructed to advise the various municipal boards to prepare their estimates by March 14 so that the tax rate for the current year could be struck.

Canada's Need New Economic Order C.C.F. Is Told

"Which way do we go?" was the subject of an address by B. E. Leavens, general secretary of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation to about 25 of the members of the party in Peterborough on the occasion of the opening of the Club Room at 440 Water Street on Tuesday night.

The present economic order was discussed by the speaker, along with the totalitarian alternative, and the social democracy. The modern system of manufacturing was lauded by Mr. Leavens, when he said "We should be thankful to Capitalism for the successful introduction of the modern production system," but he went on to contend that it had not solved the problem of distribution.

The positive gains of the system of production under Capitalism, the speaker continued, will be used by the C.C.F. Party in the creation of a new order. A new order, "which will guarantee to the citizen of Canada a fair share of the bounty he will be able to produce."

In the words of our Saviour, the speaker said, this new order to be established by the party, is "A new commandment I give unto you that ye love one another." The various steps through which the party and the country must pass in the achievement of this position were then outlined by the speaker, and a description of the final accomplished state was given.

Mrs. William Johnson, wife of the Peterborough C.C.F. president, presented Mr. Leavens with a bouquet of roses at the conclusion of the meeting.

2,400 Magazines Sent Highlanders

The S. D. and G. Highlanders have made acknowledgment of the magazines they have received from the Boy Scouts of Peterborough. In a letter to George Groombridge, Capt. Rev. R. T. F. Brain, chaplain of the regiment, tells of the arrival of the 18 cartons of reading material, including 2,400 magazines.

The members of the regiment have found the truth of a statement made in Peterborough by Brig. L. F. Armstrong, O.B.E., to the effect that the troops in the forces are prepared to face danger and endure hardships, but what they are not content to suffer is boredom. The thanks of the men in the unit are conveyed to the Scouts of Peterborough through Captain Brain's letter.

War 25 Years Ago

(By the Canadian Press.)

March 5, 1916 — Thirteen killed, many injured in Zeppelin raid over eastern and east-Midland counties of England. Germans suffered a series of checks in fighting around Verdun.

Long Ride Completed

MARCELINO SOULE

Completing a ride of 18,000 miles on horseback that began in Buenos Aires two and a half years ago, Marcelino Soule, gaucho from the pampas, is pictured on arrival at New Yorks' city hall. After an official welcome, Soule was arrested, charged with beating a cab bill.

Uncover 80,000 French Graves

VICHY, March 5—(AP).—Eighty thousand graves of French soldier dead in the present war had been counted up to February 15, according to a book published today by Jean La Busquiere, Chief of Civil Cabinet to Defence Minister Gen. Charles Huntziger.

At least 20,000 more are "permanently missing" and 120,000 were wounded in the 45-day Battle of France.

This tragic episode in French history was "more murderous" than the first three months of the war of 1914," the book says.

Of 239 Generals of the French armies, nine were killed and 130 still are prisoners.

Officers in active service lost are counted at 14,500 or 65 per cent of the total.

Behind the lines, 20,000 officers were lost, or 34 per cent of the total on duty.

Hold Skating Party

LAKEFIELD, Mar. 5—(ENS). — The Young People's Union of the United Church entertained their friends at a pleasant skating party on Monday evening. A hot bean supper was served when the party returned to the church hall.

Railway Ordered To Fix Bridge

OTTAWA, March 5 —(CP)—Responsibility for strengthening a bridge in Hope Township, Ont., to "make it capable of bearing a load of at least eight tons" was delegated upon Canadian National Railways in a judgment of the Board of Transport Commissioners made public today.

The judgment followed a complaint heard by the board at Port Hope, Ont., Oct. 22, 1940.

The township claimed a bridge made necessary by construction of a diversion of a line now owned by the C.N.R. was inadequate for highway traffic and that cost of strengthening the structure should be paid by the railway.

Behind Antonescu

BUCHAREST, Rumania, March 5 (AP).—The Government announced today 98.88 per cent of Rumanian voters signified their approval of Premier Ion Antonescu's Government at a plebiscite conducted the past three days.

These figures on the vote were announced: For Antonescu's Government, 2,490,944; Against the Government, 2,816.

Perjury Charge Is Adjourned

A perjury charge against George Brooks, Blairton, arising out of evidence given by Brooks in a recent liquor case heard before Magistrate E. A. Gee here was adjourned in police court this morning when it was called before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C.

Provincial Constable John A. Rogers who laid the charge was unable to be present this morning and Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., asked for an adjournment. W. J. Arthur Fair who appeared for Brooks consented to the case going over until Monday, March 24.

The accused declined to elect at this morning's session.

Arrives In England

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Pink, 696 George street, received word today from their son, Sergeant Alf Pink (ABOVE) of the Canadian Dental Corps that he had arrived in England. The first boy he met in camp was Reg. Land, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Land, who went over with the Prince Edward Regiment.

NOSE BAY RATIONING

LONDON—(CP). — The Ministry of Food has announced that ration cards are to be issued for horses, mules and donkeys, as well as jennets (small Spanish horses).

Postpone Calling Market Tenders

A new property committee of the council is approaching the old problem of the farmers' market, and what to do with it.

In and out of the council some opinion advises that it be closed, and the business be left to the grocers and fruit men.

And how should tolls be collected? How should the market clerk be appointed?

Alderman Swanston and his committee, new on the job and looking for facts, decided the other night to postpone the selling of the right to collect tolls. The market year begins on April 1, but this year it is going to be delayed. The committee is asking S. H. Mitchell to look over the market the next two Saturdays, count noses and report any observations which he thinks would be helpful.

In the meantime James Browne will carry on as clerk from week to week until the tolls collection question is decided.

Report From Japan

TOKYO, March 5—(AP).—Maj.-Gen. Eugene Ott, German Ambassador to Tokyo, will depart for Berlin by way of Siberia in the next few days to report on developments in the Far East, informed sources said today.

The news was regarded by high Japanese and neutral sources as "significant" because many Far Eastern observers believe an intensification of the German offensive against the British Isles may be expected soon.

DRAFTED FOR LOVE

By RUTH AYERS

YESTERDAY: April is falling in love with her sister's sweetheart, and he thinks she is Ann. After that one kiss, April decides to explain the hoax, admit her love. She begins but Kent interrupts. He sees her as a different Ann—She's quit being second to sister April. And Kent blames April.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE LIE THAT WAS TRUE

CHAPTER VIII

THE hills were so close and blue; the sky unchanged; the smell of the wood fire still lingered. But to all this, April Burnett was oblivious.

It's like that when you parachute from rose-colored clouds and land feet first on hard brown earth.

At first, she was too stunned to be angry. It seemed, in fact, as if she were sitting beside a stranger who was telling her something about another stranger.

Kent, now that he had started, was plunging ahead. He loved Ann, her sister; he had a deep desire to protect her, and yet, as April could tell from the way he talked, he wanted Ann to be sure of herself.

"Oh, April may turn out all right someday," he said with a grudging attempt to be fair.

April nodded, found herself mumbling something silly that sounded like, "Sure—yes, I think so."

"The trouble with April is that she never looks beyond her mirror. Everyone raves about how beautiful she is, how stunning. Personally, I could never see it."

"No?"

"She has a greedy complex, thinks that she's so ravishing she can get anything she wants, no matter whose toes she threads on."

"That's right." April mumbled it again and all the time she kept thinking, "This isn't me he's talking about."

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT it was and she must take it. Once or twice she even found her lips smile. It had it's funny side, too. No one had ever told her all her faults like this before.

"She's spoiled," Kent said. "Everyone has spoiled April."

"Not Octavia."

"Who—oh, Octavia. Well, Octavia can't be fooled like outsiders. She knows!"

"That's true."

"What's more," Kent went on, "the Glitterbug figures she's the belle of the town and everyone owes her homage."

April made a stab to defend herself. "Oh, I don't think that, Kent. She doesn't mean to. It's just she is, well, maybe a little thoughtless."

"A little?" he snorted. "Your trouble, Ann, is that you've always been loyal to her. Whether she meant to or not, she was giving you an inferiority complex. All those boy friends hanging around her, all that so-called popularity, naturally made you feel you were being pushed aside. I've always told you that, but you've learned it for yourself now."

"Yes—I guess maybe I have," April agreed and felt the ghost of a smile on her lips again. Indeed she had learned for herself what April Burnett was like!

Kent pulled a pipe from his pocket, fumbled for tobacco. Then he leaned contentedly close to April as she held a match to the bowl.

"Sorry," he chuckled, "I didn't mean to waste time talking about April. It was only because I'm so glad you've pulled out of the pocket before you did anything desperate. It makes that quarrel we had seem awfully silly now, doesn't it, my love?"

"Oh yes," April choked the words out. "I'd forgotten we quarreled at all."

"As it should be."

"We'll forget about April, too," he said. "Let her go her glittery way and more power to her."

That's what I say."

I'm afraid though, she's going to have a rude awakening one of these days."

Something impish rose in April, even while she smarted and stung with the terrible hurt of his words. "Yes," she said, "and I bet it will be soon."

✧ ✧ ✧

KENT drew her to him and the touch of his lips brushing her cheek was her undoing. It wasn't fair. What he's said was wrong and heartless. And because she was so hurt, she wanted to fight back. The April storm side of her began to rise up like thunder. She'd speak out now.

"Happy, darling?" Kent was asking.

Even behind the dark glasses she could feel the look of adoration in the temporarily unseeing eyes. He loved Ann. He thought it was she beside him.

Ahead of him were critical days in the hospital, a battle he'd have to fight out in the darkness. This was his day. It must end in peace for him no matter what happened. If she shattered it, she would be even worse than he had described her. She would be the worst of all, a cruel person.

Yes, she would carry out the masquerade a little longer. This would be the last time she's see him—the end of the love that for her could have been the real thing.

"You're shivering," he said. "You're trembling."

"It's blown up a little colder." Then because she must play the part of Ann a little longer, she forced herself to sit beside him, cradling his head, stroking the brief, crisp wave in his hair.

"We must go," she said at last, I'll bank the fire so there won't be any life left in it."

Slips in English Offend People You Like to Know

Her Longed-For Chance Ruined

"I'm from the wrong side of the tracks"—her crude English is telling him. And he's the specially nice date she's longed for, the chance for smart good times that comes to almost every girl!

"I BEEN hearing," she chatters, "you are SURE good at badminton."

He can't tell her it's correct to say "HAVE BEEN . . . VERY GOOD." He'll only suffer in silence while she blunders on before his friends, making such pronunciation errors, too, as "misCHIEvous" for "MISchievous," "ADult" for "aDULT."

When the evening's over he'll courteously see her home and then forget her, of course. But who knows what the date might have led to for a clever girl, one wise enough to check her speech once in a while?

You can so easily avoid vocabulary faults which spoil your chances. Do you say "aggravate" (make worse) when you mean "exasperate" (irritate)? Do you, for lack of words, say "doo-jigger" or "you know what I mean"?

Polish your speech with the aid of our 32-page booklet. Gives English and pronunciation errors you're likely to make and their correct forms. Explains words often misused, helps you acquire a vivid, correct vocabulary you can be proud of anywhere.

Send [illegible] stamps for [illegible] TO IMPROVE YOUR VOCABULARY to Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

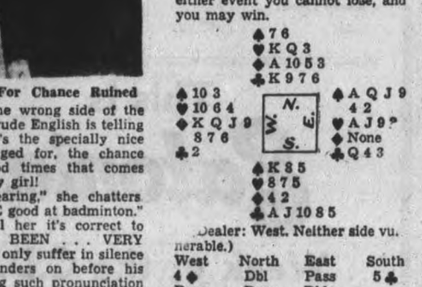
BREAK UP THAT PLAY

WHEN YOU are defending and you see that you are end-played if you take the current trick, and must then lead back somethig which will produce an extra trick for the declarer, your job is to duck if you can, and hope your partner can take the current trick. If he holds the card with which to do it, you save a trick. If he does not, you take the same number of tricks as if you had let the declarer end-play you. In either event you cannot lose, and you may win.



Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
4 ♦	Dbl	Pass	5 ♣
Pass	Pass	Dbl

West led the diamond K, which the dummy covered and East ruffed with the club 3. He laid down the spade A and returned the spade Q to South's K. The declarer thereupon took in the club K and A, led the heart 5 to the Q and A and ruffed East's return of the spade J in dummy. South then cashed the heart K and led the heart 3.

East, an astute card-reader, realized what the declarer was up to. It was clear to him that the declarer's two holdings were now stripped of both major suits. If East won this trick, he would have nothing to return but a major, so that South could ruff in the North hand and discard a losing diamond from his own.

It was clear, however, that if West had the heart 10, he could win that ninth trick and return a diamond. So East did not put his J on the heart 3, but his 9. West sure enough bobbed up with the 10, and was smart enough to use it to overtake the 9. He fired back his diamond Q then and took a trick with it. Thus the contract was set three tricks instead of two. If South had held the heart 10 instead of West, nothing would have been lost by East's play, as the trick given away there would have been offset by the lack of a lead-throwing end-play.

• • •

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

During the play against South's 3-No Trumps, should East play "second hand low" on a lead of the club 2 from dummy? If not, why not?

CAMPBELLFORD

Family Camp Is Planned For United Church

CAMBELLFORD, Mar. 5 (ENS) —A family camp to be held at Oak Lake for one week during the month of August was discussed as part of the summer program being arranged by the Executive of the Religious Education Committee of the Bay of Quinte Conference, which met in St. John's Church here on Monday.

Delegates from an area bounded by Oshawa on the west and Kingston on the east gathered here for an all day conference to consider various problem of general interest to the group, and at the same time decide when and where their coaching conference and summer camps would be held.

A discussion on the value and plans for the coaching conference took place, led by Rev. Rickard. Conclusions reached were that a transportation committee should be appointed for each presbytery, and that councillors should have a definite part in the program. This year's conference will be held at Albert College on June 17. The proposed agenda for the conference was planned in a discussion led by Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh of Oakwood.

Institute Aims

What the Presbytery Institutes aim to accomplish was discussed by Rev. Manson Doyle, D.D., of the Board of Christian Education, Toronto, who outlined a number of the Institute's aims. Theme the Presbytery Institutes will adopt for the Bay of Quinte Conferences will be "United Christian Advance." Emphasis will be placed on Sunday School leadership and worship and an effort will be made to use local lay talent from various sections of the Presbytery. Meeting dates for the Presbytery Institutes are: September 22, Renfrew; September 23, Oshawa; September 24, Kingston and Cobourg; September 25, Belleville and Peterborough; September 26, Lindsay.

At noon, dinner was served by members of the Women's Association of St. John's United Church and then the members reassembled for group discussion, followed by a talk on the Leadership Training Seminar by Rev. G. N. Maxwell of Campbellford.

Among the suggestions Mr. Maxwell made were that key workers should be appointed in Young People's and Sunday School groups to give leadership and to inspire interest in the work. He reported briefly on standard schools and winter schools. In his discussion of camps, one of the most interesting features was the suggestion of a family camp, which is to be held for the first time this year.

Time and place of the various summer camps was set as follows: At Oak Lake, under leadership of Rev. C. D. McLellan of Napanee, July 19 to 26; executive leadership camp, also at Oak Lake, August 9 to 17, under Mr. Stephen Saywell, Oshawa; family camp, at Oak Lake, August 2 to 9 (School Inspectors A. A. Martin of Brighton was named to handle inquiries); girls' camp, for Cobourg Presbytery at Oak Lake, August 17 to 24, under leadership of Miss Luella Munroe of Grafton.

Following are the members of the executive: Convener, Rev. Roy Rickard, Colborne; Secretary, Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh, Oakwood; Treasurer, Rev. W. G. Fletcher, Yarker; Committee, Rev. W. J. Smythe, Port Perry; Rev. G. Empery, Newboro; Dr. W. P. Fletcher, Marmora; George Carlisle, Picton; R. A. McCrae, Inspector A. A. Martin, Brighton; Rev. Claude Brethen, Woodville; L. Everson, Oakwood; Rev. G. N. Maxwell, Campbellford; Rev. Manson Doyle, Toronto.

May Catch Torpedoes

TORONTO, March 5 — (CP). — Fishermen along Canada's east coast are expecting to undergo large-scale enemy submarine attacks this season, but they are not alarmed, Capt. Ben MacKenzie of Lockeport, N.S., said in an interview yesterday. Capt. MacKenzie, a veteran Grand Banks fishermen, is in Toronto attending the meeting of the Canadian Seamen's Union.

"The men who make their living from deep-sea fishing are expecting an attack on their ships similar to that of 1917, when a fleet of German submarines raided the innocent little fishing boats," he said.

Hastings Pupils Stage Concert

HASTINGS, March 5—(ENS). — The school concert staged by the Hastings Separate and Public Schools, on Friday evening, in aid of the Red Cross, was one of the most successful ever held here. The Town Hall was filled to capacity with many parents, children and friends.

The proceeds of the evening amounted to $43.40. Much credit is due the Public School teachers, Mr. Grant Sine and Miss Jessie Lamb, and the Separate School teachers, Mr. F. Carroll and Miss Wilma Strauss, also the musical director, Mr. A. Hazell of Campbellford. Reeve L. E. Kelly, president of the local Red Cross, was chairman.

Following the opening number, the singing of "O Canada'," and an opening speech by the reeve, the program was presented in four parts: Part 1 by the Junior Public School room pupils; Part 2, Junior Separate School pupils; Part 3, Senior Separate school pupils; art 4, Senior Public school pupils.

Part I included a dialogue in three acts entitled. "Princess Who Wanted to Be a Fairy." Choruses, Snowflakes, and Parade of Wooden Shoes; recitation, War Savings, by Donald Mouncey; choruses, Children Go, and The Parade.

Part 2 included play, Young Citizens of Canada in the Making; selections of four numbers; dialogue, Buying Eggs, by Maureen O'Shea, Irene McDonald and Pat Lunitz.

Part 3 included: dialogue, A Close Shave; drill by 12 girls, followed by choruses, We'll Never Let the Old Flag Fall; Till the Lights of London Shine Again.

Part 4 included: choruses Carry One, and Shades of Evening; recitation, Children of the Empire, by Doris Calberry; song Heigh Ho by a group of boys; trio of folk dances; song by six girls; recitation, I Give What I Can to My Country; choruses Air Force Song by Public School pupils.

Following a brief address by Mr. Grant Sine, Public school principal. Mr. Frank Carroll, the Separate school principal, presented the Red Cross Society with the proceeds of the evening, and the concert closed with the National Anthem.

Mr. Joseph Collins was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, where he underwent an operation on Friday for appendicitis.

Messrs. Don Beamish, Willis Preston, Herbert Oliver, Fred Lynch and Arthur Orr as delegates of the Ormonde Cheese Factory, attended the meeting on Saturday of the Cheese Makers' Association.

An Extra Hour

LONDON, March 5—(CP). — An extra hour of daylight time, putting the clocks two hours ahead of normal, was announced Tuesday from May 3 to August 9.

Home Secretary Herbert Morrison, announcing the change in the House of Commons, said the addition of an extra hour of sunlight would help the unloading of ships and the switching of cars in railway yards.

TCA Crash Jury Treks To Scene

ARMSTRONG, Ont., March 5—(CP)—The inquest into the death of Captain W. E. Twiss of Winnipeg, pilot of the Trans-Canada Air Lines passenger plane which crashed near here February 6, killing its 12 occupants, opened here today under Dr. Smirle Lawson, supervising coroner for Ontario.

C. R. Magone of Toronto, senior solicitor for the Ontario Attorney General's department, is representing the province, assisted by P. V. Ibbetson of Port Arthur, crown attorney for the district of Thunder Bay.

Dr. Lawson empaneled a coroner's jury of five men from Nakina, 100 miles east of this northwestern Ontario town.

After convening in the town hall here the jury was taken by truck to Armstrong airport, seven miles east of the town, to tramp on snow shoes over the trail to the crash scene two miles south of the landing field.

Dr. Lawson said the party would return to Armstrong late this afternoon and possibly one witness would be heard today. It is expected 20 witnesses will be called and the inquest probably will not conclude until late tomorrow or Thursday.

Members of the T.C.A. staff on duty when the west bound plane crashed before dawn on a Thursday morning as it approached the field for a landing will be called to testify. T.C.A. officials also here for the inquiry are: D. B. Collyer, vice-president, O. T. Larson, general superintendent, H. H. Kenyon, assistant to the general superintendent, and Ronald George, superintendent of flight operations, all from Winnipeg.

J. P. Pratt, K.C., Toronto, is representing T.C.A. and counsel are representing several of the nine passengers who died in the crash.

See US Economic Crackup During The 40's

WASHINGTON, March 5—(A).—A bill appropriating $890,825,037 for the 1942 farm program and other activities of the United States Agriculture Department was sent to the House of Represenatives Monday by is appropriations committee.

This total was a reduction of $4,927,934 from the budget estimates and a $193,023,502 cut from the appropriation for the current year. A technical change in manner of financing parity payments was responsible chiefly for the large size of the latter production.

The bill means that $1,420,977,559 will be available to the department next year, by virtue of permanent appropriations, reappropriations, power to borrow from the reconstruction finance corporation and authority to make contracts for $162,000,000 in parity payments. The over-total total for the current year was $1,477,001,061.

A prediction that "we are most likely to hit an economic crackup somewhere in the 1940's" went to Congress from Milo Perkins, surplus marketing administrator of the agriculture department.

Urging the appropriations subcommittee to extend the stamp program throughout the country, Perkins asserted:

"It would be a national insurance against hunger as well as against low prices for commodities used largely here at home."

(The stamp plan is a flexible program of diverting unwieldy and market-depressing surpluses of farm crops to the needy through issuance of blue and orange stamps.) Perkins did not explain why he anticipated a 'crackup" or just when he though it likely to come.

The testimony also disclosed that Agriculture Secretary Claude Wickard believe that the present farm program can not be expected to achieve the long-sought goal of parity prices—or parity income for farmers and that loss of export markets have sent farm surpluses soaring to a point where they are adequate for national defence but "alarming" to the administration's program of farm income.

(Parity prices are designed to give farmers the same relative purchasing power—parity income—as they did in the 1909-1914 period.)

5 Safety Ideas Are Rewarded

MARMORA, Mar. 5 — (ENS). — The monthly meeting of the Deloro Safety Committee was held in the electric shop on Monday afternoon, the chairman, R. A. Elliott, presiding over a good attendance of the memebrs.

Nine sugestions were read. The Competitive Committee announced five of these to have merited awards. The star was awarded the oxide plant. W. M. Regan gave the report of the inspection committee. J. J. French was appointed floating member of that committee for the current month. J. A. Rice gave the report of the Health and Investigation Committee, and C. H. Buskard presented the monthly statement of the benevolent relief funds.

The missionary lecture "The Old Church in the New Dominion" was given in Deloro Hall on Monday, under auspices of St. Paul's Sunday School. The reading was given byb W. J. Cottrell, with Rural Dean A. B. Caldwell operating the lantern.

"Glad To Be Here"

King George is pictured shaking hands with John G. Winant, new United States Ambassador to the Court of St. James, upon his arrival in England. Breaking precedent in the same manner in which President Roosevelt broke precedent by going to meet Lord Halifax, recently, the King welcomed Winant at a wayside station, between London and Bristol, where Winant handed the King his credentials. When greeted Winant briefly said: "I have not much to say. I am glad to be here—there is no place I would rather be at this time than in England."

CAMPBELLFORD

Tribute Is Paid Men Of Navy

CAMPBELLFORD, March 5. — (ENS). — A tribute to the men of the Navy was contained in the subject taken by Rotarian P. C. Denyes who addressed club members at the noonday luncheon on Monday. Mr. Denyes gathered his material from an article written by J. Cunningham titled "Convoy Conference," a story in which the captains of the various vessels about to leave on that perilous voyage across the Atlantic are heard discussing the tactics the convoy is to adopt when they are attacked. "There is little chance," said the speaker, "of a convoy of ships to-day reaching England without being sought out by some branch of the enemy's raiding forces."

Navigtion Skill.

The skill required on the part of the navigator of a vessel which must manipulate in total darkness at night was demonstrated by the speaker who suggested that it compared with a fleet of motor trucks operating on a desert in pitch darkness. "There would probably be a good many bashed fenders," said he.

Rarely is a ship in convoy sunk as the result of collision despite the fact that they must travel in total darkness and without any means of intercommunication.

He spoke of the bravery of the ships' crews who knew before each voyage that the odds of their all arriving safely were extremely high, and he recalled the heroism of the Jervis Bay which sacrificed herself by steaming straight for the big guns of a German raider in order that the rest of the ships in the convoy might disperse and escape.

Secretary Earl Bell read the club's attendance record which has climbed from 55 per cent in July to 83 per cent in January. "Although this is a great improvement we're only in 17th place in a district which has 28 clubs."

Charles Davidson told members that returns from the inter-police hockey game were still incomplete and suggested a report would be ready for the next meeting.

Obituary

JAMES CONNORS

The funeral of the late James Connors who passed away so suddenly on Saturday night was held from the J. J. Duffus funeral parlors Tuesday morning at 8:45 a.m. to the Church of the Sacred Heart where solemn mass of requiem was offered for the repose of his soul, following which interment took place in St. Peter's cemetery.

Mass was celebrated by Rev. J. J. O'Brien, who also preached the sermon.

The prayers at the grave were said by Rev. Dr. F. Grant.

Testimony of the late Mr. Connors' wide acquaintance and high esteem was evidenced by the large number of friends and acquaintances who were present at the obsequies.

Havelock Ladies Help To Buy Mobile Kitchen

HAVELOCK, March 5—(ENS).—The monthly meeting of Women's Institute was held on Monday afternoon in Council Chamber, with an attendance of 17, and the president, Mrs. Clare Price, presiding. Motion was made that bill of $5.85 for repair work on cupboards be paid to Thomas Cummings for his work. A letter was read from the Federated Women's Institute of Ontario, asking for a donation toward a mobile kitchen for war work. On motion by Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Roc[illegible] the Institute will send $5.

Mrs. Jones reported $1.25 from rental of the Institute dishes and Mrs. R. F. Covert reported a donation of $2 from Mrs. John Armstrong for the Institute Red Cross fund. Seventeen quilt blocks were received which had been donated by different members, for the quilt for the refugees. Mrs. Goheen informed the members of the Institute that she had received some literature on health and child welfare, and would be glad to send for copies for any member who would care to have them.

Mrs. Price took over the program, in place of Mrs. Wesley Johnson, who was unable to attend, opening with a reading by Miss Eliza Wright, "The drones and the busy bees of the Institute"; reading by Mrs. Charles Taylor, "An Institute Woman"; Mrs. Sam Southward sang unaccompanied a very lovely song, "Ireland I love you, Acusla McCrea"; reading, "Keep Your Temper," by Mrs. Clare Price; contest, "Parts of a human body," the prizes being won as follows: first, Mrs. Goheen; second, Mrs. Woodbeck.

A dainty lunch was served by Mrs. Charles Taylor, assisted by Mrs. William Rice, Mrs. Joseph Little and Mrs. Herb Hoard.

Splendid Cough Remedy Easily Mixed at Home

It's So Easy! Makes a Big Saving. No Cooking.

To get quick relief from a distressing cough, mix your own remedy at home. Once tried, you'll say it's your favorite cough medicine, and it's so simple and easy.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. A child could do it. No cooking needed.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiacol, in concentrated form, well known for its prompt action on throat membranes.

Put the Pinex into a 16-ounce bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make 16 ounces of very efficient remedy, and you get four times as much cough medicine for your money. It tastes fine and never spoils.

And for quick, blessed relief, it is splendid. You can feel it penetrating the air passages in a way that means business. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and eases the soreness. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep.

Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

Only 525 Lost In Whole African Push

List Includes Bengasi; Credit Wavell's Surprise-Tactic Coups

LONDON, Mar. 6 — (CP). — The Government told Parliament to-day that the British Army had lost only 525 men in the entire campaign against Italy in Africa and the Middle East.

Capt. David Margesson, War Secretary, said of these 438 were killed and 87 are missing. An additional 1,249 were wounded.

He gave the figures in presenting the Army budget, the figures of which are kept secret, as is customary in wartime.

Capt. Margesson said the casualties covered the period from the end of November, 1940, to February 11, 1941, and included the final capitulation of Bengasi on February 6 which "completed the capture or destruction of the whole Italian army in the East of Libya, estimated to exceed 150,000 men."

Describing the speed of the African campaign, Capt. Margesson said: "These operations are a prelude to greater struggles with our principal enemy."

Since the evacuation at Dunkirk, Capt. Margesson said, the problem

US Matches Musso On Consulate Closing Shuts 2 In States, Curbs All Consuls

WASHINGTON, March 6—(AP).—The United States Government has notified Italy that the movements of Italian consular officials throughout the United States are to be restricted and has asked that Italian consulates in Detroit and Newark, N.J., be closed.

Decision of the government that foreign consulates in certain areas should be closed was announced by the State Department.

It followed the recent action of the Italian Government to have the United States close its consulates at Naples and Palermo.

Phraseology of the department's announcement indicated similar action might be taken against other foreign consulates.

In the case of Germany, however, the United States has not been forced to close any consulates in that country. Germany has required the closing of United States consulates in some German-occupied countries.

Italy has more than 60 consulates or consular agent offices in the United States.

The American consulates at Naples and Palermo were ordered closed by the Italian Government along with all other foreign consulates in those cities on the ground they were within military areas.

Whether they have already been closed has not been learned here but it was planned to transfer the personnel to the Rome Embassy.

The Italian Government also has restricted the movements of the United States Ambassador, William Phillips, and his staff in Rome, as well as American newspaper correspondents.

The Italian Embassy here, denying published reports that Italian consuls in the United States were engaged in political activities to their legal consular functions and that Italian nationals had kept apart from any so-called "un-American activities."

150,000 Hun Troops Face Greeks

SOFIA, Bulgaria, March 6.—(AP)—The general staff of the German expeditionary force, headed by Field Marshal Sigmund List, called on King Boris, the war ministry and the foreign affairs ministry today while Nazi forces continued their sweep southwest within Bulgaria.

Waves of bomber planes were continuing to arrive from the north. Motorized equipment, field kitchens, supply trucks and oil tank cars now also are following the troops, tanks and artillery which for days have been pouring through Balkan passes.

All telephone lines both within the country and those connecting with the outside world now are in the hands of the military. Many telegrams and cable messages are being held up to avoid the possibility of transmitting military information (here the Sofia connection with Berne, to which this dispatch was being relayed, was cut, presumably by the military censor.)

Key To The War?

Moscow, March 6 (AP)

RED STAR, organ of the army, said today events in the Balkans "may have a great influence over further developments of the war."

"Both belligerent camps in their Balkan policies are following, first of all, their own military interests," the paper said.

Bulgaria, it declared, "crossed the border" of neutrality when she joined the Axis. The entry of German troops, it added, "showed clearly the meaning of the act of March 1 (when the pact was signed)."

"Since Bulgaria joined the Axis, the struggle between belligerent parties of Yugoslavia and Turkey, which are keeping their neutrality, is becoming sharper," Red Star said.

Norwegians Anxious To Fight, Brought Back; Hun Fish Oil Plant Destroyed, Population Given Fruit, Food And Soap

LONDON, March 6 — (CP). — Nine German merchant vessels and one Norwegian ship under German command were sunk by British forces which raided the Lofoten Islands off Northern Norway Tuesday, an official announcement said today.

The raiders also sank an armed German trawler, bringing to 18,000 tons the total of shipping destroyed, according to a joint communique issued by the Admiralty and the Norwegian Government.

The largest unit sunk was described as a fully laden German vessel of 10,000 tons.

First announcement here yesterday in a brief bulletin of the raid gave no details.

The Lofoten Islands stretch for about 150 miles along the Norwegian coast and guard the approaches to Narvik Fjord.

Today's announcement said the raiders captured 215 German prisoners and 10 "Quislings" — pro-Nazi Norwegians. A number of Norwegian patriots desirous of joining their countrymen in Britain also were brought back.

A large consignment of fruit, foodstuffs, soap, cigarettes and clothing was taken by the British expedition to the Norwegian population of the Lofotens, which have been without such items since the German occupation, the communique said.

A plant used for the production of fish oil was destroyed, it was added. This was cited as of particular importance because fish oil is being

Weygand Arrives In Vichy Flying Secretly

VICHY, France, March 6 (AP)—Gen. Maxime Weygand, commander of the French forces in North Africa, arrived by plane this afternoon for his first meeting with Marshal Petain in six months.

Weygand went immediately to the Parc Hotel where Petain has his headquarters.

The government announced last night that Weygand had arrived in Vichy, but today it explained that this premature announcement was issued deliberately as a "blind" intended to cover his real movements.

An official announcement today said Weygand came "to report his inspection tour of French African possessions."

The wording of the announcement would seem to indicate that Weygand's stay here would be short.

The secrecy was seen as a precaution taken in view of the death of Jean Chiappe in the downing of a French plane which was carrying him to Syria last November.

Some sources thought Weygand came to discuss current unsupported rumors that Britain intended to occupy French-mandated Syria to maintain better contact with Turkish armed forces and then give the mandate to Turkey after the war.

Another possibility was that he might discuss declarations, made by R. A. Butler, British under-secretary of foreign affairs, and Gen. Charles de Gaulle, Free French leader, that German soldiers and technicians had arrived in French Morocco, only 150 miles from the Strait of Gibraltar.

18 Dutch To Die For Plotting; Even Idea Fatal

AMSTERDAM (via Berlin), March 6—(AP)—The president of the German military court which condemned 18 Netherlanders to death, threatened similar punishment today for everyone who, even in thoughts, plots against the German army.

He disclosed that additional cases are awaiting German court martial proceedings. Most of those already sentenced to death were charged with spying for Great Britain and plotting to co-operate with the British army in the event of an invasion.

The trial which resulted in the convictions Tuesday revealed that a secret organization has been active from May until December, 1940, especially in the Netherlands region nearest the English coast across the Channel.

German authorities, the court president asserted, regretted that

Personal Injury Plan To Hit The Uninsured

TORONTO, March 6 (CP) — A system to provide compensation for persons injured in automobile accidents by financially irresponsible drivers is now under consideration by the Ontario government, it was learned at Queen's Park today.

Attorney General Conant has under consideration a report submitted by H. D. McNairn, superintendent of insurance, which will likely be considered shortly by the Ontario cabinet.

The report is the first in Canada to deal with the problem. A measure may come before the present session of the legislature.

According to the proposal, a motorist when he obtains his license will submit a certificate of his insurance.

Those who do not carry insurance, the plan provides, will pay $2 to go to a fund to be used only for personal injury.

Property damage, such as damage arising from collisions will not be covered.

The fund is estimated to raise about $720,000 a year from an estimated 360,000 motorists who do not carry insurance.

Claims against this fund will be based on judgments obtained from the court for personal injury where

Mexico City, March 6 (AP)

MATADOR Lorenzo Garza, who lost a bull fight to the bull last Sunday, is to get another chance next Sunday. The government amusement office fined him 1,000 pesos ($200) because he failed to dispatch a bull in nine attempts in last Sunday's corrida.

The bull ring management seized the opportunity to advertise in all Mexico City newspapers urging the fans to give Garza another chance next Sunday.

Think Huns Split Sea In Lanes For Sub Drive

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(AP)—Predicting the pattern of German's spring sea offensive against British shipping, authorities here said today that each of the scores of submarines employed probably would be assigned "lone wolf" roles within neighboring but distinct areas of the sea.

They expressed belief that the tactics now employed by the Germans, and destined to be used with increasing force when the weather improves, follow this outline:

The sea around Britain is divided by the German navy's high command into 'traffic lanes," each a mile to five miles wide and paralleling one another.

Each "lane" is then divided into sections, and each section assigned to a certain submarine.

Within its alloted territory, each submarine is free to operate more or less independently.

When a large enemy convoy approaches, the first U-boat to detect it does not attack the leading ship but waits until a number of vessels are strung across neighboring submarine lanes.

Then several of the submarines attack different ships simultaneously.

Estimates here place the number of German U-boats in service last month at 120. An additional 180 were believed under construction.

Reports From Berlin

BERLIN, March 6 (AP) — The German high command today claimed the following successes for the German air force in the past 24 hours:—

1. Barracks and shipyards at Portsmouth, English south coast naval base, damaged by direct bomb hits.

2. Halfar airport at Britain's Mediterranean stronghold of Malta raided with "great success"; hangars and shelters destroyed, three British planes shot down in air fights and others destroyed on the ground.

3. A British minelayer sunk off the east coast of Scotland by a direct bomb hit.

'Guns For Butter' Hits U.S. Heavily

WASHINGTON, March 6—(AP)—The world's desperate bidding for "guns instead of butter" has caused the volume of United States agricultural exports to sink to the lowest levels since 1869.

Commerce Department statistics revealed today that in January American farm exports represented only $22,000,000 out of a total $325,-355,000 foreign trade—or less than seven per cent.

This was an even worse showing than the last six months of 1940, when agricultural products declined to only 8.7 per cent of the export total, as compared with 22.4 per cent, for the comparable 1939 period.

January exports of agricultural commodities were almost $4,000,000 less than December's $25,872,000 and far short of the $97,000,000 worth sold in January, 1940, before Hitler's Nazi legions conquered most of Continental Europe.

The combined agricultural and non-agricultural total for the month registered a gain of $3,000,000 over December, but mirrored the 1940 trend of increased shipments of war supplies at the expense of agricultural exports.

TCA Bush Crash Stays Mystery

ARMSTRONG, Ont., March 6 — (CP)—Cause of the worst crash in Canadian air history remains a mystery today in opening of a coroner's jury.

A verdict that the crash cause is unknown was returned last night, ending a two-day inquest into the death of Capt. W. E. Twiss, 33-year-old chief pilot of the Trans-Canada Air Lines plane which crashed Feb. 6 near Armstrong airport, killing its 12 occupants.

He'll Pay The Bill

Ceville, Spain, March 6 (AP)

FORMER King Carol of Rumania telephoned today from Lisbon to the hotel where he stayed here to assure hotel officials that the bill he left when he escaped would be "paid in full."

The former monarch, who eluded his guards and fled over the border into Portugal Monday with Mme. Magda Lupescu, also gave instructions that four of her dogs be left in care of the Infante Alfonso de Orleans, who is related both to him and the late King Alfonso of Spain.

King Carol said he was feeling "very well," but did not disclose his plans. Previously he has been represented as seeking permission to enter the United States.

Two Bombs Slip

Ottawa, March 6 (CP)

TWO BOMBS were accidentally released from a Royal Canadian Air Force aircraft near Petawawa, Ont., damaging a farmhouse and buildings, it was learned today. A court of inquiry has left here to open a formal investigation.

R.C.A.F. headquarters stated that "according to available reports," occupants of the farmhouse escaped serious injury.

The mishap occurred during a routine testing of samples from a new shipment of aerial bombs. "As far as is known presently," the statement went on, "the bombs fell away from the aircraft as it made a steep turn to begin the 'run' on the practice bomb range near Petawawa."

Temporary repairs were undertaken by R.C.A.F. officials. A Canadian army ski patrol and medical officer were sent from Petawawa to lend assistance.

RAF Flying Boat Beats 2 Bombers

LONDON, March 6—(CP). — A Royal Air Force flying boat manned by Australians in a fight with two German bombers over the Atlantic yesterday shot down one of them and severely damaged the other, the Air Ministry announced today.

The flying boat reported that the pair, Junkers-88 type, dropped from a cloud, guns blazing. They closed to 250 yards, the flying boat holding its fire until all three planes were 200 yard above the water. Then it let go. The Junkers turned away and began climbing.

Thirty seconds later one of the German bombers plunged down in flames into the sea. The second again went for the flying boat, but was turned away. The British craft

381 Nazi, Italian Ships Sunk

54 Others Captured—Hun Reports Have UK Fleet Mostly Sunk

LONDON, March 6—(CP). — An Admiralty statement disclosed today that Germany and Italy had claimed to have sunk or seriously damaged 34 British Empire battleships or battle cruisers, whereas Britain had only 15 such warships at the outbreak of war.

Amplifying the statement of A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, before the House of Commons yesterday, that the Axis had claimed to have sunk or seriously damaged more than twice the number of capital ships, aircraft carriers and cruisers Britain possessed at the start of the war, the Admiralty said in some cases units of the fleet had been claimed sunk "several times over."

Today's statement said Britain possessed seven aircraft carriers, while her enemies claimed 13 were sent to the bottom.

Britain had 58 submarines at the start of the war and German and Italian High Command communiques listed 72 accounted for.

Only in the case of destroyers—according to German and Italian claims—did Britain have any warships left. The Admiralty said 185 were on hand in 1939, and 144 have been claimed by the Axis powers.

Speculating on the reasons for what was called "this exaggeration," the Admiralty said it was done, apparently, for three reasons:

1. In hope of eliciting a denial which would convey information on the actual strength and disposition of fleet units.

2. To bolster the morale of their own people who "are uneasily aware of British naval power."

3. To cause alarm and despondency in enemy-occupied territories and neutral countries and in hope of causing anxiety among relatives and friends.

The Admiralty said 401 German and Italian ships of 2,028,048 tons and 34 ships of 61,000 tons sailing under their control were known to

Night Fighters Prove Deadly

Hurricanes, Blenheims, Defiants On Job – Hun Loss 5,346

LONDON, March 6—(AP).—Night fighting operations of the Royal Air Force now are considered so successful in minimizing effects of German visits to London that permission was given today to identify the night fighting planes as Hurricanes, Blenheims and Defiants.

At the same time the Associated Press learned from officials of the Air Ministry that German air losses from all causes and in all theatres except the Mediterranean since the beginning of the war total 5,346 planes officially accounted for. No probable losses were included in the reckoning, the Ministry said. It was estimated the Nazi Air Force had lost 13,365 of its personnel.

Total British plane losses were set officially at 854; although casualty figures were not given, it was stated that 427 men of the crews assigned to planes destroyed were known to have been saved.

The British breakdown of the German losses gave: Lost in attacks on Britain, 3,131; shot down on the western front, 957; lost in the Scandinavian campaigns, 921; shot down over the sea, 34; accounted for by British and Allied navies, 247.

"In the Mediterranean," an official source said, "the situation is so messed up it is impossible to estimate the losses."

A recent issue of the Air Ministry bulletin, however, said Air Force figures in the Middle East, Libya, East Africa, Albania and Malta through February 28 showed that 1,385 Axis planes had been destroyed. Approximately 1,200 were Italian planes. Losses inflicted by Greek forces were not included.

Officer Crawls Into Flooded Cellar, Saves 8

LONDON, March 6 (CP)—Amid bursting bombs civil defence workers daily perform deeds that entitle them to a place in the annals of British courage.

The latest recipients of the George Medal include seven policemen. Prime Minister Churchill in a broadcast speech to the empire paid special tribute to the police. The story of Sergeant Frederick Burgess of London shows why.

Eight people were trapped in a basement shelter rapidly flooding with water from a broken main. Burgess crawled through a hole and helped them onto a ledge above the rising water.

Lots Of Butter, Says Dewan

Raps Restriction—"Use More, Aid Farmer"

TORONTO, March 6.—(CP). — Agriculture Minister Dewan, commenting on reports that restaurants have been asking patrons to restrict their use of butter, said to-day there is a plentiful supply of this commodity and he didn't see any need for restriction in its use.

(Miss Agnes Macphail in addressing the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, said she had seen signs in town restaurants warning against excessive use of butter).

"I'd rather keep away from any suggestion of rationing or restriction of consumption and get the farmer to produce more and get more for his butter," Mr. Dewan

Greeks Will Fight 'To Victory'

Expect Hun Attack Via Bulgaria; Lay Plans With Eden

ATHENS, Mar. 6 — (AP).—British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden left with embattled Greece to-day the promise that his nation would fight at her side "until final victory is won."

The pledge was delivered after Mr. Eden concluded a series of conferences with Greek leaders which a communique said resulted in complete agreement "on all aspects of the situation" in the Balkans.

Just before leaving Athens last night in company with General Sir John G. Dill, Chief of the British Imperial General Staff, Mr. Eden issued a statement praising the Greeks for their 'heroic resistance to brutal attack" and ending with the words:

"The future may be arduous, but be assured that we shall not rest nor falter until final victory is won."

Mr. Eden and General Dill conferred at length yesterday with King George II. and Premier Alexander Korizis. A formal announcement by the Greek Government said they "examined very attentively the situation in the Balkans, where they continued all efforts with a view to preventing the spread of war."

The "spread of war" was interpreted by observers as having but one meaning—German invasion of Greece through Bulgaria.

said. "We have lots of butter on hand, but I have noticed on Canadain National Railways dining car menus, the advice that one slice of butter is given and another supplied upon request. But I can't see any necessity for this at present. It is a defeatist attitude."

William Newman of the markets branch of the Agricultural Department, said that there is an ample supply of butter in storage and fresh supplies are coming in steadily.

"If you ask anybody to eat less butter, the farmers is going to get less money," he said.

Butter in storage in January totalled 4,088,508 pounds and in February it was 3,238,260. The drop is believed due to increased consumer buying.

At the same time the Air Ministry News Services described how in an air fight over the Norwegian Coast the South African pilot of an R.A.F. Coastal Command plane refused to break off combat with two German Messerschmitts though he was wounded in the shoulder. For 15 minutes he dodged over the sea while his crew peppered bullets at the Germans. Once the pilot pulled up the nose of his plane and sent a burst with his front guns at one of the Messerschmitts.

The navigator offered to take the controls but the pilot, blood streaming from his shoulder, declared he was "okay" and sent him back to the guns. Reaching the cover of clouds, the navigator at length took over the bullet-marked plane and returned safely. The pilot now is in hospital recovering.

Gort's Despatches Soon.

He disclosed that despatches by Lord Gort, British Commander-in-Chief in France, on the French campaign and Dunkirk soon will be published.

He said the weakness of the Italian opposition to Gen. Wavell's sweep across Libya was not due primarily to weakened morale because the Italians were well equipped, strongly entrenched and numerically superior, but it was due to "brilliant use of surprise and manoeuvre by the British forces under their commander and to superlative work of the administrative and supply services.

The plans against invasion of Britain are "always fluid," he said, and troops are being trained to meet any eventuality.

Capt. Margesson injected a note of adventure into his staid review with a recital of the work of long-range desert patrols which Gen. Wavell formed soon after Italy entered the war. Headed by Englishmen who in peacetime explored the Libyan desert as a hobby, they scoured the desert, destroyed gasoline dumps and harassed Italian garrisons.

They covered 500,000 miles and not a single vehicle was lost as the the result of a breakdown, despite the fact the patrols were forced to avoid the recognised desert tracks.

The War Today

By J. F. SANDERSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

Greece, as was expected, has declared her intention of continuing the fight against Italy, despite reported German pressure designed to force an armistice in the struggle for Albania.

This latest development occurred almost at the same time as reports arose that Sir Ronald Ian Campbell, British Minister to Yugoslavia, would demand of Regent Prince Paul exactly how his country stands in relation to the Axis.

Sir Ronald flew back to Sofia from Athens yesterday after a conference with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Gen. Sir John Dill, chief of the Imperial German staff. He was believed to have returned with assurance that Britain would help Yugoslavia to the utmost of her ability should Yugoslavia resist any Nazi encroachment on her sovereignty or territorial integrity.

Simultaneously it was reported Prince Paul was about to visit Germany to see officials of the Nazi government and hear the worst they had to offer his country. It was believed in some sources that Yugoslavia already had decided it could not afford to resist Nazi demands.

The position of Turkey and Russia in the Balkan strife remained obscure, although it was believed in some quarrs that Turkey in declaring her intention of remaining loyal to her British alliance meant she would fight if Germany sought to encroach on her territory.

Russia's objection to Germany's virtual occupation of Bulgaria (delivered, incidentally, to Bulgaria instead of Germany) was taken as an indication that the Kremlin feels a bit uneasy over German intentions. There was also a report that Russia was on the verge of demanding further territorial concessions from Rumania from which already she has taken chunks of Bessarabia and Bucovina.

The Kremlin has cause to be anxious regarding a possible German attempt to grab and control the Dardanelles. Hitherto Turkey has controlled this gateway and Russo-Turkish relations have been excellent in the past so that it would seem to be to Russia's interest to support Turkey in whatever attitude she may adopt in the Balkan crisis.

Whatever the outcome of the situation may be there seems little doubt that fighting will not start at once. Even if it brings an ultimate test of arms there are indications now that preparations for such a test are not sufficiently advanced to permit the immediate outbreak of a Balkan war.

KISS YOUR TIRED FEELING GOODBYE!

Pepless Many Suffer Low Blood Count—And Don't Know It.

The baffling thing about low blood count is that you can weigh about as much as you ever did—even look healthy and strong, yet —you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, dopey, tired and pepless.

Low blood count means you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car and make the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.

Get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. They are world-noted for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles. Then with your blood count up, you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams Pink Pills today.

Radical Action To Aid Farmer Is Plea Of Frost

TORONTO, March 6 (CP)—Debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne continues in the Ontario legislature today with William Duckworth (Con. Toronto Dovercourt) leading off.

The plight of the farmer due to low prices for his products is still one of the main topics of the debate and yesterday Leslie Frost, a Lindsay lawyer and Conservative M.L.A., for Victoria devoted a good portion of his address to this subject.

Mr. Frost was one of three speakers heard. The other two, J. W. Freeborn (Lib. North Middlesex) and W. A. Dickson (Lib. Perth) both used the agricultural theme for their speeches.

Mr. Frost coupled his remarks on farming with the Dominion-Provincial Conference as he urged the calling of a new conference. More radical treatment is needed for the solution of the farm problem, he declared.

"Neither Ontario nor Ottawa can deal with it effectively because we're not properly constituted," he continued. "We must get together for a remedy. We must end constitutional bottlenecks, cut the chains that bind us and put away petty jealousies."

He said the main problem was not one of distributing millions of dollars in bonuses but to seek a means of doubling the farmer's incomes and bring them up to a figure that would permit a decent standard of living.

Mr. Freeborn declared that the farmer would continue to produce at a loss if it was part of the country's war effort but there must be equality of effort and sacrifice by all.

"Farmers know wars are not won on empty stomachs and that plenty of food on hand in war-time at no price is a great deal better than no food at all," he said.

Should Not Work At Loss.

Mr. Dickson contended the dairymen of Ontario should not be asked to produce at a loss when the manufacturers of war materials were assured a fair profit.

He said that even with the cheese bonus of two cents per pound this province would have difficulty in producing its quota of this commodity to meet the heavy demands of Britain.

"We're not kicking about the price of cheese," he continued. "We all know what the British people are doing for us and we don't expect them to pay more. But I don't believe the dairymen should be asked to produce at loss when the munition manufacturers are assured a profit."

In connection with the remarks of Mr. Frost in the debate, Mr. Dickson said it was gratifying to see lawyers taking such an interest in thet farmers' problems and he believed if the interest was maintained their lot was bound to improve.

Mr. Dickson urged that a colored gasoline be made available for farm purposes, similar to a practice followed in Saskatchewan, to obviate the necessity of rebates. The government tax on gasoline, primarily for the upkeep of highways, is not assessed against gasoline used in farm tractors.

Mr. Dickson said that due to the widespread use of tractors and the consequent increased consumption of gasoline a situation has developed where it takes six months to obtain rebates. In Saskatchewan, he said, a purple gasoline is available for farm usage only, and it is tax-free.

Before the debate opened Premier Hepburn, following a clash with Conservative Leader George Drew, indicated the government was seeking to continue Ontario Agriculture College courses, even though the buildings are being released for air training purposes.

Col. Drew had asked for tabling of memorandum on the matter, particularly as to what buildings would be requisitioned. The Premier said officials are determining what buildings would be needed and he hoped to have a statement Friday.

"There was no work in London," Taylor told the magistrate.

Taylor was remanded for a week for sentence. "Better get his record," the court suggested to Crown Attorney McElderry, K.C.

War Expenditure To Be Probed By 24-Man Group

OTTAWA, March 6 (CP)—Steps towards organization of the war expenditures committee, parliament's new agency for reviewing and checking the vast sums of money being spent by the defence and other war services were under way today.

Yesterday the House of Commons after a two-day debate passed the resolution to set up the 24-man committee on which all parties are represented.

It was the first time in history that a parliamentary body was clothed with power to investigate governmental expenditures while they are being made. In embarking on the venture the House followed the example of the British parliament in which a similar committee now is functioning.

The normal way in which parliament checks up on government expenditures is through the public accounts committee, but that committee only acts on expenditures after they have been made. The object of the new committee is to provide a review of expenses in connection with the war at once, not a year or so later when accounts are closed.

The committee's instructions are

ROBERT NEILL SOMERS

WARSAW, March 6.—(ENS)—One of the grand old men of Dummer Township, Robert Somers, passed away, after a lingering illness, patient borne, on Saturday, March 1, at the home of his nephew, E. N. McDonald, near Cottesloe, where he had lived for the past three years, and where he had every care and consideration during the years of his infirmity. Mr. Somers' parents came from Scotland over eighty years ago and settled in Seymour Township where he was born seventy-seven years ago. One of a large family only one sister remains, Mrs. James Watson who lives near Burnbrae. In 1885 he and his father came to Dummer Township and settled on a farm two miles west of Warsaw, where he remained until 1929 when he and Mrs. Somers (whose health had failed) moved into Warsaw. Mrs. Somers passed away in June, 1930, and presided here until failing health necessitated his leaving his home and since then he has lived with Mr. and Mrs. E. N. McDonald.

Mr. Somers lived an exemplary Christian life and "his delight was in the Lord." He was a member of the United Church and served the Lord as superintendent of the Sunday School for over twenty-five years.

His name, Robert Neill, which was given him by his parents after the name of the pioneer Presbyterian minister at Burnbrae, Rev. Robert Neill.

The funeral service was held in Warsaw United Church where Rev. Mr. Wilkinson conducted the service assisted by Rev. Mr. Robertson of Norwood. Burial took place in St. Mark's cemetery where Mr. Somers was laid to rest.

Bearers were Messrs. John Brown, Fred Toms, George Barr, Percy Moore, Gordon Payne and William Darling. Flower bearers, Messrs. James Hawthorne and Albert Webster.

Dr. Lawson, supervising coroner for Ontario, said:

"It is a fair inference to draw, gentlemen of the jury, that the failure was in the human element. It is for you to decide on the evidence whether it was the human element that caused the accident or whether you may have some other explanation."

Referring to Emil Kading, T.C.A. engineer at the airport who was born 43 years ago and, though a naturalized Canadian, is classified as an enemy alien, Dr. Lawson said "There is nothing in the evidence to indicate that he had anything to do with the accident. It is for others, not us, to decide whether he should be in his present position."

Reports to a Shanghai newspaper and to the Hong Kong Central News said 100 Japanese ships were seen headed south along the coast there.

Training Highlights Of The Ball Camps

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., March 6.—(CP). — Frankie Frisch was cheered a bit to-day by the performance of his biggest question mark, Johnny Gee. The six-foot, nine-inch southpaw, out all of last season with a bad arm, worked two innings yesterday in a intra-squad game and allowed only one hit.

SARASOTA, Fla. — Owner Tom Hawkey is due in the Red Sox camp to-day to help Lefty Grove celebrate his 41st birthday. Before the party, a nine-inning intra-squad game will be plaed.

ANAHEIM, Calif.—The veterans have started to revise their snap opinion of young Rankin Johnson. He gave up only two hits for the Athletics in yesterday's opening exhibition game with Portland. Tentatively marked for a farm team, Johnson gave the best early-season form of three hurlers in winning 7-6.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.— Manager Doc Prothro will carry 10 pitchers on the Philly squad this year. This means that eight of the group now training here are tagged for disposal.

PASADENA, Calif.—George Dickey has his own ideas of Brother Bill's catching talents. The White Sox rookie, also a catcher, was asked if he might have preferred a spot with Bill as a New York Yankee. "Naw," he replied. "The competition would be too stiff. I might never get to play."

Definite Farm Policy Key To Trouble

TORONTO, March 6 — (CP) — (Advance)—H. H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, said yesterday "the lack of any adequate national agricultural program of marketing and production requires farmers to carry on in an atmosphere of uncertainty, making it impossible for them to plan ahead as every successful business man must do."

In an address to the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, he said a C.F.A. delegation had presented to Prime Minister Mackenzie King and his cabinet five weeks ago a manifesto asking wartime aid for the farmer. "Yet nothing has been done or said by the government to indicate that any substantial change is being contemplated in agricultural policy.

"Does this mean that while our farmer delegation were accorded a fine reception and generous hearing nothing more will be done about it" he asked. "While industry and labor are assured adequate returns enabling them to go full speed ahead with their war program, must agriculture continue to be penalized by artificially low prices at pegged or contract levels when farmers' costs are permitted to rise under competitive market conditions?"

He said butter was an example to illustrate his point that farmers were hindered because of uncertainty. "There is a maximum price which we have been given to understand applies only until April 1. A minimum price has been promised for the summer season but what that minimum price shall be producers have not yet been informed."

Hannam said it took a farmer two years to grow and develop a heifer calf into a milch cow but the dairy farmer had "no assurance of what price policy is to be followed or what minimum or maximum price will apply more than a month or two ahead."

He declared this was "most unfair and thoroughly unbusiness-like. And no producers, agricultural or industrial, can be expected to do their best under such conditions."

Raps Packer Head

Hannam quoted J. S. McLean, president of Canada Packers, Limited, as saying in an address that troubles of farmers for the war are over except for the labor supply and that the farm situation was far less grave than indicated in speeches of "a good many persons of prominence who were speaking allegedly on behalf of the farmers and gave the impression that the cards were stacked against the farmers."

McLean spoke at the annual meeting of the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto Feb. 26.

Hannam said McLean had apparently ignored "the authoritative figures of the Sirois report which show an alarming decrease in farm income and farm purchasing power.." He had also ignored Dominion Bureau of Statistics price index figures showing "a disparity disadvantage of 25 to 30 per cent between farm prices and farm costs as compared with 1926."

"Moreover he flouts the opinion and judgment of 700,000 Canadian farmers who know from sad practical experience the almost impossible odds which they are struggling to overcome in order that they may stand by the people of the empire in this war emergency."

"Besides," he said, "the insinuation and discourtesy implied by the use of the word 'allegedly' in the above statement, cannot help but break down any possibility of a better understanding between farmer and packer in the interests of our war effort."

DRAFTED FOR LOVE

By RUTH AYERS

YESTERDAY: Kent goes on, criticizing April — the Glitterbug — as selfish, vain, spoiled. April, still posing as Ann, is hurt, but the analysis has an amusing side, too. April keeps her secret, though, knowing what this day means to Kent. And she adds a final "No matter what happens, I love you." And means it.

✧ ✧ ✧

APRIL MEETS TROUBLE

CHAPTER IX

THERE were things to do and she was glad to be busy. Folding the blanket, packing the kit, trampling in the ashes where the grill had been. She felt the blisters on her fingers smarting and stray wisps of hair which she had tried to wear like Ann, stuck to her forehead.

If Kent could see her now he'd been more than convinced that she wasn't beautiful. She pulled up the collar of Ann's coat. She hated the coat. She hated the sight of the gay red slacks.

Kent called to her as he stacked the blanket and the kit in his arms. "Sometimes you get very hunchy when your eyes are gone," he said.

She jumped. Did he know? Had he guessed?

"I've a feeling," he went on, "that there's a fog rolling up over the hills."

Nip, who'd been sleeping soundly on a full stomach, came bounding. "What you could tell, old boy, if you could talk," April whispered.

Kent was taking a last survey, as if in not seeing the majestic panorama of hills and brown fields, he yet was seeing it with some eye of the mind.

"Beautiful day," he said, "and beautiful you."

She held his arm to guide him back to the car. And then in one desperate, reckless plunge she added the last salute. Oh, it was wrong, wicked, a lie and yet the truest thing she'd ever said.

"No matter what happens," she whispered, "I love you."

✧ ✧ ✧

NOW the thing to do was to harden her heart.

April didn't look at Kent after she stepped into the roadster. The day was over, the game ended. She had played her part right up to the last tag-line.

Tomorrow, Ann might come home. If she did, April would tell her what she had done and make it perfectly clear why. "He doesn't mean anything to me," she would say. "I only wanted to help you."

If Ann didn't return, there'd be some way she, April could avoid seeing Kent.

She began to think of Ann, Ann the gentle one, the sweet one with the silver voice who'd have her great chance tonight.

"Steady there," Kent advised as the roadster rocked on the red road.

"I'm trying to beat the storm."

"For a minute it felt as if we were headed for spill."

"No, we just missed one."

She scanned the skyline. Clouds were marching around the tents of the hill, gray and menacing. "Funny," she said, "how a day can start all sunshine and then get to floundering around in clouds and darkness."

"If you'll overlook my being lyrical, I could say it always grows bright again."

"For you, it will." That was safe to say. He could take it the way he wanted. She must keep everything impersonal between them, impersonal as the weather. The speedometer danced.

And all the time, her mouth settled in a hard line and her heart grew more stony

"I feel like an oaf sitting here while you do all the driving," Kent said. "I ought to be taking the wheel for the trek home. It's too much for you, Ann.

"Not at all" She bit off the words. "I like it."

The top was up but already the first sweep of gale tore at the side of the car. Nip, the wire-haired, snuggled close at April's side. Kent hunched forward, straining as if he couldn't bear his helplessness.

"If I could only see you for one second," he said. "I bet your eyes are sparkling and that there's a charcoal smudge on your nose. I like to look at you when you're intent on something, Ann. You have a lift to your head that I'm crazy about"

April fought down an urge to say, "Yep, you would like to see Ann now. Five hundred miles away and as intent as all get-out on an audition with the great Vivano tonight." But no, she clamped her lips and made the speedometer dance a little faster.

✧ ✧ ✧

DUSK blurred the daylight; night came on. The wind was a roaring cavalcade behind them, pushing them on. April knew she must reach Kent's home before the storm broke. If she timed it right, she'd have a perfect excuse for leaving him at his gate without further farewells

On and on, the miles sped but even on the short cuts they seemed twice as long as they had been this morning. Once the engine balked. Once she stopped for gas. Another time she tried to slip past a truck and almost sent the car in a ditch

All the things Kent had said about her came back. I was soothing to think of Hal Parks, Hal was sophisticated, smart, worldly and he liked her. And yes, blast him, he was the one who indirectly had started her on this ill-fated fling when he'd said there were other things you could be drafted for besides the army. Drafted for love! It sounded swell but she'd been turned down, rejected, service deferred.

"We're sure playing tag with the storm," Kent said, innocent of the storm that shook her to the core.

"You bet." She felt his eyes on her as the car raced. Ann never drove spectacularly.

"Where are we now?"

"Only about five miles to go."

Four miles, three and then as she reached the hill road that led to Pattonsville she could pick out the lights of the town far below.

Perspiration was on her face, her hands trembled when she finally slowed the car.

"At last!" Her words were a long sigh.

"Swell going," Kent said.

"If I hurry, I can make it to my home."

As she spoke there was a warning rattle on the hood, a spattering on the canvas top.

"Hailstorm." Kent was brief. "We'll make a dash for the house."

April spoke above the wind. "I'll take you to the gate and then scram. Mother and Dad, they'll be worried."

But even in his sightlessness, Kent had leaned over and was enfolding her in strong, sure arms.

"Come along, Nip," he called and bore April triumphantly through the gate and up the brief walk to the door.

Laughing down, he said, "Ann, gal, anyone would say you were a lunatic. Think I'm going to let you go off alone in a blitzkrieg?"

"No, Kent, I want to go home, I must!" The wind threw back her voice.

✧ ✧ ✧

FOR April knew once she crossed the threshold of the Carter home, disaster awaited. Great-Aunt Elizabeth Carter would know she wasn't Ann Burnett.

had said about Auntie Carter but it seemed now as if the hail-stones were pelting her brain and blotting out every thought...

"There," Kent said, half carrying her across the threshold after he'd opened the big, grilled door, "this is what you might call symbolic."

Nip squeezed in and made a great to-do about shaking the sticky ice stones from his fur. Kent reached to help April off with her coat. The hood toppled with a splash of drops. "You're shivering," Kent said. "we'll go back to the library where a fire's burning."

"No, I'm not cold," April chattered. "I'll stand here just a minute—then I'll have to go."

In the shadows of the cavernous hall, April's eyes met April in the mirror and she knew with her coat and cap off, no one could ever mistake her for Ann, no matter how dim the light.

But except for the fire hissing somewhere at the other end of the house, there wasn't a sound. Perhaps she wouldn't have to see Auntie Carter after all!

"Kent," she began, "I'm a sight. Please, I couldn't see anyone looking the way I do."

As if this had been an invitation to catastrophe, a voice spoke out of the silence of the upper hall.

"Kent, is that you?"

"Yes, Aunt Elizabeth."

April followed his eyes in the direction of the stairs where a small, erect figure was poised.

Devotion To Duty Heaps Praise On War Writers In Britain

OTTAWA, Mar. 6 — (CP). — Tribute to the "quiet and self-effacing devotion to duty" on the part of newspapermen in Britain was paid yesterday by Charles Peake, personal assistant to Lord Halifax, British Ambassador to Washington, in a luncheon address to members attending the annual meeting of The Canadian Press.

Mr. Peake, who is head of the British Foreign Office News Department and chief press advisor to the Minister of Information (Alfred Duff Cooper) was introduced by W. Rupert Davies, president of The Canadian Press.

"Since the blitzkrieg began I have spent six nights out of every seven in the Ministry of Information, and that means substantially 24 hours out of every 24," Mr. Peake said. "I would find it hard indeed to speak adequately of the courage and good humor shown by the newspapermen with whom I deal.

"The work that the correspondents are doing to-day in the Old Country is truly magnificent, and I should like to pay my tribute to them for their quiet and self-effacing devotion to duty with which they get the news to the readers. Our bond with them is very close and our debt to them a great one."

Come Through, Chins Up.

Mr. Peake said that although the past winter had been an unusually severe one Canadian troops overseas had come through it with "chins up" and were firmly entrenched in the affections of the British people.

"In praising the wonderful achievements of United Kingdom and Imperial troops in the Middle East, let us not forget the front line in England," Mr. Peake declared.

"There are women and children there defended by Canadian soldiers who have spent this last year in making themselves fit. I can tell you they are very fit indeed," he added. They are also confident that they will do Canada full justice when the time comes. Furthermore, their confidence is shared by the people they are helping to defend."

The speaker said he had been privileged to observe at close hand activities of Canadians overseas as his country residence was within the area where a Canadian Division

A Distinct Honor

Alex. L. Elliott, member for Peterborough in the Ontario Legislature, has been chosen as chairman of the Private Bills Committee, a post which is generally held by a Cabinet Minister. This committee is considered one of the Legislature's most important, and his election is a distinct honor to Mr. Elliott and to his riding for it is before this committee that all bills presented by individuals, corporations, companies and municipalities are reviewed.

Mr. Elliott has been a member of this committee since he entered the Ontario House and last year when Lieut. David Croll, former Minister of Welfare, left for overseas Mr. Elliott finished out the session as acting chairman. Mr. Elliott's election this year shows that this large committee has faith in his ability as a parliamentarian, a lawyer and a presiding officer.

The committee in the past has been presided over by Hon. W. E. Raney, 1920 to '23, then Attorney-General; Hon. W. F. Nickle, 1923 to '26, also Attorney-General; Hon. W. H. Price, 1926 to '34, or during his entire term as Attorney-General, and Richard Coulter, 1935 to '37, who resigned his seat in the House to become chairman of the Ontario Municipal Board.

The Grading Of Hogs

Complaints of farmers about the marketing of hogs usually leave an impression in the mind of the layman, who knows next to nothing about the whole affair, that the packing industry in some way manages to short-change the producers. The consumer learns vaguely that the price of hogs is determined at the packing plant by classification, and that the animals placed in the top grade bring the top price. But, the public gets the idea from letters of protest and speeches in public meetings that are published from time to time that the "packer" or his agent is the man who does the selecting, and consequently has the final say about the market value of a hog, and the amount of the cheque that is to be paid to the farmer who raised it.

As a matter of general information it may be explained that the grading of hogs in the packing plants is the responsibility of an official appointed by the Federal Department of Agriculture. At the local packing plant the grader is W. M. Gordon, who virtually acts as a referee between the two branches of the industry, the producers on the one hand, and the packers on the other.

If a hog gets a grade A tag for top price that decision has been made by Mr. Gordon, who is following the standards of bacon hogs set by the Department which employs him. Presumably bacon classifications have been defined by competitive experience in the world markets. The man who ultimately buys bacon is perhaps the final court in this matter of grades, and if the British buyer prefers a certain type of bacon he is going to get it, in normal circumstances of trade, wherever it is available.

Enquiry today elicited the information that 40 per cent. of the hogs examined by Mr. Gordon during the last week were of grade A quality, a little higher than the average for the year in Ontario production. Few producers are able to equal the success of a farmer near Guelph who delivered last October eleven hogs that are described as being "like peas in a pod." They were from the same litter, and all made grade A, earning the packer's premium. That was a perfect score, and so outstanding that the Wiltshire sides were photographed in a row before they were sent on the retail market. When a string of carcasses so true type as were these eleven are hung on the rail where they are graded the credit is of course given where it is due, to the farmer who raised and fed the hogs to that condition. The official grader placed them in their class and the packer paid for them. That is an example of the ideal operation of the system.

British Aid For Greeks

Bulgaria joined the German-Italian-Japanese Axis following the lead of Hungary, Rumania and Slovakia and Britain has taken the only course available to her, that is to break off diplomatic relations with Bulgaria. But the greatest surprise in all these fast moving days is the Soviet's note to Bulgaria declaring that the entry of German troops into that nation would serve for "extension of the war" and not for "consolidation of peace." Just imagine the great protector of the Slavs making such a protest to Bulgaria when these words should have been addressed to Germany. Hitler was the aggressor but we fear that Russia no longer is a power in the Balkans and she really is afraid to stand up to Nazi Germany. Russia has been aware for weeks of the German concentration of troops in Rumania and must have known that they were going to be used against the nation which has always been regarded as her closest ally in the Balkans but not one word of protest did she make to Germany. Yes, indeed Hitler has Russia on the run but at the same time Hitler is also creating the very thing which he did not want, a second battlefront on which he must fight, a front where his highly mobilized forces cannot be used to advantage over a terrain of mountains and rocks. It is natural to assume that action against the valiant Greeks will not start immediately but this will only come after a series of threats with the idea in view of having the Greeks make peace with Mussolini.

The question of the day is what will Greece do and what aid can Britain give to this heroic land. Observers believe that the size of British aid to Greece must be limited by sound military strategy. General Wavell could and probably would go immediately to the defence of Asiatic Turkey but Greece presents more difficulties. The Army of the Nile is not prepared for a large scale overseas expedition to Greece. Besides there is the great problem of shipping an army across the Mediterranean with its attendant difficulties of transportation and supply. The Army of the Nile, equipped for desert warfare, cannot so quickly change its garb to meet the requirements imposed by the weather and terrain conditions of Southeastern Europe.

So it may be expected that the manner in which Britain will intensify her aid to Greece will be with a steady flow of supplies, the furnishing of some token of troops and by greatly strengthening the combined Anglo-Greek position in the air, possibly striking at the great Rumanian oil fields and in control of Aegean, Adriatic and Mediterranean Seas.

A Policy That Pays

One of the features of Chief Constable Newhall's regime as head of the Peterborough police department has been a consistent policy of friendly relationships with the Toronto police department. For many years there has been an entente cordiale between the Peterborough and Toronto law enforcement agencies, an entente that has resulted in something more personal than mere co-operation between the two bodies.

The advantage of this close relationship has been unmistakably demonstrated within recent weeks when Peterborough has benefitted by the speedy and effective assistance rendered by the Toronto police department and its experts in connection with several large scale local burglaries. When aid was asked from Toronto it was given without the least hesitation and in generous proportions. The services of finger print experts and other specialists have been available to the Peterborough department and the result has been gratifying.

There is no intention, in calling attention to this situation, to suggest that the Toronto authorities would not assist other municipalities which asked for help in dealing with major crimes. But what can be said is that when the relations between two departments have been on such friendly terms of personal acquaintance as they have been for years in the case of the Toronto and Peterborough police, there is likely to be speedier and completer co-operation in time of emergency.

Incidentally the series of hockey games played recently between the police of this district is likely to have a similar happy result. Officers who were in some cases only names to each other before the round of hockey games brought them together are now friends and it is safe to predict that there will be a greater degree of co-operation in police work in this part of the province than ever before.

A Crisis In Norway

The news that is drifting out from Norway, through reliable sources, is that a crisis is rapidly developing. On all sides, the Nazi puppet government is faced with growing resistance. Unemployment, stagnation of production and paralysis of trade are daily becoming more acute. According to well authentic reports the Nazis have told Quisling to put his house in order—or else.

Up to the middle of January of this year the Germans had taken one billion, four hundred and eighty-two million crowns from the Bank of Norway. Some idea of what this means to Norwegian economy can be grasped from the fact that the entire budget of the Norwegian state during the last year of normal times was about seven million crowns.

Norway's supply of dried stock fish—7,000 tons—has been seized, while all domestic sales of klipfish have been stopped. The Nazis have demanded 10,000 tons of klipfish for themselves with an additional 9,000 tons for Italy. And this in spite of the fact that Norway's entire supply of klipfish is only 13,000 tons. In addition the invaders have ordered that Norway must supply at least 150,000 tons of fresh fish in 1941 — in other words all the fresh fish that can possibly be caught under the best of conditions during the entire fishing season.

Under the circumstances it is not surprising that evidence of growing opposition is multiplying. Norwegian labor for instance has stoutly fought every attempt at nazification. Recently hundreds of school children marched in procession up the main thoroughfare of Oslo in a demonstration against the Nazi commissioner of education. Young Norwegians flatly refused to attend the Hitler Youth exposition in Oslo and Norwegian bishops have condemned high-handed attempts to nazify the church of Norway.

Hitler has sowed the wind and most certainly will reap the whirlwind in the countries he has overrun and is endeavoring to mould into units of the Nazi system.

Find Place To Drill

The Peterborough Women's Service Corps has at last found a place sufficiently large where it can drill weekly. Col. J. A. Dewart, M.C., has made the Armories available between 6.45 and 7.45 one night each week and then following drill the corps goes to the Collegiate, where the Board of Education has placed several rooms available for lectures and instruction.

Vitally interested in the work of the Corps and in being prepared should occasion arise to help their country these women are turning out nearly 100 per cent. at every drill in spite of the fact that many of them have had to work until 5.30 and 6.00 o'clock.

For six months the corps could not find a building big enough to drill in but this in no way discouraged it or hinder the work, for the members if they could not take foot drill which is only one of the items on the course they applied themselves diligently to first aid completing the preliminary course and are now engaged in the various side branches connected with it. Along with this there have also been the commissariat, clerical and map reading courses conducted.

Organized almost six months ago the corps met in the Normal School, St. John's Parish Hall and Knights of Columbus Hall, but all these were found to be too small for drill. Application was made to the Board of Education for the gymnasium of the Collegiate Institute but this was refused on the grounds that the ladies might interrupt the work of the night classes. The Examiner never did believe that the training would interrupt these war classes especially when the board saw fit to approve of basketball games being played in the gym both after four and in the evenings with several hundred boys and girls cheering their teams on to victory almost every Friday night. Perhaps the women would create more noise than these students but we hardly think so.

NOTE AND COMMENT

If the measure is not passed soon they will be calling it the talk-lease-lend bill.

If March does not give us the kind of weather we want, perhaps April May.

Parisians are eating bread filled with sawdust it is reported. The fruits of defeat are indeed bitter.

Japan says she does not want to fight. Not if she can get all she wants without it, we presume.

Foreign Minister Ivan Popoff of Bulgaria is about to resign. In other words Ivan is going to Popoff.

Stories of rains and flood in California read almost as if they had been written by a Florida press agent.

Spokane woman has been married six times in succession without the formality of divorce proceedings. That kind of thing keeps down the overhead.

Mr. Lapointe hints that Canada's woman member of Parliament, Mrs. Dorise Nielsen, is in bad company. He means outside of the House we imagine.

Among the things we do not expect to see is an official communique from Berlin admitting that some military damage has been done by British bombers.

Another 10,000 prisoners have been taken in Somaliland. One of Britain's major problems is to know what to do with all the Italians that have been dropping into the bag.

CAP and BELLS . .

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

LAST WEEK I commented on the growth of the "pulp" magazines in Canada, and said that I thought it might be the beginning of a new era in Canadian publishing. The growth of a popular literature is often the basis for the growth of something more lasting.

C & B

Following this train of thought I took another look at Canada's first pulp magazine, "Uncanny Tales." Across the front was written this legend, this unmistakable declaration of policy: "Escape from the World of Things That Are Too Real." There you have it; escape. Thousands of men and women on this continent are looking for it, at the movies, on the radio, in the pulps. Nor are they a despicable and cowardly class. We all want escape, and we will go to almost any lengths to attain it. I have heard charitable but uncomprehending people complain that much of the money which is given, to the unemployed by relief organizations, was spent at the movies. How, they ask, could people who were in dire want waste their small allowance in such a way? The answer is a simple one; they desire escape more than they desire food or shelter. The movies are a great anodyne; strong drink is another. The poor man buys his escape for twenty-five cents at the movies; the rich man pays five dollars a bottle for his at the liquor store. Both have one end in view; forgetfulness. It is an exceptional man who can face life all day, every day.

C & B

Women have their anodynes too, and one of the most popular of these is novel-reading. How often we hear it said, "She's a great reader." As well say, "She drinks," or "She's always at the movies." The enormous numbers of undistinguished novels which are printed and devoured every year are good for one thing only; to bring forgetfulness.

C & B

Some respect, therefore, is due to the man who is honest enough to label his magazine truthfully as a cheap escape from reality. But what an avenue to choose for flight! Tales of horror, skulls, lepers — anything macabre and revolting is grist to the mill of the writer of weird stories. The issue I have announces "The Talking Heads" as it great attraction and advances a series of articles on "Terrible Crimes of the Past" as an added delight. I like a good ghost story myself, though I could not possibly explain why.

C & B

I should like someone to explain to me also a few knotty problems arising in "Fantastic Comics," another new Canadian publication which I have been perusing lately. Why is it that all the characters who move in the world of fantasy wear so few clothes? Is it because they lead such active lives? Superman, who might be described as the Dean, or Grand Old Man, of fantastic comics, wears only a union suit and a cloak when he is working on a job. He may, now and then, assume ordinary dress as a disguise, but he always whisks it off before he goes to work. Surely a fine big fellow like Superman could manage in a nice three-piece suit? Considering the active nature of his work it would probably have to be one of those re-inforced suits with two pairs of pants.

C & B

As with Superman, so with the others. Samson and David, for instance, discard the union suit and work only in trunks, rather like those worn in circuses by the athletes. You might think that they would attract undesirable attention running about the countryside just in trunks, but apparently it is not so. And the women—well, the women in fantastic comics can hardly be persuaded to wear any clothes at all. They are definitely the open air type.

C & B

What I always want to know is, what does Superman do at night, and does he ever eat? It is unthinkable that the Man of Tomorrow should waste his time in sleeping, like an ordinary mortal, and if he eats, what is his food? Does he simply devour a few handfuls of vitamins A, B, C, D, E, and so on in a kind of alphabet soup, or does he consume gargantuan steaks washed down with buttermilk? The magnificent, almost bull-like development of his neck indicates a diet rich in thyroid constituents. I am sure that many readers must have puzzled over this problem.

C & B

Perhaps you wonder why I am so much concerned about Superman and his companion strong-men. For the good reason that they are the heroes of young Canada. Small boys take Superman in deadly earnest, and resent any suggestion that his exploits are improbable or funny. He is a realization of their own fondest dreams, and they cherish him accordingly. For children, inferior in size and strength, and forced to live in a world of arbitrary adults, need escape too.

Letters To The Editor

THE PRICE OF MILK

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—On bringing in the milk this morning it was noticed that a nicely colored slip was attached to the neck of the bottle. There were visions of a friendly greeting from the dairy that are usually associated with the festive season, but on closer examination it was found to contain, quite a shock in the form of a notice of an increase in the price of milk.

The dairies very much regretted this increase and placed the blame on the Milk Control Board of Ontario who in turn had to raise the price for the benefit of the producer. While this notice is designed to place a favorable light on the dairies a few figures on what the farmer gets, and what the consumer pays might be in order.

It must be remembered that some time ago, when the crops were bad a one cent increase was put into effect which was to be taken off when things returned to normal. This increase was never taken off and now we have to tolerate another. They even jacked up the price of buttermilk from 5c to 8c without benefit to the farmer.

In trying to get an average price paid to the farmer by the dairy, it seemed rather difficult on account of the grading etc. These figures are however a reasonable average, and if anything the farmer may not get quite as much as noted below:

PRICE BEFORE MARCH 4
Farmer received about .05c per qt.
Consumer paid ..... .11c per qt.
PRICE AFTER MARCH 4
Farmer received about 05.8c
Consumer pays ..... .12c
IN PINTS
Farmer receives about 02.9c
Consumer pays ..... .07c

The actual spread of the cost of pasteurization and delivery on quarts is 106%, and on pints 141%. It seems hard to understand why there is such a spread. The Milk Board must never have heard of that poor old goat, the consumer, and if they have they certainly passed up some facts in his favor.

The manner in which the increase was organized and put into effect, has all the earmarks of a blitz, and smells strongly of Hitlerism, the very thing we are fighting against.

LIFE IN LONDON

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—The following letter was sent to me by Miss Winnifride Wrench, Glasgow, editor of Scottish Home and Country, the magazine of the Scottish Women's Rural Institutes. I spent a few days with Miss Wrench and party while here last summer. Her letter shows the marvelous spirit of the Londers.

A. K. SHIELD.

R.R. No. 2, Ida.

Mrs. Garnet Shield,
Ida, Ontario.

Dear Mrs. Shield,—It was a great pleasure getting your kind letter the other day and I write at once to thank you for it and for all your good wishes. I am very much better thank you and am still very busy travelling around Scotland showing our beautiful coloured Canadian film. We still talk constantly of our wonderful tour and are looking forward beyond this dreadful war to the time when we can think about visiting Canada again.

I have just come back from a visit to London and was amazed at all I saw and heard. I was a little afraid that the wonderful stories of the heroic courage of the Londoners and other folk down in England was exaggerated but it is not. They are finer even than one can possibly imagine, going about in daily contact with death and disaster and carrying on undaunted and unafraid with no word of complaint or bitterness. Here in Scotland, we feel very far away from the war so far and can understand how remote it must seem to you. Most of my friend in London say they would not have missed this experience for anything and nothing would induce them to leave. I was very nearly bombed myself but luckily got back to Scotland safely. How I wish you could all have seen and experienced what I have because it brings everything home to one in quite a different way! It seems surprising to us and I know it does to you too, that the Americans should still not see clearly that this is a battle for civilization and nothing else. Is it not wonderful the way the whole Empire has rallied to help us in our great trouble? Hitler has really welded us into one big family.

I am sending you a copy of the Christmas number of "Scottish Home and Country" but it had to be reduced very much this year.

With warmest good wishes to you all and looking forward to happier times when we may meet again.

Yours very sincerely,
WINNIFRIDE WRENCH.

Glasgow, Jan. 22.

A Bit of Nonsense

It Should Be

A family living in a suburb of Melbourne, finding the usual notices on the gate ineffective in discouraging hawkers and canvassers, replaced them with the following one:

"Beware of the Agapanthus! If attacked, do not run but walk slowly backwards."

Reported 100 per cent efficient.

Soft

A small boy evacuated from London had his mother to visit him. She asked him how he liked his new home.

"Gosh, mum," he replied, "the lady treats me like a toff. She won't let me help her, and I don't even have to tell the landlord she's not in."

PLAYING WITH FIRE

SOME observers have begun to detect the hand of the filibuster in the extended oratory of the Senatorial opposition to the lease-lend bill; perhaps one or two of the Senators themselves have toyed with the idea. But, if so, they cannot have done it seriously. The country is overwhelmingly for the bill; the House has passed it by an overwhelmingly vote; a majority of the Senate is publicly on record for it, and there is little doubt that it already has at least a two-thirds majority—enough to impose cloture—privately in support. To imagine that the bill could be "talked to death" under such conditions would be fantastic; an attempt would be such obvious, such hopeless and such futile obstructionism that it would destroy itself and those who made it in short order. Whatever the differences over specific policy, one truth has sunk deeply into the consciousness of every one in this country on both sides. That is the truth that democracy, if it is to have any chance for survival, must have the power to act in some direction; it cannot be reduced to simple deadlock ansgend noitxed shr shr cm Herald Tribune.

IT ALL DEPENDS

FIGURES recently made available indicate that France has paid to Germany since the armistice of last July more than Germany paid in reparations to France from 1919 to 1931. France is paying for the support of the German army of occupation.

It is interesting to recall the anguished squawks that used to be let loose by Adolf Hitler about "infamous reparations" and the caustic manner in which he used to denounce the principle involved. It all depends, that is to say, on who is having to pay.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

And as Jesus passed by, he saw a man which was blind from his birth. And his disciples asked him, saying, Master, who did sin, this man, or his parents, that he was born blind?

Jesus answered, Neither hath this man sinned, nor his parents: but that the works of God should be made manifest in him I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is day: the night cometh, when no man can work....

When he had thus spoken, he spat on the ground, and made clay of the spittle, and he anointed the eyes of the blind man with the clay, and said unto him, Go, wash in the pool of Siloam, (which is by interpretation, Sent.) He went his way therefore, and washed, and came seeing.

But the Jews did not believe concerning him that he had been blind, and received his sight until they called the parents of him that had received his sight. And they asked them, saying, Is this your son, who ye say was born blind? how then doth he now see? His parents answered them and said, We know that this is our son, and that he was born blind....

Then again called they the man that was blind, and said unto him, Give God the praise: we know that this man is a sinner. He answered and said, Whether he be a sinner or no, I know not: one thing I know, deadlock and negation.—New York —John ix, 1-4, 6, 7, 18-20, 24, 25.

War In Balkans Gives Nazis Food For Thought

(By KIRKE L. SIMPSON.)

WASHINGTON, March 6—(AP)—The strong phrases with which Britain severed relations with Bulgaria prepared the way for Anglo-German hostilities in the Balkans yet there are signs that a shift to bombs instead of hard words may yet be delayed.

Fulfilment of the British threat to bomb the Germans in Bulgaria necessarily will be delayed in any case until the British and pro-British diplomatic missions in Sofia leave. That has been set for the week-end, or beyond.

Nor does it seem likely that the Germans swarming across Bulgaria to the Greek border will move on immediately. By every indication from Ankara and Athens that would invite a major war in the Balkans. Moreover, Russia's attitude must be reckoned with, especially in view of reports that she is demanding Black Sea naval bases from German-dominated Rumania.

Until Yugoslavia joins the Axis bloc (as it is indicated she will do shortly) there seems every reason for a Nazi delay to consolidate the German Army grip on Bulgaria, improve roads across difficult and still winter-gripped Bulgarian mountains and to attempt diplomatic pressure on Turkey, Russia and Greece. The significant fact the Germans must weigh is the indication that Britain has woven together an international fabric in the Balkans filled with major war potentialities.

Would Shorten Front.

London, as well as observers on this side of the Atlantic, has been convinced that Germany is as reluctant to bring on a two-front war now as she was eighteen months ago. Her main "victory" effort still is against the British Isles, not in the East.

A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the British Admiralty, has dubbed it "the Battle of the Atlantic now opening." A war in the East that proved a heavy drain on Nazi oil or other essential war resources, or upon German air power, could cut deeply into Nazi effectiveness in the Atlantic.

Britain is playing upon that in a last-minute effort to influence the nature and scope, if not the fact, of Yugoslav alignment with the Axis bloc. She is also apparently using in Belgrade the results of Foreign Minister Anthony Eden's undisclosed negotoations with Turkay, Greece and possibly Russia.

Any move that tended to shorten Greece's defensive front against a German thrust would be helpful. It seems possible that Britain is trying to induce the Yugoslavs to make non-involvement of their own country and non-use of their territory to attack Greece a condition of whatever deal they make with Berlin.

Eden Counts On Turkey.

That would be important. The river valley route through Yugoslavia toward Salonika is more favorable for German Army use in some ways than the mountain passes and poor roads of Bulgaria. Maintaining a supply line for major military operations against British-Greek bombers in Bulgaria would have its difficulties.

Mr. Eden is reported masterminding British diplomatic and military moves in the Balkan theatre. London having given him a free hand as the man-on-the-spot. If that is true, as it seems to be, there is every indication that he is counting confidently on Turkey as well as on Greek determination to fight it out to the bitter end. To what extent he is also counting on at least passive Russian aid to stem any German attack against Greece is not so clear.

France's Wounded Defeated Soldiers Return

After heartbreaking months in German prison camps, French poilus who were wounded and captured during the Battle of France last summer are pictured ABOVE arriving in Vichy, capital of unoccupied France, following their release. Most of them were in need of immediate medical attention. General Charles Huntziger, CENTRE, French War Minister, was on hand to greet them.

Hitler Hopeful Greeks Will Quit The Fight

(By JOHN A. STEVENSON.)

The die has been cast by Hitler and his embattled legions are now on the march southward from the Danube. Behind them lie three small countries now firmly chained to the Axis—Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria. The first and the last will be expected to furnish food supplies for the invading force, and Rumania, which is now completely enslaved, will be the real base of operations, because she can furnish the oil needed for the German airplanes and mechanical military equipment. Still uncertain are the final attitudes of Yugoslavia and Turkey, and they will probably be determined by the course of events in the immediate future. But the warning conveyed by the British Legation at Belgrade that all British nationals should leave Yugoslavia without delay is an ominous indication that no hope of its continued resistance to Hitler's demands is entertained in London.

Routes Open to Invaders

The German troops seem to have crossed the Danube at several points and they will probably converge upon Sofia, the capital, into which hundreds of Nazi soldiers and technicians have been filtering in recent weeks. From Sofia they can then take a route through the central Balkan range by the Rupel Pass, from which a highway known as the Seres Road leads in a south-west direction to Salonika. If the German General Staff decides that a strong contingent of troops must be detached to which the Turkish armies mobilized in Thrace, it can move down the valley of the River Maritza along the highway leading to Istanbul and the Bosphorus. But it is obviously the intention of the Germans to avoid even the appearance of a movement for an attack on Turkish territory in order to give the Turks no excuse for turning to active belligerency, and any contingent which is sent eastward along the Maritza will for the moment only be a small force in the nature of a flank guard.

But the route through the Rupel Pass does not offer facilities for the swift transportation of a large and highly mechanized army and it would be a great help to the plans of the German commanders if they could get control of the Morava-Vardar corridor, which has both a railway and an excellent highway running from the Danube straight south of the Aegean, which it reaches at Salonika. Possessed of this route, they could probably move south three divisions in the same time as they could move one, with only the route over the Rupel Pass available, and they could also push from it contingents westward through the mountains of Southern Yugoslavia to threaten the flank of the Greek armies operating in Albania and bring much-needed succor to their dispirited Italian allies.

Germans Plan Carefully

It will require little time for the German armies to overrun Bulgaria, and Britain has recognized this situation by severing relations with the latter country, presumably in order that her air force may be free to attack airdromes and railway centres. But it is by no means certain that an attack will be launched immediately upon Salonika. When the Germans took control of Rumania last fall, the general expectation was they would lose no time in moving southward, with the capture of Salonika or the Dardanelles as their objective, but a long pause ensued. The reason for it was almost certainly the rooted disinclination of the German general staff to embark upon half-baked and imperfectly planned operations such as the Italians started in Albania. It is the traditional habit of the German Army only to strike after very thorough preparation. So the intervening months since the occupation of Rumania have been utilized for organizing supplies of oil, food and war materials, building airdromes and making other preliminary preparations for fresh moves. And before the Nazi armies moved in force across the Danube, a great deal of spadework had been done for them in Bulgaria through the improvement of airfields, highways and railway depots and the accumulation of supplies.

Reasons for Pause

Hitler and his generals may decide for more than one reason to halt their troops after they have fully occupied Bulgaria. For one thing it would give them time to get fuller knowledge of the reactions of Russia, about which they must have considerable dubiety, accentuated by Moscow's recent disapproval of the humble submission of Bulgaria and its decision to increase the Russian forces stationed on the north bank of the Danube. The control of Bulgaria will also enable Hitler to increase his pressure upon the Yugoslav Government, which would be placed in an impossible situation with hostile forces surrounding their country on three sides and the news that Prince Paul, the regent of Yugoslavia, is ready to go to Berlin to meet Hitler is a sure sign that his country's capitulation is imminent.

As soon as German troops were in the Vardar Valley, Hitler would then be able to apply the diplomatic thumbscrews to Greece to induce her to come to terms with Italy. He would prefer to achieve her subjugation without actual war as he knows that the British are committed to intervene in strength to the support of Greece as soon as her territory is invaded by a German army, and they might be able to bring in the Turks. Hitler wants to avoid above everything else the necessity of waging war on two different fronts at the same time and the only way that he can now escape this is by frightening Greece into peaceful capitulation.

Three Canadian Divisions Get New Officers

OTTAWA, Mar. 6 — (CP). — The three major divisions of the Canadian (Active) Army scheduled to go overseas this year have new commanding officers.

Major-General W. E. Sanson, recalled from Britain last October to command the 3rd Division, has been appointed officer commanding the new Canadian Armored Division, National Defence Headquarters, announced last night.

Brig. C. H. Price of the Third Infantry Brigade overseas, will return to Canada to head the 3rd Division, with the rank of Major-General.

Brig. F. F. Worthington, formerly colonel commanding the First Canadian Armored Brigade, became officer commanding the First Canadian Tank Brigade.

Complete Surprise.

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Mar. 6 — (CP Cable). — Preparing to return to Canada to assume the command of the 3rd Division, Maj.-General C. B. Price of Montreal told The Canadian Press yesterday that his appointment was "a complete surprise."

A number of officers from the 3rd Brigade which General Price commanded in England will be returned for duty with the 3rd Division.

One of the most popular Brigadiers in the Canadian Corps, Gen. Price was congratulated by scores of senior officers. He led the Brigade through an arduous training period, was on the coast with them, and had hoped to go into action with his two battalions from the Maritimes and one from French Canada.

Gen. Price called at 1st Division headquarters as his successor, Brig. H. M. Ganong of Saint John, hitherto officer commanding one of the 3rd Brigade's Maritime regiments, conferred with his staff at Brigade Headquarters.

Anderson Family Honored In Percy

CAMPBELLFORD, Mar. 6 (ENS)—A number of friends gathered recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Anderson, Percy township for cards and dancing prior to the couple's moving to a farm a few miles distant. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson were presented with a floor lamp and chair as a tribute from their friends who expressed regret that they were leaving the neighborhood.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Wood and family have moved to the farm lately occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Art Watson of Percy township. Mr. Ernest Outwater will occupy the farm being vacated by Mr. Wood in Seymour Township, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Rutherford have moved to the farm recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Watson who have removed to Campbellford.

Centreville Observes Annual Day Of Prayer

CENTREVILLE, March 6—(ENS)—The World Day of Prayer was observed in the Sunday School hall on Friday afternoon.

The theme was "Thy Kingdom Come." Uniting in this service with the women of Centreville, representatives were present from the Anglican and United Churches of Bailieboro. Mrs. Howard Breckenridge, president of Centreville W.M.S., and Miss L. Jackson of Bailieboro presided.

Special prayers were given by Mrs. Harold Tate, Mrs. Clifford Hall, Mrs. Thomas Skitch, Mrs. Bert Byers and Mrs. Douglas Fisher.

Mrs. Dawson Rutherford and Mrs. James Whittington led in responsive Scripture reading. Miss Allie Berry rendered a delightful vocal solo. Rev. D. A. McKenzie gave an exposition and practical talk on the theme.

Golfdom Ace's To Tangle; Duke As Scorer

MIAMI, Fla., March 6—(AP).—A golf match which, if played on almost any course in the United States probably would draw a greater crowd than saw the last Dempsey-Tunney fight, is due to take place 10 days from now in compative seclusion.

It will be surprising if more than 1,000, counting both natives and visitors, see the benefit "Match of Champions" at Nassau, March 15-16, even though the Duke of Windsor will be the official referee, accompanied by the Duchess.

In the dawn of March 15 a seaplane will put up to the ramp in Dinner Key here and take on its spectacular cargo for the two-hour flight to Nassau.

On board will be Bobby Jones, winner of 12 major championships; Walter Hagen, with 11 to his credit; Gene Sarazen with 6, and Tommy Armour with 3. Hagen, Sarazen and Armour—the only players ever to win "all three," the British and American Opens and the professional Golfers' Association championship. Jones, who scored the unforgettable "grand slam."

That afternoon, over the pretty Nassau course, Hagen and Sarazen will pair against Jones and Armour in the first round of their 36-hole four-ball match for the benefit of the Red Cross, with the Duke jotting down the scores. The second round will be played the following day, with the whole crowd flying back that night.

They have figured out a way to realize a fine sum for the Red Cross. Everybody who would like to witness the match is invited to purchase a ticket at $2 a head. The amount may be mailed either to the "Red Cross Benefit Golf Match, Nassau," or to Joe Williams or Tom Walsh at the Miami-Biltmore Hotel, Miami. Williams is chairman of the press committee; Walsh, president of the P.G.A. Each purchaser of a ticket will get one. It will be a genuine ticket, autographed by the four players.

Campbellford Wins

CAMPBELLFORD, Mar. 6. — (ENS). — The Campbellford entry in the Juvenile O.H.A. advanced one step nearer the Ontario title when it eliminated Belleville here last night by the score of 6 to 5.

Win Junior Tankard

TORONTO, March 6.—(CP).—S. M. Jones, Jr., skipped his Hamilton Victorias to a 20-2 victory over Bob Green's Agincourt curling rink to win the Ontario Junior Tankard here last night. It was the third time Jones has won the trophy.

SPORTS - DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

Basketball fans are in for a treat Saturday night when the Trenton R.C.A.F. five will be here to battle Outboard Marines in the first game of the O.A.B.A. group playoffs. The second game will be played in Belleville on Monday or Tuesday, with total points in the two games to decide the winner. The series should be packed with fast and thrilling basketball. The Flyers, according to all reports from the east are a much improved club since the Outboards took them into camp early in the season. A lot of basketball is played down at the Trenton camp and the Flyers have a raft of material out of which to select their O.A.B.A. team. They were no setups when they were seen here at the beginning of the campaign and with the reinforcements that have been added since are likely to give the Peterborough cage stars a memorable tussle for the group title.

* * * * * *

The Outboard Marine team has not been seen in action here for some time but the players have been playing City League basketball and should all be in good shape for the crucial test that is looming up. From now on if they can get by the Flyers they should see lots of action for the playoff arrangements call for the winners of the Trenton-Peterborough series to clash with the Toronto winners, the first game either at Peterborough or Trenton on the night of Saturday, March 15. Peterborough fans will hope that the Outboards will continue to show their old time scoring punch and sail by the Flyers into the next round for the prospect of a series with the Toronto winners will be welcome to local lovers of the game. They know that will mean some of the fastest basketball ever seen here with the team-work of the Toronto crew matched against the uncanny shooting of the Outboard sniping brigade.

Lester Patrick, wily Ranger manager, is said to be doping out a change in the rules that he hopes will do away with so much whistle tooting caused by players being offside in crossing from one area to another. He would have the puck-carrier considered always onside but any players who crossed the blue line ahead of the man with the rubber would not be able to take part in the play. However, Bobby Hewitson points out that Hap Day has developed a much simpler and workable method of stopping blue line offsides. He has the Leafs in practice watching the blue line continuously and training themselves to stay onside. There is no doubt much could be done in that way. A lot of the offsides are simply inexcusable. How often in games here this winter have you seen players take a look at the puck-carrier, see that he was well behind and yet deliberately skate over the line ahead of the play? A dozen times a game at least we would say and the result was a lot of play-stopping that could have been avoided.

Scout Carson's Choice

Peterborough fans will be interested in learning that Carson Cooper, Detroit Red Wing scout saw a number of the Kingston-Peterborough playoff games while looking for talent for Jack Adams' club and especially in the announcement that the two players who took his eye were Buck Burrows, the Combines' goalie and big Doug White, former Moncton player, who starred on the defence for Kingston. This choice will occasion little surprise for it was this pair of players who more than any one else were responsible for the Petes' downfall. Burrows' expert goal-keeping, his ability to stand up under fire and White's steady checking and especially his speedy dashes down the ice were factors in every Kingston win and it is not surprising that Scout Carson should be interested in the pair. Nor is it remarkable that in spite of the scoring feats of Mel Williamson, the Detroit agent was not impressed with his style. Williamson is smart and unselfish and few players seen here have handed out any better passes but the Combines centre man does not move fast enough for the big top.

* * * * * *

Manager Joe McCarthy of the Yanks has got the baseball experts all talking over his announcement that Joe Gordon, one of the best second-sackers in the game is to be shifted to first base to take the job vacated by the departure of Babe Dahlgren. The move means of course that McCarthy is gambling on the famous Kansas City keystone combination of Priddy and Rizzuto to make good as his second base duo and counting on Red Rolfe to have a good year at third. Gordon will probably play a bangup game at the initial bag but if he should happen to fall down or Rolfe weaken at third the Yanks skipper could always move Gordon to the difficult corner and give the first base assignment to Sturm, a promising American Association player.

Toronto Maple Leafs have a chance in the next two days to take the lead in the National Hockey League race as they have games tonight and Saturday while the Bruins will be idle until Sunday. Hap Day's men meet the Canadiens in Montreal tonight. They have had the Indian sign on the Montrealers all season but the games have all been close and the Canadiens might pick tonight to spill the beans which would be disastrous to the Leafs' chances. Incidentally, the Canadiens may introduce a new goalie tonight in the person of Paul Bibeault, net guardian of the Quebec Royal Rifles team. In the other game tonight Detroit will meet the Amerks in New York. Tied with Rangers the Red Wings need this game to take over sole possession of the third slot and the Detroiters will probably show enough punch to take the decision.

✧ ✧ ✧

Two highly important games are scheduled in the Ladies' Basketball League tomorrow at the Y.W.C.A. At 8 o'clock the top place Quaker Aces meet the Westclox in what should be one of the most exciting battles of the year. A win for the Aces will assure their finishing first as there is only one more week's play before the finals. A Westclox win would put the Clockmakers in a tie for first place for the Quakers while a loss would seriously handicap them in their fight for a senior playoff spot. The 9 o'clock game brings together Y Gym and the Quaker Cubs. Both teams have been playing good basketball with the Cubs showing a late winning streak to bring them up in the standing. The Y girls need a victory to have a chance for second place.

✧ ✧ ✧

The playoff arrangement in the Ladies' Loop calls for the first and second teams to meet in a series for the senior title while the third and fourth teams will battle it out for the junior city championship. At present the standing is as follows:

	Won	Lost	T.P.
Quaker Aces	10	3	2
Westclox	9	4	2
Y Gym	8	4	3
St. John's	6	6	3
Quaker Cubs	5	8	2
Y Cadets	0	13	2

In tomorrow night's doubleheader Joe Cooper and Hymie Smith will handle the first game and Whitty Thirnbeck will work with Cooper in the second fixture.

Bees Are Outscored By Juniors 34-31

The Bees tried an iron man stunt in their City League game with the junior O.A.B.A. squad last night, attempting to defeat a full team of juniors using only four men. At that they came close to pulling off the feat for they were only beaten out 34 to 31 and were in front all the way until the last minute of play.

Taking advantage of mistakes by their opponents and cashing in on the good shooting of Thorburn and McArthur the Bees had a substantial margin in the first half and led by 23 to 15 at the half-time whistle.

However, the juniors got organized in the second half, started to toss the ball around, wore the short-handed Bees down and finally won out with two baskets in the final 60 seconds. C. Gillespie, Gardner, Currie and Burns did some nice shooting in the second half to finally bring victory. The teams:

Bees — Thorburn, McArthur, Smith, Patterson.

Juniors—Ken Gillespie, Craig, S. Rogow, C. Gillespie, Currie, Burns, Gardner.

Curling Notes

By HERB MARTIN

After a lay-off of several years, Rev. William McDonald comes back to our club and after playing all the way through the different stages of the leads and seconds bonspiel, pilots his rink to win the R. L. Dobbin Trophy. R. W. Lyon, skipping for the first time in his curling career, did a good job of it, but the reverend gentleman had just a little too much experience.

Congratulations are due to all the boys who took part in this bonspiel, winners and losers alike. When you consider there were no curlers other than leads and seconds in this spiel, the brand of curling was well above the average.

To-night we begin the vice-skips' bonspiel. All the vice-skips have been notified, and it is hoped everybody will be out on time.

Six mixed rinks from our club went up to Bobcaygeon last evening to play the return game for the Harkness Trophy. The report handed to us this morning shows our boys and girls were down 15 shots.

Three rinks from our club, skipped by T. McArthur, J. W. McDermid, and R. F. Downey, took part in the Oshawa bonspiel yesterday. That's all.

The committee intends to run another mixed bonspiel on Saturday afternoon. Remember the big crowd out last week. We are looking for another one just as big this Saturday. Telephone your name in early. The time, 1:45 p.m. The price 25 cents to each and all.

Oshawa Bonspiel Honors Go To Toronto Rinks

OSHAWA, March 6.—Thirty-two local and Ontario centre rinks competed in the final major open bonspiel of the Oshawa Curling Club with Royal Canadian and High Park rinks splitting the main prizes in the two draws here last night.

In the early draw W. Michael and his Toronto Royal Canadian rink were the winners with three wins and a plus of 21. In second place was a second Royal Canadian rink skipped by Ed Young with three wins and a plus of 17. E. Goodman, Oshawa skip, placed his rink third in this early draw with two wins for a plus of 16.

In the late draw Ken Miles and his High Park aggregation had three wins and a plus of 19. Dr. Harding, Oshawa skip, second with three wins and a plus of 11. Judge L. V. O'Connor, Cobourg, was third with two wins and a plus of 18. For the highest plus 10, with one win in either draw, H. Sproule, High Park skip, was the best, to cop the seventh prize.

ALBERTA RINK TIES PERRY HALL'S ONTARIOS IN THE SIXTH ROUND

Don Best Given Fine Chance; Whips Hall 11-9

TORONTO, March 6 (CP)—One of the closest competitions in the history of the Canadian curling championships will come to the end of its regular schedule today but when the 10 rinks start play in the seventh round of the 15th annual Macdonald's Brier competition seven still will have chances to win the tankard and the championship.

Perry Hall's Ontarios and Howard Palmer's Albertas were tied with five wins and one loss each when the sixth round was completed yesterday, and have the best chances. Manitoba, Nova Scotia, Saskatchewan and Northern Ontario still have fair chances with four wins and two losses each and British Columbia is dangling on the outside fringe of the mathematical chance department with three wins and three losses.

One of the most important games of the competition so far will come in the first draw this morning, with Alberta meeting Ontario. Out of that match will come a leader and while many changes could be made as a result of the final two draws of the day, it is likely that the winner of the Alberta-Ontario match will win the event. If there is a tie at the end of the regular nine rounds, a playoff will be held Friday.

Given one of the best chances of the rinks in the second group is Don Best's Northern Ontario representative, so far the most unpredictable of all the entries. Best won his first three matches but dropped the next two before coming up with a spectacular exhibition of curling to beat Perry Hall in the final draw last night.

Gallery Gets A Treat

Best was given little chance to win that match when it started because of his erratic play in losing to Alberta in the afternoon round. But when he hung in there for the first few ends the gallery sensed the eventual outcome. Every available inch of standing room was jammed when the final few ends were played.

Hall's valiant effort to pull even on the final end fell short, leaving Best with an 11-9 triumph and a big question-mark over his rink.

Alberta relegated Fred Heath's Nova Scotias to the ranks of the outsiders with a 12-7 victory in the same round, with Alberta Skip Howard Palmer curling well. Palmer's curling through the first six rounds has been almost faultless but occasionally his support has been of the spotty variety.

Saskatchewan's 10-5 victory over British Columbia was not wholly expected in a match which was rated to be a close one. Bill Dunbar's veteran leadership of the Saskatchewan four was slightly more effective than the equally experienced skipping of Billy Finlay for the British Columbia rink.

The margin of victory in Prince Edward Island's 19-7 win over Johnny Malcolm's New Brunswick rink was surprising. W. R. Cruickshank, the P.E.I. skip, was curling well and had fine support. In the other match of the round, Albert Wakefield's Manitobans won 13-7 over C. H. Handley's short-handed Quebec rink, which played two games yesterday with only three men due to the illness of Edmond St. Amand, Handley's third-man.

Ontario's 15-6 victory over Manitoba in the fifth round was the feature of yesterday afternoon's curling, a five-ender on the fifth for Ontario wiping out Manitoba's early margin. Northern Ontario bowed 14 5 to Alberta, Nova Scotia beat New Brunswick 12-6 British Columbia swamped Quebec 15-4 and Saskatchewan won 12-6 over Prince Edward Island in other fifth-round matches.

They Share Lead With Ontario

St. C. P. Webb, lead; A. Gooder, 2nd; J. Lebeau, 3rd; T. F. H. Palmer, skip, who are tied for the lead of the Brier Trophy with five wins and one loss.

Lindsay Juniors Ousted By Markham

MARKHAM, March 6.—A strong start and a stronger finish netted Markham a 7-1 victory over Lindsay here last night for a 9-3 triumph on the round in their O.H.A. Junior "C" playoff series. The first game of the round at Lindsay resulted in a 2-2 tie, and Markham, by virture of last night's win, advanced to the next round.

Rowe, Murphy and B. Bangay sent Markham ahead 3-0 in the first frame before Kirley notched Lindsay's lone goal. After a scoreless second period, Lawrie, B. Bangay, Northcote and Lawrie again netted in the third, mainly on breakaways as Lindsay pressed furiously. Nearly 1,000 fans, the best turnout in years, were in attendance.

Lindsay—Goal, Nicholls; defence, Sproat and Begley; centre, Cook; wings, Ellis and McDonald; subs., Howe, Kirley, Junkin, Connelly.

Markham—Goal, Harper; defence, B. Harper and Meharg; centre, B. Bangay; wings, Laurie and Baker; subs., Rowe, Northcote, Murphy, Clark, H. Bangay, Sabiston, Broadway.

Win For Toronto On Canadiens Will Tie Bruins

By JACK MITCHELL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

From the form charts, Toronto Maple Leafs should walk through the Canadiens at Montreal tonight to pull even with Boston Bruins in their National Hockey League championship race—but not every favorite crosses the finish first.

With the Bruins idle, all the Leafs need to do to regain a tie for the top berth is to defeat the Canadiens—a team that hasn't beaten them in seven meetings this season. It seems simple on the face of it until the "Angles"—despair of every form follower—come up for consideration.

For one thing, the Canadiens need the points to hold their margin for the last playoff berth over the Americans, who play Detroit Red Wings at New York in the night's other game. A victory would just about assure the Habitants of entry into the post-season round, while also giving them a good chance to edge out Chicago Black Hawks for fifth place.

Naturally the fact that Canadiens want the game proves nothing, but there is one other factor that has raised it above a run-of-the-mill match for Canadiens. Being the last meeting of the clubs, it is the final chance for the Habitants to get to bat for Coach Dick Irvin, who left the Leafs to break in the new team this season.

Irvin has had his heart set on beating the team he piloted for nine years but the Leafs have foiled him at each turn.

Canadiens will be at full strength plus a couple of possible additions. A directors' meeting was to be held later today to discuss signing two Quebec Senior Hockey League amateurs, Winger Stu Smith of Quebec Royal Rifles and Paul Bibeault, goalie of the amateur Canadiens.

"It's possible we'll use Bibeault against the Leafs if he signs," said Irvin. "Bert Gardiner's injured leg has not been standing up any too well."

In the other match at New York, Detroit can pull out of their third-place tie with the Rangers by beating the Americans.

Eagles Wallop Capitals 5 to 1

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 6—(AP).—With a little more than a week remaining in the regular schedule, every one of the nine teams in the American Hockey League's two sections remained well in the running today for playoff berths.

In each section, the top two berths for the post-season rounds were just about decided, with Providence Reds and Springfield Indians leading the eastern division and Cleveland Barons and Hershey Bears the western. The race for the last berth in each section involved the five other clubs, however.

Third-place team in the eastern division, New Haven Eagles, made a bid to pull away from the last-place Philadelphia Ramblers last night by defeating Indianapolis Capitals, 5-1, but the Ramblers kept two points behind with a 3-1 victory over Pittsburg Hornets. One other game was played last night with Springfield tying Hershey, 4-4.

The stalemate of the playoff contenders in the eastern section when both won resulted in a stalemate in the western section—for both the losers were the teams involved in the playoff fight there. Indianapolis remained in third position two points ahead of Pittsburg, tied with Buffalo for last place.

Euchre Party Held

CAMPBELLFORD, Mar. 6 (ENS)—Mrs. W. Gillibrand was hostess at a very successful euchre party given in her home Monday evening under auspices of Christ Church Parish Guild. Nine tables took part in the game and at the close prizes were presented by Rev. T. S. Gault. Winner of the gentleman's prize was Mr. H. Higginson, who was presented with War Savings Stamps. The lady's prize, a pair of guest towels, was won by Mrs. R. A. Linton. Assisting the hostess in serving were Mrs. R. Phillips, Misses Gertrude Maynard and Ethel Bedford.

Milltown Shades Havelock

HAVELOCK, March 6 (ENS)—Campbellford badminton team won the honors from Havelock on Tuesday night in the Kawartha-Trent League series, when they visited the local court, by a 10 to 2 score. The scores wkere as follows:

Ladies' doubles—Miss Parker and Miss O'Neil of Campbellford defeated Margaret Sanderson and Gena McNeely of Havelock 15 to 12. Miss Armour and Mrs. Fink of Campbellford lost to Edythe Russell and Muriel Quinn of Havelock 7 to 15. Mrs. Ralph and Miss Allan of Campbellford defeated Miss Roberts and Laurabelle Wing of Havelock 17 to 14.

Men's doubles—G. Ralph and E. Darling of Campbellford defeated Bert Haryett and A. Gay of Havelock 15 to 5. W. Kingston and Don Meyers of Campbellford defeated B. Quinn and D. F. Miller of Havelock 15 to 10. Ray Ashton and Archie Crozier of Campbellford defeated Jack Aboud and D. Drinkwalter of Havelock 15 to 0.

Mixed doubles—Miss Parker and G. Ralph of Campbellford defeated Margaret Sanderson and Bert Haryett of Havelock 15 to 5. Miss O'Neil and Ray Ashton of Campbellford defeated Gena McNeely and A. Gay of Havelock 15 to 4. Miss Armour and W. Kingston of Campbellford defeated Miss Muriel Quinn and Jack Aboud of Havelock 15 to 5. Mrs. Ralph and Don Meyers of Campbellford defeated Laurabelle Wing and B. Quinn of Havelock 15 to 1. Mrs. Fink and E. Darling of Campbellford lost to Edythe Russell and D. F. Miller of Havelock 10 to 15. Miss Allan and Arch Crozier of Campbellford defeated Miss Roberts and D. Drinkwalter of Havelock 15 to 9.

German Worker Testifies In T.C.A. Crash

ARMSTRONG, Ont., March 6.—(CP)—Richard M. Smith, Trans-Canada Air Lines radio operator who was on duty Feb. 6, when a T.C.A. plane crashed here, killing 12 persons, testified at the inquest yesterday that his last radio word from the plane came at 3:47 a.m. Previous evidence indicated the plane crashed at 3:53 a.m.

Smith said he had received no word from the pilots, Capt. W. E. Twiss or Flying Officer C. E. Lloyd, to indicate that there was any mechanical trouble in the plane or that the plane had experienced any difficulty.

Smith said he was assisted that night by a T.C.A. radio operator, F. Angelopolous, who was receiving training in weather observations.

The two men collaborated in making weather observations which Smith radioed to the plane, Smith said.

German T.C.A. Engineer

Emil Kading, T.C.A. engineer at Armstrong, the second witness called, testified he was born in Germany 43 years ago. He said he was naturalized as a Canadian April 13, 1937, and was classified as an enemy alien.

He said he is required to report to police station at certain intervals.

At this point Dr. Lawson stopped the questioning to say that D. C. Archibald, Dominion Meteorologist at Winnipeg, was using a camera in the court room. Archibald was called to the witness stand and after he assured the coroner he had intended taking photographs for his own information only, he was reprimanded and the film was confiscated.

Kading testified he had been employed by the T.C.A. for more than three years. He had been employed in aviation since 1915 and had held an engineer's certificate from the Dominion government since 1928.

He said he and his helper, Stanley Lee, rolled the snow on the north-south runway early on Feb. 6, completing the rolling about 2:15 a.m. He had then gone to the radio room to ask whether the plane would land at Armstrong. After working in the hangar he had gone outside and had heard the plane go over in a westerly direction.

A Judge Of Motors

He said he is competent to judge the operation of motors by their sound and he said both motors of the plane sounded good.

Kading said from a window he saw red and green lights of the plane returning from the west after passing the beam station.

"I turned away a minute and when I turned back I could not spot the lights until I saw what looked like a falling white light. I presume it was the tail light. It appeared to be falling straight down."

Dr. Lawson said Kading had previously told him: "My idea is that he was trying to turn and a gust of wind put him in a stall."

Kading replied that he had considered that as a possibility but had no definite reason to believe that it was the actual cause of the crash.

Ministers Plan Passion Week

The Peterborough Ministerial Association met in the Y.M.C.A. this week with Rev. C. C. Boyter, chairman, Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt, secretary. Also present were Revs. F. W. Craik, R. D. Wright, E. W. Rowland, R. M. Patterson (Omemee), J. H. Sutcliffe, E. W. Young, Adjutant Norman Buckley. Rev. R. D. Wright conducted worship.

It was arranged to have a farewell luncheon for Dr. A. T. Barr, who is leaving the city to take up work in St. John's, Newfoundland, and Rev. R. D. Wright, who is going to Renfrew, if possible on Tuesday, March 18. This will also be a welcome meeting for Rev. A. W. Filer, who is coming to All Saints' church.

Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe introduced the question of the annual Daily Vacation Bible School, and told of the difficulties which confronted the Religious Education Council as it faced this project this year. It was agreed that another meeting of the council be summoned, and that the workers be invited to attend.

Mr. Sutcliffe announced that a rally for Sunday School teachers will be held in Murray St. church on Friday, March 28th, at 8 p.m., at which a representative of the Ontario Religious Education Council from Toronto would give an inspirational address.

Nominating Committee

A committee, consisting of the president, secretary and treasurer was appointed to nominate officers for the year 1941-2 at the next meeting.

The executive were asked to arrange for special services during Passion Week, culminating in two services on Good Friday, and to consider the engagement of an outside speaker.

Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt reported that Don Charlton wished that a small sum of money belonging to the Church Hockey League should be deposited on trust with the treasurer of the Ministerial Association until the League functions again, this was agreed to.

It was decided to send a letter of appreciation to Rev. Benny Black who has left Campbellford for Bonar Presbyterian church, Toronto. Rev. T. J. Floyd will be responsible for the speaker at the next meeting.

Rev. R. M. Patterson gave the address on Hosea, a minor prophet who lived in the 8th century before Christ. Chapter 1 to 3 of the book he said, which narrated Hosea's sad family tangle, gave the clue to the meaning of the prophecy. Amos who preceded Hosea, had thundered forth the righteousness of God, and His condemnation of evil. A winsome man like Hosea was called to present the other side of the picture. He was the first prophet of peace and love, the first evangelist of the grace of God.

Hosea's family life was most unhappy. His wife proved unfaithful, and left his home. The husband yearned after her and searched for her for many years. At last he found her on the auction block. Having lost her beauty she had become a slave. He bought her back, and restored her to the comforts she had forsaken. The depths of love in Hosea's heart found expression in his preaching. He pleaded with Israel to return to God, and believed that reconciliation was possible.

Rev. E. W. Rowland and Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe thanked the speaker for his wistful and tender message.

Mrs. Preston Is Hostess To WMS

SPRINGVILLE, March 6—(ENS)—Thirty ladies met at the home of Mrs. Bernard Preston, Port Hope Highway, on Friday afternoon, to observe the World's Day of Prayer service.

Mrs. S. S. Staples, president of the W.M.S., presided for the business period, which preceded the program. Mrs. Staples read a beautiful poem on the day of prayer and this was followed by a hymn.

Mrs. Everson presented the war savings plan of the United church to the ladies present and asked as many as possible to attend the organization banquet at Knox United churc.

Letters of appreciation for remembrance sent, were read from Mr. and Mrs. A. Bowles Mrs. Kemp, Mrs. Murray, Sr., and Sherman Morrison.

Mrs. F. Clarke offered her home for the March meeting.

The means of raising the society's allocation for 1941 were discussed. All members were asked to be ready to give their opinions at the next meeting.

It was decided to hold a pot luck dinner in the basement of the church on Thursday. Four Red Cross quilts, pieced by Mrs. A. Hunter, will be quilted on that day.

Mrs. Hunter had charge of the program. After her opening remarks pertaining to the World Day of Prayer, a reading was given by Esma Johnston, 'Why Not?'

Mrs. Hunter then spoke on 'Our duty as members of the Christian church.' She made a plea for kindness to those less fortunate than ourselves and recalled Jesus' kindness to the woman of Samaria.

Mrs. Everson sang 'Tell It Again,' with the ladies joining in the chorus.

Mrs. S. S. Staples led in prayer for the auxiliary.

Miss Jessie Schaeffer gave a most helpful talk on the 'Problems of Youth.' She cited as some of these, liquor, lottery games, midnight shows and Sunday sport. She charged that it is the older people who are presenting these problems to our youth and asked all those present to do all in their power to stamp out these evils.

Mrs. B. Preston offered prayer for our youth. Mrs. Shaw gave a reading, 'We Must Unite.'

Mrs. Grandy spoke on 'Stewardship' and led in prayer.

Mrs. M. H. Johnston spoke on the 'Evils of Intemperance,' followed by prayer.

Miss Hazell Hall was present and gave a much appreciated solo, 'The Stranger of Galilee.'

A season of prayer was observed, prayers being offered by Mrs. Everson, Mrs. F. Clarke and Mrs. Hunter. The prayer for peace by Mrs. Hunter was followed by the National Anthem, which closed this very impressive and helpful meeting.

Trent River News

The first robin of the season was seen by John L. Hay Monday morning. Crows are becoming numerous in this locality.

Heavy snow fell throughout Monday, necessitating the operation of the snow plough on Highway 30.

Members of the War Service Workers met Tuesday for quilting, in the evening a progressive euchre was staged to raise funds for war work, and another euchre for war work will be held Tuesday night, March 11.

Mr. Fred McLaughlin left Tuesday for Peterborough, where he will be employed.

Miss Frances Sedgwick left Saturday for Lockport, N.Y., to spend a week with friends.

Mr. Thomas Wight left Sunday to resume work with the C.P.R. after spending a week at his home.

Eric Little and Frances Sedgwick were Thursday visitors at Peterborough.

Nazi Air Raids Light In Night

LONDON, March 6—(CP).—German air raiders caused two quick alerts in London at the noon hour today, but there were no immediate reports of bombs dropped.

A raider flew low over an East Anglian town at mid-day and dropped a bomb which wrecked a house. A man, his wife and child were rescued. Other bombs fell without causing noteworthy damage.

Another raider, braving rain and mist over Dover Strait, dropped several bombs in a South coast town during the morning. First reports indicated there were no casualties.

There was little Nazi aerial activity over Britain during the night, the Government said, although a few bombs were dropped on the South coast.

"No reports of any damage or casualties have been received," a brief communique declared.

Except for a brief uneventful alarm in London the daylight hours yesterday were without aerial developments.

Sandwich Tray Is Presented To I.O.D.E.

CAMPBELLFORD, Mar. 6 (ENS)—The presentation of a silver sandwich tray to the I.O.D.E. by members of St. Andrew's Young People's Society was announced at weekly meeting Monday. The group also arranged to make a gift of $10.00 to the British War Victims' Fund as a further contribution toward the Empire's war effort. Following discussion arrangements were made to form a group within the society to do knitting for refugees. Plans were also made to hold a Chinese Checker party in the Sunday School rooms on March 17th. Only other item on the program was a general discussion of the Bible.

The Government of Spain is trying to increase domestic production of manganese.

FAIRVIEW

The many friends of Mr. Everett Cockburn are very pleased that he is progressing favorably at his home after his recent operation in Nicholls Hospital.

The many friends in this community of Mrs. William Deck of Peterborough, who has been ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Reg. Cockburn for a number of weeks, has recovered sufficiently to return to her home in Peterborough.

Mr. Erle Tully made a business trip to Toronto on Monday.

"And, In The Future Honor The Law"

Going off duty, two New York city patrolmen were set upon by six sailors, identified as seamen from Halifax en route to Galveston, Tex., to pick up a ship. The policemen were getting the worst of it when reinforcements arrived. Here, one of the seamen all of whom were arrested, is getting a lesson on how to behave in the presence of the law.

British Score Diplomatic Coup Over Germans With Turkish Government Leaders

(By KIRKE L. SIMPSON.)

WASHINGTON, March 6—(AP)—Something like a hint that Britain was not caught napping by a Nazi politico-military "putsch" may be pieced together from such incidents as the Turko-British and subsequent hurried Turko-German conversations over the Nazi engulfment of Bulgaria. Nor can off-stage Russo-Turkish understandings be ruled out.

The indications are that London knows with reasonable certainty what Turkey will or may do in given circumstances, and Berlin does not. That is all-important for Hitler. It could mean the difference for him between the two-front war he has desperately sought to escape, and virtually complete "peaceful" domination of the European Continent.

Turkey holds the key to the Balkan riddle. She is strategically placed for that. She also has "2,000,000 bayonets" on call.

Nor can Moscow's reproof of Bulgaria be ignored as a guide to what might happen so far as Turkey is concerned. That unquestionably anti-Nazi move looms as at least a tacit Moscow go-ahead signal to Ankara at a critical moment. Berlin seems to have interpreted it that way and rushed some sort of assurances to Turkey from Hitler personally.

The timing of the Russian protest to Bulgaria over acceptance of Nazi military annexation may prove more important than its somewhat negative language. It came close in the wake of British-Turkish understandings of still unknown purport, but termed in London highly satisfactory.

The hurried air trip of Sir Stafford Cripps, British Ambassador to Moscow, from his post to Ankara to participate in the Eden-Turkish conversations becomes highly important in retrospect. He must have carried advance word of Russia's intentions to the British Foreign Secretary. If that is true, Mr. Eden knew what to expect, and the Nazi ace diplomat in the Balkans, Franz von Paper, did not.

Von Papen learned of the Moscow move well after both the Turks and the British leaders knew of it. He probably called for help from Hitler direct, perhaps to delay or avert a formal Turkish policy declaration of determination to protect her "security zone," including Eastern Greece, if the Germans marched against Greece from Bulgaria.

The Moscow move also was timed, carefully it seems, to have an impact on the Eden-Greek negotiations in Athens. It could not fail to stiffen Greek resistance to the German "peace" offensive. Regardless of uncertainty over Russia's own intentions, the Moscow communication pointed so clearly toward Russian approval of Turkish resistance to the German Balkan drive that Greek officialdom could not overlook that implication of Turkish help.

Russian Forces Threat.

The Russians are reported from Rumania to have backed up their protest by despatching strong reinforcements to the Red Army stationed in Bessarabia. Berlin commentators scoff at any possibility of an armed clash with Russia, there or elsewhere. It seems wholly probable that Moscow has no intention of risking that now.

Yet Nazi strategists cannot ignore the plain threat to Rumanian oil sources offered by the heavy Russian air and army contingents in Bessarabia. They are only a stone's-throw from the Rumanian oil centres.

While Russia, already indicating resentment at Nazi Balkan encroachments, may not be ready now to risk action, Moscow might take a different view if Germany were involved in a major war there and badly extended. German troops dispositions in the Balkans must be affected by that possibility.

In any event, the haste with which Berlin sought to offset in Ankara British-Turkish and indicated Turkish-Russian developments is significant.

Unquestionably Germany has met some sort of quick check diplomatically in the Balkans, although its exact nature or significance cannot yet be seen in the news.

Backward Party New L.A. Feature

MILLBROOK, March 6—(ENS)—Mrs. Z. Seaton was hostess for the February meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of Grace Presbyterian Church, held at her home, Tupper street, on Wednesday at 3 p.m., with Mrs. S. E. Eakins, vice-president, in the chair, and an unusually large attendance.

Carrying out the novelty feature of a "backward party," the meeting began with the Mizpah benediction, followed by God Save the King, and the vote of thanks to the hostess for the use of her home for the gathering.

Mrs. Alex Miller gave "Clementine" as a reading, beginning, of course, with the last verse and reading to number one, after which the roll was called, each member replying by spelling her name backward. Mrs. J. R. Thompson conducted an amusing contest, and the leader read the lesson and offered prayer; Mrs. S. Pritchard taking the chair for the business period.

The secretary, Mrs. M. Kinsman, read a letter of thanks from the Misses Jean and Isabel Syer, for the card of sympathy sent them after their mother's death, and the correspondence also included an appeal from the Navy League for money, or contributions of knitted articles, etc. After discussion it was decided to send half the proceeds from the Irish Supper to be held on March 17, to the Navy League.

The treasurer, Miss Mina Gibson, reported one hundred dollars given the Church Board of Managers since the new year, and receipts from two pot luck suppers, one of $2.50 held at Mrs. Suttle Pritchard's, and the other for $3.25 from the one for which Mrs. A. Coyte was hostess. It was decided that any such suppers, held outside group auspices, would have the receipts credited to the general fund.

Mrs. M. Kinsman and Mrs. J. R. Thompson were appointed table conveners for the St. Patrick's Day supper, and Mrs. A. Miller cashier, with 30 cents as the admission price. Each group leader will canvass her own members for baking for the supper.

Mrs. Miller's reading concluded an interesting program, and afternoon tea, served by Mrs. Thompson's group, brought a pleasant meeting to a close.

2 Apsley Ladies Honored By WI

APSLEY, March 6—(ENS) — A farewell party was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. C. Smith by the members of the Apsley Women's Institute in honor of Mrs. W. G. Smith and Mrs. R. G. McMullen, who are leaving the village.

After an evening of games and contests was enjoyed, the presentation of a chest of stationery to Mrs. W. G. Smith was made by Mrs. W. Lean, and Mrs. R. McMullen was presented with an electric bedroom lamp by Mrs. C. Smith. Mrs. R. Tucker read the address.

Mrs. McMullen, in reply, thanked the members on behalf of her mother, Mrs. W. G. Smith, and herself, saying how much she would miss her friends of the Apsley Institute. A dainty lunch was served and a delightful social hour enjoyed.

A quilting bee, sponsored by the Women's Guild of St. George's Church was held on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. J. Downing. A pot luck dinner and supper were enjoyed by the quilters. Among those present were Mrs. Stan. Windsor, Miss Audrey Windsor, Mrs. N. James, Mrs. N. Stephens, Mrs. Herb. Tucker, Miss M. Hales, Mrs. W. Hales, Mrs. Cathcart, Mrs. W. Lean, and Mrs. C. Smith.

Rev. R. McMullen and family, pastor of Apsley United Church for the past five years, left the village on Friday to take up new duties at his parish about 20 miles from Perth.

Mrs. Ronald McDonald, Oshawa, is on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Whitmore.

Rev. R. McMullen, Mrs. McMullen, and Mrs. W. G. Smith were supper hour guests on Wednesday of Mr. and Mrs. Don. Newberry.

Turkish Press Urges Reds To Retard Nazis

ANKARA, Turkey, March 6 (AP) —The Turkish Ambassador in Berlin is expected to deliver shortly his government's reply to Hitler's note in which he was reported to have wanted to look after Turkey's "interest and well-being."

Despite assurances that Germany's intentions are peaceful, Turkey continued to make military preparations.

The press published articles today appealing to Soviet Russia's self-interest for retarding further Nazi advances toward the Dardanelles.

Turkish newspapers did not print reports that German troops were approaching the Turkish frontier as well as the Greek, but the newspaper Ikdam commented:—

"Bulgaria is the strategic key to the Balkans. By taking this key Germany has come many miles closer to the Dardanelles, which are as important to Russia as to Turkey.

"Unless Russia has decided to commit suicide she will not let Germany come near her life-giving arteries."

fighters, already based in Bulgaria, were reported photographing both Greek and Turkish defences.

150,000 Face 90,000.

To meet the threat of 150,000 Nazi troops massed along her borders, Greece was said to have concentrated six divisions—totalling about 90,000 men—in the mountain passes north of Salonika. Some of these were believed to be veterans of fighting against the Italians in Albania.

Complicating the menacing situation were these developments on the diplomatic front:

1. Rumanian Premier Ion Antonescu returned to Bucharest this morning and summoned an emergency meeting of his Cabinet after a hasty conference in Vienna with Reichmarshal Herman Goering.

2. Rumanian Government quarters acknowledged that Antonescu had received a note from Moscow before conferring with Goering, and reports were current in diplomatic circles in Belgrade that Russia had demanded immediate cession by Rumania of Black Sea naval bases.

3. Dispatches from Belgrade indicated Britain was exerting every possible effort to prevent Yugoslavia following Bulgaria in signing up with the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo alliance. Some quarters expressed belief that Regent Prince Paul of Yugoslavia might go to Vienna today to confer with Nazi leaders.

4. Diplomatic advices from Ankara quoted Turkish government quarters as saying that the message from Hitler two days ago had in no way affected Turkey's policy of strict loyalty to her treaty obligations to Great Britain.

5. In Athens, an official announcement declared that British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Greek government officials were in agreement after conferences on the Balkan situation.

A Counter Russia Move

There was no immediate confirmation of reports that Russia had delivered demands of an "ultimative" nature to Rumania, but Balkan diplomatic observers said they believed Joseph Stalin had some move under way to counter the German ocupation of Bulgaria.

Some observers believed Germany might be willing to make Rumania satisfy Russian demands for strategic Black Sea bases in order to avoid possibility of a shutdown on vital oil supplies from the Soviet's fields.

German quarters in Sofia said they were taking an increasingly serious view of "the strange turn in Soviet attitude."

This presumably was a reference to the sharp note which Russia delivered to Bulgaria, declaring she could not approve the Sofia government's policy of agreeing to the presence of German troops in Bulgaria.

War Expenditure

"to examine the expenditure defrayed out of moneys provided by parliament for the defence services and for other services directly connected with the war and to report what, if any economies consistent with the execution of the policy decided by the government may be effected therein."

No Question of Policy

During the debate Prime Minister Mackenzie King and other speakers stressed the point that the committee should not go into questions of policy. Thus it will not have power to say, for instance, whether or not money should be spent on an armored division, or whether it would be better for the Canadian navy to acquire submarines instead of destroyers.

The committee's duty will be to see whether the country gets the best possible value for its money as it is expended on the lines decided upon by the government.

Members nominated to the committee are:—

Liberals.—D. C. Abbott, Montreal-St. Antoine-Westmount; Peter Bercovitch, Montreal-Cartier; J. A. Bradette, Cochrane; Lionel Chevrier, Stormont; Hughes Cleaver, Halton; A. Fournier, Hull; R. Gladstone, Wellington South; William Golding, Huron-Perth; R. T. Graham, Swift Current; Ross Gray, Lambton West; W. C. MacDonald, Halifax; R. Mayhew, Victoria; G. G. McGeer, Vancouver-Burrard; L. P. Picard, Bellechasse; Vincent Pottier, Shelburne-Yarmouth-Clare; Gordon Ross, Moose Jaw; J. H. Sissons, Peace River, and J. T. Thorson, Selkirk.

C.C.F.—Angus MacInnis, Vancouver East.

New Democracy—J. A. Marshall, Camrose.

An early meeting of the committee for organization purposes is expected. At this meeting the chairman will be chosen. Speaking in the House yesterday, Mr. Harris suggested Mr. Thorson might be chosen for this duty.

Sitting in Camera

Although Opposition members contended the committee should sit in public as much as possible, they agreed it should sit in camera rather than disclose information of value to the enemy. Mr. Harris hoped the Government would give the committee a free hand to decide whether public or private sessions should be held.

As the short Wednesday session opened, the Prime Minister announced that regulations banning trading with the enemy had been extended to Bulgaria and Hungary as a result of developments in South-eastern Europe. The regulations were extended to Rumania a few weeks ago.

Mark Senn (Con. Haldimand) started a debate on agricultural conditions in Canada which is likely to occupy considerable time next week. Acting on the traditional privileges of members to seek the correction of grievances when the House is going into Committee of Supply he intervened yesterday on behalf of farmers and gave notice of an amendment to the motion to go into committee.

Farmers are not getting a fair share of the national income and have a "deep-seated resentment" against the present Government, Mr. Senn told the House.

He started to speak just before adjournment and did not reach the point of presenting an amendment to the motion, but announced his intention of doing so. The amendment will have the effect of a motion of want of confidence in the Government.

Prosperity Vanishes.

Mr. Senn said great changes had some over agriculture in the last 20 years. Up to and during the First Great War Canadian farmers enjoyed "a modicum of prosperity which now has completely vanished."

Since then land values had been cut by 50 per cent., farmers' reserves had been used up, farm buildings, fences and equipment had fallen into disrepair. Many farmers were insolvent and still more had their holdings heavily encumbered.

This condition was caused by increases in production costs, increased labor cost, and increased taxation while farm prices failed to advance or actually decreased.

Quoting from statistics on national income compiled by the Sirois Commission, Mr. Senn said the average income of Canadian farmers in the 12 years from 1926 to 1937 was a little over $600 and the average income in the eight years from 1930 to 1937 was something over $400.

"The farmers have not been receiving a fair share of the national income," he said. "They have been trying during all these years to maintain a standard of living which will keep their families on the land and in the attempt they have been dissipating their reserves."

Recently large orders for war supplies had been placed by the government, and in every case the contracts were based on cost of production plus profit. At the same time labor was assured of the 1929 wage level with increases as warranted by increases in the cost of living.

"I am not finding fault with that," he said. "It was the only course for the government to follow."

Nothing for the Farmer

At the same time the farmers were disappointed that nothing was done to place them in a position comparable to that of labor and industry. Their "smouldering discontent recently broke out into open flame" when the price of butter was fixed.

"There is among the farmers a very deep-seated resentment against the present administration," he said.

Mr. Senn said he based this statement on the hostile reception given Agriculture Minister Gardiner at a meeting of farmers at London, Ont.

"You left too soon," said Mr. Gardiner.

The debate will resume next week.

Mrs. Dorise Nielsen (Unity North Battleford) caused a flurry in the House when she rose on a question of privilege to reply to a speech yesterday by Justice Minister Lapointe.

She was called to order for going beyond the rules but at the suggestion of Prime Minister Mackenzie King, seconded by Conservative House Leader Hanson, was permitted to make any statement she wished.

Mr. Lapointe had suggested Mrs. Nielsen kept "bad company" and claimed the police were justified in looking at pamphlets containing her speeches because they were being distributed in some places by the distributors of Communist literature.

Mrs. Nielsen, only woman member, read an extract from a letter in which the writer quoted a member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police had stated she would be arrested if she "keeps up the pace she's hitting."

"I am a free and independent member of this House not belonging to any party," she said, adding that she would continue to act and speak as she thought right.

Referring to Communism she said she saw no danger from that source as long as democracy was maintained in Canada.

Garden Club Is Formed In Douro

DOURO, March 6—(ENS). — A splendid program was the closing feature of the home economics class. Using a lantern Miss Wallace used photographs supplied by the class and lots of merriment was caused trying to identify the snapshots This was followed by community singing with Mrs. Victor Kennedy at the piano. A spelling match with about fifteen a side proved interesting. A recitation by Teresa Hayes; a quiz contest conducted by Rose Hefferman; a quiz contest conducted by Miss Smith, Reg.N. The last item was an address read to the two instructresses by Isabel Towns, praising them for their kindly interest and fine instruction. Mrs. Charles Towns and Mrs. John B. Condon presented each with a miniature wooden trunk of stationery. Miss Wallace and Miss Smith each thanked the class for their gift and their fine co-operation.

Form Garden Club

During the course a garden club was formed by the class. The president is Mrs. Charles Towns and secretary Miss Bridget Sheehan. Seeds will be supplied by the Department of Agriculture at very reasonable prices. The county representative, Frank Patterson, will inspect the gardens while growing. The two leaders will go to Peterborough for a day's coaching, and then will give instruction to the others. In the Fall an achievement day will be held when the garden produce will be exhibited. It will be the first garden club in the county.

The world day of prayer was observed in this community by a large gathering of ladies from St. John's Anglican Church and the United Church, held at the home of Mrs. S. O'Connell, on Friday afternoon. Mrs. F. McCulloch, president of the W.M.S. presided. Mrs. J. Robson sang a solo, with Mrs. A. Lawton at the piano, and Rev. M. Fisher gave a very inspiring message.

Mr. Harold Butters, who has been employed as truck driver for Harwood Creamery fo the past four years, has purchased a butcher shop and grocery store in Warkworth and will take possession at once. His many friends in this community wish him much success in this new work.

Mr. Earle Tuck and Mr. Charlie Hogg spent the week-end in Oshawa with Mr. and Mrs. A. Richardson.

The Girls' Guild held their meeting on Saturday afternoon at the home of Miss J. Aldridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hogg were in Peterborough on Saturday.

Nab Tweed Lady In Liquor Raid

TWEED, March 6. — (ENS). — Following a raid on the home of Mrs. Walter Vilneff by Constable Clare J. C. Hayes, she was arrested on a charge of keeping liquor for sale.

On information received, Constable Hayes visited the house and found a number of persons whose names were recorded. Later, on making a further inspection, the police found the place in darkness, and within a few minutes, Mrs. Vilneff was seen to let a person into the darkened house.

Police immediately attempted to gain entrance, but found the door barred. Constable Hayes smashed down the door, and entered, to find a number of the occupants under the influence of liquor.

A close inspection of the building was made, and a cleverly found cache was located in the clothes closet. A panel had been sawn out of the wall, and a sliding door installed. On opening the door, police found a considerable quantity of liquor on the narrow shelves of the wall, which resulted in the tenant being arrested.

Mr. Eden's destination was not announced, but it was believed he was en route to Cairo, headquarters of the British Middle East Command. Last week he concluded talks with Turkish leaders which were said to have resulted in Turkey's re-affirmation of her treaty of friendship and alliance with Britain.

Reject Nazi Pressure.

The Greek Government, through its high command, yesterday firmly rejected German pressure for a separate Greek-Italian peace, declaring "the army and people have decided to face events, no matter from what direction, and fight on with the same undying will for their liberty and Fatherland."

A communique indicated troops already had been despatched to the Bulgarian border north of Salonika to meet the threat of a German invasion.

The only important military action reported yesterday on the Albanian front was the British bombing of Italian warships which shelled Greek positions in Albania. A communique said the British shot down nine Italian planes guarding the warships and damaged others.

Gracie Fields' Tour Net $99,306

TORONTO, Mar. 6 — (CP). — Officials of the Navy League of Canada said yesterday the two-months tour of Gracie Fields through Canada last August and September netted $99,306, of which $74,479 went to the Navy League of Great Britain.

Miss Fields, British stage and screen star, toured more than 40 Canadian centres to raise money for the Navy Leagues of Canada and Great Britain.

Monty Banks, British actor and husband of Miss Fields, was quoted in a Hollywood report last Friday night as saying $1,200,000 was raised in Canada on Miss Fields' tour.

"Everyone thought Miss Fields' tour was a great success, but of course no one could raise $1,200,000 in a Canadian tour," a Navy League official said.

A Pimple Covered Face Kills Many a Romance

The lives of many young people are made miserable by the breaking out of pimples, and you probably know of cases where a promising romance has been spoiled by those red, white, festering and pus filled sores on the face.

The trouble is not so much physical pain, but the mental suffering caused by the embarrassing disfigurement which very often makes the sufferer ashamed to go out in company.

The quickest way to get rid of pimples is to improve the general health by a thorough cleansing of the blood.

War Fund Passes $10,000 Mark

MAIN STREET TOPICS

HAD NO LICENSE

A written plea of guilty to a charge of driving a motor vehicle without a license cost Fred McDonough, a fine of $10 and $2.50 costs in police court this morning.

CARS COLLIDE

Driving out of the road at the east end of Hunter street bridge a car belonging to O. Bullock, 416 Rogers street, came into collision with another automobile that was moving north into the road from Hunter street. Both vehicles were damaged around the front.

SKIDS AT CROSSING

Irene Grant, River Road, was driving north on George street and when she stopped at the C.P.R. crossing, another car driven by Harry Jones and also travelling north skidded on the slippery road and collided with the rear of her car, damaging the tire cover and bumper.

A SCALDING EPIDEMIC.

Several people are complaining that they have scalded heels, which have developed during the past month, and many at first had the idea that they had frozen them. One local doctor suggested the condition might follow wearing goloshes too much, particularly indoors, and this would induce excessive perspiration.

HOCKEY MATCH PROCEEDS.

The police department reports 1,116 tickets sold for their hockey game with Cobourg on February 25 with Constable G. K. Hardy playing a major part in their sale. Total receipts amounted to $279.00. Expenses amounted to $97.90, leaving a credit balance of $181.10, all of which was handed it to the British War Victims' Fund, thus enabling it to pass the total of more than $10,000 to-date. The committee in charge consisted of Detective-Sergeant Meagher, Sergeant G. T. Puffer and Constable D. J. Sexsmith.

BANK CLEARINGS.

Total clearings for the past week ending to-day amounted to $629,780, while for the same week one year ago the total was $626,862.

TACTICS.

The members of the officer and N.C.O. class of the Prince of Wales Rangers were given an opportunity to study a scheme of battle on Wednesday night, when five of the officers, not in the class, staged one on the sand table. The entire set of conditions governing the attack and defence of the locality represented on the map were explained, and the various movements in the accomplishment of the objective described.

CONDITION CORRECTED.

Residents of the West-End report that radio interference which has been particularly bad during the last two months has cleared up, and there is scarcely any trouble now. In another part of the city a woman reported considerable trouble getting good reception one morning, and later when she looked out the window she saw a neighbor across the road dumping the vacuum cleaner bag. The interference had stopped when she turned the radio on.

Address Uncertain

Columbia, La., March 5 (AP)

WILLIAM HEARD received a letter from the circulation department of a Little Rock, Ark., newspaper advising him that his subscription would expire on March 8.

Heard replied yesterday in part: "I wish to inform you that if you read your paper as closely as I do...You would know that I will be hung on March 7...In view of the fact that I do not know my future address I am afraid our pleasant relations must be severed...."

Heard is one of the four convicts who escaped from the Cummins, Ark., prison farm last Labor Day and later were sentenced to hang for the killing of Frank Cartman, a posse member, near here. The four will be hanged here Friday, March 7.

Rural Meetings To Stress Milk Production

A series of rural meetings in a local Spring drive for greater production of milk begins at Young's Point Wednesday, March 12, at 8 o'clock standard time.

This promotional effort is being undertaken by the Peterborough Cheese Producers Association as part of an intensified effort to increase the flow of milk to the cheese factories as a means of ensuring fulfilment of Canada's contract with Great Britain this year.

Other meetings next week will be Thursday at 1.30 at Warsaw and at 8 p.m. at Hall's Glen; and Saturday at 1.30 p.m. at Norwood. In the second week of the campaign meetings are scheduled for Dunsford, Bobcaygeon and Hastings.

Want Discussion

Local speakers are being enrolled for this series, and more attention will be given to discussion rather than to speeches. The practical work of getting cattle ready for production earlier than usual will be the general theme of these meetings, and farmers will hear at first hand about the growing need of supplying more milk for cheese not only as their summer business, but also as a patriotic duty, for the reason that cheese is a concentrated food which the British people require.

Farmers are being asked to make a special effort to attend these meetings. Their response will be an indication of the co-operation which is likely to be put forth by the cheese industry in this district.

Laymen Enjoy Talk On Guns

MARMORA, March 6—(ENS). — St. Paul's Laymen's Association met in the Parish Hall on Wednesday evening with the president, R. G. Winters, in the chair. Prayer was offered by W. J. Cottrell.

Following a short business session, Glen McColl favored with two songs to his own guitar accompaniment.

Inspector Frank Gardner of Belleville, as guest speaker of the evening, gave an enlightening talk on the Thompson sub machine-gun, placing on exhibit the one allotted to his division. He also described the objects of the Ontario Volunteer Constabulary.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended the speaker, and after the benediction had been pronounced a social half-hour in which refreshments were served was enjoyed.

Mrs. M. J. McGarvey and Mrs. W. Cuddy are spending a few days with Miss Rose McGarvey in Toronto.

The lecture, "The Old Church in the New Dominion" under auspices of St. Paul's Sunday School was given in the Parish Hall on Tuesday evening.

Rural Dean A. B. Caldwell was the preacher at the weekly Lenten service at St. John's Church, Stirling, on Wednesday evening.

Miss Ann Rayburn visited friends here on Wednesday.

Mrs. J. C. Taylor and son John left on Wednesday for Whitby to join Mr. Taylor, who departed three weeks ago to take over the management of the Dominion Bank there.

Siren For Wrecks

ATLANTA, Mar. 6 — (AP). — Development of a compressed air siren that would automatically summon aid in plane disaster is suggested by Harold A. Littledale, assistant to the managing editor of the New York Times. He was one of the eight who survived the midnight crash of an Eastern Air Lines sleeper plane near here a week ago when eight persons died. The plane was not found until daylight, causing several of the injured to be pinned in the wreckage for five hours.

Quakers Lend Aid

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 6 — (AP) —The American Friends (Quakers) Service Committee has agreed to furnish a minimum of $10,000 a month for essential services and supplies for about five per cent. of London's air raid shelters.

Alberta Curlers Take Lead Downing Ontario

By SCOTT YOUNG
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

TORONTO, March 6 —(CP)—A masterful exhibition of precise curling by Howard Palmer today sent Alberta out in front of the Canadian curling championships with an 18-9 victory over Perry Hall's Ontario four in a battle highlighted by the play of the two crack skips.

The finest curling of a brilliant match came on the 10th end when Alberta scored a six-end to build up most of its winning margin. On that end, Hall's crisp shot-making was overshadowed by Palmer's seemingly-reckless curling which really decided the exciting match.

Standing

Standings after the seventh round was:

	Won	Lost
Alberta	6	1
Ontario	5	2
Manitoba	5	2
Saskatchewan	5	2
Nova Scotia	4	3
British Columbia	4	3
Northern Ontario	4	3
New Brunswick	1	6
Prince Edward Island	1	6
Quebec	0	7

Don Best Beaten

Meanwhile, Manitoba and Saskatchewan drew even with Ontario by winning seventh round matches, Manitoba beating Nova Scotia 11-7 while Saskatchewan stopped Northern Ontario by the same score. New Brunswick won its first game of the event 10-8 over Quebec and British Columbia defeated Prince Edward Island 11-8.

Alberta never relinquished the lead it took on the first end with a three, although Ontario pulled even on the third before dropping back again. When the rinks started the 10th end, Alberta led 12-6 but Ontario had been threatening on each end.

It was the feeling of the gallery that all Palmer had to do was to miss one of his own rocks and Ontario would be back in the running, because at the completion of each end there would be seven or eight rocks in the house, a few inches deciding the count one way or another. But Palmer didn't miss.

Alberta Lay Four

On the 10th he started drawing to the house, laying guards, spreading his rocks around to give Hall's rink-mates as little as possible at which to shoot. After Alberta had thrown five rocks, Ontario four, Alberta had four in the house. Jack Lucas, Ontario's third, drew finely to cut off three of them and lie second shot. But Alberta's third-man, Jack Lebeau, took that rock out, and again Alberta had four counters.

Then Lucas drew in to count shot rock, cutting off all four. Palmer tipped a guard and missed his shot, a daring one. Hall took immediate advantage, completing the shot Palmer had missed to give Ontario two counters, although Alberta still had five rocks lying in the outer portions of the house.

The tip-off on Palmer's next move was a long time coming. After a conference with Lebeau, he made the motion of splitting the two Ontario rocks and rose to his feet. The old-timers in the gallery laughed.

To take out both Ontario rocks he would have to hit the first one at an angle, raising it hard to hit the second one at an angle, making them pass on either side of an Alberta rock.

The shot looked impossible, involving as it drawing through a narrow port even before the angles could be estimated. The old-timers still were tut-tutting Palmer's decision to try the split instead of a draw up against the shot rock—a comparatively easy shot—when the Palmer rock curled through the house and completed exactly the shot Palmer had called.

Draw Failed.

Hall had a practically impossible shot to make for his last rock. Alberta had six in the house, mostly near the outer circle, so should Hall miss slightly he would merely raise an Alberta rock closer in. So he tried it the hard way — a draw through the outer rocks to shot—and failed, tipping the shot rock and skidding to the outer circle to leave the six Alberta rocks counting.

The other ends were much alike in exciting curling. Each skip was a master and difference mainly was in support. Alberta's third man, Jack Lebeau, had a few bad shots, but was bearing down when it counted.

Excellent curling by big Bill Dunbar sent Saskatchewan back into the thick of the race over Don Best's Northern Ontario four. It was strictly a knock-out game with seldom more than one rock in the house at a time. For instance, Best was slightly off on a knckout rock on the fifth which skidded through the house itself after tipping out Dunbar's rock, leaving a dead-end.

Best drew well for one counter in the 12th, but on the sixth and 10th missed draws which would have given him points. He was far off that form that gave him victory over Perry Hall last night.

Four Kiddies Die In York Township Fire

Four of the seven children of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mullen were burned to death in the home of their grandmother, Ashbury Avenue, York Township, near Toronto. The dead are Ernest 5, Lorraine 3, Doreen 1½, and Bobbie three months. The other three children were at school at the time of the fire. Mrs. Mullen ran to a neighbor to put in the alarm, but by the time she arrived back at the house it was impossible to enter it. Arrow points to window in room where children were trapped.

Davies New Head Empire Press

OTTAWA, March 6—(CP). — W. Rupert Davies, president and editor of the Kingston Whig-Standard and president of The Canadian Press was elected chairman of the Canadian section of the Empire Press Union at its annual meeting last night. Mr. Davies succeeds J. H. Woods of Calgary, who will be honorary chairman.

A resolution was adopted instructing Mr. Davies to write a letter of sympathy and encouragement to newspaper publishers of the British Isles, "who are carrying on in the face of trying war conditions."

Members of the executive committee were appointed as follows:

Representing the daily press—G. V. Ferguson, Winnipeg Free Press; Henri Gagnon, Quebec Le Soleil; H. P. Robinson, Saint John Times-Globe.

Representing the weekly press—E. Roy Sales, Renfrew Mercury.

Representing the periodical press—H. T. Hunter of Maclean Publishing Company, Toronto.

W. A. Craick of Industrial Canada, Toronto, was appointed honorary secretary-treasurer, and T. F. Drummie of the Saint John Telegraph-Journal, auditor.

The following were selected to represent the Canadian section of the council of the union: Mr. Davies; M. E. Nichols, Vancouver Daily Province; P. D. Ross, Ottawa Journal; J. W. Dafoe, Winnipeg Free Press; J. A. McNeil, general manager of The Canadian Press; Eugene Lamarche, Montreal La Presse; Senator W. H. Dennis, Halifax Herald; C. F. Crandall, British United Press.

Rev. W. A. Filer Arrives In City

Rev. W. A. Filer, the new minister at All Saints' Anglican Church, who is taking the place of the Rev. Canon Paterson, will make his first appearance before the congregation in the church next Sunday.

Today Mr. and Mrs. Filer are busy getting located in the rectory, and their boy, who is 14 years of age, started to Collegiate this morning. The other member of the family is a five-year-old daughter.

Mr. Filer comes to Peterborough from St. Luke's Church, at St. John, New Brunswick, where he has been pastor for the last ten years. At this charge he had the largest Sunday School in the whole of the New Brunswick diocese.

Born In England.

Mr. Filer was born in London, England, and received his primary and high school education there. He came to Canada and entered Wycliffe College in 1921, graduating in 1925. He served as curate at St. Anne's Church, Toronto, and later at the Church of the Epiphany in Toronto, under the late Dr. Dyson Hague, a brilliant scholar and preacher.

His first independent charge was at Brantford, where he was rector of St. Luke's Church, and it was from this church that he went to St. John, New Brunswick.

Mr. Filer's first visit to Peterborough was last August, at which time he had no idea he would receive a call from here. He was one of the speakers at the Bible Conference in Bobcaygeon during the summer holiday season.

Love Of Music.

The new minister is a great lover of sport, particularly hockey and baseball, and in his youth he played considerable English soccer and basketball. He has another hobby which is music, and the Sunday School will get plenty of attention from him. Mr. Filer has a deep appreciation of the problems facing industrial workers as his early life threw him into contact with them, and his friendly genial manner should soon endear him to this large Anglican congregation.

DEARTH OF BUILDERS

New Zealand is using so many men on defence projects that there is a scarcity of skilled workmen to construct needed homes.

Full Use Made Of Half Holiday

Wednesday afternoon of this week, the regular weekly half holiday for the staffs of the downtown stores was ideal for winter sports and the rinks, and ski hills of the district were thronged with skiers and skaters, young and old.

Up along the canal to the golf links skiers found the snow conditions perfect, and several stopped to watch ice cutting operations on Golf Link Bay. The Quaker rink had a big quota of skaters out, while Jackson Park, Armour Hill and several other good skiing spots had as many skiers as is usually seen on Sunday. It was the first Wednesday half holiday of the winter which had perfect weather for outdoor recreation.

At the Duffus Bowling Alleys, every alley was filled, not only by the teams of women bowlers, but by many business men who apparently are finding the half holiday a good time to get some well deserved recreation and exercise.

In the past clerks in stores had little time for enjoyment. They worked all week, including Saturday afternoon and evening and now the Wednesday half holiday gives them the same privilege enjoyed by factory workers, namely a half day for fun. Dealers in the city report that the extra play period is causing the sales of ski equipment and skating outfits to climb, and many young people, particularly girls who had not skated for several years are getting back at it this year.

Service Corps Drilling In Armories

In the Peterborough Armoury every Wednesday evening 100 members of the Women's Service Corps may be seen on parade from 6.45 p.m. until 7.45. The corps is divided into four platoons with approximately 25 members in each.

The object of the drills is to prepare Peterborough women against a national emergency, and the classes being conducted compare favorably with those of various men's units across the country. Each member of the force has taken the oath of allegiance, His Worship Mayor James Hamilton, and His Honor Judge Sheldon Smoke administering it some time ago.

Unite Various Corps

A movement is under consideration, by virture of which various similar women's organizations in the Dominion would be bound together, and would go under a common name. The now familiar "C.A.T.S." of Toronto is acting in a capacity much like the Peterborough W.S.C., but the R.C.A.F. has become the foster child of this organization, and most of the efforts of that group are bent in the direction of the airmen.

Parading is by no means the limit of indulgence of the members of the Peterborough unit, for classes in clerical work, motor mechanics, first aid and commissariat are held. The classes have been so arranged that each company will specialize, so to speak in one or other of the four mentioned departments for about three months, and will then rotate until all have been covered by each group.

Fully Organized

Patterned after the regular army, the sergeants and others of like ranks, and those in the line, salute the officers and the same form of parade discipline is observed.

R.Q.M.S. Harold Chate and R.S.M. Thomas Griffin, both of the Prince of Wales Rangers, have been instructing the officers and troops in military matters, while Lieut. Reg. Dixon, Dr. L. A. Clarke, Alfred O. Phillips and Miss Aileen Morgan have charge of various other departments.

Under the command of Miss F. Mitchell, the Chief Commandant, the following act in capacities corresponding to ranks of officers and N.C.O.'s in the army: Adjutant, Miss F. Bonnycastle; Regimental Sergeant Major, Miss Isobel Duffus; the Commanders of A. B. C. and D Companies respectively: Mrs. C. Collins, Miss L. Parsons, Miss Dorothy Brisbin, and Miss Fern Rahmel. The following are sergeants of those companies: Miss Louise Spriggs, Mrs. A. Moore, Miss Eileen Schoales, and Mrs. Madge Jopling.

With regimental appearing uniforms perhaps in the offing, the members of each of the companies are striving to make the best appearance possible, and the spectacle presented by the ladies on their weekly parade has become talked about to such an extent that many spectators are now in evidence each time.

Obituaries

OWEN JOHNSON

The funeral of the late Owen Johnson who passed away suddenly on his 61st birthday was largely attended by a large circle of relatives and friends.

The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. H. L. Roberts, of George Street United Church, of which the deceased was a member.

Left to mourn his loss are four daughters, Mrs. W. Buller, Mrs. John Godfrey, Mrs. Roy Orde, and Miss Elda Johnson, all of Peterborough. Also surviving are one sister, Mrs. Sherman Scriver, Hastings and two brothers, James Johnson of Peterborough and George Johnson of Leslie, Sask.

His wife, the former Margaret Lloyd, predeceased him four years ago.

The pall-bearers were Harry Dinsdale, Sherman Scriver, Wilfred Buller, John Godfrey, Roy Orde, and James Johnson.

Interment took place in Little Lake Cemetery.

MRS. MICHAEL J. MURPHY.

Mrs. Michael J. Murphy, the former Mary Gilbeau, passed away at her home, 260 Murray Street, after a short illness on Wednesday. She had lived in Peterborough for the past 40 years, and was a member of St. Peter's Cathedral.

Born in Hastings 66 years ago, Mrs. Murphy was well-known throughout the circle of the Catholic Church not only in Peterborough, but in the entire district.

Surviving are her husband, Michael J. Murphy; three daughters, Mrs. A. Crowley and Mrs. John Galvin of Peterborough, and Mrs. Charles Rose of Detroit; two sons, Pte. J. R. Murphy of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, now in Debert, N.S., and Connor Murphy of Windsor.

The remains are resting at the family residence, 260 Murray Street. The funeral will proceed to St. Peter's Cathedral Saturday morning for mass at 9 o'clock, and interment will be in St. Peter's Cemetery.

Asphodel Man Appears On 15 Charges

Alex Leaitch, farmer and drover, formerly of Asphodel pleaded not guilty in police court this morning to fifteen charges of having obtained live stock under false pretences from farmers, in Belmont, Asphodel, Dummer and Douro last August. The indictments alleged that false pretense was that the accused had an account in a Norwood bank.

There was a delay in the proceedings pending the arrival of Provincial Constable John A. Rogers from Toronto where he had been on business.

Then Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., announced that the crown would not be able to proceed today and after a protest from T. J. Carley, K.C. the case was adjourned until March 27.

Charges against Leaitch included the obtaining of three calves valued at $29.10 from Roy McArthur, Asphodel; four cattle valued at $125 from J. W. Davis, Asphodel; one cow valued at $48 from Peter White, Asphodel; six cattle from Andrew Quinlan, Asphodel, valued at $160; a cow valued at $30 from Gordon Girven, Asphodel; a cow from Jas. Mahoney, Douro, valued at $55; three cattle from P. J. Crowley, Asphodel, valued at $160; two cows from Joseph Purdy, Asphodel, valued at $70; five pigs from Leo Herr, Asphodel, valued at $58.75; three cattle from John C. Buchanan, Belmont, valued at $135.20; six pigs from Joseph Lytle, valued at $87.40; three cattle from James Longmuir, Belmont, valued at $65.10; a bull from Harry Morrow, Asphodel, value not stated; two hogs from Stanley Miles, Dummer, value not stated, and one calf and one sheep, value $20, from G. Newton, Belmont.

Air Force Plans To Recruit Here

In the past two months, the Royal Canadian Air Force Mobile Recruiting Unit has visited Peterborough twice, and it has been announced that the visits will be a monthly feature from now on. The next period of recruiting will be on March 10 and 11 in the committee room at the City Hall.

Since the beginning of the war, Peterborough has watched her young men turn their eyes toward the sky, and many of them wear wings on their chests today, and have joined comrades in England.

The requirements of the Air Force this month is the announcement that men being sought will be male stenographers, instrument makers, as well as members for air crews.

Super U.S. Committee

WASHINGTON, March 6 (AP).— President Roosevelt will set up a super-committee including four Cabinet members and possibly Harry L. Hopkins to help him dovetail the far-flung national defence and British air programs, reliable sources predicted to-day.

Full responsibility for production, it was emphasized, would continue to rest as heretofore upon the office of production management and its co-directors, Industrialist William S. Knudsen and Laborite Sidney Hillman.

Fund Receives $181.10 From The Police

Exactly three months after the fund to aid British War Victims had been started in this city, the contribution went over the $10,000 mark and it took the receipts from the recent police hockey game to do the trick. Today the figure stands at $10,060.69, a splendid total for such a short period.

F. G. Mann reported this morning that the local police department had been a little tardy in turning in the money because many of the force were tied up in the trials of the four robbery suspects, but today the proceeds were handed over, amounting to $181.00, and they had to pay a nominal sum for the use of the rink.

Another pleasing feature of today's list is that every contribution received since yesterday at noon is a repeat order from people who have made contributions before. The employees of the Canadian National Railways send along their 5th donation of $7.00, while a man who signs himself "In As Much," gave $5.00, which is his sixth donation. "Anonoymous," who happens to be a repeater, also gave $5.00.

Sale Of Old Cans.

Today also a cheque for $28.08 was received from the City of Peterborough and it covers the receipts from the sale of burnt cans from the city incinerator. Arrangements were made with a scrap metal buying concern last autumn and when a sufficient quantity of cans have accumulated they are trucked to Toronto by this firm, and then treated to reclaim the tin in them.

The list is as follows:

Previously acknowledged	$9,829.51
City Police Department	181.10
No Name (4th donation)	2.00
Employees, Canadian National Railways (5th donation)	7.00
In As Much (6th donation)	5.00
Anonymous (2nd donation)	8.00
City of Peterborough, sale tin cans from incinerator	28.08
Total to date	$10,060.69

Iraq Oil Goal Of Nazi Spring Drive

An Iraq native gazes across at the Mosul wells of Iraq, which, some experts say, will be one of three goals Adolf Hitler will set for himself this spring. These experts say Der Fuehrer will send his troops through Bulgaria and Turkey to seek the precious oil for his war machine. Another goal will be the attempted wholesale sinking of British merchant ships by Hitler's U-boats. The third would be an attack on Gibraltar by a drive through Spain.

Otonabee Spent $9,350 On Roads

KEENE, March 5.—The Otonabee council met on Monday with the members all present except Mr. Elmhirst who had been called to Toronto.

It was moved by Mr. Dawson, seconded by Mr. Davidson, that no accounts be paid in the future unless signed by council. On motion of Mr. Davidson and Mr. Spears the assessor will be paid $100 on salary.

Moved by Mr. Davidson, seconded by Mr. Spears that J. M. Hope be paid $24 for insurance on road machines for 1941 and $8.30 additional cost on 1940 premium.

Leap From Fire Fatal To Woman

OTTAWA, March 5—(CP).—Miss Elizabeth Lang, 50, of Ottawa died from injuries shortly after she leaped from the third floor of the Wendell apartments on Gloucester street in an effort to escape flames that swept through the building early Tuesday.

Miss Lang died a few minutes after admittance to hospital. Several others were injured seriously, including Miss Muriel Menard, said to be suffering from a broken back, and Miss Yvonne Richer, who has severe leg injuries.

Firemen who labored in freezing temperatures to control the blaze could give no clue to its origin. Unofficial information indicated the fire started on the third floor.

AFTER THE WAR'S OVER

MANCHESTER—(CP).—A union of free people, devoid of slave states, will follow Britain's victory, said Parliamentary Secretary Harold Nicholson, speaking to the Anglo-Swedish Society.

Midland Has Fine Record Amongst Canada's Forces

By E. S. CLARRY
(Old Millbrook Boy.)

OTTAWA, March 6.—As I stood on Wellington street, Ottawa, one day recently, I heard the strains of martial music. Looking eastward I saw a regiment of soldiers on the march. They were coming westward in my direction.

It is a quite common event to see men in uniform in Ottawa; not unusual to see regiments on parade and ordinarily I might have passed on over to the Chateau Laurier not particularly interested. My friend, however, casually remarked that this was the Midland regiment now stationed in Ottawa. I was at once interested for I realized that it was made up of men drawn in part from the County of Durham. There would be amongst them boys from Millbrook and Cavan. I therefore waited.

The Midland regiment marched past. They were smart looking fellows, everyone of them, and there was favorable comment by onlookers on their general appearance and their well held formations. Not having resided in Millbrook for a good number of years now, I did not expect to recognize anyone from the village and district, although I felt certain that some were passing me.

How Did It Get Its Name?

It did, however, cause me to meditate on the name of the regiment—the Midland—and from whence its name was derived. Regiments are invariably called after counties or district or by reason of their being associated in some way or other with an outstanding event or circumstances that is recorded in history.

What then was the reason for calling this regiment the Midland, drawn as it is from Durham and surrounding counties with which the word Midland is not ordinarily associated? I concluded that it was to perpetuate the name and the tradition of the regiment of the same name, recruited from the same municipalities for service in the Northwest Rebellion of 1885. In that respect it had a tradition and a glorious record to maintain.

Perhaps there were young men marching past whose grandfathers paraded under the same colors in 1885 to quell the uprising in that northwest territories that threatened the future of a young nation.

The Midland regiment of 1885 was a specially organized unit and was commanded by Lt.-Col. A. T. H. Williams of Port Hope, at that time Member of the House of Commons for the old Riding of East Durham. It was drawn from Durham and adjoining counties. One company was recruited in Millbrook, the Officer Commanding being the late Major C. H. Winslow. Apart from Major Winslow perhaps the most outstanding looking man of the company was the local patriot Sergeant McCorry, a striking figure with his long flowing white beard. One does not see men with long beards in the army today, and certainly not with white beards. Sergeant McCorry wore one though and he was strikingly conspicuous.

Had Fine Record

The Midlands had a very fine record in assisting in suppressing the Rebellion of '85, a record that was mingled with sadness in the death, while on active service, of its beloved Commanding Officer, Col. Williams.

I thought it might be interesting to know how many are still living of those who comprised the Millbrook company of the old Midland regiment that marched to the station in the Spring of '85 to fight for the Queen and Country. As far as present Millbrook residents are concerned, I believe that Sergeant's son, Ed. McCorry, is the only living member. Ira Nattrass, another members, passed away about a year ago.

When Reil, the rebel leader, was captured and was being transported to Regina where he later stood trial, and still later was hanged the Millbrook company was given the honor of supply one man for the guard. It may be of interest to many residents of the community to know that Ed. McCorry was selected. Perhaps Ed. too is the only one left of that guard.

If the Millbrook boys of the present Midland regiment live up to tradition they will bring back to the village from overseas a trophy of war and present it to the municipality.

It may be recalled that Millbrook company of the original Midlands brought back from the Northwest a church bell, which they presented to the village for use as a fire bell. Perhaps the Midlands of today, when they return from overseas will bring back the own clock from Berlin. We hope so.

Machine Will Clean Blackboard Brushes

LAKEFIELD, March 6 (ENS)—Purchase of a vacuum machine for cleaning blackboard brushes, will be made by the Lakefield public school board, with half of the cost borne by the high school board, as decided at the regular meeting on Monday evening, held in the council chamber.

The purchase followed a demonstration of the machine.

E. Sloan, principal, reported an attendance of 91% at school.

L. W. Copp, school inspector's report was received.

The report of the finance committee recommended payment of the following accounts: T. W. Chaplin, War Savings Stamps, 16.00; Bell Telephone Co., phone, 3.32; T. C. Yonge, duotowels, 6.80; The Porter Co. brooms, 2.00; George Pearson, half rink rent, 25.00; L.H.E.C., light, 21.73; E. H. Northey, supplies, 11.85; F. L. Erskine, supplies, 3.90; D. H. Webster, repairs maps, 8.00; total 104.85.

Those members present were F. L. Erskine, chairman, and trustees E. W. Bailey, M. O. Kingdon, E. J. Millage and E. H. Northey.

High School Board

Lakefield high school board met in the council chambers Monday evening with J. W. Ridpath, chairman, and trustees B. F. Blake and E. H. Northey present.

The report of the finance committee recommended payment of the following accounts: T. W. Chaplin, war savings stamps, 10.00, postage stamps, 3.00; Popular Mechanics Magazine subscription, 2.50; National Geographic Magazine subscription, 4.00; George Pearson, half rink rent, 25.00; E. H. Northey, supplies, 20.35; J. W. Ridpath, printing 2.00; Warne's Jewelry store, engraving, 6.25; total 78.10.

That Vitamin Bread

CHICAGO, March 6. — (AP) — Bakers from all parts of the United States met here today to formulate plans for the marketing of vitamin-enriched bread on a nationwide scale.

Dr. Russell M. Wilder, of Rochester, Minn., head of the National Research Council's committee on food and nutrition, told bakers that the need for early action in production of enriched flour and bread is emphasized by the defence emergency.

Threat To The East

London, March 6 (CP)

GERMANY'S move into Bulgaria constitutes a "threat to vital points in our empire in the east," L. S. Amery, secretary for India, said today.

"To the sound of German tanks and guns rumbling across Bulgaria the curtain is rising on a new act—it may be the supreme and decisive act—of a great world drama," he told a luncheon club.

The minister declared "the gravest danger, a blow at our heart, still confronts us nearer home." Rather than face the risks involved in an invasion of Britain, he continued, Hitler "may hope an attack upon our shipping, our docks and our cities may bring us to our knees without an actual invasion."

"Wherever we look, the situation is dangerous and difficult," he said.

Brig. Loggie Finishes Mechanizing Overseas Army

LONDON, March 6 — (CP). — The officer mainly responsible for the job of mechanizing the Canadian Army in Britain has successfully completed his task and returned the the Dominion.

Despite the importance of his work Brig. Gerald Purves Loggie, as Deputy-Adjutant and Quartermaster-General at Canadian Military Headquarters here, was pretty much an "unknown soldier" as far as the public was concerned.

(Brig. Loggie's arrival in Canada was announced on Sunday.)

Quietly, without fanfare, he saw that the Canadian Corps was equipped with its thousands of motor vehicles. Now he has returned home to take on other tasks. From his practical knowledge of the mechanical requirements of an army in the field he should be able to give valuable advice to those gearing up Canada's armament industry.

Even before the outbreak of war Brig. Loggie was in Britain planning a mechanization program for the Dominion's then limited forces. He came to London and set up offices in Canada House in October, 1937.

At that time the Dominion was buying most of its equipment from British plants. It was the Brigadier's task to see Canada obtained an equitable share of Britain's output.

As factories found it increasingly hard to keep pace with Britain's growing needs, the Canadian Department of National Defence decided to establish its own plant in England for the assembling of motor vehicles for the Canadian Army.

It was Brig. Loggie's job to establish and direct this program.

Worked Under Bombings.

In addition to all the normal production problems, he had to cope with the blast of bombs. He was faced with the task of running a factory in a battlefield. The thousands of army trucks that bear the maple leaf of the Canadian Corps are a monument to the fact he was able to do this.

His wife and two of his three children live in Winnipeg, but he hesitates to call Winnipeg his "home town." "A soldier's home is where his trunk is," he says. Fredericton, N.B., has a stronger claim on him. He was born there March 31, 1884.

His father commanded the 71st York Battalion, absorbed into the Carleton and York regiment. Loggie the younger followed his father's footsteps. He went to Royal Military College, Kingston, graduating in 1905. Graduate Loggie went to Quebec City, joined the artillery and was commissioned as a lieutenant on September 1 of that year.

For long service, Brig. Loggie stands fourth in Canadian army lists. Only Maj.-Gen. Anderson, Maj.-Gen. Constantine and Maj.-Gen. Elkins have served longer.

He was in the first draft sent from Quebec in November, 1905, to take over from the Royal Garrison Artillery, the last British unit to man the citadel at Halifax. For three years he was stationed in the cold and damp of the citadel, which was in a bad state of disrepair. His health broke and in 1910 he resigned his commission. But his health improved and in 1917 he was commissioned in the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps and posted to London, Ont. That fall he went to Calgary as district ordnance officer.

When the depression came Brig. Loggie found himself providing for big labor camps in addition to his normal military duties. Working under the direction of Brig. (not Lt.-Gen.) A. G. L. McNaughton, who conceived this plan for dealing with the unemployment problem, Brig. Loggie helped organize some 200 labor projects. Roads were built, airfields cleared, military training grounds levelled.

On May 1, 1936, Brig. Loggie went to headquarters of the ordnance depot at Ottawa, and soon after he was sent to England.

Don't ration his VITAMINS

Give him his daily HALIBORANGE

The Nicest Way of Taking Halibut Liver Oil

Children need added sources of vitamins A and D to make up for the absence of summer sunshine and fresh green vegetables. Give your kiddies a daily dose of natural A and D vitamins in the form of Haliborange. That will help to keep them strong and healthy. Haliborange provides the natural A and D vitamins contained in Halibut Liver Oil combined with a concentrated fresh orange juice of high quality. It is delicious to take. Haliborange is twice as rich in vitamins A and D as Cod Liver Oil of average B.P. standard.

Adults, too, often find Haliborange beneficial in helping to maintain correct nutrition. Try it.

Each gram of Haliborange contains
792 I.U. vitamin A
114 I.U. vitamin D

Canuck Material Impresses Commissioner

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, March 6—(CP Cable). — Malcolm MacDonald, High Commissioner designate to Canada, inspected Canadian troops stationed in Britain yesterday and said, "They look thoroughly at home here and are in position for defence of the Island if an onslaught is attempted, as we must expect."

He spent the morning with corps troops, accompanied by Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, the corps commander, Maj.-Gen. P. J. Montague, senior officer of Canadian Military Headquarters, Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner, and senior corps officers. The party was joined for lunch at corps headquarters by Maj.-Gen. Victor Odlum and Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, the divisional commanders, and their brigadiers.

Homburg in hand, the High Commissioner designate walked about bareheaded to see signallers, engineers, artillery, army service corps units, medicals and a western Quebec regiment at wrk.

He displayed special interest in new Canadian equipment and rode with an artillery squad on a large armored vehicle which pulls field guns. He met men from all parts of Canada, made several brief speeches, and talked with officers.

He told war correspondents he was "delighted with Gen. McNaughton and at being with the Canadian corps to see the troops." He added that "even in this brief visit I have seen examples of the fine organization here."

Fine Canadian Equipment

"I was impressed by the excellence of the different kinds of materials that Canada is sending over," Mr. MacDonald said. "The British public does not seem to understand that Canada is sending much more than tens of thousands of superb men. She is sending such things as vehicles with almost human adaptability for covering rough ground.

"I was impressed by the variety of the activities of the Canadian Corps, the way in which experts of the different branches of civil life are putting their knowledge to use in the army. Thirdly, I was impressed by the way in which the huge body of men have been efficiently transported here and have settled down. It is a tribute to fine staff work and it is remarkable in that it has been done in such a short time."

Mr. MacDonald said he is looking forward "in the highest degree" to his sojourn in Canada, where he could study at close range the Commonwealth Air Training Plan in which he said he is much interested.

"The plan is becoming one of our most important projects," he declared. "We will rely on it more and more as the war goes on. It is out of range of enemy actions, and conditions are as good as they can be for training."

Arrive Safely In England

Spirits are high as Royal Canadian Air Force graduates of the British commonwealth air training plan entrain for an eastern Canadian port. Word has just been received that this group has arrived safely in Great Britain.

Havelock Bingo Nets Sixteen Dollars For B.W.V.F.

HAVELOCK, March 6—(ENS).—The Eastern Star Patriotic Association work room was filled to capacity on Monday evening at the bingo game, sponsored by the association, in aid of the Peterborough district British War Victims' Fund, when the sum of $16.00 was realized.

All prizes were donated by well-wishers for the cause, and those present expressed themselves as having spent a very enjoyable evening.

After taking a vote of those present whether miscellaneous prizes or War Savings Stamps for prizes were most desired, the vote was greatly in favor of the stamps, and so starting again next week on Tuesday night, for the rest of the month War Savings Stamps will feature the majority of the prizes.

Four Quilts Finished.

Needles were busy in the Eastern Star Patriotic Association work rooms on Friday afternoon and evening, when four quilts were quilted and bound. Donations of tops for these were made by Mrs. D. Post, Mrs. Charles Kennedy, Neal Wrightly and Mrs. H. Hubble.

Numerous school pupils called for wool to knit for the British babies and our own soldiers. A large carton of clothing and quilts was packed for shipment to the Salvation Army Red Shields of Toronto.

Plans were made to work with the school children on Saturday, March 29th, when they will hold an afternoon tea and sale of home-made cooking and candy in the patriotic work room, the proceeds of which will go into the B.B.B. fund, to keep funds on hand to supply the pupils with material and wool to make wearing apparel for the British babies. The Association will furnish the lunch as their part. All work done by the pupils till that date will be on display and will be very interesting and worth while seeing.

Sixty-six parcels were mailed or delivered in person to the soldiers from Havelock, Cordova, and Belmont township this week, by the Eastern Star Patriotic Association.

Dr. Fryes, Alfalfa Seed Producer

EDMONTON, March 6—(CP).—A new variety of alfalfa has been developed at the University of Alberta after 17 years of research work, it was announced today by Dr. J. R. Fryer, professor of genetics in the Field Crops Department.

The new variety called "Ferax" is a high seed producer, thereby reaching a long-sought goal because present varieties of alfalfa are "notoriously fickle as seed setters," said Dr. Fryer.

So far 30 pounds of ferax has been produced in the University field plots and this has been distributed to six Alberta seed growers who are under contract to plant the seed in an effort to grow enough for much wide distribution next year.

The effort to develop a better seed producer began in 1924 when 25 varieties of alfalfa from various parts of the world were planted here. From this union the best seed producers were culled and by a process of careful selection the present seed was developed.

The new variety has been licensed by the Federal Seed Branch.

C.P. Sanctions Sale Of News

OTTAWA, Mar. 6 — (CP). — Members of The Canadian Press, co-operative news-gathering organization of the Dominion's daily newspapers, in annual meeting here yesterday adopted the principle that Canadian Press news may be sold for broadcasting under commercial sponsorship.

The resolution covering the subject read:

"That this annual meeting, having taken cognizance of the prevailing situation whereby The Canadian Press is placed at a serious disadvantage, because of present self-imposed restrictions upon the use of its news, adopt the general principle that Canadian Press news may be sold for commercial sponsorship on the air under terms and conditions to be determined by the board of directors."

W. Rupert Davies, president and editor of the Kingston Whig-Standard, was re-elected to the presidency.

A. R. Ford, managing editor, the London Free Press, was elected first vice-president, and H. P. Robinson, Saint John Times-Globe, was re-elected second vice-president; Henri Gagnon, Quebec Le Soleil, was re-elected honorary president.

The following directors were elected:

British Columbia: M. E. Nichols, Vancouver Province, and H. C. MacCallum, Victoria Colonist.

Alberta: Senator W. A. Buchanan, Lethbridge Herald, and Charles E. Campbell, Edmonton Bulletin.

Saskatchewan: Thomas Miller Moose Jaw Times-Herald, and D. B. Rogers, Regina Leader-Post.

Manitoba: W. McCurdy, Winnipeg Tribune, and G. V. Ferguson, Winnipeg Free Press.

Ontario: W. Rupert Davies, A. R. Ford, H. M. Hueston, Sarnia Canadian Observer, W. B. Preston, Brantford Expositor, F. I. Ker, Hamilton Spectator, and C. George McCullagh, Toronto Globe and Mail.

Quebec: Henri Gagnon, Georges Pelletier, Montreal Le Devoir, A. J. West, Montreal Star, and G. H. Carpenter, Montreal Gazette.

Maritime: Senator W. H. Dennis, Halifax Herald, H. P. Duchemin, Sydney Post-Record, and H. P. Robinson.

C. A. Day is treasurer and J. A. McNeil, general manager.

Life Of Luther Is Outlined To Y.P.U.

CAMPBELLFORD, Mar. 6 (ENS) —An interesting sketch on the life of Martin Luther formed the chief feature of the weekly meeting of St. John's Y.P.U. Rev. G. N. Maxwell was the speaker of the evening and President Len. Smith presided for the meeting. Principal item of business was the discussion of plans to hold a variety program on March 31., but the naming of committees was postponed until the next meeting. Mrs. Ruth Holmes contributed a reading as the only other item of the program. Assisting with the devotional period were Mrs. Mazo Archer, Miss Bernice Lisle, and Rev. Maxwell who offered a vocal solo.

Sen. J. J. Hughes Dies

SOURIS, P.E.I., March 6 — (CP). —Senator J. J. Hughes, 84, died at his home here to-day after an illness of two weeks. Appointed to the Senate for King's in September, 1925, Senator Hughes spent almost half his life in Parliament.

A Liberal, he was first elected to the Federal Parliament for King's constituency in 1900.

Waiver Weddings Rouse Maryland

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 6. — (AP).—A soaring number of "waiver weddings" and two "Gretna Greens" where once there was but one, threaten to sound the final knell for hasty wedding bells in Maryland.

Disclosure of the "waiver weddings"—those on licenses issued by judicial waiver of the state's 48-hour delay law—brought two measures into the State Geleral Assembly to tighten marriage laws.

To begin at the begging: In 937, the Legislature passed a law —avowedly aimed at Elkton, Maryland's "Gretna Green"—to require a 48-hour wait between application for an issuance of a license.

It drastically reduced Elkton's weddings at first, but the town began a marital business recovery when more stringent marriage laws took effect in nearby states.

Disclosure that nearly 30 per cent. of Elkton's 8,415 licenses last year were issued on court waivers marshalled legislators into a new attack on the problem.

Added protests followed when a check of Elkton court records showed 1,152 licenses in the last 14 months were granted on physicians' certificates that the "brides-to-be were pregnant."

Farmers building canals in Russia for their fields are entertained during rest periods by singers, dancers and actors.

Honor Banting Abroad

LONDON, March 6 (CP Cable).— In the famed grey church of St. Martin - in - the - Fields Canadians paid tribute today to the memory of Sir Frederick Banting.

The congregation, which included Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner, and Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, commander of the Canadian Corps, gathered in the historic bomb-scarred church and heard Canon G. C. Hepburn of Ottawa, chief protestant chaplain of Canada's overseas army, describe the man who lost his life coming to the aid of Britain as "a great citizen of the world."

ELSIE SAYS:

Magic Chocolate Frosting

2 squares unsweetened chocolate
1¼ cups (1 can) Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk
1 tablespoon water

Melt chocolate in double boiler. Add Eagle Brand, stir over rapidly boiling water 5 minutes until it thickens. Add water. Cool. Spread on cold cake. Makes enough to cover tops and sides of 2 (9-inch) layers or top and sides of loaf cake or 24-cup cakes. Use three squares of chocolate for a strong chocolate frosting and four squares for bittersweet.

English War Guests Are Interviewed

An interesting and humorous interview by Miss Rachael Young of three English war guests, Marguerite Walker, who comes from near Newcastle on Tyne; Clifford Roydhouse, Hull; Stanley Feneron, North London, was a highlight of Trinity Club weekly meeting. Queried by Miss Young regarding their experiences during British air-raids, the young visitors said that they had left before serious attacks began. Secrecy surrounded their departure from England, and although escorted by destroyers as part of the convoy of twenty-four ships, they made the crossing in eleven days. Asked what impressed them most in Canada, they replied "the sense of freedom, liberty, and the feeling of largeness," and remarked that although Canadian trains are larger than the British, they are slower and "smokier."

A politeness resulting, probably, from a stricter discipline than is experienced by Canadian children, was noted, and the trio, by their cheerfulness and confidence, exemplified the traditional spirit of the British people.

The "Friendship" theme of the devotional period was ably presented by Miss Audrey Garside, leader, Miss Elva Elliott, Miss Irish Whalon and Mr. William Petrie. Refreshments were served after the meeting, which closed with community singing.

Membership Of C.W.L. Increases

The March meeting of the Catholic Women's League was held Wednesday evening in the Stone School, Rubidge street, with the president, Miss L. Hurley, in the chair. It opened with prayer, and the first vice-president reported an increased membership of seven. The third vice-president, Mrs. F. J. Lynch, read an interesting report on war work and Red Cross activities.

A nominating committee was appointed under the convener-ship of Mrs F. J. Hickey. The meeting was addressed briefly by Rev. Father Greenan of St. Peter's Cathedral staff, and closed with the National Anthem.

Highlanders To Receive 4th Bale

A third bale of handkerchiefs, scarves, mitts and wristlets has been forwarded by the Women's Auxiliary to the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders to the battalion at Debert, Nova Scotia, and a fourth bale is to be sent this week-end. $10 is to be spent on games, bought in Peterborough, to be included in this bale.

Magazines will be collected by members, and gathered and forwarded by the Boy Scouts. Plans are underway for a spring tea on April 16, at which a beautiful dresden plate quilt made by the sewing committee, of which Miss Isobel Brealey is convener, will be raffled.

Mrs. Herbert Mason, second vice-president, was in the chair for the meeting, which is the 11th to be held by the Auxiliary, and took place Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. W. R. Philp was appointed assistant treasurer, and Miss Claire Mason corresponding secretary.

Story of Glass Is Full of Romance

"The story of blown glass is redolent with romance and adventure, its very primitiveness appealing to the imagination of artists," Mrs. Fred E. Hooper told members of the Guild of Arts and Crafts when she presented a paper on the subject at a meeting held at the home of Mrs. C. H. Saunders. Blown glass has been in use for so many centuries that we do not know when it was first manufactured. Tombs of ancient Egyptians built more than 3,000 years B.C. show glass blowers at work, and specimens of glass that were made more than 2,000 B.C. have been found in other tombs of ancient people. All of the articles discovered are of colored glass.

The early history of glass manufacture in England is decidedly obscure, Mrs. Hooper said. There can be little doubt that it was introduced by the Romans, for glass was an indispensable adjunct in Roman life. Glass blowing was once a form of entertainment, and has reached the higher realm of art in Germany. It has always been a popular trade in Mexico. Because of the primitve method of manufacture no modern glass making devices have found their way to Mexico, and when the craftsman tires of making jars, plates and candlesticks, he makes fish and soldiers and roosters in glass. Mexican animals are delightful creations and there is something appealing about a pale, wide-eyed pink fish.

Glass making is a very old art, and the beginnings are veiled in the dim mists of unrecorded days. Once the master workers made their wares for the wealthy few, but today science and art make it possible for the average home in humble fashion to possess a collection which not only provides a delightful recreation, but a source of considerable pride.

Methods of shaping glass, blowing, pressing and casting were outlined, and the art of its manufacture through the centuries described

Tells Of Finland And Its Customs

Finland, its people and its customs was subject for an excellent talk given on Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. E. M. Leeson at the March meeting of Otonabee Chapter, I. O.D.E. Introduced by Mrs. K. S. Wightman, Mrs. Leeson reviewed also the Finnish book by Unto Seppanen, "Sun and Storm," which gave a vivid insight into the lives and character of the Finnish people. Tribute was also paid to the late Dr. Banting when Mrs. Leeson read an extract from a play by Robert Sherwood. A vote of thanks to the speaker was moved by Mrs. B. Jackson.

Mrs. F. L. Robinson was in the chair for the meeting, held in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A. Reports were received from various committees, including the wool committee convener, who reported a box sent to headquarters at Hamilton. A letter was read from Mr K. S. Wightman in which thanks was expressed to the order for $40 donated for books and the purchase of milk in schools. A large carton of items received at the shower held at the home of Mrs. R. R. Hall was sent on to the school at Whitney. The meeting closed with the National Anthem.

GENIUS IS ALL RIGHT, BUT GO-GETTERS PAY THE BILLS

When a Girl Has to Make a Choice Between an Intellectual or a Money-Maker, She Should Think of the Future

✧ ✧ ✧

Dear Miss Dix.—I am 24 years of age and have a choice between marrying two men. One is on my own intellecutal plane, but he is unable to make a living. In the five years that I have known him he has drifted from place to place without ever being able to hold a job. The other man is the same age, but he has made a tremendous progress, is at the head of a large firm and has an excellent income. However, in his anxiety to get ahead financially, he has overlooked the intellectual side of life and, although he has two or three years of college, he doesn't indicate it. Now which is the better bet, matrimonially speaking? The first man with whom I can speak, but who is a failure financially, or the second man, who is a success in business, even though there is an intellectual gulf between us?—Puzzled.

Answer.—I should say that your choice would depend on whether you prefer to feed your body or your soul. But whichever one of these men you marry, you will regret it and wish that you had chosen the other.

Suppose you take the intellectual man with whom you can discuss transcendental philosophy but not the grocery bill. You might enjoy a marvelous companionship with him if, alas and alack, you were not under the painful necessity of eating and having somewhere to lay your head and if custom did not require you to go about clothed.

Realistic Moments

Nothing is more idyllic than to dream of having a husband who speaks your language, who is interested in the cultural things you are interested in, who does on poetry, music and art, and who is more thrilled by a new thought than by the stock market.

About 29 days of the month that sort of a man would prove a most satisfactory husband, but on the 30th when the bills commenced coming in, when the landlord clamors for his rent and the butcher reminds you that your credit is exhausted; when all the other women have new frocks and you are so shabby that you are ashamed to be seen, why, they you will wish that you had married the man who didn't know so much about books and knew more about making a living.

Genius Grows Tiresome.

Also, a woman is burned up by the knowledge that her husband cannot hold his own among other men. She gets sicks and tired of sympathizing with a poor, unappreciated genius who can't sell his wares or turn his talents to any use.

It gets on her nerves having to explain his failure to her friends and being pitied by them, and it ends by her having a contempt for him as a weakling.

On the other hand, a woman is bound to respect the man who succeeds in business, because it takes strength of character, it takes brains, it takes grit and courage and self-denial and the ability to take punishment for a man to win a place in the sun in the commercial world in this day of fierce competition.

And there is no gainsaying the fact that mighty few of us women really prefer plain living and high thinking to filet mignon and orchids. There are few books so absorbingly interesting as a checkbook.

Marry the Go-Getter

So there you are. One of these men may feed your soul and the other your body. One may starve you, the other bore you. But between the two I should say that the best matrimonial bet is the go-getter, for you can find plenty of other people who can supply you with all the intellectual conversation you crave, but nobody but your husband is going to pay your board bill and shipping ticket.

But why marry either one of these men? Why not wait and find one who is both a highbrow and a money-maker But one thing I charge you—whichever one you marry take him "as is." Don't badger the dreamer with not being a good provider, and don't scorn the business man because he is shy on poetry. It isn't cricket.

Husbands Like Shrinking Violets.

Dear Miss Dix.—I am the wife of a school principal. He has a doctor's degree from Stanford University, which I helped him to get by working to put him through it. Not having a college education myself has given me an inferiority complex, and I am jealous to distraction of his pretty teachers and secretary. What can I do to keep in his class? I used to be mentally alert when I worked. Now I am bored, bored, bored with myself. Should I leave my husband before he does me for someone with a better education?—Mrs. H.

Answer. — You are certainly a forward-looking woman if you contemplate beating your husband to a divorce before he even intimates that he is tired of you and is thinking of leaving you for some one else. It is time enough for a wife to take such a desperate step as that when it is forced upon her and she has something to go upon besides he rimaginings.

You are also borrowing trouble when you think that not having a college education is a matrimonial handicap. On the contrary, it is quite the other way about, for statstics show that girls who have never been to college have a far better chance of marrying than those who have. Now has it ever been shown that his wife's education has anything to do with a husband being faithful or unfaithful to her.

As a matter of fact, most men like women who are intelligent without being brilliant; who have a fair education without belonging to the intelligentsia; who read the six best sellers but who are not bookworms; who can gossip pleasantly but who don't pontificate; who know enough to follow a man in what he is saying but who are not such authorities that they beat him in an argument and make him feel small. And, above all, they like a woman who looks up to them as oracles.

A very clever man once said to me that he enjoyed the conversation of intellectual women very much, but that he wouldn't be married to one of them for anything on earth.

"When I go home at night," he said, "I like to listen to my wife babble on about the baby's new tooth, and what the cook said to the butcher boy, and the cute thing the cat did, and the Smith girl going to marry the Jones boy, and so on. I don't want a wife with whom I will always have to be putting on an intellectual snow and trying to live up, and God save me from one who would want to discuss the political situation, or the trend in modern literature."

So there you are lady, and the chances are that you have no reason to be jealous of your husband's fellow teachers. They probably bore him stiff and he is glad enough to get back to you.

But if you put such a value on a college education, why in heaven's name don't you get one? There was an account in the ppaers the other day of a woman who got her M.A. after she was 70.

FASHIONS

Your little girl will love this dress that is a copy of the older girls' favorite. The straight bodice and flared skirt are both fashion points that make this jumper one of the newest. A perky bolero completes this first spring costume that is practical and smart to wear right now. Make several cotton blouses for quick and easy changes and your young daughter will always look spick and span. Dark sturdy cotton or rayon is ideal for the jumper and jacket whether she wears it now or later.

Style No. 2827 is designed for sizes 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. Size 8 requires 1½ yards of 39-inch fabric for jumper, ¾ yard for bolero, 1⅛ yards for blouse.

DON'T JUST "PERFUME" CHAPPED HANDS!

Help HEAL them with this MEDICATED cream

CHAPPED HANDS are CUT hands, a form of skin irritation like chafing, coupled with tiny cracks in the skin itself. That's why merely "perfuming" chapped hands with something pleasantly fragrant may not give you the quick, soothing relief and the soft, white hands you want.

Instead, try NOXZEMA. Because Noxzema is a MEDICATED skin cream that helps promote quick healing of those tiny cuts, helps restore red, rough hands to their normal soft, white loveliness—almost overnight!

Just look at the unretouched photographs of the same hands, above. Notice the remarkable improvement in the one hand on which Noxzema was used!

Make this "one hand" test!

Nurses were the first to discover how grand Noxzema is for chapped hands. Now millions of men and women use it regularly. Why not see how much it will do for you? Put this soothing, greaseless cream on one hand—nothing on the other. Do this for several days and then compare your two hands. See if you don't find your chapped hands heal FASTER with Noxzema, if they don't look softer, smoother, whiter than with anything else you've tried! Get the special 25c jar of Noxzema for only 19c at your druggist's and make this test today!

New-Found Homage Is Paid To Those Who Observe Lent

(By Mary Moore)

Being neither an Anglican nor a Catholic but acutely aware of Lent because readers want help with their meatless meals—I have observed Lent only through the Cookery Page. But on Ash Wednesday we had a Catholic guest, who has given herself a reputation for being "a carnivorous animal." Her idea of a good meal is a pound of steak (very thick), a sizeable green salad with French Dressing, crackers and cheese; OR Roast Leg of Lamb (aplenty), fresh green peas, and shredded pineapple.

When she turned up on Wednesday and we had a huge platter full of Roasted Stuffed Calves' Hearts (one of her favorite dishes), she pulls out of her pocket a can of sardines saying "Hi, folks, I brought my supper!" And what's more she liked it.

I strongly suspect myself of being carnivorous too, for I was full of admiration for her 100 per cent disinterest in our meat course.

Consequently Lent has new meaning to me this year. I hereby bow to all Lent observers with newfound homage: it does require control; it does command respect; it does cleanse the spirit.

My theme today is not fish. Our above-mentioned friend thinks it a costly item,—and while I do too, I love it. Maybe it is because fish is so good we want so much of it we feel the pinch. That is why this is a vegetable and egg eulogy.

The following Mushroom idea is not new to many of you but it is such a satisfactory substitute for meat that it deserves your trial,—then it will have a place in your current cooking file.

BAKED MUSHROOMS (recommended whole-heartedly)

Prepare 1½ pounds fresh mushrooms, by washing them in three waters, by rubbing them gently between the hands—they do not need to be scrubbed nor peeled. Place in buttered baking dish for which you have a cover, season with salt and black pepper, dot with 3 tablespoons butter and add ½ cup cream. Cover and bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for about 20 minutes. Now a nice addition to the liquid that forms under them if they are for a Fast Day is a teaspoon of Vegex—(are you familiar with this all-vegetable extract with a meat flavor?). If not for a Fast Day use a teaspoon Beef Extract, or cube to flavor this basting broth. Baste mushrooms twice during baking, and remove lid to give them a slightly baked appearance just before serving.

Laura's Vegetable Plate

If you were a member of my family you'd know what an invitation to Laura's meant—a mighty fine meal. She wouldn't serve a vegetable plate unless it was an artistic masterpiece. She has a very large chop platter which she bought at an auction sale for 15 cents—it is Mexican pottery with a rust red border and jade green laurel leaves. Picture a snowy cauliflower in the centre, caressed with smooth Hollandaise (or cheese sauce) flanked with baked tomatoes stuffed with fluffy boiled rice, between which are bright green mounds of shredded green beans, sprinkled sparingly with buttered crumbs and paprika.

Emem's Hybrid Omelette

This is a cross between a fluffy omelette and a cheese souffle. I stumbled on it by accident for just when I had the souffle ready for the oven my family came home a half hour ahead of time—so I poured into a piping hot frying pan, watched it fairly closely to get the bottom browned for the turning, then I turned it over—and did the other side crusty brown. Having the 1 cup of cream sauce in it to give it body it did not collapse with this rather rough treatment, and the family thought its tops: 2 tablespoons each flour and butter, 1 cup milk, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 to 1½ cups cheese, 3 or 4 eggs, ¼ teaspoon mustard optional. Melt butter, stir in flour and salt and pepper and mustard if used, then milk until it is thick. Add this to the cheese and egg yolks and beat well. Beat whites until almost stiff and fold into sauce and cheese mixture. Either bake as above, omelette fashion, or pour into buttered baking dish and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 50 minutes. (On non-Lenten days the bake souffle may be covered with strips of rindless side bacon for a change.)

Corn Fritters

These I frankly admit are here just because I like them so.

One cup canned corn (preferably Bantam), ⅔ cup sifted flour, ½ teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, few grains paprika, 1 egg. Sift the dry ingredients and mix with the corn. Beat the yolk and white of egg separately and add yolk to mixture, then fold in white. Drop by spoonfuls into hot fat at 370 deg. Fahr. Drain on unglazed paper.

Write in for the Lenten dishes you want.

To Wed During Easter Season

Among weddings planned for the Easter season is that of Audrey Allworth, elder daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Claris Edwin Silcox of Toronto, and Mr. Kenneth Arthur Weldon of Windsor, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Weldon of Peterborough.

Wood-Sproat Vows In Knox Church

A quiet wedding took place at three o'clock this afternoon in Knox United Church, Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt officiating, when Miss Marjorie Isabel Sproat, daughter of Mr. Thomas Sproat and the late Mrs. Sproat, 264 Stewart street, was united in marriage to Mr. Kenneth A. Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hy Wood, 349 McGill street.

The bride wore an ensemble of turquoise blue crepe, with corsage of pink roses and sweet peas, and Miss Margaret Sproat, who attended her sister, wore a frock of rose crepe with matching turban, and corsage of Talisman roses. Mr. Fraser Dunsfield was groomsman.

A reception was held at Hooper's Palm Rooms for the immediate families, Mr. and Mrs. Wood leaving later on a motor trip, the bride travelling in a smart printed frock and grey tweed reversible coat with black accessories. They will make their home in Trenton.

gram was in charge of Mrs. Geo. Spence and Mrs. J. Knox.

In the absence of Mrs. Knox through illness, Mrs. P. H. Darling took the chapter of the study book, "Links between the East and West," dealing with the lives of Miss Archibald and Dr. Mash.

In keeping with the theme for March and the Missionary Monthly program, Mrs. J. McKercher gave an interesting paper on 'Stewardship of Personality.'

Following the meeting the hostess served tea and a pleasant social half hour was spent. The April meeting will be held at the home of Miss Margaret Sanderson.

WE . . . NOTICED

. . . Because you stay at home is no reason why you can't wear colored woollens. The cold winds of March may demand wools, but they need not be sombre. Pastels and bright colors are effective, and they are perfect for reviving both spirits and wardrobes at this time of the year.

✧ ✧ ✧

. . . While navy or black may be the backbone of your wardrobe, you will want to add a little variety by means of warm pinks, slate blues, a dress of beige or gold, a mustardy yellow, or a green in either the clear tones that are advancing spring news, or the yellowish greens that are good both now and then. Whatever costume you select, two colors will make it all the smarter, or two tones of the same color.

✧ ✧ ✧

. . . When it is time to discard a heavy topcoat, your little wool suit or costume of dress and jacket will look just as well under the warm spring sunshine. On cool days, pastel wool sweaters will lend the necessary warmth to a suit, and as late spring approaches, your suit will be comfortable with blouses.

DO YOU KNOW . . .

✧ ✧ ✧

To keep cut bananas from turning dark, dip the slices into fresh lemon or orange juice.

✧ ✧ ✧

Chamois gloves will not become hard after washing if a few drops of olive oil are added to the water; the oil also helps preserve the chamois.

Lakefield W.M.S. Plans Holding Tea

LAKEFIELD, March 6.—(ENS).—Arrangements for an afternoon tea at the home of Mrs. Frank Darling on March 14 were completed at the regular meeting of the W.M.S. of the United church, held at the home of Mrs. G. A. Kelly on Tuesday afternoon. The proceeds will be devoted toward the expense fund. Committees appointed were: In charge of tea arrangements, Mrs. J. McKercher, Mrs. W. J. Charlton, Mrs. (Dr.) G. E. Renwick. Home-cooking, Mrs. E. J. Millage and Miss Margaret Sanderson.

The devotional part of the program was in charge of Mrs. Geo. Spence and Mrs. J. Knox.

In the absence of Mrs. Knox through illness, Mrs. P. H. Darling took the chapter of the study book, "Links between the East and West," dealing with the lives of Miss Archibald and Dr. Mash.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, March 7

INCREASING activity carrying over from yesterday is indicated by the lunar aspects. There may be highly spurred and quick moving enterprise in putting over meritorious and ambitious projects, but be ready for some duplicity, sharp practice or other subtle entanglements. Also there may be petty annoyances, delays and temporary frustrations, but in the end it is possible that public, group or community cooperation will be forthcoming. The high purpose of the goal may decide this.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of increasing activity and initiative, with things moving at high tempo to lofty goals of ambition. There should be excellent opportunity for financial gain, with prestige and social standing accelerated.

A child born on this day should be splendidly equipped for a happy, prosperous and useful life. It will be extremely versatile, efficient and lucky although it may have certain ignoble tendencies to be subjugated.

was stationed. Many of the officers and men had been guests at his home within recent months while his wife worked in a nearby canteen catering to the needs of the troops.

Mr. Peake expressed his unqualified confidence in the spirit of the British people and in the thoroughness of the preparations to meet the possibility of an invasion attempt.

"If the enemy should come they will find the people as one under the inspiring leadership of our great Prime Minister," he said.

Sports Spice

By EDDIE BRIETZ
A.P. Sports Writer

NEW YORK, March 6.—(AP). — Bill Terry and Horace Stoneham ought to get together....A few weeks back Horace said Mel Ott and Carl Hubbell are as much a part of the Giants as the Polo Grounds....Now Terry says he'd trade every guy on the club except Babe Young and Johnny Rucker... They say Ted Williams signed up as soon as he heard Mike Ryba was with the Red Sox....Mike once fanned Theodore four times in one afternoon.

Grapefruit League.

Frank Shaugsnessy, president of the International League, can't go to sleep nights until he has read all the comics....The two Cincinnati coaches—Hank Gowdy and Jewel Ens—celebrate their birthdays on Aug. 24 and were born the same year, 1889....Terry Moore figures major leaguers spend $100 a year for equipment. Most expensive item is shoes at $18 a pair....Carl Hubbell and Freddie Fitzsimmons are the only two National League hurlers with more than 200 victories to their credit.

To-day's Guest Star.

Bill Cunningham, Boston Post: "Babe Dahlgren's sale was the tip on the Yanks....Reasoning seems to be that if the Yanks are in such a gambling mood that they'd sell the only bottled in bond first baseman they have, even if he tests only around 65 per cent. proof at the dish, they have something in mind and that can be only a pennant.... It's a little like adding a hank of rope and a bottle of ink and getting Hedy Lamarr."

Gene Tunney is coming up with a book, "You Can Do It, Too," in which he tells what military service did for him....In two years of bowling in a Detroit league, Mrs. Theresa Lotz has varied only one pin from her average.

Trade Sanctions Enter Feud

GLACE BAY, N.S., March 6. — (CP).—Trade sanctions entered the picture to-day as the Sydney-Glace Bay hockey feud reached a new peak with businessmen of both Allan Cup-mad towns taking up the battle.

Confined to hockey at first, the argument arose over Sydney's protest against the use of Goalie Bill Fraser in the Glace Bay nets in their current Cape Breton league play-off final. It was taken up last night by Glace Bay business men, who decided to boycott Sydney wholesale and retail merchants until the Millionaires drop their protest.

The Glace Bay Board of Trade endorsed the boycott, decided upon at a special meeting when it was claimed Sydney had protested Fraser's eligibility only after "they were coming out on the losing end." Glace Bay leads the best-of-seven final three games to nothing.

The series was ordered suspended last night by League President A. D. Campbell pending a telegraphic vote among the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association executive on Fraser's case. Fraser was borrowed by the Miners from North Sydney of the same league when Jimmy Foster, regular goalie, was disqualified near the end of the season for transfer irregularities.

Everyone Loves Singing Cowboy Songs at Parties

Songbook Starts the Fun Going

A good old cowboy songfest to make everyone friendly! United round the songbook, bashful guests are soon roaring "RIDIN' DOWN THAT OLD TEXAS TRAIL" with great relish.

"Oh my darlin' stay at home
Please don't go on the roam
Don't be ridin' down that old Texas trail!"

They also go for "THE BORDER AFFAIR" in a big way:

"I don't claim to be a lover
Conqu'ring hearts the whole world over,
There's but one whose heart I won.
Mi Amor, Mi Corazon!" (My Love. My Heart!)

And who doesn't adore "MISSOURI JOE," the traditional tough guy?

"He could get aboard a fast express
And holler 'Hold 'em high!
Don't any man take down his hands
Unless he wants to die!' "

If you know any better way of having fun, we have to be shown! Our 24-page songbook has your favorite cowboy songs, all 19 of them, including "Git Along Little Dogies", "Red River Valley", "Home on the Range", "Good-bye Old Paint."

Send 15c in coins or stamps for your copy of POPULAR COWBOY SONGS to Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

PLAY SECOND HAND HIGH

OH, HOW we wish contract players never heard of the old Whist maxims, including "second hand low, third hand high." There are so many times that should be reversed. It would be better if nobody ever tried to get up a rule to cover those situations, or if they formulated a more basic rule, simply this: "Use your head." If those old rules are treated merely as an aid to your thoughts, all right. But when they become a substitute for thought, they can cost more points than they are worth.

Against that bidding, West led the dummy's second suit, his spade 9, covered by the J, Q and K. The diamond 2 went to the K and the heart J was sent through to the Q. West returned the spade 6 to the A and the heart 9 was ducked by East. Then came the crucial error by East. On the club 2, he played "second hand low," his 6, the 10 losing to the K. West fired back the diamond 9 to the Q, and declarer took next the diamond A and 10 in dummy. When he then led the club 7 to East's now lone Q, West ducked and East was the victim of an end-play.

Holding now only the heart A and the spade 10-7, East could take only his heart A and his spade 10, and then had to lead his spade 7 to dummy's 8. Thus the contract was set only one trick.

At other tables in the same duplicate game, the contract was set another trick because East played his club Q on the first round of that suit. This enabled the side to get three tricks in the suit instead of two. East should see that using his Q early would clear the way for whatever West had in the suit, if anything, and could cost nothing if West had nothing in it.

Woman Gets 2 Years

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Mar. 5—(CP). — Mrs. Margaret Goodman, 29, who yesterday pleaded guilty to the theft of $14,692 from St. Catharines Cold Storage and Forwarding Company, was sentenced to-day by Magistrate Campbell to imprisonment for two years less a day definite and a similar term indefinite.

Mrs. Goodman had been employed by the firm as a bookkeeper since 1928 and received a salary of $15.00 a week.

The fact that she was paid a small wage had nothing to do with the merits of the case, Magistrate Campbell said.

Apsley Pastor Honored By Congregation

APSLEY, March 6 (ENS). — The members of the congregation of Apsley United church met for a social evening of games and contests at the home of Mrs. Norman Wilson on Thursday, in honor of the Rev. R. and Mrs. McMullen and her mother, Mrs. W. G. Smith. Rev. Mr. McMullen has been for the past five years, pastor of the Apsley United church.

During the evening a lovely electric floor lamp was presented to them. The presentation was made by Mr. Herb. Tucker. A pair of book ends was also presented to Mrs. McMullen by Mrs. Don. Newberry. Mr. S. Carr, a former minister of the church, made an appropriate speech. Mr. McMullen spoke a few words of thanks for himself and Mrs. McMullen and Mrs. W. G. Smith.

Lunch was served by the hostess and lady helpers. Rev. and Mrs. McMullen and Mrs. Smith left the village on Saturday for their new parish about 6 miles from Perth.

The board of directors of the Apsley Red Cross Hospital met on Friday evening in the hospital. Mr. Norman Lean opened the meeting and asked Mrs. N. Wilson to act as secretary. Several letters were read, among them being new rules for use of the different Red Cross branches.

Two pair of white blankets had been purchased for use in the outpost. Tenders were put out for cord wood during the past month. No tenders were received.

Lunch was served at the close of the meeting.

The Saturday night euchre party was held in the Public Library, and was sponsored by the Women's Institute. Mrs. Charles Smith and Mrs. N. James were joint hostesses. Five tables of euchre were played. Miss Ashenhurst won ladies first prize. Mr. Don. Newberry won gentleman's first prize. Mrs. F. Tanner and Master W. Scott won consolations. Lunch was served by the ladies afterwards. The next card party will be held in the Library on Saturday, March 8.

Mr. Tom Staples is a patient in the Apsley Red Cross Hospital.

Miss Virginia Smith, Peterborough, and Miss Evelyn Reid, Lakefield, spent the week-end at their respective homes.

Pte. Bob Scott spent 2 weeks' leave at his home at Loon Lake. He has now returned to Lindsay.

Mr. and Mrs. H. McColl, Dr. C. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. C. McColl were among those who spent Saturday in Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tucker and daughters, Irene and Holly, spent Sunday with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Reynolds, Clanricarde.

Mrs. F. Tanner, Mr. Fred Tanner, Mr. and Mrs. V. Young, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Skelcher, near Lakefield.

Master Terry Skelcher is spending a few days with his grandparents at Chandos.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Ointment are guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Lean.

Dog Saves Blind Man

TORONTO, March 6 — (CP). — Edwin Spencer, 75, blind pensioner, was led to safety last night by his black collie Trixie when fire broke out in his home.

Spencer said he heard the dog barking and opened the door to let it in. The dog continued to whimper and then he smelled smoke. "With the dog leading me I felt my way to the front of the house," he said.

Turkey Looks To Her Arms As Germans Invade Bulgaria

With German troops massing in Bulgaria with the obvious intention of striking at Greece, Turkey, Greece's ally, is looking to its arms in preparation of going to the aid of the Greeks should the Nazis attempt to save their Italian ally from the stinging defeats being handed them in Albania. Turkey has announced that the recently signed non-aggression pact signed with Bulgaria is no longer binding as she signed with a free nation and not a German province—which is what Bulgaria has now become. Anthony Eden, who with General Dill recently visited Turkey, is reported to be satisfied that the Turks will honor their obligations to Greece and Britain.

Activities Of Red Cross Branch Are Reviewed At Havelock Meet

HAVELOCK, March 6—(ENS). — The weekly meeting of the Red Cross Society was held on Tuesday afternoon in the council chamber, at 2.30 o'clock, with an attendance of 35, and the president, Mrs. A. McLauchlin presiding.

During the afternoon two quilts were completed and many little dresses and pyjamas were cut ready to be made, by volunteers. The surgical department, under Mrs. Southward, also did their share of work.

Mesdames Price, Poste, Little and Miss Eliza Wright and Miss Mary Seeney were appointed as a committee, to look after the putting on of quilts ready for quilting for each meeting. It was reported that $2.62 was collected for the "penny a week bag."

Mrs. Charles Couch, delegate to the Red Cross Convention, held in Toronto last Friday, gave a very fine report of the convention, and a hearty vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Couch.

The report of the annual meeting of the Ontario Division Red Cross Society was as follows:

The meeting was cheduled to begin at 10 a.m. D.S.T.; however, those who arrived a little early, after presenting their credentials were ushered into the Crystal Ball Room by young ladies dressed in blue smocks with a Red Cross badge. I happened to be among the early ones, so while I was sitting there I took note of the decorations. Behind the speaker's platform was a large red cross mounted on a white square. Union Jacks were draped over the windows and large white panels bordered with gold and bearing a red cross hung along the walls. Between these were beautiful pictures, sent from England, showing the Red Cross workers in action.

The meeting opened with God Save the King, followed by prayer, delivered by Bishop R. J. Renison.

The president's address was quite inspiring. He said a word in behalf of the men. "We realize we cannot knit or sew, or make jam, therefore we regard ourselves as the cashiers for the women, who make the comforts." His concluding words were, "Our fellow Red Cross workers in the United Kingdom, in Australia, in New Zealand and in the other parts expect us to do our share in the world's great struggle and we must not fail them.

Dr. Routley, who was the former director, was followed by Mrs. Plumptre.

Points of Interest

Several reports were read, which can be found in the annual statement, some points of which are of most interest to our branch. The purchasing committee spoke of the co-operation of the manufacturers. He said there were some garments which could not be made by the women, so a manufacturing firm was consulted. The manufacturer found on completing the supply that he was suffering quite a loss. However, he accepted it himself rather than take it from the Red Cross. On the next transaction he found he had a profit of $80, and handed it over to the Red Cross.

The report of the committee also stated that so many were asking, "Where do our goods go." "What becomes of them." They said no information can be given regarding shipping of goods for fear of it getting into enemy hands.

The report of the Liaison committee was given by Major Henderson. This committee looks after the distribution of articles to the armed forces. He said they had received letters from the soldiers, airmen, and navy saying that the Red Cross goods were distributed free of charge, and that not one thing was sold. He said that shoes for hospitals were greatly needed.

The Women's Voluntary Corps paraded in uniform. There were two branches represented. The grey uniform with the green tie and stripes is worn by the office administration corps. The khaki uniform is worn by the ambulance drivers. Their service is purely voluntary. Even the gas and cars are donated. This report was to have been given by Miss McKee, but she lost her voice so Mrs. Ellis took over for her.

Colonel H. K. Ingram said that since the war broke out many doctors had enlisted and in some more unsettled districts of Ontario one Red Cross nurse had been left alone to carry on.

Just after his report, a letter of thanks and admiration was sent to the vice-president of the Trans-Canada Airlines, for the wonderful aid given by a Red Cross nurse and doctor at the disastrous T.C.A. accident near Armstrong, Ontario.

The report of the branch organization committee was given by C. Bruce Hill. He spoke to all secretaries present, and told them to answer their correspondence, as that is why it is written.

At this point the president announced that the attendance was 648; 598 delegates, 180 branches were represented.

Mrs. James Coulter, in her report on Nutrition committee, said that from $2,000 worth of fruit the women made $15,000 worth of jam for overseas.

At 12.15 p.m. the meeting adjourned for lunch in the banqueting hall.

The head table was decorated with red and white candles, and red and white Red Cross flags along with the Union Jaks were waving from above the windows. All the delegates were seated before the arrival of His Excellency, the Lieut.-Governor and Mrs. Matthews. On their arrival the Women's Service Corps formed a guard of honor.

The text of His Honor's speech was this: "We do not know what is ahead for us, but we are sure that the Canadian Red Cross will carry on to the end."

Keeping Up The Morale

The next luncheon speaker was Colonel Nasmith, who had just returned from England. He said, "The wonderful thing you Red Cross workers are doing, although you may not realize it is this, you are helping to keep up the morale of the British people. He told of how Red Cross supplies are rushed to bombed areas and remarked on the fine workmanship on the clothes.

I do not believe there was one man or woman present who was not deeply touched by his address.

A short address was given by the Hon. G. D. Conant, Attorney General of Ontario. He stressed the need for the air-raid precaution committees in Canada, so that we would be prepared for anything. Speaking of the call of the Red Cross he said we should all be willing to answer that, is because it is the Master's call.

At 2.30 the meeting reassembled; Dr. Jessie Ridout gave an explanation of the steps in making the dried blood serum. They are as follows:

1, Type blood; 2, blood taken from donor; 3, allowed to clot in pint milk bottle; 4, typed again; 5, set in refrigerator overnight; 6, filtered, put in bottles and frozen in dry ice and alcohol, bottles rotated; 7, bottles transferred to a vacuum where it dries to powder; 8, packed in tins for overseas.

Norman Urquhart described the packing of parcels for the British war prisoners. There are 44,000 British prisoners in Germany, up to date they have packed 66,000 parcels. They pack 13 boxes a minute, contents are 15 artcles: 8 oz. chocolate, 16 oz. package of biscuits, 1 lb. tin powdered milk, 2 glasses per day for 7 days; 1 lb. butter, 16 oz. tin jam, 12 oz. tin of pork patties, 1 oz. tin corn beef, 8 oz. tin salmon, 4 oz. tin of tea, 8 oz. sugar, 4 oz. cheese, 8 oz. raisins, 4 oz. sardines, 2 oz. soap, 8 oz. prunes, 1 oz. salt and pepper.

A box is specially made for these articles sealed air tight. The Red Cross seal is put on it and contents written in English and German. They are seeking permission from Germany to send a vitamin A. C. D. tablet.

Think Prisoners Get Parcels

Reasons given for why they believe the parcels get to prisoners: 1, British navy controls the seas; 2, Anthony Eden announced they had good reason to believe that 90 per cent. of it arrived safely; 3, every parcel that gets to Geneva gets to the prisoners.

A brief account was then given regarding the sailors. There is no heat on the boats except in the engine room. Their heavy coats and scarfs are left on even to eat their meals. So all work given to the navy was much appreciated.

The meeting adjourned with the new president, Mrs. Campbell, taking over the chair.

CAMPBELLFORD

19 Quilts Sent To Red Cross

CAMPBELLFORD, March 6 (ENS)—The report of the week's activities of the Red Cross disclosed members are still busy in quilting and sewing for refugees. The branch met twice during the week and both meetings were well attended. On Tuesday three quilts were taken off and eleven others were sent in to the society—nine from the Seymour West Women's Institute and two from Stanwood Sewing Circle. On Thursday dresses and pyjamas for refugees were made.

Something new in the way of raising money is to be tried during the coming weeks. It is called a "telephone bridge." Five or six members will entertain at their homes on the same evening and scores will be phoned to one headquarters where the high and low scores of the evening will be tabulated. Prizes will of course be War Savings Stamps.

A shipment to Red Cross headquarters during the week included 19 quilts, 76 pairs of sox, 46 pairs of mitts and gloves, 15 scarfs, 8 caps, 6 sweaters, 15 nighties, 1 pair sleepers, 5 children's sweaters, 1 woman's sweater, 2 pair children's mitts, 1 pair child's sox, 1 infant's sweater, 9 girls' dresses.

Warsaw Societies United For Prayer

WARSAW, March 6 — (ENS). — The World Day of Prayer service was held in the Presbyterian Church, Warsaw, with a good representation of all four churches and also from Cottesloe. Mrs. Theodore Douglas was leader. The order of service as prepared by the committee was followed. Mrs. Wilkinson led the first part. For the second part Mrs. Theodore Douglas led, with Miss Mabel Kidd. Mrs. Gerald Payne and Mrs. Allan Taylor read selections, and Mrs. Harold Payne and Mrs. D. Miller led in prayer.

In the third part Mrs. Theodore Douglas and Mrs. Elmer Cooper led, Mrs. Weller read the 46th Psalm, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Munro, and Mrs. George Taylor led in prayer, Miss Jean Payne sang, and Mrs. James Graystock gave a short address.

For the fourth part, The Vision of the Kingdom, Mrs. Cooper and Mrs. Stuart Clysdale gave the readings. Miss Helen Tedford led in prayer, Mrs. Douglas, Mrs. Forsythe led in prayer of dedication.

Discover No Clue To Crash In TCA Tragedy

ARMSTRONG, Ont., March 6.—(CP). — No reason for the Trans-Canada Air Lines plane crash which killed 12 persons near the airport here on February 6 had been determined to-day when the inquest into the death of the chief pilot, Captain W. E. Twiss of Winnipeg, was resumed.

Evidence presented at the first day's session yesterday was that Twiss and the other pilot, Flying Officer C. E. Lloyd, were in good physical condition and that detailed examination of the wreckage and motors had brought to light nothing to indicate mechanical failure.

D. B. Colyer, Winnipeg, T.C.A. vice-president in charge of operations, testified that certain recommendations of the Air Line for improvement of air fields had not been carried out by the Federal Department of Transport which operates the air fields used by the T.C.A.

He said funds were not available for all improvements T.C.A. would like, and added with a smile:

"The perfect runway as far as we are concerned would be a mile wide, and would stretch 3,00 miles from ocean to ocean."

Colyer said the Transport Department had cut back trees 400 or 500 feet from the north-south runway at Armstrong Airport in 1938 on recommendation of the air line. This was the runway aircraft CF-TCF was intended to use for landing when it crashed.

No Hazard in Weather.

Dr. Smirle Lawson of Toronto, supervising coroner for Ontario, is presiding at the inquest. C. R. Magone, Toronto, senior solicitor of the Attorney-General's Department, is representing the Province.

Colyer testified weather over the route followed by Twiss was not perfect, but without hazard for aircraft.

Magone asked: "Would it be fair to say that you conclude that it was an error of judgment by the pilot?"

"It would not," Colyer replied. "I knew the man, the machine, and from my experience it was not an error by the pilot."

Dr. Edgar Frankish, medical-legal expert of the Attorney-General's Department, testified an autopsy performed on the bodies of Twiss and Lloyd showed both pilots were in good physical condition. There had been no alcohol nor carbon-monoxide in the blood streams of either man.

D. C. Archibald, Dominion meteorologist at Winnipeg, said under questioning that Richard Smith, radio operator on duty at Armstrong at the time of the crash, had trained with him for only "the best part of a week."

Archibald said check of Smith's reports since then had indicated he had become a competent weather observer.

Questioned by Dr. Lawson in the earlier evidence, Colyer stated Twiss had asked the radio operator for a Winnipeg weather forecast. The Winnipeg operator had delayed giving the information for from four to seven minutes because another plane was on the ground at Winnipeg.

When the weather information was given Twiss had already begun a descent at Armstrong, Colyer said but added that he believed Twiss intended to land at Armstrong in any event to take on more fuel.

John Dyment, of Winnipeg, chief engineer for T.C.A., was the only witness of the night session, testifying that detailed examination of the plane parts had shown nothing to indicate failure of instruments, motors or other equipment.

20 Capture 469

London, March 6 (CP).

CAPTURE of 469 Italian officers and troops by a signal section "numbering only 20 to 30 men" in Italian Somaliland was disclosed today by a military spokesman.

He said the incident occurred in the Juba River district when an advance signal section seeking a new headquarters location surprised an Italian unit.

Despite continued British advances in Eritrea, the spokesman also said the fall of the town of Cheren was not expected momentarily. He said the Fascist garrison not only is large, but its morale is unusually high. The Italian force was estimated at two to three divisions of 9,000 to 14,000 men each.

BABY'S UPSET STOMACH QUICKLY CORRECTED

BABY'S little "Tummy" is often easily upset. It is easily righted again, too, if you know just how to do it. Let Mrs. M. S. Alway, of London, Ont., tell you: "Baby's Own Tablets are a great help at the first sign of upset stomach, during teething time or when a cold is coming on. They work quickly yet gently to carry away poisons and promote quiet sleep. Walking Boots at night is unknown in our home."

And Mrs. W. R. Sharp says: "I nursed my baby shortly after being alarmed over a motor accident and that upset her almost to the point of convulsions. I gave her Baby's Own Tablets and she soon stopped crying—went to sleep and when she awakened was her own good self again."

Equally effective for diarrhoea, colic, teething troubles, simple croup, constipation and simple fever. Sweet-tasting, easy to take, prompt in their action yet harmless. Analyst's certificate in every box. Buy a box today for sickness so often strikes in the night. 25 cents. Money back if not satisfied.

BUILD UP RESISTANCE AND ENERGY TO GUARD AGAINST COLDS--FLU

Many Persons Taking Syntona Say They have Had Fewer Colds. Rids System of Acids and Poisons. Improves Action of Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Helps Throw Off Lingering After-Effects

If you are unable to throw off the after-effects of colds, flu, or grippe, you are probably rundown and need a good tonic like Syntona to improve the action of the stomach, increase appetite, promote elimination of excess acids, and poisonous waste matter, and to purify the blood.

Syntona contains 12 medicinal ingredients in a perfectly balanced formula to give the best of results and hundreds who have used this new medicine state that they have never taken anything like it before.

Mrs. Jennie Rouse, of Elmira, says: "I was rundown, had a weak, sickly stomach, and felt so nervous that the leaht thing startled me. I had pains through my side and chest and seemed to have pains through my joints and muscles. I'd get severe colds and didn't seem to be able to get rid of them.

"I started taking Syntona and right from the first my food began to digest better. The aches and pains went away and now it is wonderful how different I feel. The nervous, irritable feeling is all cleared up and I haven't had a cold since. I am certainly pleased with Syntona, and I will use it whenever I am feeling rundown."

Syntona is vastly different from ordinary preparations, and the chances are that you, too, will say it is the best Syntona, and I will use it whenever I tune to use.

Every weak, ailing, run-down man or woman in Peterborough or vicinity is cordially invited to call at Elliott's Drug Store and find out for themselves all about this pure herbal medicine that is helping so many people here. It costs only a few cents a day to take Syntona.

Turkish Press Scorns Hun Pledges

Strong Anti-Nazi Note; Lays Balkans' Plight To Russia

ISTANBUL, Mar. 7 — (AP). — Turkish newspapers warned the nation strongly to-day against accepting German assurances and declared the spread of the war to the Balkans seemed inevitable.

These statements were made as it was announced that Turkish foreign policy would be outlined by Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu next Monday morning at a closed session of the People's Party—Turkey's only political party—in Ankara.

That afternoon the National Assembly will open its session to be devoted to both external and internal affairs.

Premier Refik Saydam will address Parliament on Wednesday and is expected to disclose then Turkey's reply to a message received from Hitler last Tuesday. It was believed the Government also would indicate its attitude toward a threatened invasion of Greece by Germany.

"Against a handful of birdshot reassurance that the Axis has flung at us, stand 2,000,000 Turkish bayonets," the newspaper Demokrat Politika said to-day.

"If Germany comes this way she will get such an answer to these reassurances as she never got before."

End For Hun Terrorism

The newspaper Vatan said: "If Germany attacks the Balkans she will see the end to her terrorism and the New Order will indeed be in-

Something To Bite On

Kitchener, Ont., March 7 (CP)

THE report of the birth of a baby in St. Catharines this week with two teeth has roused Mayor Joseph Menzinger's civic pride.

Armed with medical records to prove that three children have been born with teeth in Kitchener in the last eight years, Mayor Meinzinger today offered to bet Mayor Daley of St. Catharines "the Kitchener city hall" that Kitchener can produce more dentured infants in a year than St. Catharines can in 10.

There was no immediate word from Mayor Daley.

AA's Polish Off 9, Fighters 7 Over Malta; 2 Somaliland Sea Raider Lairs Closed

CAIRO, March 7—(AP).—A mass raid by more than 100 German planes on Britain's Mediterranean fortress at Malta in which 16 dive bombers, bombers and fighters of the attacking force were shot down was disclosed by the British command to-day.

The Royal Air Force lost one fighter in the violent battles which occurred over Malta when the Germans attacked in waves Wednesday.

There was some damage to buildings but no R.A.F. casualties.

Nine aircraft were brought down by anti-aircraft fire, the communique said, and the rest by fighter planes.

In addition to those shot down several others were damaged "and it is doubtful that they managed to return to their base."

Recent capture of Mogadiscio and Chrisimaio in the British offensive in Italian Somaliland has eliminated the chief bases for Axis surface raiders in the Indian Ocean, the Admiralty announced in London today.

The Admiralty told of the elimination of these bases in a communique which reviewed co-ordination of naval forces with British land troops in Italian Somaliland.

One outstanding naval action, it said, was the bombardment of Mogadiscio by the cruiser Shropshire. In shelling the harbor the Shropshire sank the 6,681-ton Italian

Hint US Tankers May Be Turned Over To Britain

WASHINGTON, March 7—(AP)—Rear-Admiral Royal E. Ingersoll, assistant chief of United States naval operations, told Congress today part of a requested 200,000 tons of naval auxiliaries, such as tankers, might figure in the British aid program.

Ingersoll made his statement to the House Naval Committee in response to questions by Chairman Carl Vinson (Dem., Georgia), but emphasized no specific allocation of the proposed auxiliaries had been made.

"If by any possible chance we were directed to turn over all our tankers to some foreign nation," he said, at one point, "we would have to get more tankers from the Maritime Commission."

Adding that he mentioned this contingency only as a possibility, Ingersoll emphasized that the navy had neither funds nor authority to replace such auxiliaries or to acquire any new ones now.

Committee members sought a definite answer as to whether the proposed auxiliaries were definitely intended for transfer to Britain but Ingersoll answered that it was impossible to foresee the needs that might arise in the course of the next year.

He declared, however, the requested legislation would be necessary under the existing international situation whether any lend-lease bill was before Congress or not.

Ethiopians Grab 300 Of Garrison

CAIRO, Egypt, March 7.—(AP).—Ethiopian natives fighting against Italy were reported by British General Headquarters to-day to have captured 1300 prisoners in a fight with an Italian garrison in Ethiopia.

The daily communique said that 1,700 deserters from Italian colonial forces had crossed into British territory.

In Italian Somaliland British forces have captured the village of Fer-Fer.

Fer-Fer lies about 100 miles northwest of Buloburti on the road toward Harar, Ethiopia. It is more than 300 miles from the border of Kenya colony, where the British drive into Somaliland started, and more than 100 miles inland from Villaggio Duca Degli Abruzzi, which was taken last Sunday.

Ten Submarines Swell Lake Shipyard Boom

CHICAGO, Mar. 7 — (AP. — Under stress of the United States defence program, shipbuilding on the Great Lakes is in the midst of a lusty boom, reminiscent of First Great War days.

Contracts approximating $90,000,000 for boats of sizes that can be floated to ocean waters have been awarded by various government divisions to concerns with yards at a dozen Great Lakes ports, a survey showed to-day.

Vessels on the blueprint boards or under construction include submarines, anti-submarine nett tenders, sub-chasers, mine planters, oil tankers, coastguard cutters, tugs, minesweepers, and many smaller craft, such as speed boats and launches.

Centre of activity is at Manitowoc, Wis., where the Manitowoc Shipbuilding Company has orders for 10 submarines, to be built at an estimated cost of $60,000,000. There are 1,200 men employed and more will be added as work progresses.

A little further north at Sturgeon Bay the Leatham Smith Shipbuilding Company has contracts for four 65-foot steel tugs and a 170-foot sub-chaser. Nearby the Peterson Boat Works is building a dozen 40-foot launches for the Navy. The Sturgeon Bay Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company has a contract to build mine planters to cost $214,000, and three 50-foot dredge tenders.

2 Barges $2,000,000.

The Lake Superior Shipbuilding Company at Superior, Wis., has a contract to build two naval oil barges, costing $2,000,000. Construction, held up by failure of steel to arrive, was expected to start this month.

Across the bay at Duluth, Minn., the Marine Iron and Shipbuilding Company has a 180-foot coastguard cutter, to cost $679,220, in the blueprint stage.

The American Shipbuilding Company, with yards at Cleveland and Lorain, has launched four of 12 anti-submarine net tenders, first naval vessels to slide into the Great Lakes since the last war. All of the 158-foot vessels, costing $6,500,000, are scheduled to be launched by

Plan Defence Along Struma River

Expect Turk Troops Will Lend Aid To Stern Hun Drive

SOFIA, Bulgaria, March 7 (AP)—Greece bolstered fortifications in the Struma River valley in Macedonia today as a German expeditionary force in Bulgaria commandeered every available means of transport to rush troops toward her her northern frontier.

It appeared to observers that Gen. Alexander Papagos, commander-in-chief of the Greek army, intended to abandon Thrace as indefensible and attempt to make a stand against the threatened German invasion along the natural bastion of the Struma.

There were reports that the Greeks already were clearing civilians out of Thrace—the northeastern province along the Turkish border which Bulgaria long has coveted as an outlet to the Aegean Sea.

Greek diplomatic quarters here said the Greek army "absolutely will fight any German invasion" and expressed a belief that Turkey would dispatch troops into the Rhodope Mountains in Thrace to help stem any Nazi attack.

The Struma River runs in a generally north and south direction from the Bulgarian border to the Aegean, a distance of some 60 miles, entering the sea at the Gulf of Orfani (Rendina) east of Salonika. The river passes through Lake Takhinos before entering the Aegean about 70 miles west of the Turkish border.

A 25-Mile Line

Should the Greeks elect to make a stand along this line, abandoning Thrace, they would have a sector little more than 25 miles wide to defend along the Bulgarian frontier.

Reports reaching here said the Greeks are sending artillery into the Struma valley.

Meanwhile it was believed the

Gayda Stuffs Rome

Rome, March 7 (AP)

VIRGINIO GAYDA, Fascist editor, asserted today that British sea and air losses at the hands of Italy total 20 warships, 26 submarines, 58 freighters and seven tankers, all sunk, 805 planes shot down and 213 destroyed on the ground.

(A British Admiralty statement yesterday said that Germany and Italy have claimed to have sunk or seriously damaged more than twice the number of capital ships, aircraft carriers and cruisers Britain possessed at the start of the war and that some categories of the fleet had been claimed sunk "several times over.")

Gayda also said 87 British warships, three submarines and 41 freighters were damaged by Italian action, two tankers torpedoed and 99 planes probably downed in addition to the plane losses which he said were certain.

Equipping The Turks?

Sofia, Bulgaria, March 7 (AP)

UNCONFIRMED reports were current in this German-occupied capital today that Britain is rushing all spare equipment to the Turks.

The British command, these reports said, is making every effort to strengthen its Allies against the first shock and is rushing equipment to the Turks who are in a position to launch a flank attack on the German army if it attempts an invasion of Greece.

Greek diplomatic quarters here said they believed the Turks would launch a drive into the Rhodope mountains, a chain extending east and west along the Bulgarian-Greek frontier, if Germany attempts an offensive.

LONDON, March 7—(AP).—Britain is speeding enough captured Italian military supplies to Greece to equip an entire army corps and some of this equipment already is in use against its former owners in Albania, a neutral military source said today.

Dr. J. B. McLaurin, secretary of the Foreign Mission Boad of the Baptist church, will give the address at Thursday night's session. Most of the meetings will be devoted to a panel discussion among eight members and it will be thrown open afterwards to discussions from the floor.

Slav Choice, Axis Or Britain, Leaning Toward Nazis As Neutrality Hope Fades

Reveal Regent Prince Paul Met With Hitler In Berchtesgaden Retreat On Monday
Yugoslav Cabinet, Army Heads In Session

SOFIA, March 7—(AP).—Neutral military observers heard tonight that German troops massed on the Greek and Turkish frontiers may launch an attack from Bulgaria on Eastern Macedonia and Thrace "within 48 hours" — the goal, Salonika.

From the heights south of Zlatograd, the Germans massed on the frontier could see the waters of the Aegean across the Greek border.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, March 7 — (AP). — With a Yugoslav statement reiterating the country's neutrality, but adding that friendship for the Axis had deepened, expected within a few hours—under intense pressure to choose between the Axis and Britain—it was learned authoritatively today that Regent Prince Paul was received last Monday by Hitler at Berchtesgaden.

The same circles said Germany and Yugoslavia would make almost identical declarations with Germany "assuring" Yugoslavia of her 'peaceful aims' with regard to this country.

German Minister Viktor von Heeren's trip to Germany February 24 following a telephone conversation with Foreign Minister Ribbentrop was said to be the first German step to learn definitely to what lengths Yugoslavia would go to remain out of the war.

Diplomatic observers earlier had said the pressure of events seemed to make it almost impossible for Yugoslavia to remain neutral—that the time had come when she must pick her partners in the dangerous game which threatens to turn all Southeastern Europe into a battleground.

Except for her common frontier with Greece—a distance of about 100 miles—Yugoslavia is completely hemmed in by the Axis and is in a poor strategic position to oppose Germany, even with the promise of British aid.

A formal statement issued last night by Preier Dragisa Cvetkovic and Vice-Premier Vladimir Macek, after Regent Prince Paul had conferred for five hours with members of his cabinet and army chieftains, indicated the government recognized the seriousness of the situation, but threw little light on its attitude.

The decree was issued following Terboven's arrival here Tuesday night after the raid. Those remaining who helped the British while they were ashore were arrested. One Norwegian was shot the same night for recalcitrance.

Lofoten Raid Just Rehearsal

Experts See Bigger Things Due On 3,000-Mile Hun-Held Coast

LONDON, March 7.—(CP).— Informed sources said to-day Tuesday's harassing raid by British and Norwegian naval units on the German-held Lofoten Islands off Norway's coast was just a "rehearsal" for bigger things to come.

The intimation was that swift sea raiders carrying strong landing parties, and capitalizing on the element of surprise, had begun a campaign of sabotaging Nazi-controlled military and industrial centres along the European coast.

The press was quick to point out that there were many other vulnerable ports along the 3,000 miles of coastline now held by the Germans where British warships could land raiding parties.

In addition to destruction of Nazi war materials and oil stocks, is was pointed out such raids should yield German prisoners for questioning, and should bolster the morale of the populations of the occupied territories.

Alive to the propaganda value of such raids, the British command was said to have given special instructions to the British troops and Norwegian marines in the Lofoten expedition to be "considerate and courteous" to the islanders and to avoid damage to private property.

A correspondent of Reuters News Agency who accompanied the raiders disclosed that British forces had found what appeared to be the groundwork for a naval air station on one island. Among the 215 Germans captured were 17 German air force men and two high-ranking naval officers.

There was speculation today over the disposition of 10 Norwegian "Quislings" captured in the raid. Since Britain is not at war with Norway, they are not ordinary prisoners of war. The term "Quisling" is applied to followers of Major Vidkun Quisling, pro-Nazi Norwegian.

It was said they were brought to Britain with the consent of King

Outbound Bombers Pep Army

Thrill For Canucks As Squadron After Squadron Thunders By

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, March 7 — (CP).—Most thrilling sight in England for Canadian troops is to watch Royal Air Force bomber squadrons winging low over the countryside on daylight raids with tons of destruction for German invasion ports.

Out of overcast skies to the north, half a dozen planes first sweep overhead, making an aerial beeline for Boulogne and Calais. Rhythmic thunder of motors grows to a crescendo as squadron after squadron of lean, gray bombers hurtle past. The high-pitched snarl of Spitfires and Hurricanes is heard above the deep growl of bomber aircraft. The fighter escort is "riding herd" for the bombers.

In a few pop-eyed minutes, 100 planes pass. Canadian soldiers and British civilians stand in the roadway with proud, grim smiles at this show of air power.

Ottawa Starting To Make Use Of Registration

OTTAWA, March 7—(CP).—Information collected in the national registration of last summer now is reduced to a statistical form from which Government departments and private industry may select persons suitable for employment in essential wartime occupations, says Hon. Progress In '40 Reported By Metropolitan OTTAWA, March 7th. — Reporting to its more than 28,500,000 policyholders on company business in 1940, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, in its seventy-fourth annual report released today, shows payments to policyholders and their beneficiaries during the year of almost $609,000,000, a record high in the history of the company. This figure is only one of many in the report indicating that life insurance is an active, continuing force — a living force in the homes of millions who share its benefits.

This record amount paid in 1940 represented payments at an average rate of $5,024.70 a minute during each business day. Of payments made in 1940, Ordinary and Group policyholders received a total of $310,163,593; Industrial policyholders $278,798,172; and Accident and Health policyholders $20,032,193. Over and above these payments the company added $185,878,238 to statutory and contingency reserves held for the protection of all policyholders.

Other features of the report were that, the company issued $1,708,837,245 of paid-for life insurance in 1940, and as a result of the year's production, together with the amounts of insurance revived and increased, the company's total life insurance in force at the end of the year stood at a new high figure of $28,923,784,178. Classified by kinds of insurance, the total in force was made up of $12,268,081,262 or 51.28% owned by Ordinary policyholders; $7,505,005,064 or 31.37% owned by Industrial policyholders; and $4,150,747,852 or 17.35% owned by Group policyholders. The company also had outstanding personal and group Accident and Health insurance providing principal sum benefits of $1,538,261,000 and weekly benefits of $21,674,382.

Commenting on references in the report to the Canadian business of Metropolitan, the Manager for Canada, Mr. E. C. McDonald, noted satisfactory increases made in the various departments. Investments increased by $12,160,093.52 in Canada, and the total business in force in the Dominion increased by $43,030,958 to the total of $1,206,231,511. The investments in Canada as at December 31st last totalled $296,976,446, of which $188,239,780 is represented by Dominion, Provincial and Municipal bonds. The company subscribed $11,000,000 to the first and second Dominion War Loans through conversion and was allotted $8,000,000, which is included in the total bond investment. Mr. McDonald stated that the total amount now invested in the Dominion for the benefit of policyholders, added to the amount that has been paid to policyholders and beneficiaries since the company entered Canada in 1872, exceeds the total premiums collected in Canada by $173,900,000. Health and welfare activities in Canada were continued, the company participating in 85 health campaigns during the year; distributing 2,687,049 pieces of health literature, and through the operation of its nursing service making 317,972 visits to sick policyholders without any additional cost to them.

The War Today

By J. F. SANDERSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

Observers of the Balkan situation felt fairly sure today that Yugoslavia was about to be sucked into the Axis orbit, despite the fact her army was reported anxious to fight for her independence.

Germany, stepping up preparations for a possible military attack on Greece, was said to have been using Yugoslav diplomats as agents of a peace offensive against Greece, seeking to persuade the little kingdom to call off her defensive war against Italy. The alternative to peace with Italy, the Nazis are reported to have told Greece, is war with Germany.

The Greeks, however, appeared to have no intention of yielding to German pressure, and were reported to have massed 90,000 troops—most of them seasoned veterans of the Albanian campaign against Italy—to face 150,000 Germans concentrated on the Greek-Bulgarian border.

Meanwhile Germany also turned attention to Turkey, a non-belligerent ally of Britain, seeking to persuade the republic that the Reich can "look after" Turkish interests and that Britain cannot.

The Turkish press, a usually reliable reflector of Government opinion, has been increasingly friendly of late in its attitude toward Britain and increasingly tough in its remarks about the Nazis. Already Turkey has consented—presumably at the suggestion of British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Gen. Sir John Dill, Chief of the Imperial General Staff—to close the Dardanelles, narrow waterway between the Mediterranean and Black Seas.

Whether the closure was designed as a measure to render German acquired Rumanian Black Sea ports useless for outside commerce remained unclear. The step might have been taken to prevent possible entry into the Black Sea of Axis warships which could be based in Rumanian ports to stab Turkey in the back to the event she showed definite signs of helping Greece.

So far the only military action the Turks have taken has been to bolster frontier fortifications on the Turkish-Bulgarian border and reinforce heavily the garrisons in that sector. Naval units have been sent into the Dardanelles to reinforce lan dartillery which guards the Strait.

Costs Of Register Run $918,733

OTTAWA, March 7.—(CP).—Cost of Canada's National Registration last August was 918,733, according to a return tabled in the House of Commons by War Service Minister Gardiner, in reply to a question by T. C. Douglas (C.C.F. Weyburn). Of the total, $806 988 has been paid to date, and Department of Public Printing and Stationery accounts still awaiting payment total $111,745.

The return said 3,988,760 men and 3,871,710 women were registered and that approximately 1,800 000 persons in 1,250 trades were found suitable as workers for war industries. No record is available, said the reply, of the number of workmen placed in war industries as a result of the registration.

In Ontario 636,400 male registrants and 20,210 women said in their registration forms they were able to drive a tractor. Corresponding statistics from the other Provinces are not yet available, the return sad.

He said British military and diplomatic strategists are working hand in hand in the Middle East to block Hitler and prepare the way of a try at a quick Italian knockout, possibly by a crack at the mainland following up trial parachute troop sorties in mid-February.

Observers here view as striking evidence of a new British technique in combining operations of the War and Foreign Offices in the visit of Foreign Secretary Eden and Gen. Sir John Dill, Chief of the Imperial General Staff, to the Middle East.

They also connect British Minister George Rendel's wait for a go-ahead from Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, Middle East Commander, before severing diplomatic relations with Bulgaria.

But there is the strictest secrecy here regarding what Mr. Eden and the Middle East military leaders are planning. One source describes them as "fait accompli" strategists.

"They believe in action, then presenting the thing that's done," this informant said. "They have full authority to run their own show and we expect little news of what they are doing until it happens."

Girl Denies Tale Of Fight In Newell Case

TORONTO, March 6. — Elna Lehto, pretty 24-year-old paramour of Aircraftman Bill Newell, denied yesterday that he had told her of having a fight with his wife, Aune, the day she was last seen alive.

Miss Lehto, a shapely blonde, was dressed neatly in black as she stepped into the witness box in the morning. She occupied the stand all day and was still testifying when the hearing was adjourned late in the afternoon. She admitted living with Newell as man and wife since early last year and told the court she had listed herself as "Mrs. Newell" in the National Registration last summer even though she knew Newell was married to another woman.

On September 29, she said, Newell left the Howland Avenue house, where they were living at about 11.30 a.m. and was gone until 9 o'clock that evening. He told her he was going "to the barracks," she said. Evidence introduced earlier by the Crown showed that Newell had called on his wife about noon and had taken her out that afternoon. September 29 was the day Mrs. Newell disappeared. Her body was found on Centre Island a week later.

"No Scratch on Face"

"When he came home tha evening you noticed a scratch on his face and asked him how he got it, didn't you?" asked Crown Attorney J. W. McFadden. "No, there was no scratch on his face," said Miss Lehto.

"Isn't it true that he told you Aune had slapped his face and that he had slapped her back?"

Miss Lehto said she had told this to police, but only after "they kept after me until I had to make some kind of statement." Detectives told her, she said, that they had got this information from her girl friend, Helmi Hannonen, and demanded of her: "You wouldn't like to make a liar out of your girl friend, would you?"

The witness explained that Helmi had difficulty in speaking English and had become confused over a different matter. Miss Lehto said she had been talking to her girl friend about "Bill's married life with Aune," and had told her that Newell often fought with his wife when they were living together.

Defence Counsel G. C. Elgie pointed out that Miss Lehto had been held in jail for two weeks as a material witness and had not been called by the Crown to give evidence. She took the stand yesterday as a defence witness.

Advised Against Desertion

She admitted writing a letter to Newell on Sept. 16, warning him to "put all those ugly thoughts out of your head." Asked what she meant by this, Miss Lehto said Newell had told her in a letter from the R.C.A.F. post at Brandon, Man., that he would "desert the air force" rather than assign any of his pay to his wife.

"I thought it was a very foolish idea and that was my way of expressing it," she testified.

In another letter produced in court she had written to Newell: "It wouldn't be worth while having if Aune gets half your pay. I might as well go into service. And after doing all this struggling."

"What did you mean by 'it'?"

"The divorce," she replied. "I was paying for the divorce, and it had been so hard to get the money."

"You mean Aune was suing for the divorce and you were paying her lawyers?" asked Mr. Justice Makins. "Yes."

"That's one of the funny kind that we occasionally get put across us," his Lordship commented.

The Judge Explains

In one of his letters to Elna, Newell had signed off with a verse. Defence Counsel Elgie asked the witness what Newell meant. "I'm sure I don't know," she said.

"He's quoting Shakespeare," the judge pointed out. Newell grinned and blushed, looking down at his feet in the prisoner's dock.

(The quotation, from Hamlet, comprises the closing words of Polonius' advice to his departing son, Laertes:

"This above all: to thine own self be true,

"And it must follow, as the night the day,

"Thou canst not then be false to any man.")

"What are all those X's at the bottom here" asked his Lordship.

It was Elna's turn to blush. She turned her head shyly and, after a pause, said: "Kisses."

"There are a lot of them," the judge remarked.

Miss Lehto said she had led police to the box in which they found a pair of mud-smeared shoes in the basement of the Howland Avenue house.

The Crown had called a botanist to prove that bits of vegetation in the mud on the shoes correspond with vegetation found at the spot where Mrs. Newell was found strangled.

"Do you know how those shoes got wet?" Miss Lehto was asked.

She said she had gone for a walk with Newell last August, heading for his mother's home in Scarboro. On their way, she said, they passed over a piece of land in which there was "mud, water, sand and vegetation.

"What happened to your shoes?" asked the judge. "I threw them out. They were old."

Dry Conference To Attract 500

TORONTO, March 7 — (CP). — Questions asked by Rev. A. W. Downer (Cons., Dufferin-Simcoe) concerning the Grand River Conservation Scheme appeared on the Order paper of the Ontario Legislature today.

Mr. Downer asks for the personnel of the commission and the board of engineers supervising the scheme, what works have been completed to date and when the project is expected to be completed. He inquires as to estimated total cost and the respective amount contributed by each municipality and the Provincial Government.

Richard Arnott (Cons., Hastings West) queries as to the total expenditure in connection with the Royal Commission which investigated the affairs of the Ontario Reformatory at Guelph following the riots of 1937.

Adam H. Acres (Cons., Carleton) asks how many liquor permits in the different categories were issued annually for the years 1934 to 1940 inclusive and in how many municipalities does the Liquor Control Board require that beverage rooms close earlier than 12 midnight.

Provincials Use 46 Patrols Cars, Need 116 Extra

TORONTO, Mar. 7. — Attorney-General Conant, who announced recently that in the interest of traffic patrol efficiency the Government would, in a three years' program, switch from a motorcycle to an automobile patrol plan, yesterday revealed to the House that forty-six patrol cars have been purchased from General Motors of Canada Ltd.

On thirty-six patrol cars tenders were called and the lowest tender of $716 was accepted. Competitive tenders were not secured on the first five, which cost $770 each, as the model and specifications were not settled. Competitive tenders were secured on five others in a transaction which involved trade-in allowances. In all, the Minister estimated that 116 cars will be necessary to replace the motorcycle complement. The schedule calls for eighty-two cars to be in use by December 31, 1942.

The average annual cost to the Government of operating motor cars is placed at $690 each per annum and of motorcycles at $550 each per annum.

The information was tabled in answer to a question made by J. de C. Hepburn, Conservative member for Prince Edward County.

Canadian Plants To Turn Out 14 Gun Types

OTTAWA, March 7 (CP)—H. J. Carmichael, joint Director-General of munitions production, disclosed last night that fourteen types of guns and ten types of carriages or mountings are "being produced, or to be produced very shortly," in Canadian plants.

Expressing appreciation and gratitude for the "splendid effort and co-operation" of Canadian labor in production of wartime necessities, he said: "We know we have the fullest and keenest suport of all those engaged on armament work."

Mr. Carmichael spoke over a national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Here are excerpts on armament production from his speech:

"We are going to manufacture in Canada two types of anti-aircraft guns of the most modern design the world knows . . . . The Germans avoid areas where these guns are as they would poison, or else they fly at an altitude . . . which makes accurate bombing practically impossible." Barrels already are being produced and entire guns will be manufactured by "October of this year."

Two Anti-Tank Gun Types

"Two types of anti-tank guns will be manufactured in Canada." On one type delivery is scheduled for April, and carriages by June The second type is scheduled for delivery in October.

"Two types of field guns are being manufactured and the first complete gun with carriage will be produced the latter part of this month," with maximum production expected before the end of the year. The second type "will go into production in November," with maximum production planned for "the early part of 1942."

"Three types of mortars are being produced. One is in production now. . . . The second type goes into production in June and the third in September. From present indications all scheduled delivery promises will be fulfilled."

"Four types of naval guns are to be produced and four types of mountings. The larger naval guns with their mountings will be produced early next year. The smaller type naval guns will be in production by July or August.

"Twin mountings for naval guns will start production in the latter half of 1941. This is probably the most intricate piece of mechanism from a gun standpoint that will be produced in Canada."

Ammunition in Millions

Mr. Carmichael said that in regard to ammunition, "We are turning out fuses and shells and cartridge cases and primers in their hundreds of thousands. Small arms ammunition is being made by the millions.

"Arrangements have already been made to send to the United Kingdom complete filled rounds ready for immediate use in the guns they are suited for."

In this branch of production, Mr. Carmichael said, "We are geared up so that the maximum requirements that now are known will be fully met.

"Should it be necessary to double this requirement, Canada has the facilities and ability to meet the obligation."

During the last war Canada produced no ordnance, heavy, medium or light guns or howitzers, or similar weapons, except Ross rifles and 2-inch aiming rifles.

He contrasted that with what has been undertaken in the present war.

"In a plant authorized last August we have undertaken the manufacture of the most modern rifle," he said. "It will be in production the latter part of this year on a very substantial quantity basis. This plant will work night and day, and it will reach a production of thirty rifles an hour."

Bren Ahead of Schedule

He said the "much-discussed" Bren gun program is "considerably ahead of schedule." The quantities required were ten times the original estimate.

Combined with two other types of automatic guns, he said, the plant (John Inglis Company, Ltd., Toronto), will have a total output of "97,500 a year, which will give it the largest production of any automatic gun plant in the world."

"An additional plant will be in operation in 1942," Mr. Carmichael said. It would have an ultimate capacity of 50,000 machine guns a year.

As an idea of the magnitude of the Canadian small arms program, he said as far as he could find out the United States program does not anticipate production greater than 25,000 units a year from any one of several plants now in production or being constructed. "Ours will soon be producing 147,500," he said.

HOW TO BE A BOY AGAIN!

Robt. G. Jackson, M.D. Now in his 83rd year

At 84 I'm a youngster in spirit, heart and ambitious energy. I'm young because I obey the laws of Nature; others do not. It is hard to realize that I owe my youthfulness to foods and exercise, but I do. Yet I would not dare exercise as vigorously as I do at my age on conventional foods.

I gave up most of the foods you eat some 30 years ago. My diet is based on a free use of my three natural wholegrain cereals . . . Dr. Jackson Meal (formerly Roman Meal) Bekus-Puddy and Lishus; and a similar free use of milk, cheese, fresh vegetables and fruit; together with generous quantities of my delicious alkaline beverage Kofy Sub.

These foods enable me to take exercises that keep my muscles supple, elastic, flexible and resilient as any boy's. They keep me free from constipation and its debilitating evils. Thus I remain young and grow younger every day.

You don't believe me? Well, try my foods and exercise reasonably and you cannot doubt. If you are interested in this subject, send for my free booklet "A Glorious Achievement". Address, Robt. G. Jackson, M.D., 54 Vine Ave., Toronto.

Macphail Pleads For Politicians

TORONTO, March 7 — (CP). — Agnes Macphail, former member of parliament for Grey-Bruce, urged members of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture in annual session here this week not to take a "holier-than-thou" attitude towards politicians.

She was speaking to a resolution urging county federations to "absolutely avoid inviting members of parliament to address meetings, as the presence of such speakers is sure to be interpreted by many as playing into the hands of the politicians."

Miss Macphail said: "If politicians are good enough to get your vote at the polls, they are good enough to be taken into your confidence and to sit on your councils. They are the servants of the people, but how are they to do what you want them to do in parliament if they do not know first what you want them to do?"

The resolution was redrafted and passed as follows: "Resolved that the officers of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture be asked to urge all county federations of agriculture to be careful in selecting speakers to address meetings, as the presence of some speakers may be interpreted by many as playing into the hands of the politicians."

The Name Of Cunningham

The name Cunningham has been playing a big part in the British blitz against the forces of Mussolini in Africa. First there was Admiral Sir Andrew Cunningham, Commander-in-Chief of the Mediterranean Fleet, who not only has chased Italy's much-tooted fleet into shelter in home ports but has destroyed or crippled a large part of it making "Mare Nostrum" only another of Mussolini's idle rantings. But not content with this achievement his ships went into action along the Libyan coast supporting General Wavell in his complete routing of Graziani's army.

Now the name of General Alan Gordon Cunningham takes its place beside the name of General Wavell and that of his brother, Admiral Sir Alexander Cunningham, as a hero of the Second World War. General Cunningham is in charge of the British blitzkrieg along the coast of Italian Somaliland in East Africa.

In one month the British Army has raced 370 miles from Kenya to Mogadiscia, a lightning advance which beats the 200-miles-a-month pace of the Libyan campaign under General Wavell. The capture of Mogadiscio, capital of Italian Somaliland, and a wrecked little town is of great military value. It was the only Italian port on the great stretch of coast from Mobasa in Kenya to Jibuti in French Somaliland which could be used by ocean-going ships. Now that Mogadiscio has fallen to the British it will be much easier to blockade the Red Sea harbors which the Italians still hold.

Moreover now the British are in exactly the position from which the Italians launched their successful attack on Ethiopia in 1935. General Cunningham can now be expected to make a sharp left turn inland toward Italian East Africa (nee Ethiopia).

The Italian army in East Africa is in a box. The British are closing in from Anglo-Egyptian Sudan to the north and west and from Kenya to the south and here again Dominion troops are playing a prominent part. In Libya the Australian forces made a name for that Dominion and now troops from South Africa are closing in on the Italians in Ethiopia.

Yes indeed the Empire owes much to the name of Cunningham in this second great war.

The Canadian Navy Returns

Although Peterborough is an inland city it is vitally interested in the personnel of Canada's navy for ten of her sons have been members since the days before the war and after the war commenced many others have joined the senior service.

It all happened like this. Delbert Dorrington, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Dorrington, Victoria Avenue, saw a sailor on the street a little over eight years ago, and liking the uniform applied to enlist. He was accepted and reported to Halifax. When he returned for his first leave his tales sounded so good that Earl Middleton, Andy Chartren, Jimmie Lawson, Jack Killoran and Joe MacDonnell all applied and in time were accepted. All have seen plenty of service since the war started and Earl Middleton has been mentioned in despatches.

Scared slightly by German gunfire but in fine fighting trim and the men eager to get back to the war zones these naval units put in to port this week after serving for nine months abroad. These men and ships have received little publicity although in that time the navy suffered the loss of two destroyers. The personnel, many of them just like the boys from Peterborough who first saw a ship at sea after they had joined the navy have quickly adopted the ways and uses of "The Silent Service" and reporters had a hard time prying their experiences out of them. The Old Salt likes to yarn in his old age, but when there is a war on he can be as close-lipped as a government agent on a secret mission.

Nevertheless enough leaked out to show that these men had seen plenty of action. What in former wars have been routine patrols in this have turned into adventure full of danger. Thus the Canadians helped to evacuate French poilus from St. Valerie under the guns of the German shore batteries and advancing artillery. Some of the ships bear honorable scars from this engagement. Others tackled the deadly submarine and now hold this German weapon, if not in contempt, at least in scorn born of familiarity with its dark ways.

These men are confident that the U-boat is being beaten. They are supported in this view by the fact that in recent weeks the ship losses attributable to submarine action have been well below the weekly average for the war. A surface raider recently played havoc with one convoy, and in that fact itself there is perhaps evidence that the Nazis are finding the submarine too vulnerable to British naval watchfulness to risk too many of the vessels they are no doubt hoarding for the coming drive against Britain.

It is good to have the navy home, a reminder that we are doing our full share on the seas and it would not be out of place for the Mayor and aldermen to give the Peterborough boys who are able to make home a royal welcome, and tell them, "Well done, boys," by a grateful and proud city.

Two Useful Societies

Two agricultural societies in Peterborough county which seldom get any mention in the news are composed of farmers in the Lakehurst section of Harvey and in adjoining parts of Douro and Dummer. Instead of carrying on fall fairs or spring stallion shows or some other activity that involves a competitive motive, their plan is co-operative, and they go on about their business from year to year, drawing a grant from the government and serving their own members in the ways for which they were intended.

Even in war time their method of operation and usefulness involves no feature that depends on public support or that runs counter to public interest. These comments were inspired by a report of a sale of Shorthorn cattle over in Durham county last week. Three purchases were made at that sale by the two co-operative agricultural societies in this county. The Lakehurst society paid $150 for a yearling bull bred by L. Richardson and Son of Ashburn, and the Dummer-Douro society bought two young males that cost respectively $130 and $152.50, from the herd of T. Baker and Son of Hampton. These were simple investments in new and good Shorthorn blood that will be transferred to the two Peterborough communities with eventual improvement to their beef herds. It sounds like a sensible policy of livestock improvement that requires no cost of property and administration, and presumably benefits all the members of these societies.

A Peterborough Corvette

The city council has promptly accepted the invitation of the Canadian naval authorities to propose a distinctive local name for one of the corvette type of armed vessels to be completed and commissioned this year. The names Peterborough, Chemong and Kawartha have been suggested, with preference placed on the first.

Peterborough city and county have quite a number of its young men in the Canadian naval service, far more than might be expected from an inland city far from the seaboard. If the city's name is chosen for one of the new corvettes, this community would probably be given the privilege of supplying some of its furnishings. This practice has been adopted in the equipping of others of these ships that bear the names of Canadian cities, and it is likely that the same opportunity and honor would be extended to the people of this city and county.

In tonnage, personnel and service, Canada's navy has already expanded far beyond expectations at the beginning of the war, and beyond the vision of sapient critics of the Government who could think only in terms of striking power that was required of this country in 1914-18. Some weeks ago it was reported that naval casualties exceeded those of the two other branches of Canada's forces combined, in sharp contrast with the experience of the first eighteen months of that other great war. In the meantime the shipyards of Canada, some of them greatly enlarged, are pressed to their capacity in building vessels for freight and fighting purposes. The need which they are intended to supply was expressed a short time ago in the statement that Britain must build, borrow or beg anything that will float.

This city and county have generously responded to every call that has been made upon their resources and spirit, and if a Canadian corvette is to be given the name of Peterborough it may be confidently predicted that this community will welcome the opportunity of contributing to its outfitting for active service.

They Love To Give

Peterborough's fund for the relief of British War Victims is now in five figures. It has passed the $10,000 mark, and everybody is happy about it, probably a little surprised, too, and modestly proud of it.

This giving during the last three months has been so spontaneous and sustained, at times so ingenious in tapping new resources, that there is reason for some element of surprise even when the dire and awful need of the money in Great Britain may be momentarily forgotten.

A heartening aspect of this steadily growing fund is the support it has received from the friendly district of which Peterborough is the centre. Days there have been when the city's dollars have run low, and village and country folks have brightened the record with their contributions.

In fact this British War Victims' Fund has grown into the sympathies of the community, has become so much a part of their daily thinking in the Examiner's reports of its progress, that it is followed by virtually everybody in the city and district with feelings of anxiety that no day should be permitted to fail it and its splendid purpose.

Possibly there may be times when some folks grumble a bit about new taxes to meet the cost of this war, or even about the necessity of digging into the weekly envelope for the purchase of War Savings Certificates and the pledges to the various War Services, but the entirely optional British War Victims' Fund gives them away.

It tells the real story about them, and registers the warmth that is in their hearts. It is proof that they love to give to persons who are in distress, and especially to those kinsfolk of theirs across the sea who are the innocent victims of this Hunnish hell that is spreading about the world.

That story the other day about the hundreds of little children in a British community home who are nameless because their parents and the relatives who could claim them have been killed plumbs the depths of pathos and pity and helplessness, except the kind of help that may be given by this voluntary agency of the British War Victims' Fund. While there is such need, and there seems no end of it, the list of contributions will probably extend from day to day, touching tomorrow the sympathies of those who overlooked it yesterday, and adding one last regret that the sums given could not be greater.

NOTE AND COMMENT

According to stories from Saignon, Japanese there have been receiving black eyes. There will be more later on.

Boston Bruins had 83 shots in a game the other night. The whole Italian army in Libya didn't fire many more than that.

Pictures of damage done in Portugal and Spain by the recent terrific storm show that nature can be almost as destructive as man sometimes.

Agnes Macphail has warned the Federation of Agriculture not to snub politicians. Come to think of it, how could you?

Mussolini has issued a decree to permit bachelors in the army to receive promotion. Up to now they had to be married to earn advancement. The Duce probably figures they will get enough fighting in the army without taking on any more in married life.

THE SONG OF MUSSO

Benghazi, Benghazi!—it makes the most blase
Sit up with a howl of dismay;
From Sidi Barani that goat Graziani
Has chucked all our chances away!
Each black-shirted column was chased out of Sollum,
Or left to be took at Tobruk;
In African regions the new Roman legions
Are everywhere plainly unstuck.
Benghazi, though ample, is only a sample
Of Wavell's victorious swoop;
I loathe the idea but now Eritrea
Is looping the Libyan loop.
From the Fleet (in Sardinia) to far Abyssinia
Our forces are all on the run,
And but for the Germans, the Hanses and Hermanns,
The day of the Duce were done.
I hear someone calling, Ansaldo is bawling
His somewhat lugubrious,
'Whoa!"
He has the impression he somehow can freshen
This truly deplorable show.
He dreams of arresting the rot and contesting
The fate that the British have strewn;
The thing is past grieving—for all he's achieving
He might as well bawl at the moon.

Maxim Litvinov May Seek Refuge In United States

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON.—Unless he's purged from the land of the living, as well as out of his government job in Moscow, it's understood in Washington that Maxim Litvinov, until very lately one of the big men at Communist headquarters, plans to seek refuge in this country from the unpleasant possibilities inseparable from continued residence in Russia by persons who have incurred Comrade Stalin's displeasure.

Maxim Litvinov

Presumably, Maxim already has hinted to some official authority in Washington of his desire to come to the United States, with a view to ascertaining whether or not he'll be admitted. And most likely a leak in the news of his supposed overtures is responsible for reports that that's what his wish is.

He was in Washington for a few months, thrice or four years ago, as an important commissar in the Moscow setup. That, however, was only a comparatively short stay. The visit also was more or less diplomatic in its nature, connected with Russo-American trade relationships. Letting him settle here permanently might be a different matter.

Still, the fact that he's fallen out with Joe Stalin is regarded as quite a favorable recommendation. If the row between them was mean enough and Maxim has turned anti-Communistic, he doubtless could spill plenty of valuable information to such an outfit as the Dies committee, concerning Soviet agents' activities in the U.S.A. and elsewhere throughout the Americas. Samuel Krivitsky, formerly of the OGPU, who recently committed suicide (or maybe was murdered by OGPU gunmen) in his Washington hotel, did. And Maxim ought to know a deal more than Krivitsky did; he was a lot higher up in the Moscow organization.

GOING DEMOCRATIC

Washington has no clear idea yet what Max was kicked out for.

One version is that he was developing streaks of democracy. If that's true, it's easy to see how he got Joe Stalin's dander up.

Another account is that Joe assigned tasks to him, relative to foreign affairs, that he simply couldn't execute, and that Joe canned him on grounds of incompetency. Even that, though, would be calculated to make him sore at his boss and perhaps inspire him to tell things to the Dies committee.

Of course, even if the U.S. agrees to let him in, it's no cinch that Joe Stalin will let anything but his remains leave Russia.

It must be a good deal of a bother to Joe to have to send OGPU executioners clear from Moscow to bump off Russians he wants to have liquidated, as they're believed to have attended to Leon Trotsky in Mexico City and as they're suspected of having done to Sam Krivitsky in Washington (though the local police said that Krivitsky's case was a suicide).

It likewise causes resentment in places like Mexico City and Washington to have Moscow's death sentences executed in their midsts; it has a tendency to create international friction, which it would be natural for Joe to prefer to avoid if possible.

So if Max does get an admission ticket to the United States it's no certainty that Joe'll let him out of Russian to come across and present it. And, naturally, it will be none of our business if anything happens to him in Russia.

NOT A GOOD RISK

Neither will he rate as a very good life insurance risk even if he gets to Washington.

When he was in Washington the last time, the National Press club invited him to make a speech to its members. He made it, too. That is he read it. It wasn't particularly thrilling, however, for Max doesn't speak a bit of United States. It was in Russian, and had to be interpreted. It takes the ginger out of a speech to have it filtered out to its auditors through an interpreter. Max appears to be a forceful chap. He read that speech with plenty of energy, but the interpreter couldn't translate energy.

Litvinov is a very short, stocky chap. He evidently is deeply in earnest in what he's saying. What's the use, though, if you can't understand a word of it?

That'll hamper him as a Dies witness.

TO SWEDEN FROM LONDON

SPEAKING to Sweden, I am glad to be able to recommend what the A.A. would call the shortest practicable route to anyone thinking of visiting Stockholm. The new British Press attache at the Stockholm Legation is taking it. You go, to begin with, to Cape Town by sea; then to Cairo by air. After that, of course, the rest of the journey, via Istanbul and Moscow, is simple. Not long ago, it may be recalled, the personnel of the Friends' Ambulance Unit which was stranded in Sweden after the fall of Norway, reached the Libyan front by the same route reversed.—London Spectator.

Letters To The Editor

THEORY A HUMAN INVENTION

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—The long letter by Mr. Uptigrove reprinted from The London Free Press, advocating the view that the proposed union of English-speaking peoples will come about as a fulfilment of Bible prophecy, makes interesting, yet astonishing, reading. The Scripture (Ezek. 37:16-28) which is given to prove this was an unfortunate choice, and no more confirms this theory than does John 3:16! Let the reader check my statement by simply reading that passage! British-Israelites contend that "the Anglo-Saxon and kindred countries are the descendants of Israel, and as such are under the Abrahamic covenants." Moreover, they teach that the present-day Jews belong to Judah, in contrast with Israel.

This theory, I maintain, is a human invention, and utterly destitute of Scriptural support; in fact, the Word of God is dead set against it. May I prove this assertion by three simple considerations:

1. Romans 11:13-15 clearly teaches three facts:

(a) Israel and Jacob, representing the twelve tribes, are both "blinded" (in part) and "ungodly" during this age.

(b) This condition of Divine disfavor continues "until God's work among the Gentiles is completed. ("Until the fulness of the Gentiles be come in.")

(c) Israel's conversion and restoration will take place after this Gentile work is complete, and is consequent upon the Redeemer's return.

Hence, if Britain be Israel in this passage she is under Divine disfavor nationally, and will remain so until the second coming of Christ. This does not fit Great Britain, but has marked the natural posterity of Abraham since the Cross. Their house has been "left desolate" (Matt. 23:37-39), they have been "led captive by all nations" (Luke 21:24), and have been "without a king, without a prince" during the "many days" of this present age, just as Hosea predicted (3:4, 5). How absurd to apply these prophecies to Britain; but they do fit perfectly the people to whom Jesus came and by whom He was rejected.

2. The promises concerning Israel "possessing the gates of its enemies," being "a great nation," and "company of nations," etc. etc. (texts quoted by Mr. U.) were made to Abraham many years before there was any divided kingdom, and hence relates to the whole twelve tribes. These glowing promises, however, have never yet been fulfilled in Abraham's seed, but will be when the converted nation is restored to Divine favor during Christ's millennial reign. They will then be gathered out of all nations and fed on the mountains of Israel. If the multitudes of the British and American peoples are to be gathered into Palestine on the mountains of Israel it is going to be rather a tight squeeze,—a major rehabilitation problem indeed!

3. The claim that the U.S. is Manasseh, and that Gen. 48:19; Isa. 49:20 prove this is puerile, to say the least. These passages prove nothing of the sort. I would have just as much authority to contend that Ephraim means the Eskimos, and Manasseh refers to a tribe of South American Indians,—in other words, none whatever! Were the Pilgrim Fathers Ephraimites when they left England and Manassehites when they landed at Plymouth Rock?

Thank you, Mr. Editor.

C. ERNEST TATHAM.

GIVE BOYS A CHANCE

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—I would like to say something about the working conditions in this city. I agree with the girls, something should be done. In order to give the city boys a chance to earn a living for themselves and their dependents, without having to leave the city.

My 19-year-old son is the only support I and my two younger children have. He has also tramped the streets from one factory to another since last fall, has his name down in them all, only to be told day after day (nothing doing). And yet men from miles around come into the city and get jobs at once. We have to pay our rent or we are asked to vacate. I had to gather my little brood up this winter and find other shelter because my boy could not get work to pay rent in order to keep a roof over his mother's and a kid brother's and sister's heads. "Yes," just at Christmas when the hearts of the people should be filled with spirit of giving, my landlord gave me three days to vacate. He surely had the giving spirit. (Sorry it was the wrong kind.) My boy is still haunting the factories, hoping against hope, that some time he will get a job. He asked for a job shovelling snow on the city streets but was refused, because he was not married. Can't something be done to give our boys a chance.

There are families in this city with boys, who are so discouraged they are losing faith in themselves and their fellow men.

Why do we have to watch the beaten, defeated look on the fa... of our boys, all because the ou... get the work our boys should have to keep their self-respect and their families.

In behalf of all those who have boys who need work as badly as my son.

I'm asking the factory heads of this city to give our boys a chance. Thank you.

A MOTHER.

A Bit of Nonsense

A Preliminary

Having an unusually heavy crop of hair because he had been on a country visit and hadn't bothered to get a haircut, a man went immediately to his barber when he returned to town.

"Haircut?" asked the barber.

"Not now," said the man. "I just dropped in for an estimate.

Real Tactful

Two men were arguing.

"What's the meaning of tact, Jim?" asked one.

Jim wrinkled his forehead.

"It's—it's—" he began.

"Well, what is it?"

"Look here. I'll give you an illustration. The other day I went to mend a pipe in a bathroom. When I got inside I saw a woman in the bloomin's bath. I gave one look, raised my hat, and said: 'Beg pardon, sir!' that's tact."

His Concern

An actor entered a tailor's shop and gave an order for a suit. He took home a small pattern of the material and showed it to his son.

"What do you think of it, Tommy?" he asked.

"Not bad," Tommy replied.

"Why, you're looking at the wrong side," added the actor.

"I know I am," the boy replied, "but that's the side I shall have to wear when the suit comes down to me."

A Bible Message for Today . . . .

I waited patiently for the Lord; and he inclined unto me, and heard my cry....And he hath put a new song in my mouth, even praise unto our God; many shall see it, and fear, and shall trust in the Lord....

Many, O Lord my God, are thy wonderful works which thou hast done, and thy thoughts which are to us-ward: they cannot be reckoned up in order unto thee: if I would declare and speak of them, they are more than can be numbered.—Ps. xl, 1, 3, 5.

✧ ✧ ✧

As every many hath received the gift, even so minister the same one to another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God. If any man speak, let him speak as the oracles of God; if any man minister, let him do it as of the ability which God giveth; that God in all things may be glorified through Jesus Christ, to whom be praise and dominion for ever and ever. Amen.—II Pet. iv, 10, 11.

9,175 Pledges Now Reported For War Savings

Peterborough citizens have pushed the War Savings Certificate Campaign, 30 per cent over the 7,000 objective according to the latest report from the committee rooms on George street, and the total now stands at 9,175 of 2,175 over the top with reports still rolling in.

This total consists of the following: industrial 5261, retail 1748, bank 315, honor 1494 and special pledges 367. Practically all divisions in the drive will show a slight increase before the final count is made on Saturday night and it would appear that the drive would finally wind up with a total about 200 over the present figure.

Canvass Practically Ended

The city wide canvass by the women is practically ended now and it was learned today that this small army of women had not only obtained hundreds of pledges but had turned in cheques amounting to more than $5,000. These range in size from $4.00 to $480, from the minimum amount that one can buy to the maximum. This money with the forms properly filled out has been sent on to Ottawa and the purchasers of Certificates will receive them in the mail soon.

The drive is progressing rapidly throughout the entire county and there will be competition between the villages to see who can do the best job. All reports from these centres are supposed to be in the committee's hands at Ottawa by Saturday but the complete work will not be finished for a few days yet

A list of the downtown business places which have signed up one hundred per cent to purchase War Savings Certificates is now available and it indicates the greater portion of the stores and offices went over the top. It is interesting to note that every insurance company in the city turned in a perfect sheet with every employee buying regularly.

Gold Star Rating

Names of 100 per centers have been appearing in the Examiner ever since the drive started but after a check-up the names appearing below are apparently new. All on this list including the ones which appeared before subscribed 100 per cent for the Certificates.

DRAFTED FOR LOVE

By RUTH AYERS

YESTERDAY: April plays her part up to the picnic's close But she rushes homeward, trying to escape a storm in the air and the storm of emotions. The hail begins as they reach Kent's home. April knows if she meets Kent's aunt she will be revealed as an imposter.

✧ ✧ ✧

ESCAPE FROM AN AUNT

CHAPTER X

STEP by step Aunt Elizabeth Carter descended the stairs.

And with every step, it was to April Burnett like the ax falling, the loop tightening.

"Still afraid of Aunt Elizabeth, aren't you?" Kent was whispering close to her ear "She's really a darling when you know her."

April's head went up, a silly phrase darted through her mind. "Your sin will always find you out."

All right, she'd take it. She'd face the music She'd even be flip and pretend she had taken an impudent delight in the masquerade.

leaving April and Kent to sit together on the leather lounge.

A little alarmed by the aunt's bright and searching eyes, even though the danger of being discovered as an impostor was over. April launched at once into nervous chatter.

"We had a lovely day, Miss Carter. We drove miles out in the country for a steak fry."

"A steak fry?" The tiny martinet of an aunt lifted her brows as if April were talking of a cannibal roast. "What a peculiar custom."

"Not at all, Aunt Elizabeth," Kent cut in loyally. "It's fun. Besides, Ann loves roughing it outdoors."

Aunt Elizabeth surveyed the Ann who was April. "I shouldn't think so to look at her," she said. "She doesn't seem what is called, nowadays, the type."

And now the black, bright eyes were taking in April's yellow hair and doll-lashed eyes and the blistered white hands.

April saw the look of chagrin on Kent's face and she spoke quickly. "But I am the type," she trilled and even to herself it was exactly what she knew Ann would have said. "There's nothing like the sight of hills, fresh air and sunshine to make you feel fit."

"And hailstones, too, I presume."

Outside, the sleet struck the windows and the wind was a howling mob.

✧ ✧ ✧

APRIL sat still, her hands twisting. Then, momentarily, her taut nerves relaxed. Aunt Elizabeth Carter was speaking to Kent The eyes she turned toward him were neither sharp nor gentle. Instead, there was something of the Spartan written there. It was as if she were ignoring the fact that Kent was temporarily blind, as if she scorned the very thought of affliction

She said, "Since Jasper isn't at hand to make coffee, you will go to the wine cabinet, Kent, and bring out the bottle of elderberry and a tray of glasses."

"Sure enough." Kent agreed and stood up. He put out his hand for a minute against the leather lounge and then walked straight ahead, through the door, back into the dim recesses of an adjoining room which held the wine cabinet

Miss Carter said nothing but the look she turned on April was more expressive than any words. It was a challenge, in fact, to signify that no matter whether the future for Kent held lightness or dark, he was never to be pitied.

✧ ✧ ✧

AWAY back in her mind, April was remembering small bits she had heard about Elizabeth Carter through the years. Aunt Elizabeth was a recluse, a proud, arrogant person who stayed on the hill, shut in by her ginger-bread house and the walls of the formal garden.

Hadn't there been a love affair years ago, a tale of a scoundrel who'd courted her and then absconded with most of her fortune? At any rate, Aunt Elizabeth lived remote from Pattonsville, her only contact with the outside world through Kent, the orphaned nephew she had brought up from childhood.

Now Kent was back, balancing the tray with the tiny crystal goblets in the mock manner of a waiter.

The elderberry wine at first sip was warming, tangy. The fire glowed. A drowsiness came over April and she shut her eyes briefly as she heard Kent telling his aunt more about the day's excursion.

Outside, the sleet still struck the windows but not so violently and the wind had changed its tune to one of melancholy instead of a battle cry.

Ann stood up. "I must start for home," she said suddenly. "Mother and Dad will be worried about me."

"Oh, not yet," Aunt Elizabeth said, and now her eyes were brighter than ever. "I understand that you sing? It would be kind of you to let me hear a song or two before you leave."

Kent turned to April. "Yes, Ann, sing for me."

But April pushed by him, pushed by the door to the parlor where Aunt Elizabeth was already opening the keyboard of the piano, and ran to the hall. Nip, keeping guard by her coat, sprang to his feet.

"I'm going home, I tell you." April sobbed. "I can't sing tonight. I never could sing. I hate singing."

With that, she opened the door and slipped through.

554 Pledges In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Mar. 7. — (ENS). — There has been no subsiding of interest on the part of High School pupils who continue to make regular weekly contributions towards the drive to sell War Savings Certificates. During the first two days of this week they brought in $63.00 to be converted into certificates bringing the total amount subscribed to $246 in less than three weeks.

A further contribution from the school was made this week when Principal E. H. Greig announced that the Literary Society had decided to donate $50.00 to war charities—$25.00 to the British War Victims Fund and $12.50 each to the local branch of the Red Cross Society and the I.O.D.E. The money came from various student activities during the year.

According to Dr. E. A. Stuart, vice-chairman of the committee in charge of the drive to get pledges for War Savings Certificates, the current week will see canvassers exceed their objective. Already 302 citizens have pledged part of their earnings via the pay-roll plan. Another 154 are making their purchases through the banks and 98 had given the honor pledge. These were indicated by the vice-chairman as the latest local figures. Several canvassers have reported citizens in their districts who have pledged the maximum $40.00 a month. Only one case is on record where the citizen was unpatriotic enough to decline to make the pledge declaring he intended to put his money into mortgages where he could get a higher rate of interest.

The Danger of Coughs Among the Children

In young children a cold or cough is not a thing to be disregarded, as it is often of a grave matter, and unless attended to immediately may, eventually, cause serious trouble.

On the first sign of a cough or cold the mother will find in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup a remedy to help get rid of the trouble.

Its promptness and effectiveness in loosening the phlegm, and stimulating the bronchial organs is such that the cough may be checked before anything of a serious nature sets in.

BIG FIVE IS HARD PUT TO TAKE THREE POINTS FROM GRAFTONS

Hockey Dispute Stirs Miners On Strike Threat

GLACE BAY N.S., March 7 (CP) —Headaches usually reserved for hockey officials threatened today government and labor officers in the face of the threat of colliery workers here to strike unless "discrimination" against the Glace Bay Miners in the Cape Breton league is stopped.

First warning of how seriously the mining men take their hockey was received yesterday by President George Dudley of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association. D. W. Morrison, mayor of Glace Bay and district president of the United Mine Workers of America, wired him that feeling was running so high "there may be a stoppage of work in the mines." He feared this might result in "stoppage of shipment of coal to Sydney," whose Millionaires are the bane of Glace Bay's hockey existence.

His telegram was sent while the eligibility of goalie Bill Fraser of the Miners was still under debate. It was Sydney's protest of Fraser's eligibility in the playoff series between the two clubs for the Cape Breton League title that touched off the whole situation.

The C.A.H.A. meanwhile decided to uphold Sydney's protest, barring Fraser from further competition. This might have lowered the Sydney temperature, were it not that it was also decided to let Glace Bay's three victories in the first three matches of the best-of-seven series stand.

From the Glace Bay angle, the high point was reached the previous day. Businessmen of the town met with the Board of Trade Wednesday and decided to boycott Sidney retail and wholesale merchants until the Millionaires dropped their protest against Fraser—drafted by the Miners from North Side Victorias in the same league just before the playoffs.

They claimed that Sydney had protested only when they discovered they were coming out "on the short end of the series."

Curling Notes

By HERB MARTIN

With the ices filled on both draws, the Vice-Skips' bonspiel for the E. G. Patterson Trophy got under way.

Looking over the cards there were no particularly one-sided scores; in fact a few of the games were settled on the last end.

The games continue tonight at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m.

Entries for our open bonspiel next Wednesday have begun to come in already. Secretary Foote tells us that he has rinks coming from Colborne, Dunsford, Cobourg, Oshawa, Lakefield and a few from our own local club.

How about getting up a rink and getting into the fun Don't wait for somebody to ask you; go and ask them.

And, speaking about the MacDonald Brier competition, we see that the honors go to Alberta, with Ontario finishing second. And while Don Best, Kirkland Lake, formerly of Peterborough, and also a member of our club at one time, did not win, yet he and his rink are to be congratulated on doing as well as they did. The competition is the best that the game can produce, from coast to coast.

This one seems a little too good to keep. The story goes that one of our lady curlers was arranging some games to be played on a certain afternoon. She began planning as early as 8 o'clock in the morning, and we don't know how long she intended to talk, or just how long the phone could take it, but after talking for two hours and forty-three minutes straight, the phone went out of commission—just quit. We have often heard it said that the phone was "knocked" off the wall, but it is the first time we ever heard of a phone being "talked" off the wall.

No don't forget the mixed bonspiel tomorrow at 1.45 p.m. Phone your name in early and be on time. The price is the same as always: 25c a player.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press

Syd Howe of Detroit Red Wings made the only advance among the National Hockey League's scoring leaders last night by bagging three assists in the Wings' 6-1 victory over the Americans. The assists, coming on three of Modere Bruneteau's four goals, moved Howe from sixth to fourth place. None of the other members of the big seven were in action as the Canadiens defeated Toronto, 4-3, in the other game.

Tamblyn's Take Four Points From Westclox

A battle royal in 5-pin bowling was staged at Duffus' Alleys last night when the Big Five and Grafton entries met head-on in a fight for third place in the City League standing. Grafton's, due to their success at taking falls out of heavy-hitting teams, have acquired the name of being tough and the Big-Fivers found them just that. They had to roll off 3529 pins to win a 3 to 1 verdict, but it gave them welcome relief for the time being at least. In losing out last night the Chief's men fell four points behind while Joe Dean's Capitols, who went into action tied with the Big Five also lost ground when they were nipped for a couple of counters by Raine's.

Tamblyn's, the loop pace setters, can thank Joe Weir of the Centre's for the trick he played on Nationals. Weir tossed the Martin gang almost single-handed for a loss in the second game and Tamblyn's shot into a full four-point lead when they beat Westclox 4 to 0. Green's defeated the luckless Kinsmen three straight games while the tilt between Peterborough Lock and Huffman's finished only 10 points apart. The Lockmen took three points.

Walter Firth of Grafton's topped the high three men again with 809 and Maurice Caccavella hit the best single, 338. Other good games included W. Firth's 314, George Gimblett's 312, Leo Martyn's 310 and 303, Warren's Ferguson's 310, Fred Martin's 309, Vince Anthony's 307 and Sid Trowbridge's 300.

SPORTS – DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

The Outboard Marine team finished its training for Saturday night's O.A.B.A. game with Trenton R.C.A.F. with a lively practice and the squad are in good shape for what promises to be their stiffest test of the season. The Flyers have a strong squad, a combination of American and Canadian players who know what it's all about and they will undoubtedly be tougher than they were when they played here at the beginning of the season and there was nothing soft about them then. However Outboards have improved, too, and unless the recent layoff has affected their play they should be travelling at top speed Saturday night when they clash with the Flyers in the Y.M.C.A. gym. Dr. Worton will probably get the assignment to handle this important game. He is a capable official who always adds color to the ball game by the manner in which he runs operations. The Outboards will line up as follows: Centre, Pete McArthur; forwards, Jimmy Thorburn, Joe Stewart, Doug McPherson; guards, Harry Marsh, Gordon McIntyre and Ralph Johnson.

* * * * * *

In addition to the big game there will be two other contests on the program for basketball fans at the Y gym tomorrow night. The junior O.A.B.A. team who open their Ontario series with a game in Kingston a week from Saturday will be matched with Dominions in an exhibition curtain-raiser for the Outboards-Flyers contest. The juvenile basketball team selected from small lads who have been trained all season by Doug McPherson will also give the fans a chance to see how they have profited by the coaching they have received. They will play the Y.W.C.A. Cadets, a team composed of girls older than themselves and it should be an interesting contest. The main game will get under way at 8.15 o'clock and it is expected the largest basketball crowd of the winter will be in the gallery.

Gordon Minty, local swim coach, will take a team to Hamilton a week from Saturday to take part in an open meeting conducted by the Hamilton Aquatic Club whose swimmers were here several weeks ago. Al Marshall, breaststroke champion of the Dominion will be matched against Teddy St. Aubin of Hamilton and a Montreal swimmer in a 100-yard breaststroke race that promises to be one of the features of the meet. Don Pinch, Y swimmer who is coming on fast will be entered in the 100-yard novice race, and Minty will also take along a senior medley relay team to toss into action against the Hamilton cracks.

The suggestion in this column that this was the time for the Petes to start planning for next season has brought about a paragraph from Ken Colling to the effect that Belleville and Kingston are already looking forward to the 1942 campaign. Says the Belleville sports scribe: "Yes, there is little doubt but that hockey will boom throughout Central Ontario district in 1942, as never in the recent history of the puck-chasing business have the district clubs assumed such a "wait until next year" attitude. Wally Elmer told us recently that Kingston, now realizing their hockey errors of past years, will not depend upon Queen's University for material next year, as many of the present-day "Combines" will graduate this spring. Kingston are casting covetous eyes in the direction of Ken Partis, now with Baltimore, and Joey Catlin, at present performing with Niagara Falls Seniors. Both of these boys are Kingston products and Elmer assured us with the present pent-up industrial situation in Kingston they would have little difficulty in placing good players. Secretary Ken Soden, of the Reliance Club, personally assured us there would be an influx of hockey players into Belleville next season. "And they'll be good ones, I can assure," confided Mr. Soden."

Some time ago we intimated that when the Petes ran up a score of 11 to 3 for themselves against the Kingston Combines it was really a bad break for the home talent inasmuch as it drove Udall out of the Kingston net and brought Buck Burrows, the Queen's goalie into action. And Burrows played a big part in beating the Petes. In the game between the Combines and Oshawa Seniors the other night Burrows played the first two periods for Kingston and when he retired the Combines were leading 3 to 0, despite the fact that Oshawa outshot Kingston 28 to 11 in the first period and had nine fruitless shots in the first two minutes. Udall donned the pads in the last twenty minutes and the GM-Men rattled five goals past him. And even George Campbell admitted that at least two of the successful shots were decidedly flukey.

The Oshawa Times comment on the swan song of the Peterborough juniors is interesting. It includes the following: "Climaxing a three game victory drive, Frank Black's fighting junior Bee team that just won't stay licked, last night won their group championship before a handful of loyal spectators, by handing the Peterborough Colts their third straight loss and taking the round three games to two. The Bees again opened in a burst of speed and sharpshooting and after the game was only a few minutes old it became apparent that the locals were going to be hard to beat. It only took "Buck" Davies one minute and fifteen seconds to open the scoring from a scramble in front of the Peterborough net and from then on Davies and his seige gun partner Andy McMullen made life miserable for the "Petes" in general. Before the game was over they had gathered four goals and three assists between them. Normie McBrien also accounted for three scoring points and stood out with his great work throughout the game. It remained however for Phil Burkhart, the Oshawa goalkeeper to complete the evening for the visitors as he turned in his best performance of the year and kept the score sheet clean with his sensational work. The only goal scored on him was accidentally shot into the net by Andy McMullen in clearing and so he lost his shutout."

From a Toronto viewpoint the Montreal Canadiens could not have picked a worse spot to defeat the Maple Leafs than right now when Hap Day's men and the Boston Bruins are engaging in a stretch drive for the N.H.L. championship. At Montreal last night the Montrealers, featuring a rookie goalie, Paul Bibeault, came from behind to trim the Leafs 4 to 3. The Toronto gang were in front 2 to 0 and 3 to 1 but could not hold the lead. It was 3 to 2 for the losers at the end of the first period but Bibeault held them off the score sheet for the rest of the game and the Canadiens tied it up in the second stanza and went on to win in the third. And now with only five games left to play the Bruins have a two point lead which is a lot for a team that has only been beaten once in its last 25 games. In the other game last night Detroit Red Wings went a long way toward cinching third place by defeating New York Americans 6 to 1 with Mud Bruneteau netting four goals. Red Wings are two points ahead of Rangers and have four games to play while Rangers have only two to go.

Peterborough's juveniles carrying a three goal lead as a result of their 6 to 3 win in Port Hope the other night will clash with Port Hope in the second game of the O.J.H.A. group playoffs at Lakefield tonight. Total goals decide the round and the Peterborough youngsters who are undefeated so far this season are confident of adding another victory to their string and qualifying for the provincial playdowns. Manager Courneya's team will line up as follows tonight: Goal, Leether; defence, Gillespie, McGregor; centre, Garvey; wings, Smith, Huard; subs, Lawson, Close, Jones, Hodson, Murphy and Hallihan. A number of Peterborough fans will make the trip to Lakefield to cheer for the youngsters.

Imperials Even Series, Trim Bees By 4 to 2

TWEED, March 7—(ENS).—In a closely contested game in the finals of the East Hastings Rural League at the local arena on Thursday night for the Dr. Welsh trophy, Roslin Imperials evened the series at one all by defeating Farnsworth Bees 4-2. Farnsworth, short - handed through injuries, were forced to play two Terrier players, forcing the Roslin team to play under protest.

Marsh rapped in a pass from L. Meraw to open the scoring in the first period, only to have the Imperials rap in two quick counters, the first by Empson on a scramble around the nets, and the second by Green from Parks. Green was sent off for tripping, with Marsh receiving two minors for the same offence.

Wager took a three-way pass from Marsh and L. Meraw to begin the second period, with Collins taking Green's pass for the final counter of the game. Grey and Arber went to the box for tripping in this frame.

The Bees pressed hard in the last period and were outguessed by Hinton, who put up a stonewall defence in front of the Imperials' nets. Arber and Grey received minors in this period with Long receiving both a minar and major penalty. Garrell on the Roslin team received a broken nose during the game, while a lady received a puck in the face when a pass went over the boards, which broke her nose and teeth. Line-ups:

Farnsworth Bees.—Goal, Mouck; defence, Orr, R. Palmateer; centre, L. Meraw; wings, D. Meraw; wings, D. Meraw, Marsh; subs., G. Wagar, Lajoie, H. Long; A. Palmateer, D. Dalmateer, J. Arber.

Roslin.—Goal, Hinton; defence, Parks, Bleekman; centre, Guay; wings, Garrell, Green; subs., Empson, Sharpe, Hart, Collins, Grey, Chisholm.

Referees—Ed. Simms; R. Maguire.

Some Ball Camp Training Notes

By The Canadian Press

LAKELAND, Fla., March 7—(CP) Charley Gehringer, who arrived in the Detroit Tiger camp three days ahead of time for his 17th season as second baseman, said today he feels "a lot better than I felt a year ago." At this time last year Charley's back was sore, and it stayed sore all season.

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif.—Manager Frankie Frisch can't see why "You big Bozos should be so helpless with bats." So he put his pitchers through a stiff hour's batting drill yesterday.

MIAMI, Fla. — Having brought Hank Danning to terms, Manager Bill Terry closed the Giants' contract business yesterday by signing Infielders Burgess Whitehead and Joe Orengo, the last two holdouts. Both were understood to have received raises.

ST. PETERSBURGH, Fla.—Don Padgett, Cardinal catcher, has ended his holdout siege. He notified club officials he is on his way to camp.

ORLANDO, Fla. — Bucky Harris, Senators' manager, is becoming impatient—and mystified—over the whereabouts or Alejandro Carrasquel, his pitcher from Venezuela. The Nats made plans to welcome Carrasquel some time ago, but he hasn't been heard of.

SARASOTA, Fla.—Jimmy Foxx injured his right wrist when he tripped while chasing a foul yesterday. The injury may keep him out of to-day's opening exhibition game with the Reds at Tampa.

AVALON, Calif.—Dizzy Dean allowed one single and no runs in two innings as the Cub Regulars and the Yannigans battled to a 7-7 seven-inning tie yesterday. Rookie Outfielder Lou Novikoff complained of an ailing back and did not play.

Reds Outscore Capitols By 6-1 Buffalo Wins

PROVIDENCE, Mar. 7 — (CP).— For the first time in the lengthy schedule, the leader of the American Hockey League's eastern section appeared to-day more safely assured of finishing on top than did the Cleveland Barons, western division leader, almost from the first day of play.

With but a few games to go before playoff time, Providence Reds were all but mathematically assured of capturing the top berth in the eastern section. A 6-1 victory over Indianapolis Capitols last night put the Reds five points ahead of the Springfield Indians, with whom they have staged a first-place duel in the past month.

In the western section, however, the late rush of Hershey Bears threatened the lead of Cleveland for the first time after the Barons, while each has five games left to play.

One other game was played last night, with Buffalo Bisons defeating New Haven Eagles, 4-3, to tie Indianapolis for the third and last playoff berth in the western division. New Haven's loss left them with a slim two-point edge over Philadelphia Ramblers for the corresponding berth in the eastern section.

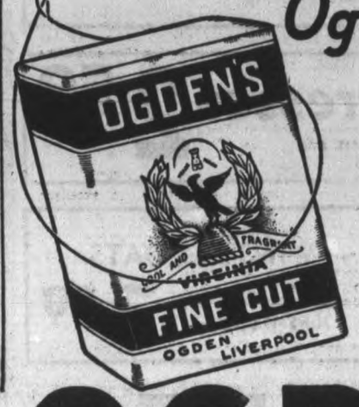
Tie up to Ogden's!



Old-timers will tell you that, for rolling-your-own, Ogden's is a name to tie to for a really satisfying smoke. It has a taste all its own—richer, better tasting. That's because of its distinctive blend of choice, ripe tobaccos. Try it once. Then you also will tie to it; for it's not just another tobacco—it's Ogden's! And Ogden's means "more enjoyment".

ALBERTA QUARTET WINS THE COVETED DOMINION BRIER TROPHY

Beats Manitoba In Final; Hall Runs 2nd

TORONTO, March 7 — (CP). — Howard Palmer was too excited to talk after his Calgary Curling Club rink won the 1941 Curling Championship for Alberta last night. He had to struggle through the crowd toward the dressing room as friends and admirers and people he never had seen before pressed forward to shake his hand or clap his shoulder.

Through the last couple of ends his rink-mates were jittery. They wern't missing any shots, but Jack Lebeau, for one, couldn't keep a big smile from his face. One time when Manitoba threatened to score a big end—it was the 11th—Lebeau's jaw dropped a foot because he couldn't get either of his two rocks through the tightly-wedged guards in front of three Manitoba counters.

But when Palmer came through with his last rock for a wide inturn draw around the guards to stop almost on the button, Lebeau smiled again. Art Gooder and Clair Webb were more restrained and so was Palmer, until the end. Then there was general shouting and throwing of brooms.

Not Top Favorite

It was a fine victory for a rink always well-considered, but never quite favored for the Brier victory. Every time the Alberta stock seemed on the rise, another rink would steal the play. Alberta's only defeat in the nine games was in the second draw on the first day of play, while three other rinks went undefeated into the fourth round.

Then as Calgary started to win again, Ontario ran its winning streak to five before losing. The memory of that Ontario surge carried forward into the final day of the Brier and it really was not until late Thursday afternoon that someone began to tout Alberta to win it all.

The tip-off should have been yesterday morning, when Palmer counted a six-end against Ontario. It was the only six-end for the entire 45 games and against Perry Hall, a skip rated for three of the four days as the best skip in the competition. Palmer didn't make any fuss about scoring that end. Through it he ambled along with his steady draw-curling until it came to a point when he had to make a knockout. Then he did it the hard way—by knocking out two and spreading them at each side of one of his own rocks.

The extra-ends played by Hall were other high-spots in the four-day annual classic, along with Northen Ontario Don Best's brilliance in his better moments and almost hopeless play in others. The showing of Bill Dunbar's Saskatchewan rink was a disappointment to many Western supporters who were counting on him to take the Tankard West for the third time in its 15-year history. But Palmer, the unexpected Western standard-bearer, did that.

Cup Is Presented.

Thomas Caverhill of the Macdonald Tobacco Company made the Tankard presentation to Palmer during a brief ceremony after the final round and Perry Hall received second prizes for his Ontario four. Both replied with brief speeches. David Stewart of the Macdonald Tobacco Company presented gold replicas of the 1941 Brier button to members of the winning rink.

Alberta's two final victories yesterday were 13-10 over Prince Edward Island in the afternoon and 11-8 over Manitoba at night. In other afternoon games Ontario stopped Nova Scotia 9-8, Northern Ontario beat Manitoba 9-7, Saskatchewan defeated Quebec 13-9, and British Columbia won 11-7 over New Brunswick.

Ontario's 10-9 extra-end triumph against British Columbia headed the night games in interest, with New Brunswick's 12-3 upset over Saskatchewan ranking close. Northern Ontario swamped Nova Scotia 17-5 in one of the other contests, with Prince Edward Island's 14-7 win over Quebec completing the record.

Billy Conn Whips Hassett By K.O.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 7—(AP).—Billy Conn passed another way station on the heavyweight build-up trail last night by knocking out Dan Hassett, pudgy Philadelphian, in the fifth round. Conn weighed 181, Hassett 204¼.

The Pittsburg profile, who is stepping out as king of the light-heavyweights to qualify for a June title bout with Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis, put Hassett away with a short left after thirty-five seconds of the round. Hassett tried to get up when the count reached eight, but got only to his knees.

The crowd of some 8,000 shouted for Conn to finish it when the fifth opened, and he didn't take long. He manoeuvred Hassett into a corner, and shot a sharp left to the jaw for the fight's first and only knock-down.

DiMaggio Signs At $2,500 Raise

NEW YORK, Mar. 7 — (AP). — The holdout mist that shrouded the start of baseball's spring training has lifted like a fog melting under a bright sun.

The evaporation that has been going on quietly but steadily for several days swooped up Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees, Ernie Lombardi of the Cincinnati Reds, Don Padgett of the St. Louis Cardinals, and Burgess Whitehead of the New York Giants yesterday.

DiMaggio was believed to have compromised at $35,000, a raise of $2,500 and half of the increase he had sought.

Hank Greenberg of the Detroit Tigers, reputed the top salaried star of the major leagues, is one of the half-dozen important players who hasn't yet signed.

He received $39,000 or $40,000 from the American League champions last year in addition to bonuses and his cut in the World Series. He arrived home from a vacation a few days ago to find a contract that will provide a raise of two or three thousand dollars. He says he will sign when he gets to the Tigers' camp this week-end.

Of the Grade-A holdouts left, Johnny Mize of the St. Louis Cardinals is the kingpin.

Canadiens Whip Leafs 4 to 3; Amerks Shelved

TORONTO, March 7 —(CP) — Dogged by ill-luck and crippled by injuries, New York Americans were faced today with the doleful prospect of going through the motions to finish up a National Hockey League season that may well be the last in the 16 colorful years of the old men of Manhattan.

The final mathematical chance of Manager Mervyn (Red) Dutton's star-spangled boys edging into the post-season playoffs passed last night with their 6-1 loss to Detroit Red Wings. Coupled with the sixth-place Montreal Canadiens' 4-3 victory over Toronto Maple Leafs, the loss put the Amerks out of the Stanley Cup running.

For Dutton, whose woes and heartaches through many seasons were never more serious than this one, there was not even the concrete vision of a "next year" comeback. Around the circuit, the word has gone out that this is to be the last year for the Americans unless a buyer can be found for the now league-operated franchise.

Buffeted at every turn this season, Dutton even had the "keep punching" slogan, which he made famous by winning games when there was no other ammunition, usurped from him last night by the youthful Canadiens. While the Amerks were bowing out in almost peaceful fashion to the Wings, the Habitants were demonstrating their fight at its best.

Rookie Goalie Beats Toronto

With a rookie goalie just signed from amateur ranks showing the way, Canadiens battled to an uphill victory at Montreal. A crowd of 9,583 watched 21-year-old Paul Bibeault, product of Quebec Junior ranks, steal the show as the Habitants foiled Toronto's immediate bid to tie the idle Boston Bruins for first place in their stretch battle for the league title.

Slim and cat-like, Bibeault gave up goals to Red Heron, Bob Davidson and Dave Schriner in a shaky first period but then settled down to blank the Leafs in workmanlike style over the rest of the route. The Canadiens, who had fallen behind 3-2 in the first session, scored a goal in each of the last two frames for the triumph.

Ray Getliffe and Charlie Sands bagged the Montrealers' first-period counters, with rookie Joe Benoit scoring the tying goal and 20-year-old Johnny Quilty winning the game in the last period. It was the first victory of the season for Coach Dick Irvin over the team he led for nine years before switching to the Canadiens this campaign.

Detroit meanwhile had little trouble winning at New York to break their third-place deadlock with the idle New York Rangers. Setting the pace for the Wings was winger Modere (Mud) Bruneteau, who scored four goals to equal the season's mark set by Hank Goldup of Toronto.

Report On O.A.C. To Be Given House Today

TORONTO, March 7 — (CP). — A report on the possibilities of carrying on the Ontario Agriculture College courses when the buildings at Guelph are turned over to the National Defence Department is expected to be tabled in the Ontario Legislature today. The school is to be used for training wireless operators under the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan.

A conference will be held before the Legislature meets at which Premier Hepburn will hear the findings of Agriculture and Public Works Department who have been investigating the matter for a week. These results are expected to be announced in the Legislature later in the day.

In the Throne Speech debate yesterday, Aurelien Belanger (Lib. Prescott) said he believed the "present Armgeddon" will stimulate the growth of unity. At the same time he denounced a "particular man" in Toronto for his attacks on Catholics in Quebec, and praised Premier Hepburn for refusing to discuss the Sirois report at the Dominion-Provincial Conference.

"Unity in this province and Canada has been growing since the war of 1914," he said. "With our sons fighting side by side, unity will grow. Our duty is to stop those people who are working for disunity."

He Meant Dr. Shields,

Mr. Belanger did not name the man he denounced during his speech but told reporters later he referred to Dr. T. T. Shields, pastor of the Jarvis Street Baptist Church, and his writings in the Gospel Witness.

He said that if the Catholics of Quebec were driven to retaliate by attacking Protestantism, a religious war would result.

William J. Stewart (Con. Toronto Parkdale) who followed Mr. Belanger in the debate said the Prescott member's speech did not contribute to Canadian unity.

"I shall not reply in kind, but I believe unity is more secure when affairs of the Church and State are kept separate and religious discussion in this House does not contribute to the interest of the country or to national unity," Mr. Stewart said.

Other speakers in the debate were William Duckworth (Con. Toronto Dovercourt) and William Nixon (Lib. Temiskaming).

Before adjournment, Premier Hepburn announced that he would bring down the budget for the fiscal year on March 14.

Mr. Nixon said it was hoped by next fall experiments on the commercial possibilities of the vast lignite deposits north of Cochrane will be developed to a point where the lignite can be marketed. He said there is an estimated 100,000,000 tons in the province.

Mr. Belanger said some men frown upon the growing unity in this country because they live through dishonesty with minds warped by hate instead of preaching love and christian charity they exude this hate by spreading their writings throughout the land.

"Some men talk of patriotism and then insult catholicism. I allude to a particular man who because of the fact the Vatican is situated in an enemy country, claims the Pope is a supporter of Hitler and Mussolini. Such insults are insults to the King and Queen."

Mr. Belanger referred to the newspaper, "worse than a third columnist" which he said would stir up the catholics of Quebec.

Sees Religious War

"If catholics of Quebec were driven to exasperation to retaliate in kind they would attack protestantism with the same bitterness with which they were attacked. This would result in a religious war while the country is sustaining another war in Europe."

Col. F. Fraser Hunter (Lib. Toronto St. Patrick) interrupted to say that as a protestant member of the House "I would say the protestants will not accept this challenge."

Continuing, Mr. Belanger said that if it was true that out of the evil good must come there will result a greater unity between all, a greater willingness and desire to conform to the precepts of the Lord.

At the outset of his speech, Mr. Belanger congratulated Premier Hepburn for his refusal to discuss the Sirois report at the Dominion-Provincial conference. He asked why did Dominion officials expect that a new constitution could be drawn up within a week when it took the Fathers of Confederation months to complete their work.

Conservative Leader George A. Drew, he continued, had expressed fear that collapse of the conference would breed disunity but he was in a position to allay this fear after personal investigation.

Quebec No Supporters

One must understand Quebec to know that that province would not support the report. For if the report was adopted it would result in the "thin edge of a wedge for minorities to lose their privileges and rights."

The French position was to place principle above interest and no offer of financial benefit would make the French people abandon their rights under the present constitution.

After the conference, Mr. Belanger said he went to several Quebec cities and interviewed the man on the street and they congratulated him on "the leader we have here in the House." Premier Hepburn's reputation was enhanced and "the wonder grew that one small head should have such judgment true."

Mr. Duckworth declared that one of the greatest issue ever faced by a country will be the problem of economic readjustment in Canada following the war. Governments should plan immediately steps to meet this readjustment by arranging for employment for the thousands who will be released from the armed forces.

"They will be entitled to the best this country has to give," Mr. Duckworth said.

Singapore Prepares

SINGAPORE, Mar. 7 — (CP). — A partial blackout of this British Far Eastern stronghold was ordered for the next two nights as military authorities called upon civilians today to co-operate in stepped-up defence preparations.

A complete blackout will be tested next week, with all Royal Air Force units organized to cope with an imaginary aerial attack.

A military spokesman said practice troop movements to "danger points" also would be carried out.

Saving The Cities

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 7.—(AP)—Bombing of cities in the war-affected world may mean their "ultimate salvation" by spurring reconstruction that would offset decay, a Massachusetts Institute of Technology architect contended today. "Cities have for the past 30 years undergone a spectacular breakdown," wrote Prof. John E. Buchard in the technology review. "The physical destruction offers opportunity for wholesome reconstruction."

CIVILIAN DEATHS

NEW YORK—(CP).—The Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. estimates civilian deaths in the present war at one to three in the armed forces. In the First Great War it was one to 75.

Church It Burned At Northbrook

TWEED, March 7—(ENS).—Fanned by a high wind, fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed the Pentecostal Church in the village of Northbrook. The pastor, Mr. MacMillan and his bride of November last, who lived in the house attached to the church were away at the time and lost all their possessions.

Miss Hand of Bancroft, who had stopped for a few days' visit with her sister, Mrs. MacMillan, on her way to take charge of the Lansdowne pastorate, lost articles of personal property.

Caught By Crash

Life Insurance In Action!

BY ITS VERY NATURE, Life Insurance is an active, continuing force—a living force in the homes of millions who share its benefits.

Last year Metropolitan visited many homes in times of family crisis, for a total of over $182,000,000 was paid on account of death claims to scores of thousands of beneficiaries of Metropolitan policyholders. Dividends, matured endowments, annuity payments, disability, and health and accident claims, and other benefits paid or credited to living policyholders during the year amounted to more than $426,000,000. The total of almost $609,000,000 for payments to policyholders and beneficiaries is a record high for the Company.

Metropolitan funds, invested for the benefit of its policyholders, continued to play a part in the life of the nation. These funds aided in financing Government activities, helped to keep industry humming and men in jobs and the nation strong and productive—helped to erect public and private buildings, and assisted farmers to own their farms and keep them in proper repair. However, the low interest rates generally prevailing, continued to have their effect on the Company's earnings and consequently on dividends to policyholders.

Moreover, through its Welfare activities, its nursing service for eligible policyholders, its research, its health and safety literature and advertising, Metropolitan again contributed to the task of bringing better health to the people of Canada and the United States. The death rate of Metropolitan policyholders as a whole continued to be low, and mortality among Industrial policyholders was approximately the same as the 1939 figure, a record low for this group.

Metropolitan is a mutual life insurance company. This means that the assets of the Company are held for policyholders and their beneficiaries. The value of these assets will ultimately be paid out for their benefit... and for them only.

Fairview Ladies Honor Mrs. Trude

FAIRVIEW, March 7—(ENS). — Over twenty ladies attended the Fairview Women's Association held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred McKee.

Mrs. William Fowler, leader of Group No. 1, had charge of a short devotional period. Mrs. Austin Poast read the scripture and Mrs. Albert Armstrong led in prayer.

A very pleasing feature of the gathering was the presentation of a gift, a lovely combination of silver cake plate, relish dish and pyrex pie plate, to Mrs. Frank Trude, who is leaving the community.

The presentation was made by the president, Mrs. Fred Brown, who spoke of the value Mrs. Trude had been to the association and to the community, and how she will be greatly missed, especially for her ready help on the quilt committee. Mrs. Trude, taken completely by surprise, expressed her appreciation and invited all the ladies to call and visit her when she is settled in the new home in North Smith.

A quilt was finished during the afternoon for the Red Cross and several other quilt tops were presented the W.A. for the Red Cross. A quilting will be held at the church next Wednesday all day with a pot luck dinner to which all ladies of the community are invited. Lunch was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Oliver have moved to their new home on the 7th Concession of Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Oliver, who have been living on the Lakefield Road, have moved to Mr. Oliver's father's farm, Mr. Wesley Oliver, on the 7th Concession.

Mr. Elmer Milburn attended the Federation of Agriculture Convention in Toronto on Wednesday.

Princess Must Go

WASHINGTON, March 7—(AP) —A final deportation order stood today against Princess Hohenlohe of Hungary, but before the Government could carry it out it had to find some place to deport her and a way to get her there. The Immigration Service Appeals Board here yesterday rejected the Princess' appeal from the order.

She is a close friend of Fritz Wiedemann, German Consul at San Francisco, and has been described in the British House of Commons as a "notorious member of Hitler's spy organization."

Keep Unceasing Vigil On Sky Above Atlantic Coasts

Day and night, an unceasing vigil is kept by Canadian troops stationed on Canada's Atlantic seaboard to protect the Dominion's east coast from any attack by air, by sea or by land. The most modern of war equipment is theirs and naval and sea patrols work in close touch with them. These pictures illustrate the constant guardianship of the coastal areas. At LEFT a giant searchlight peers skyward; at night its beams sweep the clouds for sight of any alien aircraft that may venture over our shores. CENTRE shows the crew of anti-aircraft listening post with their "ears," which pick up sound waves and amplify them for the operators. At RIGHT a crew member scans the sky through another of the delicate instruments which have been developed as anti-aircraft protection. Should these careful watchers ever spot an enemy raider, the anti-aircraft gun shown BELOW, camouflaged to hide it from prying eyes, would belch death into the skies.

Hold Eight Slavs In Shipping Plot

SPLIT, Yugoslavia, Mar. 7 — (AP). — Eight persons were arrested here to-day and charged with being involved in a plot to dynamite German and Italian ships plying between Yugoslavia and Italy.

Explosives were said to have been found in the prisoners' homes. The arrests followed an investigation of the explosion of the 1,400-ton freighter Xenia on February 26 while it was carrying cement to Italy.

(The original report said the vessel exploded and went down just after arriving at the small Yugoslav port of Stobbrece loaded with Bauxite.)

Among the prisoners, it was said, were a member of the Yugoslav National Party and a naval captain.

For biting his squad leader savagely, John D. Graham, aged 40, a stretcher bearer, was sent to prison in Highbury, England.

Milk Price Of $1.40 A Hundred Indicated For 92 Point Cheese

CAMPBELLFORD, Mar. 7 (ENS) —The vital need for greatly increased cheese production during the coming year was emphasized in an address to farmers of Northumberland County. Speaking before a large audience which included officials of the cheese and dairy industry and president of the Northumberland Cheese Producers' Association; W. H. Nelson, District Agricultural Representative Ian McLeod of Brighton declared that cheese production would have to be stepped up at least 15 million pounds to meet the demands of the domestic and export markets.

According to Mr. McLeod, the 1940 production of cheese in Canada was 140 million pounds with 40 million being consumed domestically, and the balance being sold through the export market. Britain's 1941 contract alone calls for 112 million pounds "and as much more as this country can supply."

"This," said he, "necessitates an increase of 12 million pounds to take care of the domestic market and with the possibility of an additional two to three million pounds for other empire countries being required, a 15 million pound increase will be necessary.

Important War Effort

Classifying the production of cheese as nothing more or less than an important part in Canada's war effort, Speaker MacLeod turned his attention to the necessity of adopting the necessary steps to insure this gigantic increase. With reference to 1940 production costs, he declared that the 93-94 score cheese had served to increase the average price of cheese sold in Ontario by .86 cents, making the Montreal price 14.86 cents. After deducting from this the cost of manufacture, hauling and transportation, the producer netted $1.07 per hundred. This figure varied, depending on the premium received at the individual factory. The basic 1941 price to Britain has been set at 14.4 cents, but to this can be added the 6/10 cent subsidy from the Dominion Government, two cents from the Provincial Government plus the premium of one and two cents per pound on 93 and 94 score. This puts the Montreal price for 92, 93, and 94 score cheese at 17c, 18c and 19c respectively.

$1.35 to $1.40 a Cwt.

On the assumption that the 1940 premium increased the average price of 1st grade cheese by .86 cents, this would point to an average price of 17.86 cents per pound or from $1.35 to $1.40 per hundredweight of milk. Second and third grades will be one-half and one cent below the price of 92 score.

According to Mr. MacLeod, the premiums of one and two cents per pound would take effect on April 1, and the .6 cent subsidy would come into force at the same time.

To emphasize the responsibility which rested with the Ontario milk produced, the speaker pointed out that in 1940 this province produced 69.4 per cent of Canada's cheese, while Quebec which is second in production, produced 23.7 per cent.

Turning to the problem of how this increase was to be attained, he suggested: (1) the opening of factories from one to two weeks earlier; (2) heavier feeding of cows during late winter and early spring—the transport of Western grain to Ontario at reasonable prices would make this possible, he said; (3) Use of more adequate supplementary pastures and the supplementary feeding of grain and silage to cows after the 15th of July.

"Of the 643 cheese factories in Ontario, 406 are located in the ten eastern Ontario counties, and everything possible must be done in these counties to increase production and maintain quality."

District Dairy Instructor J. A. Murray spoke briefly of the department's demand for greater milk production and he voiced the opinion that farmers in this district would be willing to do their share as most of them would not experience very severe financial difficulties as a result of the increased production. He recommended that each factory should have a chart on its wall so that production for the preciding year could be kept constantly in mind to inspire greater production. W. H. Nelson was chairman of the meeting.

Dornier Bomber Sinks In Flames

LONDON, Mar. 7 — (CP). — A Dornier bomber was reported shot down into the sea by machine-gun fire off the Norfolk coast to-day as German aircraft opened scattered daylight raiding on Britain.

Watchers said they saw tracer bullets hit the plane, which dived into the sea and blazed furiously a few moments before sinking. Two crew members were rescued by motor launch.

Other daylight raiders were active in the vicinity of an East England town, having flown through rain and fog which restricted visibility over Dover Strait.

There was little aerial activity over Britain during the night, although London had its 501st alarm of the war. It was the third alarm of the day, but lasted only a short while.

A communique said several houses were damaged and "a small number of casualties caused" by a plane which dropped bombs on a town in West England.

HALL'S BRIDGE

War Workers Meet Mrs. Wallon's Home

HALL'S BRIDGE, March 7—Mrs. B. Walton was hostess to the War Workers Tuesday afternoon. Sixteen ladies were present, with Mrs. M. B. Hall presiding. After the opening exercises the conveners of the different committees reported on their work. Four quilts had been made during the month as well as knitted articles and layettes. It was suggested to make a quilt and sell tickets on it. Plans were made to hold a social evening for one of the soldier boys, Jim Debert, who is home on leave. Mrs. H. Montgomery gave a reading, "The Torch," stressing the need to carry on. Mrs. R. Montgomery read the letter sent to the Red Shield from Iceland, telling how grateful the soldiers are for magazines and radios. The National Anthem and prayer brought the meeting to a close, after which the hostess served a cup of tea and cake.

The bale to be packed and sent to the I.O.D.E. consists of 4 quilts, 12 pairs sox, 6 pairs gloves, 2 pairs mitts, 3 sweaters, 4 scarfs, 2 pairs sockees, 1 pair long hose, 3 wool baby sets, 3 layettes, and a number of baby jackets.

Veal Eases 50, Hogs Gain 15 On Week's Sales

TORONTO, March 7 — (CP). — A moderate supply of cattle was cleared at steady prices, veal calves were 50 cents to $1 lower, hogs gained 15 cents while sheep and lambs were steady on the Livestock market here this week.

There was very little activity on the cattle section and only the small volume of supply allowed a cleanup. Weighty steers sold at $8 to $9.50 with a few choice at $9.65. Butcher steers were $7.50 to $9, and butcher heifers $7.25 to $8.50, with a few at $8.75. Butcher cows sold at $5 to $7 and a few at $7.25. Canners and cutters were $3 to $4.50. Bulls ranged from $5.75 to $7. Fed calves brought $9 to $10.25. A few stockers sold at $5.50 to $7.50. Good milkers and springers sold mostly at $80 to $90.

Calves opened 50 cents to $1 cwt. lower and held steady for the balance of the week. Top vealers closed at $12.50 with others from $12 downward to $6.75 for lights.

Hogs opened steady and gained 15 cents cwt. to close at $11.35 to $11.50 dressed and at $8.50 liveweight. Sows were quoted at $7.25 to $7.50 dressed.

Sheep and lambs included 1,000 Westerns. Lambs were slow at $11.25 for good Westerns. Local lambs of common to medium quality brought $8 to $11. Sheep sold at $3 to $6 cwt. for locals with light Western ewes up to $6.50 cwt.

Plan Defence

Greeks plan an intensive effort to capture the Albanian port of Valona from the Italians to anchor the western end of their battle line before the Nazis can launch an attack.

German preparations were evident on all sides as Nazi troops rolled toward the Greek frontier in trains, trucks, buses and even private cars.

Since the end of October, the Germans have been concentrating stocks of oil and food in Bulgaria. These now are being moved up toward the Greek border.

Further evidence of the expected German drive was seen in the arrival in Sofia of throngs of uniformed Nazi war correspondents as well as an increased number of army officers.

The official Turkish radio frankly expressed concern last night respecting Yugoslavia's intentions, indicating they might have an important bearing on German plans affecting Turkey's interests.

The radio declared it was Germany's object to establish bases on the Black Sea and Aegean which could "put a certain amount of pressure" upon Turkey.

"This glorious plan will be difficult to apply," the commentator said, "especially if Yugoslavia starts to fight."

able.

In Ontario, Mr. Gardiner said, "1,300,000 men were listed for the reserved occupations. Of these 446,496 were actually employed in industries for which they were best qualified but might be engaged in other war industries, and 289,948 were engaged in work other than that for which they were best qualified but had experience which fitted them for essential war work.

It was this latter class to which the country could look for people who could be transferred from less to more essential work.

12 Miles of Names

"May I say," said the minister, "to emphasize the vastness of the job which was required to be done that I am told there are 12 miles of these names (of persons for reserved occupations), that the sheets, with the names on them, could be piled from the floor to the ceiling of any of the rooms where these documents are stored.

"I am told that you can go into the statistical department today where the lists are completely made up, as they are in Ontario, and by tests up to date, inside of three minutes a clerk can get you the name of any person that is on the list."

In the same length of time the clerk could get the address of any person, what he was working at and what else he was qualified to do. Industries were already using the lists to find people with particular types of training.

Mr. Gardiner reviewed the method used to conduct the registration and outlined the results obtained and the use made of the information, in answer to what he termed unfounded press criticism.

He charged that since the fall of 1939 a certain section of the press had done more to slow up the war effort than any other group in Canada.

Mr. Gardiner spoke on the resolution preparatory to introduction of the $1,300,000,000 war appropriation bill, debate on which drew from Munitions Minister Howe a challenge to the opposition to bring forward some fresh criticism.

Howe Tired of Criticism

Rising after critical speeches by John Diefenbaker (Con. Lake Centre) and Dr. Herbert Bruce (Con. Toronto-Parkdale) dealing with aircraft and munitions production, Munitions Minister Howe said he was tired of hearing speakers "turning over old straw," reading newspaper editorials and earlier speeches by himself in the House.

"Let us please have a little fresh type of criticism," pleaded the minister, who said he was ready to answer any question on munitions production to the best of his ability.

Mr. Diefenbaker said Mr. Howe last July made a forecast about aircraft production which did not turn out to be correct. He demanded assurance that delays in production would not continue.

Dr. Bruce asked the minister for a frank statement of the position regarding H. R. MacMillan, chairman of the Wartime Requirements Board, and suggested the withholding from the House of part of Mr. MacMillan's report on industrial production, tabled recently, gave rise to suspicions.

(Mr. Howe told the House earlier in the week that the section of the report which was not tabled contained confidential figures on production of guns.)

Mr. Howe said he would make no more forecasts if they were to be thrown up repeatedly in the House.

"Any forecasts I made at that time (last July) were my opinion at the time, formed after a careful analysis of the situation as we saw it then," he said.

"Subsequent developments — not many—have changed the situation. Is it constructive to throw that up, read it two or three times over, make much of it, and say, "Ha, Ha?"

Conservative House Leader Hanson intervened to say he had told the House if Mr. Howe's statement of last Thursday on production had been made earlier much criticism would have been avoided.

When Mr. Howe asked why criticism was continued Mr. Hanson said he was not continuing, but other members of the House were free to say anything they liked.

Seaway Only New Business

Prime Minister Kig said that except for the possibility of legislation on the St. Lawrence Waterway should agreement with the United States be reached, he sees little other new business in sight for the House this session except the budget and the measures already introduced.

This was his answer to Mr. Hanson's request for a detailed statement of the legislation yet to come. Mr. King said the government had refrained from introducing measures it might have brought down in order to enable members to concentrate their attention on essential war and financial legislation.

The bill to revise and bring the pensions act up to date passed through second reading and was referred to the special committee set up for the purpose.

John Blackmore, New Democracy leader, criticized Canada's whole pensions scheme as inadequate and 'disbraceful." He said there should be a pension for every man who serves in the armed forces and that veterans should be so provided for that they would not have to compete for work with other men.

"The principle of this bill is the principal of scarcity under which we have worked for 100 years," he said. "It is a niggardly, cheeseparing and restrictive measure."

Pensions Minister Mackenzie described Mr. Blackmore's language as "extreme and extravagant" and suggested the New Democracy leader had not given much study to the bill.

The minister assured the House the committee would have a free hand to revise the pensions law as it saw fit. To enable it to do so the reference included not only the amendments before the House but the whole pensions act and the war veterans allowance act.

OBITUARY

WILLIAM HENRY CLARK

William Henry Clark, better known as Harry, a member of a pioneer family of North Monaghan passed away on Thursday in St. Joseph's hospital after only a few days' illness. Born on the family homestead on the highway just south of Springville 69 years ago Mr. Clark has not been in the best of health for a number of years suffering badly at times with asthma but he continued to operate his farm. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Clark, pioneers of the Springville United Church, he served for years on the Board of Management and when health permitted he was one of the most regular attendants at church service. In politics he was a Liberal and took an active part in the organization in that section of the township. He also served as a member of the Board of Health for North Monaghan.

His wife, the former Ada Wareham, passed away last September after a lengthy illness. Of a very likeable nature Mr. Clark was a good neighbor and always anxious to help those in need.

Surviving are three sisters, Mrs. A. Patterson of Peterborough, Mrs. E. Seldon, Whitby, and Mrs. D. Smith also of Whitby; and two brothers, John F. Clark of North Monaghan and R. E. Clark of Peterborough.

The funeral will be on Saturday at 2:30 p.m. DST from the Nesbitt Funeral Home, 347 Charlotte street, Rev. J. E. Everston will officiate, and interment will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

MRS. WILLIAM J. EAKINS.

The death of Mrs. William Eakins which took place at her home, 231 Hillsdale Avenue East, Toronto, on Sunday, March 2, in her 64th year, removed a member of a family which had long been connected with the earlier days of Millbrook's history.

She was the younger daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mulligan, their home having been the house on Annie Street West, now owned and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Ivan L. H. Gray. Several years ago Mrs. Eakins' father was widely known for his successful career in the insurance business in Millbrook and surrounding countryside, and both he and Mrs. Mulligan had a distinct share in the social and the church life of the community.

Over forty years ago the marriage of Louise Mulligan and William Eakins took place here, and after residing in Manitoba for some years, they again came east, living in Port Hope for some time and latterly at Toronto. Mrs. Eakins was connected with St. Thomas' Anglican Church during the part of her lifetime spent at Millbrook.

Besides her husband, she is survived by three children, Harry of Cleveland, Ohio, Jack of Toronto, and Margaret at home; also one brother Arthur of Cleveland; there are two grandchildren as well as nieces and nephews. Previously deceased were one brother, Dr. Fred Mulligan of Petrolia, Ontario, and one sister Ada of Port Hope. Councillor and Mrs. J. R. Eakins and Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Eakins of Millbrook are brothers and sisters-in-law of the deceased.

The funeral took place on Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. from the Funeral Chapel of Morley S. Bedford, 159 Eglinton Avenue, Toronto, and later at the Funeral Chapel of George & Son, Port Hope. S. E. Eakins of Millbrook was one of the pall-bearers, together with five former friends during the time of their residence in Port Hope.

Relatives attending the funeral included Mr. and Mrs. Harry Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Eakins, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Mulligan, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Eakins of Cleveland, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Eakins and Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Eakins and daughter Mary of Millbrook.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

NO POLICE COURT TODAY

There was no session of the police court this morning, a lull after a number of very busy days for court officials. There were no arrests during the night.

REPAIRING BRIDGE

Repairs are being made to the bridge on the C.P.R. spur line to the Quaker Oats plant. A pile driver is in operation at this point and the work is expected to be completed in a few days.

MAY DOUBLE QUOTA

Given a quota of 3,000 pledges to buy War Savings Certificates, Belleville has reached the figure of 4,700 with some suggestion that the effort be continued until the allotment is doubled.

ICE CUUTTING FINISHED

Ice cutting is practically complete at upper Stoney Lake and according to reports a good quality of ice has been stored away for the use of cottagers and other summer visitors. Other points in the district state that snow ice has been encountered on many of the lakes and streams.

ATTRACTIVE CALENDAR.

The calendar issued by the Confederation Life Insurance Company has been the cause of much favorable comment this year, and has been mentioned by art critics throughout the country. It is a painting of the Ann and Jane passing through the Welland Canal 112 years ago. A few copies of the calendar still remain, and may be had from the Peterborough office on request.

MARKING TIME.

The training and administration staff at the Military Training Centre, Exhibition Park, are marking time waiting for the arrival of the first batch of 21-year-olds sometime this month. One man remarked today that they have scrubbed the floors so often at camp that one could eat a meal off them without compunction. The daily training exercises for the staff are continuing.

NO CUTTING OF WAGES

Some Peterborough laborers have gotten the idea that with the finance committee of the Board of Education recommending to the Board that it enter into an agreement for Workmen's Compensation that the casual laborer will be cut 10 cents an hour. The Examiner has been informed that the Board has no intention of cutting the wages and the same rate as in the past will be paid but the cost to the Board will be 10 cents less an hour as it has always engaged its casual laborers through a contractor who assessed the board an extra 10 cents for Workmen's Compensation.

TWO CARS COLLIDE

Two cars were damaged in a traffic accident at Park Hill Road and Water streets Thursday afternoon. Chief Wallace Hendren of Lakefield was driving north as Harold Lavery, Madoc, was travelling west on Park Hill road. According to police Lavery failed to notice the stop sign and came onto the intersection with the result that his car and that of Hendren met in collision. The front right fender of Hendren's carw as bent and torn, the right front wheel damaged and the frame bent while Lavery's automobile had the front left fender and hub cap and the rear left fender damaged.

TWO BITS A WEEK

Sixteen men and women in the Dominion Bank and in the stores close by have a weekly pool to stimulate the sale of War Savings Certificates. It costs each member a quarter a week to be in the pool and at the end of the week one number is drawn from a hat. The holder of that number gets a five dollar War Savings Certificate.

BRIDGE TAKING SHAPE

The contractor in charge of erecting the new footbridge over the Otonabee river at London street is reported to be making good progress. It was learned Thursday night that the bridge now extends out some distance from the Ashburnham shore, and a crew of steel workers are busy putting the other steel spans in place.

LOANS POPULAR.

Many citizens in Peterborough are taking advantage of the Dominion Housing Act this year to finance the building of new homes, and already several loans have been approved. This type of loan had the extra advantage of reduced taxes on the new home last year which no longer exists, but the terms of the loan still appeal to the man who has not the ready cash.

STARTS SHARP AT 8.

The Collegiate auditorium was filled Thursday night when the Students' Council presented Oliver Goldsmith's "She Stoops To Conquer." The play is a first-class presentation and the students and their director, R. L. Hale, deserves orchids for the effort. Patrons are urged to be in their seats at eight o'clock sharp as the play starts at that time and is quite long.

Catch Of Fur Declines Buyers Report

Enlistments and a stepping up of industrial activity is blamed for a shortage in the volume of pelts from fur bearing animals now being sold to local buyers. Harry Jopling estimated today that in the district which he covers there has been only a 60 per cent normal catch, although the next three days may change the figure.

The season for mink, marten, fisher and red fox closed on February 28th but the trappers have ten days in which to dispose of their pelts. The season for coon was shut off on December 31st and there is no closed season for skunk. In this district a marten or a fisher is a rarity but mink is plentiful and Mr. Jopling reports he purchased more than 500 red fox pelts since the first of November.

Furs In Demand

This year Indians and white trappers are looking forward to a great muskrat trapping season. The furs are in demand in the coat shops across the continent and prices should be good. Mr. Jopling said it was a little early to forecast prices for raw pelts but he expressed confidence that the prices would be at least as good as last year and perhaps better.

Unless the weather breaks fast the trapping for muskrats will not get underway until about the first of April, which was about the same as last year. Department officials, it is understood are guided to a great extent in setting the open season by weather conditions prevailing in the affected localities, and unless the season happens to hit the muskrat run, catches fall off normal.

Indians from the district report that muskrat houses are numerous and that weather conditions have been favorable. Water level they claim have been just about right and they believe the rats have wintered well. The Indians have there own way of knowing those things, and outside of a general statement refuse to talk. So far not a single report has come in indicating that the rats have left their houses and are wandering in the marshes in search of food.

February Relief Costs $2,727.12

Cost of relief in Peterborough last month was down to $2,727.12 as compared with $10,656.72 in February 1940.

The number of persons receiving relief has declined from 1,404 to 344 in the 12 months.

There are now 75 heads of families on the list, their 206 dependents, also 18 single men and 45 single women.

A year ago the contrasting details were 299 heads of families, their 1,004 dependents, 44 single men and 57 single women.

The per capita cost of relief was up from $7.59 to $7.92. Relief Officer Metheral reported 753 cords of seasoned body maple cordwood in the piling ground on Park street, and between 800 and 900 cords of slabwood. A local fuel dealer suggested a trade deal for one hundred cords of green wood, taking 100 cords of the city's dry hardwood instead.

Alderman Sullivan, chairman, was authorized last night to advertise for tenders for purchase of 150 cords of this wood, and the comment was made that unless the price is attractive the city would be well advised to keep this wood which was bought at $6.45 a cord, and was said by Alderman Dutton to have been the best the city purchased for relief.

Spain is rationing cigarettes.

Play Presented By Students Of Collegiate

Oliver Goldsmith's comedy, "She Stoops to Conquer" lost none of its fun when presented on Thursday night by P.C.I. students, who handled their lines with almost professional skill, their stage manner showing a notable absence of the stiffness and marionette-like action so often associated with high-school productions. Costumes were particularly outstanding, rich in both fabric and color, and handsome in design, and the stage-setting was remarkably well worked out, representing first the interior of an English country house and then a "disreputable" alehouse. Especially effective was the evening garden scene, a transformation quickly wrought by the use of a beautiful backdrop and skilful lighting.

Produced under the direction of Mr. R. L. Hale and Miss D. M. White, the latter welcoming the audience and introducing intermission numbers, "She Stoops to Conquer" tells of the adventures of Mr. Hardcastle (an old-fashioned gentleman who tries with little effect to discipline his household), his wife and daughter, her friend Miss Neville, and Mrs. Hardcastle's son by her first marriage, Tony Lumpkin.

Complications arise when Tony directs two gentlemen of fashion to Hardcastle's house as an inn, describing his stepfather as an innkeeper. Since one of the gentlemen is the son of a friend of Hardcastle's for whom a marriage has been arranged with the latter's daughter Kate, the difficulties thus created are numerous and laughter-provoking, though dissolving into the usual happy ending.

Earle Armstrong is excellently cast in the role of the old-fashioned gentleman, and the part of the mischievous Tony is admirably taken by Frank Foley. Barbara Bothwell, in addition to playing with enviable poise the part of Miss Hardcastle, looks truly charming in the quaint costumes of the 1700's, and Sylvia Boorman, her friend, does a spirited bit of acting. Her scenes with Tony, whom she does not love, and who certainly wastes no admiration for her, are bits of by-play that add greatly to the success of the presentation. As the affected mother who gets hysterical on the slightest provocation, Irene Michaud wins merit as an actress, and fine acting is also done by the other players, particularly in the scene where Mr. Hardcastle is coaching a hopelessly vacant-looking quartette of servants. Lines flowed easily with two or three exceptions that will probably be corrected at this evening's performance, and the timing was excellent.

The orchestra of P.C.I. students, conducted by Mr. Bob Maybee, richly deserves the prolonged applause it received, comments from the audience indicating surprise that such a gifted band has not received wider acclaim. Selections by the Girls' Glee Club, with Miss Isabel Weddell, B.A., as conductor, included well presented part songs.

Half the proceeds of the play, to be presented again to-night, will go to the British War Victims Fund.

Rangers Hold Skating Party

With the band of the Prince of Wales Rangers playing, a crowd of skaters, some in uniform, packed Brock street Arena on Thursday night for the regimental skating party.

To the onlooker it became evident that many of the participants had not been on skates in years, but this fact did not in any way detract from the enjoyment of the outing. The band played all types of numbers having skating rhythm as those on the ice circled, with the more timid guarding themselves against the "speed demon."

The first social function of the regiment since the camp last summer, a dance was held for those in uniform after the party on the ice. About 9.30 p.m. the members of the regiment began moving toward the Legion Hall where the music of Jimmy Duffus and his orchestra ruled. The ladies of the 37th Chapter, I.O.D.E. had prepared refreshments which were served between 12 and 1.00 a.m.

Checking Egg Grader

TORONTO, March 7 (C). — The Agriculture Committee of the Ontario legislature decided today to have a Federal Egg Inspector appear before it. A complaint that egg grading was causing dissatisfaction was heard by the committee.

"The farmers, particularly those who market their eggs in the smaller centres, are dissatisfied over the grading," declared C. G. Mercer (Lib, Durham).

Held In Europe

VANCOUVER, March 7—(CP). — A Vancouver seaman who crossed the Atlantic a year ago, survived the bombing of his ship in a Belgian port, and later was employed with the British Consulate staff in France, was listed last night by the Department of External Affairs as on the list of Canadian nationality held in Europe as civilian internees. He is 28-year-old James W. Burns.

Even U.S. Envoy Rationed At Vichy

The bread he ate at a restaurant in Gannat, near Vichy, France, was snipped off the ration card of U.S. Ambassador to France Admiral William Leahy, LEFT, with Monsieur Happart, the cafe owner, doing the snipping. The occasion was a lunch given Leahy by American newspapermen in Vichy.

Militia Units Are Planning Games

A challenge for a hockey game between the men of the 4th Field Battery, and the Prince of Wales Rangers, war charities to benefit has been issued. Lt.-Col. D. J. Lawrie, officer commanding the artillery unit has approached Lt.-Col. M. H. Park, 2nd in command of the Rangers, and Chairman of the Sports and Entertainment committee, with the result that plans are shaping, at least in the minds of the powers that be.

The most heartening aspect from the viewpoint of the Rangers' is the appearance of three names on the nominal roll of "C" Company, "Dit" Clapper, Harvey Jackson, and "Red" Hamill. It is believed that at some time in the near future, one, two or all of these players may be available.

The money raising possibilities of such an arrangement cannot but appeal to those desiring help for the British War Victims.

Various angles have been considered, somewhat hastily perhaps, but the suggestion has been offered that all ranks may participate, but that each team should have corresponding ranks; that is if one team has a field officer on the ice, the other team must also use one and so forth.

It is taken for granted by members of both units that a hockey conscious Peterborough would welcome the opportunity of seeing teams from the two units on the ice, even without the professionals, and at any rate, men of both arms are anxious to hear a little more on the subject before the spring takes the ice out of the local arena.

MRS. FRANCES McCANN

MARMORA, Mar. 7—(ENS)— On Tuesday the death occurred at the home of her nieces, Miss Mary and Hilda Hughes, Marmora Township of Mrs. Frances McCann of Tweed.

Mrs. McCann who was 79 years of age was the daughter of the late Laughlin Hughes and Louisa Chisholm and was born in Belleville. Death followed an illness of three months. Her husband predeceased her some years ago.

The only surviving member of her immediate family is a brother Thomas of Minneapolis. The late Mrs. McCann was highly respected in Tweed and also in the Marmora district to which she paid many return visits. She was a member of St. Carthagh's church, Tweed.

The funeral was held on Friday from the home of her nieces the Misses Hughes to Sacred Heart Church, Marmora for Requiem Mass with Rev. Father E. J. Farrell officiating. The Libera and interment was taken in Tweed by Dean D. A. Cullinane.

The following were pall bearers: Bernard Hughes, James Hughes Edward Hughes, Thomas Hughes, Laughlin Hughes and Dr. I. F. Doyle.

JAMES S. STONEBURG.

A resident of Hurley avenue, North Monaghan for the past 18 years passed away on Thursday in the person of James S. Stoneburg. He had been ill for the past week, but his passing comes as a shock to his many friends in Peterborough and district.

Born at Stoneburg's Landing, on the Murray Canal, 81 years ago, Mr. Stoneburg was a railway section man with the C.N.R. for a number of years in Belleville before coming to Peterborough. His wife predeceased him a number of years ago.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. M. Feltmate of Detroit, Michigan, and Mrs. L. Seviert of Toronto.

The funeral was held to-day, at 2.00 p.m., from the Nesbitt Funeral Home, 347 Charlotte street. Rev. F. W. Craik of St. James' United church, officiating, and interment was in Little Lake cemetery.

Gifford Succeeded By Norwich Man

Harry Scott of Norwich is the new president of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, succeeding James Gifford of Ennismore who at the annual meeting in Toronto this week said he considered that he had done his part as president in the first year of the organization, and asked that he be relieved of the responsibility.

Alex McKinney of Brampton is vice-president, and the secretary is yet to be appointed.

The directors are: H. Craise of St. Catharines, Jas. Gifford, M. M. Robinson of Burlington, R. J. Scott of Belgrave, Ken Betzner of Waterloo county and E. R. Bound of Middlesex.

Defective Chimney Is Blamed For Fire

A defective chimney brought the Peterborough Fire Department out at 9:45 a.m. this morning when it ignited and began to burn from the basement to the roof of the residence of W. O. Lynch, 494 McDonnel street.

According to Fire Chief George Gimblett, the chimney was one that had been soaked with creosote, and was broken in many places, making holes. The fire was, however, confined to the back of the house, and the damage will amount to between $200 and $250.

Tobacco was grown on 5,026 farms in Cuba last year, an increase over 1939.

Retail Price Is Satisfactory To Dairy Farmer

Some consumer criticism of the cent a pint increase in the retail price of milk, comments which suggest that the distributors have fared somewhat too well by the advance, is not endorsed by V. S. Milburn, secretary of the Canadian Dairy Farmers' Federation

"I am not pretending to speak for all the members of the Peterborough Milk Producers' Association," Mr. Milburn said to a reporter this morning who mentioned to him that there had been some questioning of the proportionate benefits to the producer. "My own opinion of the reaction of farmers is based on what I heard at their meetings, and on information regarding conditions which have prevailed in the local trade.

G. A. Gillespie, of Silverwoods, said at one of the conferences between producers and distributors that the local market during the last five years had been comparatively favorable to the farmers. Producers did not dispute that statement. The reason was that during that time milk producers here were receiving $2 a hundred pounds while in Oshawa and some other comparable cities the producers in those areas were being paid $1.90 to $1.95 per hundred.

As a result of that ten cent advantage over farmers in some other parts of the province, the local producers were willing to see some balancing up in favor of the distributor.

Increase Granted

The dairy farmers asked for an increase of 25 cents a hundred pounds to meet increasing costs of production and to provide them with a fair income. That increase was granted by the Milk Control Board, and truckers were given an increase of three cents a hundred pounds. With the increase to the consumer equivalent to approximately 38½ cents a hundred, that leaves about ten cents a hundred increase to the distributor. You might call that a rule of thumb increase, because you simply cannot work it out with exactness, but you have to remember that the distributors' costs have gone up some, and we don't know what wage conditions he may have to meet in future. But there has been a little balancing upward for the distributors of milk in Peterborough, and I think the dairy farmers are satisfied with that because of the fact that for years the local distributors were paying a slightly higher price than in other cities of this size which I could mention

I don't see any of the milk distributors getting rich quick, and I don't think anyone else does, either.

Chamber Names 1941 Directors

Directors of the Chamber of Commerce for 1941 have been unanimously elected as follows: Robert Abbott, Wm. C. English, H. L. Garner, James W. Geraghty, G. A. Gillespie, George Hewitt, J. H. Jamison, G. A. Macdonald, T. A. Mackay, D. G. H. Melton, W. G. Ovens, F. J. Overend, Charles Saunders, J. J. Turner, Dr. C. B. Waite.

The members of the nominating committee were: C. S. Cummer, chairman, R. L. Dobbin, Fred Hills, D. J. Fitzgerald and Cole Blewett.

The Chamber has just closed a fairly busy and successful year. Arrangements are being made for the annual dinner meeting to be held this month. The guest speaker of this affair is expected to be the former Paris correspondent of the New York Times.

A meeting of the directors will be held next week to appoint their own officers.

New Fog Nozzle Is Demonstrated

A new type fire fighting nozzle was demonstrated to the members of the Peterborough Fire Department on Thursday, when an improvised house was set on fire, and then extinguished on the vacant lot at the corner of Sherbrooke and George streets.

The new gadget's virtue lies in its ability to produce an effective spray with a much smaller volume of water than that required by the ordinary fixture. In the minds of many citizens who witnessed the demonstration, the new arrangement is a distinct success, for its affect on the flames was striking.

The structure burned had been built by members of the Peterborough Deartment from lumber supplied by the demonstrating company.

Find Headache Cause

NEW YORK, March 7 — (AP)— Neurologists at Cornell University Medical College have discovered what causes the pain in headaches and have narrowed the source down to one thing—distention of the arteries of the head. They have made a headache map. It shows the source of migraine, of high blood pressure headaches, of fever head pains. It is a new key for trying remedies.

Generous Action Of Province Is Commended

Appreciation of the action of the provincial government in assuming seventy-five per cent of the cost of unemployment relief was expressed at Thursday night's meeting of the relief committee by Alderman Dutton and Mayor Hamilton.

The Dominion Government is discontinuing its contribution of 40 per cent on April 1. By the agreement which is still in effect this month the provincial government also assumed 40 per cent and the municipality the remaining 20 per cent of the relief bill.

With the retirement of the Federal Government from this field of social assistance there was some question as to what proportion of the cost of relief the provincial government would undertake after the end of this month. Of the 40 per cent which had previously been the Dominion's share, the province assumed 35 per cent more than previously, leaving only 5 per cent of an increase to the municipalities; in other words the new relief cost ratio is now 75-25.

Other municipalities have declared their gratefulness to the government for the generous scale of this new arrangement, and although no resolution was passed at last night's meeting of the relief committee, City Clerk Outram was instructed to write to Premier Hepburn acknowledging the consideration shown to the municipalities in the new relief terms.

H B. Cowan Is Named Senior Economist

Herbert Bronson Cowan, a director at Washington of the International Research Committee on Real Estate Taxation, has been appointed senior economist in the United States Department of Agriculture.

Currently on a tour of South Africa, New Zealand and Australia, Mr. Cowan is studying taxation methods and agriculture in those countries, and on his return to Washington will file reports with the Real Estate Taxation Research Committee and the Agricultural Department.

White Elephant Auction Nets Fund $20

Every day somebody gets an idea on how to raise money for the British War Victims' Fund and on Thursday three men staged a White Elephant auction sale that went over in great style. The sale consisted of local citizens donating articles to Hancock's Auction rooms to be sold at public auction and the proceeds turned over to the Fund. There was a record crowd on hand and when the smoke of battle had cleared away the fund was $20.00 to the good.

This unusual success has prompted the trio, Messrs. Hancock, Seabrooke and Fife to stage the same stunt every Thursday in connection with the regular weekly auction. Those who have household articles or pieces of furniture that they wish to donate can send it to the auction rooms where a special section will be reserved for these articles. They will be sold each week. Donors may phone 3905.

Havelock Lodge Aids

Eastern Star Patriotic Association of Havelock headed by Miss M. Williams staged a bingo game last Monday and the fund is richer by $16.00. This is a fine piece of work and municipalities who have helped the fund.

F. G. Mann reports this morning that already almost half of the fifth $500 has been contributed and the fund is growing steadily daily.

Following is the list and total to date:

Previously acknowledged	$10,060.69
Eastern Star Patriotic Association, Havelock, per Miss M. Williams	16.00
Proceeds White Elephant Auction at Seabrook's Auction Rooms by Messrs Seabrook, Hancock and Fife	20.00

Propose Ottawa Buy Summer Butter Supplies

TORONTO, March 7 — (CP). — Directors of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture this week passed a resolution urging that the Dominion government consider advisability of purchasing the available summer surplus of butter for storage against th winter production period "as a war measure." It will be presented to the O.F.A. membership at the annual meeting here.

The resolution suggested the government action because "it is recognized that the setting of a minimum price for butter will tend to discourage the purchase of the summer surplus for storage purposes by those who regularly buy for storage."

The same resolution asked that if the suggested policy be adopted, the price paid for the butter should be based on a parity price with cheese, and to encourage production of cheese, the Dominion government be urged to bonus cheese so it will realize a price equal to "19 cents per pound seaboard."

J. A. Gifford, retiring president of the Federation, in an address, expressed the hope that "our Dominion government will see fit to place agriculture on a par with other industries essential to our war effort."

Not An Even Deal

He urged farmers to try to solve "Thus far," he said, "we have not been accorded such treatment."

He urged farmers to try to solve their problems by working together in a spirit of goodfellowship and mutual understanding. Their aim to improve the industry by which they live could be accomplished no more effectively than by "our loyal support to a truly representative farm organization."

He traced the growth of the Federation from its formation four years ago and said its activities had reached the point where it was necessary to have a full-time official with suitable office equipment and help to conduct the Federation's business.

He expressed commendation of the cheese and bacon bonus announced by the provincial government and the action of both Dominion and provincial governments in assuming freight charges on grain shipped from Fort William to various points in the province.

He expressed regret at hearing that the Ontario Agricultural College may be closed. The announcement that the institution at Guelph was to be handed over to the Royal Canadian Air Force as a wireless training school May 1 was made last week.

"We sincerely hope," he said, "that it may be found possible to continue experimental and research work as well as many of the extension services so valuable to agriculture in these critical times."

Something To Look Forward To—While Shovelling Coal

It is summer "down under" in Australia and this young man, who hasn't seen many summers, couldn't wait to get swim pants on before prancing into the warm waters of the Pacific. But mother got to junior before junior got to the water, and the impatient young man is being put into his panties here.

Lower Locks Built Of Stone Quarried In Dummer

Hundreds of fishermen have crossed the lock at the foot of Little Lake and fished from its piers without knowing that it has the distinction of being the only cut stone locks between Campbellford and Burleigh Falls. The lock was built of blocks of stone quarried in Dummer township and with all the labor attendant to work of this type in the days of crude methods, the stone was hauled to the site of the present locks, just one hundred years ago.

A century ago this stretch of water joining the Otonabee river and Little Lake was known as Whitlaw's Rapids, and the stretch of white water extended from the new bridge over No. 7 highway south to Yankee Bonnet. This is proven by a paragraph in "Roughing It In the Backwoods" which describes a boat trip up the Otonabee to Yankee Bonnet, where the immigrants disembarked because of the turbulent stretch of water which prevented navigation beyond that point.

Work Started In 1837

The work on the lock, dam and canal at what is now known as Lock 19 or the Peterborough Lock was commenced in 1837 or thereabouts by the Inland Water Commissioners and was finished in 1843. That in this particular development was finished making the Otonabee river navigable for boats from Yankee Bonnet up to the foot of Dalhousie street where there was a wharf.

At that time too navigation between Peterborough town and Lakefield was possible only by rafts and portable boats, as this nine and one half miles was one complete stretch of rapids, extending from just above what is now the Quaker Oats to Lake Katchawanooka. There was a drop in this nine-mile stretch of 142 feet, and Katchawanooka in Indian means "the start of the long rapids."

Completed In 1843

Cement was unknown in Canada at that time and in 1837 at the site of the lock, partial excavating had beeen done by a contractor who abandoned the project in 1838. Later more work was done by men hired by the day by the commissioners. Stone for the lock and timber for the dam had been delivered on the ground and part had been cut. No actual construction of the locks had beeen started at that time, and in the report of the commissioner of public works published in 1867 it is reported the lock and dam was completed in 1843. This volume records the construction of all public works in upper and lower Canada up to 1867, the year of Confederation.

The original lock was 133 feet 8 inches long and 33 feet wide with frame gates and wooden sills, and completion of this lock made the Otonabee river navigable from Rice Lake to the town of Peterborough, a distance of 19½ miles. The river was navigable for steamers drawing not more than four feet of water.

It is interesting to note that as late as 1901 there was no cement in Canada. The early Romans had used the cement but apparently this art vanished for centuries. In 1901 when the Peterborough Hydraulic Lift Lock was started, the first cement used was imported from Belgium in barrels. Before the locks was completed however cement plants in the United States and Canada were in production, and supplied much of the cement used.

First Locks Built In 1833

The first locks built in this part of the country was at Bobcaygeon in 1833 and this too was made of cut stone. The locks at Burleigh Falls and Fenelon Falls are also made of cut stone, and in recent years, canal engineers have almost completely overhauled the locks at different points replacing the stone with concrete.

Any person who takes the time to examine the construction of Lock 19, which is known far and wide to fishermen as the Lower Locks will find the blocks of stone, in as sound a condition as they where when quarried a century ago, by the hardy workmen of that time.

At the time the Lift Locks was being built the stretch of canal from the Little Lake to Nassau was also completed and this was the first time that the upper stretches of the river was navigable for large boats.

Cobourg Red Cross Group Holds Quilting Bee For British Refugees

HASTINGS, March 7—(ENS). — Two lovely warm quilts for refugees were quilted on Tuesday afternoon, by the 17 members of the Cobourg Road Red Cross when they met at the home of Mrs. L. Lamey.

Plans were made for a progressive euchre to be held in the town hall, Hastings, on March 21, with Mrs. Cecil Oliver, Mrs. V. Keogan, Mrs. L. Lamey, Miss Doris Pulfer and Mrs. James Gibson as a committee in charge.

During the afternoon tickets were sold on a beautiful towel donated by the president and $1.70 was realized and the towel won by Mrs. Vincent Keogan.

Mrs. Arthur Beamish, wool convener, reported that the following knitted articles had been made since the last meeting: 3 plain helmets, 1 ribbed helmet, 2 pairs two-way mitts, 1 cardigan, 1 aero-hat, 16 pairs socks, 2 air-force scarfs, 1 lady's sleeveless sweater, 1 navy turtle-neck sweater; and the following refugee articles: 3 quilts, 3 children's dresses, 1 slip, 1 lady's dress, 2 sweaters, 2 pairs mitts, 1 toque, 4 nightgowns and 1 hospital gown for the quota.

These articles will be given to the Hastings Red Cross, to be shipped to the Red Cross headquarters in Toronto.

Mrs. R. King, the secretary, read a letter of thanks from the Peter Robinson Chapter I.O.D.E. in Peterborough, acknowledging the gift of 2 pairs cosy boys' pyjamas, a complete baby's outfit, 2 girls' skirts, 2 boys' shirts, a pair of warm bloomers, and three bright little dresses for girls, made by members.

Mrs. L. Lamey donated a quilt top to be quilted before the April meeting. To accomplish more quilting, the members were divided into groups, each group to be responsible for the quilting of one quilt. Quiltings will be held at the home of Mrs. William Pulfer on March 12, Mrs. Ben Gibson March 19, and Miss C. Williamson on March 26.

Mrs. Joseph Trotter invited the members to her home for the April meeting.

Elgin Pupils Do Fine Work

The children of the Elgin school, and their teacher, Miss Audrey Timlin, who pieced a quilt for the Red Cross, the latter also donating the bat and lining, were helpers at a monstrous quilting held in the school on Tuesday. The 17 ladies arrived early in the morning and completed the quilting of four lovely warm quilts for refugees. Mrs. Henry Thistlewaite was hostess at the noon hour when a pot-luck dinner, including a delightful hot menu, was served at her home directly across from the little country school.

Mrs. George Hogg donated a quilt top and Mrs. Max Scott a rug which was on sale at the school. Mrs. George Richardson invited the ladies to attend a second quilting for the month at her home on March 16, when 4 quilts will be quilted.

Among those present were: Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe, Mrs. T. O'Grady, Mrs. F. O'Grady, Mrs. H. Buck and daughter Gwendolyn, Mrs. H. Lobb and Rhetta, Mrs. E. Waters, Mrs. S. McGee, Mrs. T. McGee, Mrs. A. Stinson, Mrs. M. Scott, Mrs. Matthews, Mrs. H. Thistlewaite, Mrs. H. Tripp, Mrs. D. Kelly, Mrs. George Richardson, Mrs. R. Leeper, Mrs. H. Brown, Miss A. Timlin and pupils.

COUGHING COLDS Relieve Misery With VICKS VAPORUB

Call To Tourists

Ottawa, March 7 (CP).

PROSPECTIVE United States visitors to Canada had the assurance of Prime Minister Mackenzie King today that "the fact we are at war will not occasion the slightest interference with your enjoyment and freedom."

Visitors would receive the full premium on their money, the prime minister wrote in an official invitation to "the citizens of the United States" to visit the Dominion in 1941.

"The American dollars which you leave behind will be used by the government of Canada for purchases to be made in the United States," he continued. "These purchases will be used for the defence of the ideals of freedom and justice which we hold in common."

Ex-Mayor Jamieson Bone Resigns His Dummy Job

BELLEVILLE, Ont., March 7. — (CP).—Declaring he was refusing to be a "dummy representative" for the city council, ex-Mayor Jamieson Bone resigned as city representative on the Belleville-Hastings Suburban Road Commission.

The former Mayor withdrew from political life more than a year ago. January 20 of this year city council appointed him to the Road Commission of Belleville and Hastings County.

The letter of resignation was sent to Mayor Glencoe Thompson Wednesday after the city council refused to make a grant of $2,000 to the commission for necessary road repairs. In turning down the request Mayor Thompson stated: "It is no time while a war is being fought, to spend money on roads."

"Without consulting me, your council appointed me to the commission," the former mayor stated. "According to the Highway Improvement Act, the commission has the power to call on council for funds up to one-half mill on the assessment, which would be $5,000. The county clerk asked you for $2,000, and again without consulting your duly appointed representative to ask his valued opinion, but taking the law into your own hands, you refused the request.

"You ask me to represent you and then go ahead and represent me, and we both represent each other," continued the letter. "A fine kettle of fish. In other words, you want me to be a dummy representative?"

"This country has been ruined by dummy representatives," declared ex-Mayor Bone. "In parliament, in school boards and in other places as well little else but dummies. Do not appoint me to anything unless you want some action.

"This is, of course, my resignation."

Racine's Salary Is Listed At $7,000

TORONTO, March 7 — (CP). — Armand Racine, K.C., Windsor, was appointed public trustee at a salary of $7,000 on October 2, 1940, it was disclosed in an answer to a question tabled in the Ontario Legislature on Wednesday. Prior to his present post, Mr. Racine received $6,400 as a commissioner investigating the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway and $650 for similar work in connection with Niagara Parks Commission.

The estimated cost of finishing the Ogoki diversion project in Northern Ontario is $5,072,375, it is learned from another answer. Total amount spent by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission on the project up to December 31, 1940, was $167,912.

Revenue from customers served by the Abitibi Canyon development for 1940 was $3,643,758. Operating expenses were $314,179; maintenance costs, $166,724; interest charges, $1,029,262; and other current expenses, $1,035,956. Capital cost at October 31, 1940, was $28,932,701.

Dr. Sophie Bookhalter is employer as a medical interne at the Ontario Hospital at Woodstock at $200 a month, less perquisites, another answer reveals. Dr. Bookhalter resided in Winnipeg before her appointment last May.

Bailieboro W.I. Puts $200 In War Savings

BAILIEBORO, Mar. 7—(ENS).—The Women's Institute held its regular meeting in Fletcher's Hall, on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the president, Mrs. George Fletcher, in the chair. The meeting opened with the usual devotions. The first item of business discussed was the grant from the Government. This year the Government has stated the money must be used for educational purposes within the Institute so that each member would benefit by it. On motion of Mrs. Harold Howson and Mrs. Blanch Dawson, it was decided to meet and be instructed in the art of tray making. The president asked for a vote on the money retained in the bank for street lighting, which venture has been dropped for the duration of the war. A motion to buy $200 worth of War Savings Certificates received a unanimous vote. It was also decided to hold a Plunkett dinner, the proceeds to be given to the War Victims Fund. The meeting closed with the National Anthem, following which the ladies quilted three quilts for the Red Cross.

The Red Cross unit is holding another card party and dance on March 12. This unit contributed 15 quilts during the month of February.

BACKACHE NOT DUE TO AGE

Many people think that backache is a trouble that comes naturally with advancing years, but this woman of 71 proves that it is not.

"I suffered for a long time from backache," she writes, "but put it down to my age (71). Reading your announcement, I thought I would try Kruschen Salts. I have been taking it for some time and have found great relief. I thought you would like to know it has done me a world of good."—(Mrs.) E.R.

When pains in the back are caused by inactive kidneys and failure of the digestive system to throw off poisonous impurities, Kruschen Salts will give real help in setting the matter right. Because Kruschen has a diuretic action which helps to flush your kidneys and liver. After that, your blood throws off all impurities; you get happy relief from pain.

5 Boys Go Sliding All Are Drowned

GATINEAU MILLS, Que., March 7—(CP).—A weary group of mill hands continued early to-day their search with grappling poles and hooks for the body of little Gordon Smith, who went from his classroom to death with four playmates yesterday in the ice-coated Ottawa river near here, six miles from Ottawa.

After school play ended in drowning for Gordon along with Raymond and Robert March, Jack Napier and Kenneth Dixon—all about eight or nine years old. They plunged into 15 feet of water, apparently mistaking foam from a sewage discharge for ice.

Tense and silent Perley Smith watched while his fellow employees in the Gatineau International Paper Company dragged the river for his son's body after recovering and sending to the morgue at nearby Hull, Que., the bodies of the other children.

Eastern Chiefs Honored

LONDON, March 7—(CP). — The King conferred honors yesterday on the Commands of the fighting services in the Middle East "in recognition of recent successful combined operations."

Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, Admiral Sir Andrew Cunningham, and Air Marshal Sir Arthur Longmore are made Knights Grand Cross of the Order of the Both.

Maj.-Gen. Richard O'Connor is made a Knight Commander of the same order, and Lt.-Gen. Sir Maitland Wilson is made Knight Grand Cross of the Order of the British Empire.

Big Call For Ore To Set Record Season On Lakes

CLEVELAND, March 7 — (AP).—When the ice breaks up, the long-hulled iron ore carriers of the Great Lakes fleet will slip out of winter quarters in a race to pile up stocks of raw material for steel mills, the war industry's first line of production.

The men who operate the "ships behind the lines" look for a record season on the world's greatest inland waterways system. Steel output already has soared to record figures in preliminary phases of defence industry expansion.

Veterans of the Great Lakes shipping trade predict ore shipments this year will exceed by far the record of more than 65,000,000 gross tons set in 1929. Estimates go as high as 84,000,000 tons.

Most of the guns, shells, machinery, trucks, ships and other items of national defence will have their origin in the rusty-orange dirt from the ranges of northern Wisconsin and Minnesota, particularly the latter.

Mines long idle will be re-opened.

The principal ingredients of steel —iron ore and iron and steel scrap —are being used at rates never before known. Scrap is not plentiful, and ore stocks on the lower lakes will be done to 12,000,000 gross tons by May 1, about 6,000,000 to 8,000,000 tons below normal.

The earliest date for Lake Superior navigation was April 6, in 1902, and the latest May 14, in 1835. Storms, ice and higher insurance rates close the season about Dec. 10.

Freighters take coal up to the northern ports and bring ore back. Last year, a record was set when approximately 46,000,000 tons of bituminous coal were taken north. Shippers expect a similar figure this year.

To handle the lake traffic, 391 freighters—seven less than last year —with a gross tonnage of 2,681,000, will be available. They will be manned by about 8,700 men.

Ore men will be watching northern lakes weather reports through March, waiting for an early start. They will need a long season, for ore consumption has been running more than 6,000,000 gross tons a month. January set a record of 6,331,018 gross tons.

CAMPBELLFORD

Unpaid Taxes Total $3,974

CAMPBELLFORD, Mar. 7 (ENS) —Members of Seymour Township Council decided to extend the date at which the tax roll was to be returned to April 7, at their March meeting. This decision was reached following the presentation of Tax Collector William Fisher's statement of collections for the past year. In his report it was shown there was a total of $3,974.63 in unpaid taxes for 1940 and 1939, and a considerable portion of this will now be collected before the new deadline named by council.

Build Snow Fences

As a result of the policy adopted two years ago when it was decided to erect a certain amount of snow fence each year, council is now faced with the dilema of keeping up with the demand. One suggestion was that the council should build its own fences instead of buying them. This it was believed would result in a considerable saving since the machine required for the work would only cost $40. On motion, the clerk was authorized to purchase the necessary equipment.

Auditor T. H. Rowe presented his report to council, which showed the township finances were in sound condition. It was decided to have 25 copies of the report printed. School Attendance Officer G. W. Anderson gave his report for the month of February and Dr. H. B. Longmore of the Board of Health also reported to the council. The by-law which altered the boundaries of School Sections 3 and 4 as requested by residents of the districts effected at the last regular meeting was passed.

The following accounts were paid: G. W. Anderson, school officer, $5; J. J. Lewis Hay, bond ins., $8; Counties Treasurer, charity, $9.63; Town of Smith's Falls, relief, $2.27; W. W. Clarke and son, relief, $2.70; Dunk's Grocery, relief, $6; A. Milne, relief, $3; Mrs. Runciman, relief, $10.92; George O'Sullivan, relief, $19; Town of Campbellford, relief, $6.94; S. R. Hart, supplies, $4.10; J. Rowe, relief, $5; Cranston's Bakery, relief, $1.44; J. A. Irwin, relief, $5.48; R. Young, relief, $18; W. R. Train, labor, $2.50; D. T. Petherick, supt., $58; W. Fisher, bal salary, $87.50; T. H. Rowe, auditor, $20.

Kai-Shek Done?

Hong Kong, March 7 (AP)

JAPANESE claimed today that their landings at six Chinese coastal points on the Gulf of Tonkin had nullified United States aid to the central Chinese government and, an army spokesman at Canton asserted, "the doom of Chiang Kai-Shek's regime is sealed."

(The Burma Road is China's main avenue for supplies. Japanese air attacks have frequently damaged it, but Chinese labor gangs keep it open.)

Competent observers here acknowledged that the landings had put the Japanese in position to impede the food supply of Hong Kong.

Hong Kong had obtained most of its meat and poultry from the Pakhoi area, westernmost point of Monday's landings on a 250-mile stretch of coast.

Work Of Missionaries On Trinidad Explained

CAMPBELLFORD, March 7. — (ENS).— The dramatization of the work done by a missionary on the Island of Trinidad, formed an interesting innovation at the regular meeting of St. John's W.M.S. held in the church parlors on Tuesday afternoon. Subject of the sketch was an elderly missionary, Miss Archibald, who had worked among the girls and women of the island for more than forty years. The story was presented in the form of a dialogue which took place between a press secretary, Mrs. C. Johnson; Miss Archibald, represented by Mrs. W. H. Ashton; a missionary, Mrs. J. D. Mills; and the secretary of the W.M.S. in Trinidad, enacted by Mrs. C. W. Palliser.

The president, Mrs. E. C. Roberts, presided for the meeting. Mrs. C. W. Turner reported seventeen calls to the sick and shut-ins. Plans for a tea and apron sale to be held on March 26 were discussed, and it was decided to request that visitors attending the affair should be requested to bring their knitting or needlework.

Devotional part of the program was in charge of Mrs. J. D. Mills' group, who took as their lesson "Following Christ in the Home." They emphasized the opportunities a home affords the mother to either raise or lower the standards of a community. Assisting in the program were Mrs. Donald, Mrs. Hoare and Mrs. H. Clarke.

THE LURE OF LACE

By ALICE ALDEN

WHEN grace and allure are to be part of the evening scene then the chances are that the frock will be of lace, whether the wearer be deb or dowager. Jane Winton, lovely society songstress, wears lace for gala engagements. Here she models her favorite frock, a slender sheath of cocoa brown lace. Designed with a high Directoire bodice, the grown features a daring midriff treatment, with only a single layer of lace covering the back and slashing into the sides. A "modesty ruffle" offsets this cutout treatment and adds to the charm of the frock which has the narrow shoulder straps noted in so many of the newest evening dresses.

The Navy League Expresses Thanks

Appreciation of donations sent to the Navy League of Canada by the Women's Missionary Society of Knox United Church was expressed in a letter from the organization read Thursday afternoon at the March meeting. The meeting was well attended, with Mrs. J. Gerrard, president, in the chair.

Mrs. H. Baptie, Mrs. A. Sanderson, Mrs. H. Trotter were appointed to the nominating committee. Plans were made for a paper collection to be held shortly. An interesting article on temperance was read by Mrs. McKinley, and a paper on Christian Stewardship by Mrs. Sargent. The visiting committee, convened by Mrs. H. Baptie, reported thirty-four calls made on strangers, the aged and the sick.

"Following Christ's Way in the Home" was the theme for the worship service which was in charge of Mrs. H. Lewis, assisted by Mrs. V. E. R. Zufelt, Mrs. Wm. Potter and Mrs. Gertley. The offering was received with thoughts especially for East Indian comrades in the world church. Mrs. R. Hanscom introduced the study book, "Links Between East and West," mentioning briefly the two missionaries, Miss Archibald of Trinidad and Rev. Yohan Nasih, of Indore, Central India. She spoke at length of the work of the latter, who made such a great contribution to the Christian cause, and left such a lasting impression upon the life of mission, church and community. Miss Archibald's work in Trinidad was presented in a most interesting manner. As press secretary, Mrs. E. Johnston interviewed Mrs. J. Morrison, who played the role of Miss Archibald, and in a series of searching questions asked her of her work. The answers were given carefully and thoughtfully. Interesting experiences in the life of Miss Archibald were related by Mrs. A. Long and Mrs. Thompson.

Mission Circle Plans Stewardship Play

Mrs. V. E. Smith was in the chair for the March meeting of the Frances Watt Mission Circle, held at the home of Mrs. Frank Dunford, Sherbrooke street. The theme of the meeting was "Following Christ's way in the Home." Mrs. Smith, who was in charge of the worship service, explained that the distinguishing quality of a Christian home is that Jesus Christ is the centre, and all its members seek to obey his law of self-denying love. A Christian home should be a place where youth has put within its hands a torch to guide them as they go out "amid the encircling gloom." As the church looks at the home it sees that its contribution to the progress of society is greater than than any other institution.

Miss Maxine Elliott gave the scripture reading, and the study period, conducted by Miss Jean Hair, was entitled "Links between East and West." The study was in the form of an interview. Miss A. J. Archibald, missionary for 50 years in Trinidad as teacher in a number of schools for girls, was taken by Elva Darling. One of the schools in Trinidad was named the Archibald Institute after this much loved teacher. Most of the schools are for home training. The story of Sampatti, an East Indian woman, was told by Mrs. F. Dunford, and the story of Miss Beattie given by Miss Irene Graham.

A brief outline of the life of Rev. Yohan Masih, D.D., a first moderator of the United Church of North India, was well told by Mrs. H. Murduff.

During the business period plans were made for a stewardship play, "An Alabaster Cruse," to be presented at the next meeting, which will also be the Easter thankoffering. One or more War Savings Certificates is to be given to the United Church of Canada with special donations from members. An article on Stewardship, 'To you it is Given" was read by Miss Irma Darling.

Miss Maxine Elliott and Miss Irene Graham were conveners for the tea served after the meeting.

FURS FOR SPRING

By ALICE ALDEN

IT'S a sign of Spring when furriers start showing their newest furs. For the fur jacket has become a glamorous item in wardrobes this season. A smart fur jacket is equally appropriate with sports things, daytime clothes and evening costumes. While the fluffy furs such as lynx and fox are always in demand, many smart women prefer flat furs. Cited for Spring by Dein-Bacher of the Waldorf is this delightful twenty-five inch long jacket of natural stone marten. The skins are worked in a swirl design on the slim shoulders and there is a pretty pointed lapel collar and side sleeves.

Home Economics Class Entertains 35 Guests

The Home Economics class entertained some thirty-five guests at a concert and afternoon tea on Tuesday afternoon. Many of the girls' mothers or other relatives were present and a pleasant afternoon was spent. Other visitors were Rev. J. J. McCarthy, pastor, who spoke in praise of the success of the class and gave a great deal of the credit to the pleasing personalities of the instructresses, Miss M. Wallace and Miss M. Smith. Miss Clark of Toronto, superintendent of the Women's Institute branch (under which all short courses, etc. are given) was also present and explained the work of the Women's Institutes branch in much detail. Mrs. Weller of Warsaw, district president of the Institute, also was present and gave a short address. Mrs. Paterson was present, but Mr. Paterson, county representative, was unable to be present. Dr. Munro of Warsaw was unable to attend. The convener of the literary society for the current week, Mrs. D. F. Garvey, was chairman for the occasion. The program was as follows: Community singing, led by Mrs. Kennedy; address by Father McCarthy; song, four girls, with guitar accompaniment, Helen Devlin, Mary Meagher, Teresa Moher and Marjorie Ayotte; song, "Beautiful Dreamer," Mr. John Sheehan; song, "Mother Machree," Mrs. Victor Kennedy; address, Miss Clarke; address, Mrs. Weller. Refreshments were then served. Dainty, toothsome small cakes and sandwiches of different shapes were served and a social hour was spent over the tea-cups. Recipes for the sandwich filling and the six varieties of small cakes follow:

Sandwich Filling

2 cups strained tomato juice, 1 cup grated cheese, 2 cups soft bread crumbs, or 1 cup dry bread crumbs, 1 egg, 1 tablespoon of butter.

Method: Heat tomato juice, add the cheese until it dissolves, add crumbs, and well beaten egg last. Pack in sterile jars and just before using add walnuts broken fine.

Caramel Squares

½ cup butter, ½ cup sugar, 1 egg-yolk and 1 egg, 1½ cups flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ⅛ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla. Sift the baking powder, salt and flour, add the sugar and blend well; add the butter and cut into the flour as for pastry. Beat the egg and the egg-yolk until light, add vanilla and combine with the first mixture. Press with the hand into a pan and spread over the top the following: 1 egg white, stiffly beaten, 1 cup brown sugar, ½ cup chopped nutmeats. Bake in a 350 degree oven from 20 to 30 minutes while still warm.

Chocolate Macaroons

(Do not have to be baked.)

Line a pan with waxed paper. Put two cups shredded cocoanut in a pan. Pour over it four squares of hot, melted dipping chocolate. Cool and cut in squares.

Marshmallow Squares

(Not baked.)

Cut up a package of marshmallow into quarters (using scissors). Arrange on a square pan (lined with waxed paper.) Put bits of walnuts between the pieces. Pour over hot dipping chocolate and when cool cut in squares.

Cocoanut Macaroons

3 egg whites, 1 cup fruit sugar or fine granulated sugar, 1 tablespoon of corn starch, 2 cups shredded cocoanut, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Beat egg whites till stiff, add ½ cup sugar and continue beating till the mixture holds its shape. Mix cornstarch with the remaining sugar and fold into the mixture. Put over gently boiling water and fold over two or three times until crust forms around the bowl. Remove from the fire, add cocoanut and drop by spoonfuls on a buttered baking dish and bake in a slow oven for half an hour.

Marshmallow Squares

(Not baked.)

Melt one package of marshmallows over water and stir in rice crispies or corn flakes. Put in a square buttered pan and press down with the fingers. Cut in squares when cool.

Others attending the tea were: Mrs. William McKiever, Mrs. John Sullivan, Mrs. William Hayes, Mrs. F. D. Leahy, Mrs. James Delaney, Mrs. Richard Sheehan, Mrs. Joseph Sheehan, Mrs. Thomas Forsyth, Mrs. John L. O'Brien, Mrs. John J. O'Brien, Mrs. Maurice O'Leary, Mrs. William Heffernan (east), Mrs. William Heffernan (west), Mrs. Rod Maloney, Mrs. Clarence McMurray, Mrs. P. G. Towns, Mrs. V. Kennedy, Mrs. John W. Condon, Mrs. Patrick O'Grady, Mrs. Patrick O'Brien, Miss Margaret Casey, Mrs. Harry Ayotte, Mrs. Mastai Moher, Mrs. Gus Torpey, Mr. P. G. Towns, Mr. John Sheehan, Miss Noreen Moher.

ALL OCCASION FROCK

By ALICE ALDEN

THE BLACK frock that fits unobtrusively yet smartly into the day's activities from luncheon on through to informal evening dates is an important item in any wardrobe. The right type of frock is a find and is apt to be worn time and time again in preference to newer or more startling clothes. Olivia de Haviland has chosen an ideal frock of this type. It is of supple black silk crepe, with a long, softly fitted bodice marked by tucks through the midriff section. Interest centres in the unusual yoke treatment. Flame red jersey caught into soft folds is lopped through the front forming a pointed neckline. A black felt profile beret and black suede accessories complete the costume.

DOROTHY DIX

MOTHERS SET EXAMPLES FOR DAUGHTERS TO FOLLOW.

Matrimonially Inclined Young Man Can Determine What His Wife Will Look Like Years Hence If He Studies Her Family.

Dear Miss Dix—Is the old saying true that if you look at the mother you can see what the daughter will be like in 10 or 15 years? I have been going steady with a girl for two months and I think I am falling in love with her. Her mother is big, fat and lazy, and I wouldn't like that kind of a wife.

UNDECIDED.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER. — Well, of course, you can't always judge a girl by her mother, but girls do take after Mother often enough to make it expedient for every young chap to take a long, lingering, appraising look at Mother before he pops the question to daughter. Fat runs in some families; bones in others; so if Mother at middle age looks like a feather bed or a skeleton, it is more than likely that daughter will put on flesh or get skinny as she ages, and you can get a preview of what she will be like when she is 40 by taking a look at Mama. But girls are more likely to run true to form mentally and spiritually than they are physically, and that is when the old adage, "Like Mother, like daughter," should be a lamp to guide the feet of the young man in search of a wife. For a girl not only inherits from her mother, but she has Mother's training and example, and Mother forms her character and sets her habits. That is why the wise guy who wants to know what he is going to get in the surprise package he marries gives Mother a careful eye. If Mother is lazy and shiftless; if her house looks as if a cyclone had just passed through it; if meals are never on time and the food would poison an ostrich, that is the kind of housekeeper, nine times out of ten, that daughter will be. For daughter has no standards of cleanliness and order and doesn't know good cooking from bad.

They Follow Their Mothers.

If Mother is extravagant and wasteful, it won't be a bad guess that daughter will be one of the wives who keep their husbands in debt and their noses to the grindstone. They can't resist anything that has been marked down from $1.00 to 98 cents or that is sold on time.

And of Mother regards her husband as nothing but a meal ticket and shows him no respect or consideration, whoever marries daughter will be a human doormat.

But if, on the other hand, Mother at 50 has kept her figure and is interesting and entertaining and up-to-date; if she is a good housekeeper and thrifty manager, and if she treats her husband as if he were a little tin god, then it is safe betting that daughter will make one of the wives whose price is above rubies.

Of course, there are exceptions to all rules. Some makeshift mothers have star daughters and some star mothers have makeshift daughters, but, generally speaking, it is a safe rule to pick out your mother-in-law first and then marry her daughter.

ARMY TRAINING MAY IMPROVE HIM.

Dear Miss Dix—I have a daughter who is about to marry a boy with whom she is in love but who does not love her. In addition to that he is utterly selfish, miserly, domineering, and snobbish, as his mother has pampered him all his life, waited on him hand and foot and given him a superiority complex. I know my daughter will be miserable if she is expected to compete with his mother with whom he is in love and not with her. The boy's attitude toward my daughter is that of the dog in the manger. He doesn't really want her, but he is not willing for anyone else to have her. He is within the draft age and if he has to be away for a year is there a possibility that the rigid training he will be subjected to will make a man out of him in his own right? Should I try to reason with my daughter, hoping that the situation will eventually work itself out for the better?

A DISTRAUGHT MOTHER.

ANSWER.—Undoubtedly the discipline that the young men will receive in a year's military training will do marvels in correcting their mental and moral, as well as their physical weaknesses, but it cannot be depended upon to work miracles, and nothing short of a major one would turn a selfish, miserly, domineering boy into a man fit to marry.

Nor is it likely that anything that you can say to a lovesick girl will make her realize the folly of marrying a mother's spoiled pet, particularly when she is the one who does the loving. That is always fatal. There is no one to whom a man is so brutal as he is to the woman who loves the most and who clings to him when he wants to be rid of her.

And, anyway, a girl who marries a boy with a mother complex, and who has been spoiled and pampered by his mother hasn't the ghost of a chance at happiness. She will always run a poor second to Mother, and no matter how much of a slave she makes herself to her husband she can never achieve the utter humility and self-abnegation that Mother has acquired through years of being trampled upon. Nor can she ever be such an expert incense-burner as Mother is.

No wonder you want to save your daughter from such a fate, but the only way you have any chance of keeping her from throwing her life away on this bounder is to play for time, and pray that Uncle Sam will get the youth before she does.

Often absence makes the heart grow fonder of some one else, or maybe the young man will find some other girl who will strike his fancy.

✧ ✧ ✧

NO HAPPINESS IN MESSY ROMANCES.

Dear Miss Dix — Two years ago when I returned from a trip abroad I found that my widowed mother had married the most charming man I had ever met. Now he and I have fallen in love with each other and, although he had a deep affection for my mother at the time of their marriage, he realizes that the feeling that he has for her is not the passion that he has for me and that I am the ONLY one. Shall I sacrifice myself for my mother's happiness, or shall I marry him and have a happy home of my own?

UNDECIDED.

ANSWER. — How does your mother feel about it? Is she devoted to her charming Lothario? Or does she care so little for him that she could surrender him to another without a pang of regret? Or is she, mother-like, willing to sacrifice her own hapiness for her daughter's?

The only thing you can do is for the three of you to put your cards on the table and after a full and free discussion try to decide what course will bring the least scandal and unhappiness.

Certainly it is a messy romance, and, personally, I do not see how you could have much happiness with a husband you took away from your mother, or how she could have any happiness holding a husband who is in love with her daughter.

FASHIONS

A gay little apron makes an attractive gift or bridge prize. This one is so easy and economical to make that you'll sew up several in no time at all. The heart shaped bib and pockets are in keeping with the season and give such an interesting line to this practical but pretty apron. Complete sewing instructions are included in the pattern to help the amateur seamstress. Trim crisp cotton with ruffling, ric-rac or contrasting binding and see how much fun you'll have making and wearing your apron from a yard of fabric.

Style No. 2809 is designed for sizes small, medium and large, and requires 1 yard of 39-inch fabric for any size and 2 yards of ruffling.

Two Centreville Societies Meet

CENTREVILLE, March 7—(ENS).—A joint meeting of the Women's Missionary Society and Ladies' Aid was held at the home of Mrs. James Whittington on Wednesday afternoon, the president of the W.M.S., Mrs. Howard Breckenridge, presiding.

Following the opening hymn, Mrs. Harold Tate read the Scripture lesson and Mrs. Thomas Skitch offered prayer.

During the business period Mrs. Harold Tate resigned as treasurer of the W.M.S., and Mrs. James Whittington was elected in her place.

For the program the following interesting and instructive readings were given: Miss Vera Bradshaw, "Till We Have Built Jerusalem"; Mrs. James Whittington, "The Lamplighters"; Miss Evelyn Donaldson, "The Pilot"; Mrs. Clifford Hall, "A Life Untried"; Mrs. D. Rutherford, "News Echoes."

MACARONI AND MINCED HAM SUPPER DISH

LINE a deep pie dish or casserole with alternate layers of cooked macaroni, minced ham and tomatoes. Make top layer macaroni. Sprinkle with chopped parsley; dot with little lumps of butter. Mix a tablespoonful of H. P. Sauce in a cup of water or soup and pour over. Bake in moderate oven. Grated cheese can be used in place of tomatoes. You will find when you serve this dish that the H. P. Sauce has enriched the flavour considerably. This extra touch of flavour makes all the difference in the world. So keep H. P. in mind and use it as a flavouring and seasoning agent for supper dishes of all kinds; for meat loaf, gravy, meat pie, stews, fried meats, fish, etc. H. P. is the thick, fruity sauce from England.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, March 8

THE ADMIRABLE fortunes and engagements of the previous days may rise to the highest of culminations on this day, according to a brilliant chain of planetary aspects. These hold happy intervention in all phases of life—business, financial, social, domestic, intellectual and emotional—all rising to exalted levels of enjoyment and satisfaction.

Those whose birthday it is may be on the threshold of a joyous, prosperous and happy year, with all ambitions and aspirations reaching high goals of achievement and psychological satisfactions. It seems the climax to many lofty ideals, emotional yearnings and more solid but worthy objectives.

A child born on this day should be bounteously endowed with all the gifts and symbols of a highly successful, gratifying and happy life as well as a humane and useful one.

Bride and Groom Are Given Shower

LAKEFIELD, March 7—(ENS).—Mrs. Roland Coons, Lakefield, and Mrs. Ivan Fletcher, Keene, were joint hostesses at the former's home on Saturday evening, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Mathews, a recent bride and groom.

Several games were played, and Miss Joan Fletcher added to the program with singing and tap-dancing, accompanied by Clinton and Roy Mathews.

During the evening the guests of honor were presented by Mrs. Ivan Fletcher with a daintily decorated basket of pretty and useful gifts, carried in by Miss Joan Fletcher and Miss Marie Wilson.

After the gifts were unwrapped, Mr. and Mrs. Mathews each made a gracious reply of thanks and invited their friends to visit them in their new home.

A dainty lunch was served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. E. Mathews and Mrs. L. Dever bringing to a conclusion a most enjoyable evening.

DIED

COLE, Mrs. W. W.—Suddenly, on Thursday, March 6, 1941, at her residence, 587 Downie street, Evelyn Maude McCullough, beloved wife of William Wallace Cole, in her 58th year. Funeral service, Monday, March 10, at 2 p.m. from the Nisbett Funeral Home, 347 Charlotte street; Rev. Blackwood of the Assembly Hall officiating. Interment, Little Lake Cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM

MONTGOMERY.—In loving memory of a dear, loving husband and father, Joseph Wellington Montgomery, who passed away three years ago to-day, March 7, 1938.

It's a lonesome home without a father;
All our griefs and sorrows he did share,
But now he has gone and left us,
How we miss his tender care.
Three long years since he left us,
Fresh in our memory still he dwells,
Cause us all to drop a tear,
On the grave of the one we loved so well.
Stil lwe are a lonesome family,
While he sleeps among the blest
In the joys of his loving Saviour,
In sweet peace there he rests.

—Ever remembered by his loving wife and sons, Arnold and Noble.

Belleville Boys Defeated 6-5

CAMPBELLFORD, Mar. 7 (ENS)—Campbellford Juveniles moved one step closer to a playoff berth in the O.J.H.A. when they defeated Belleville 6-5 in the first round of home and home series. The winners overcame a two goal lead which Belleville established in the opener then they walked ahead with a 5 to 3 lead during a lightning fast second period when the visitors were held scoreless.

Belleville opened the scoring in the initial canto with Wright lifting one past McComb from close quarters. Milne gave the homesters the equalizer at the 12-minute mark. Belleville got the other two tallies of the period when shots by Rosenbush and Goyer registered.

Two goals apiece by Tinney and Lambert gave them top scoring honours for the homesters while Rosenbush made a similar record for the visitors. Both goal keepers gave a standout performance.

Summary:

First Period
1—Belleville—Wright ... 5:00
2—Campbellford—Milne ... 120:0

I.O.O.F. Conduct Gala Night At Millbrook

MILLBROOK, March 7—(ENS).—An evening of special interest to members of the Order of Oddfellowship took place on Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the local I.O.O.F. Hall, when visiting brethren from Peterborough, Lakefield and Orono were present in large numbers, and two candidates, G. T. McPherson of Millbrook and M. Scriver of Lakefield received the third degree in the Order.

The degree team from the Orono Lodge carried through the ritual and floor work in exemplary manner, and following the Lodge session adjournment was made to the dining hall, where a hot supper was served around midnight, members of Golden Sheaf Rebekah Lodge preparing and serving the abundant menu.

Brother Harold Tate, Noble Grand of Millbrook Lodge, acted as toastmaster, and when the toast to the King had been duly honored, called upon Brother P. I. Bentley, Past D.D.G.M., and Grand Lodge Representative, of Millbrook, to proposed the toast to the Grand Lodge of Ontario. The response was made by Brother J. Riddle, of Orono, Grand Conductor of the Grand Lodge, who gave much interesting information relative to the duties of the officers of the senior lodge of the province, the obligations of the subordinate lodges, and also of the new I.O.O.F. Home at Barrie.

Brother Rowe, D.D.G.M., also had a part in the response, including in his interesting address, information about the I.O.O.F. war fund and the sale of a book, passed round for inspection, the money to be devoted to the evacuees who are to occupy the I.O.O.F. Home at Toronto.

The toast to "Our Visitors" was proposed in happy manner by Rev. A. L. Sisco, a member recently initiated into the mysteries of Oddfellowship, and response was made by Brother Frankish, N.G., of the Lakefield Lodge; Brother Rosborough, N.G., of the Orono Lodge; and Brothers Sage and Worboy of Otonabee and Peterborough Lodges, respectively.

Brother C. C. Garside of Peterborough, and formerly of Millbrook, proposed the toast to "The Candidate," and both Brothers G. T. McPherson and M. Scriver responded, their remarks showing appreciation of the fine manner in which the Orono team had exemplified the degree work earlier in the evening, and also of the privilege of being able to now say, "I am an Oddfellow."

Brothers Frost of Peterborough and Brown of Peterborough proposed the toast to "The Ladies," and reply was made by Sister Zella Bentley, Post Noble Grand, who mentioned that it was just twenty-four years since the Golden Sheaf Rebekah Lodge, No. 176, had been instituted at Millbrook, the exact date being March 5, 1917.

Cards, carpetballs and other games had been features of the social side of the evening's program, and it was well into the early morning hours before the bus and individual cars, which had conveyed the visitors to Millbrook, left on their homeward journey, bringing to a conclusion an event outstanding in local I.O.O.F. history.

Your Garden More Lovely Mirrored by a Lily Pool

Lilies Grow in a Sunken Tub

Beauty all summer in your garden when you have a lovely lily pool—and you can make one yourself!

Choose a quiet corner and sink in the ground an ordinary tub filled with good soil to within 6 inches of the top. Add 3 inches of water and border with rocks, for a natural look.

If you plant in time, what a picture of beauty you'll see this summer! Pygmy water-lilies, in yellow or white, that may give a hundred blooms a season . . . blue forget-me-nots and yellow marsh marigolds nestling in the rocks by the pool . . . and beside it, reflected in the water, tall iris, Regal fern, white-flowering arrowhead.

And all with such tiny effort! To plant hardy water-lilies, you simply press a piece of rootstock lengthwise into the mud and, with a rock, weight down one end until it takes root.

You may as easily make a charming rock garden, too, as a setting for your pool.

Our 32-page booklet gives exact details of making tub, cement and stock ponds. Tells how to grow hardy and tropical water-lilies, lotus; suggests border planting for charming effects. Has directions for making and planting delightful rock gardens, in both sunny and shady spots.

Send 10c in coins or stamps for your copy of HOW TO MAKE ROCK GARDENS AND LILY POOLS to Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

"The Authority on Authorities"

WHERE ARE YOUR CARDS? BEFORE doubling the opponents' contract because of your nice collection of honor cards, it is well to consider first their location in relation to the hostile ones placed by the bidding. If they seem to be under the opponents' honors, where they will get smothered by finesses, be wary. If the opponents' honors seem to be under yours, where you get last whack at them and can knock them off, then go to it.

Without East's double, there was a good chance that South might have been set. But with it, he made an overtrick. The spade J won the first trick, South ruffed the second spade, took the heart A and then finessed the diamond 8. Had East not doubled, the natural play would have been the Q finesse, which would have cost South a trick. That finesse was taken next, and the A dropped the K. With all of that strength shown by East, South decided West might have the club Q, as totally blank hands are rare. So he put out the club 10, which West covered. The K won that, the J dropped the 9, the 8 was good, and so South took all tricks except the first one.

East should have reasoned from the bidding that South probably had only about three cards in the two majors, and that therefore he might take only one trick in those suits. Also that his diamond honors were so placed that his double would tell South how to bump them off. He is now a sadder but wiser young man.

If you had doubled South's 3-Spades and your partner led the diamond 3, how would you play your cards in the East to defeat the contract?

Trent River News

Members of the war service workers turned out full force Tuesday afternoon with an attendance of 16. One quilt was finished while a second was put in the frames for quilting, the latter quilt of the sweet pea design is on order for a Toronto customer.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Scott and family of Hastings were Sunday visitors with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Scott.

Mr. Fred Hay is confined to bed at his home through illness. His many friends wish him a quick recovery.

A progressive euchre was held Tuesday night at the war service workers' rooms. Six tables were played, the prizes going to Mrs. John Hay, ladies' first; Mr. Francis Ruttan, gents' first; while the consolations went to Miss Viona Brownsell and Mr. Clifford Chaplin. Lunch was served at the close of the game. The receipts for the event amounted to $4.65.

Group Quiltings At Havelock Well Attended

HAVELOCK, Mar. 7—(ENS). — The "group meetings" of the United Church were held on Wednesday afternoon of this week at the following homes: the West End group at the home of Mrs. Archie McColl; Centre group at the home of Mrs. Ross Pollock, and the East End group at the home of Mrs. Harvey Gordon.

All three meetings were well attended, with the making of quilt blocks and quilting as the general work of the afternoon. Refreshments were served at 4.30 and a social half hour spent.

Honor Ruth Hagerman

The Young People's League of the United Church met in the church basement Monday evening, giving a farewell handkerchief shower to one of their members, Miss Ruth Hagerman, who is leaving for Toronto. During the evening a temperance program was led by Mrs. R. W. Goheen, at which the members signed pledges as part of the campaign for war-time abstinence.

The society accepted an invitation to a skating party, being held in Norwood next Monday by the Young People of the Norwood United Church. They expect about 25 members would attended from their league.

Invite Chairman

Rev. M. I. Robinson, B.A., of Norwood United Church was elected to be acting chairman of the Bay of Quinte Conference Home Mission committee held at Bridge Street Church, Belleville, on Wednesday, to fill the vacancy caused by the serious illness of Rev. Professor J. R. Watts of Queen's Theological College, Kingston.

The committee named Rev. G. Telford of Oshawa and Rev. W. J. Davis of Cannifton as delegates to a meeting with Montreal and Ottawa Conference delegates in Montreal. The joint committee will consider nominees from both conferences for a successor to Rev. J. U. Tanner, D.D., as Superintendent of Home Misisons for a joint area, and make final recommendation to the Home Mission Board in Toronto this month. Nominees from the Bay of Quinte Conference are Rev. J. J. Black, B.A., of Lindsay, and Rev. P. L. Jull, B.A., of Brooklin.

52 Attend H. and S. Rally

The monthly meeting of the Home and School Association was held on Tuesday evening, with an attendance of 40 adult sand 12 children, with the president, Mrs. Charles Taylor presiding. The treasurer reported the sum of $35.27 in the bank.

A letter from Toronto was read asking that a full report of the year's work be sent in, also notifying the association of the annual convention, to be held in Toronto, April 16. Moved by Mrs. Rigby and Mrs. Rice, that Mrs. Nobes be appointed to go as delegate with Mrs. Drinkwalter as alternate. Carried.

Mrs. H. Pollock made a report on two layettes that the Home and School are donating to the British War Victims' Fund, included with these are many knitted articles which the school children are doing. A bill of $7.13 for material for the layettes was ordered to be paid. A report of the oratorical contest, of which Mesdames Price, Rigby and Taylor formed the the committee, was read by the secretary, showing receipts, $33.15; expenditures, $21.75, leaving a balance of $17.40.

The program opened with community singing of Irish songs, the pianist, Mrs. D. J. Holdcroft; followed by a skit by Mr. Gay's room entitled "The New Maid." By special request, Mrs. Charles Couch gave her report of the Red Cross Convention of the Ontario Division, held in Toronto last Friday. Mrs. Couch was sent as a delegate by the Havelock-Belmont Red Cross Society. A number of Irish selections were given by Mrs. Harry Hubbel and Mrs. Sam Southward, both ladies were born in Ireland and in the same part of the country. A talk was given by Miss Inex Spooner, a public school pupil, on "My Silver Cups, and Where I Won Them." An Irish trio, "Killarney" was sung by Mrs. D. J. Holdcroft, Mrs. Robert McCutheon and Mrs. Goheen, with Mrs. Glenn Wright at the piano.

Mr. Gay's room won the shield for having the largest attendance of parents.

Mrs. John McLauchlin of Toronto is spending several weeks with her son, Rev. A. McLauchlin at the parsonage. Mr. McLauchlin is improving but is still confined to the house.

Mr. Douglas Drinkwalter, B.A., has been appointed chairman, and Mrs. A. C. Price, vicechairman of the War Savings Certificate campagn in the United Church. Rev. W. F. Craik of St. James' Church, Peterborough, will be the guest speaker at a banquet being held on March 19 for this cause.

Congratulations to Principal Walter T. Brown, Ph.D., of Victoria University, who has been appointed chancellor to succeed Rev. E. Wilson Wallace, who has resigned owing to illness. Dr. Brown is a native of Lakefield and is admirably fitted for the task and very popular with the staff and students alike.

How To Overcome Piles And Rectal Soreness

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of letting these conditions become chronic. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from McDermid & Jury and Bond's Drug Store or any druggist, a package of Hem-Roid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hem-Roid is highly recommended, is easy to use, and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk a chronic pile condition when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost.—(Advt.)

At The Same Old Stand

Standing like a veteran campaigner on a scarred battlefield is the historic St. Paul's Cathedral. All around are London ruins from buildings that had been bombed and blitzed from the air. The cathedral, viewed over the ruins, is emblematic of British courage in the crisis. With a let-up in air raids London is already starting to rebuild and the London as Londoners have always known it, is starting to emerge again.

Tokyo Chief Paying Berlin Visit

May Mean Stronger Tie —Or Shying Off Part In War On U.K.

BERLIN, Mar. 8 — (AP). — An official announcement said to-day that the Japanese Foreign Minister, Yosuke Matsuoka, will visit Berlin shortly on the invitation of the German Government.

The announcement did not give the date of Matsuoka's expected arrival.

(Despatches from Tokyo to-day reported Maj.-Gen. Eugen Ott, the German Ambassador to Japan, had departed alone on a brief visit to Berlin.)

The announcement said Matsuoka's visit will be for "personal deliberations on all questions arising from collaboration as set forth in the three-power pact between Germany, Italy and Japan."

Following the Berlin talks the Japanese Foreign Minister will go to Rome.

(Advices from the Orient intimating that Matsuoka might visit Berlin, Moscow, and Rome were cited by the Associated Press on February 27 as indicating the possibility of a major diplomatic move by the German-Italian alliance last September.

(It was suggested that in the event of a visit to Berlin Matsuoka's mission might mean: 1, Strengthening of Japan's ties with the Axis; 2, formulation of a common program of action against Britain and the United States, both in Europe and the Far East; 3, that Japan is loath to take an active part in the war against Britain and wishes to explain her position to Hitler.)

789 Bomb Victims

London, March 8 (CP)

A TOTAL of 789 civilians were killed in air raids on Britain last month, the ministry of air and home security announced to-day.

Of this number, a communique said, 91 were children under 16 years of age. One hundred and five children under 16 were reported injured.

The total number of injured for this period was listed at 1,068.

Of the totals, 383 men and 312 women were killed, and 598 men and 365 women injured. Three of the killed were not classified.

Raider Clips Ship Mast, Sinks In Channel
R.A.F. Floors 3 Others Off East Coast

LONDON, March 8—(CP).—Three German bombers were shot down by fighter planes in dogfights high over England's east coast today.

One bomber was downed off Lowestoft after raiding an east coast town.

Other German planes were reported seen over the south coast and the East Midlands.

The raids put the air war back in motion after a quiet night in which a communique declared that "aside from very slight activity by enemy aircraft off our coast during the darkness there is nothing to report."

Bombs were dropped at isolated places during the attacks today. First reports indicated little damage was caused.

One German bomber was reported officially to have been shot down by fighter planes in the battles over the east coast.

A second announcement a short time later said another enemy bomber was destroyed in the same area.

A low-flying Heinkel bomber which bombed a trawler off the east coast of Scotland last night was reported to have clipped the ship's mast with one wing and plunged into the sea, where it sank.

Suspend Police For Beating Of 2 Freshmen

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—(AP).—Two veteran police officers, pointed out in a line-up of 68 policemen, were suspended temporarily from the police force to-day, accused of beating two Stanford University freshmen picked up as "Skid Row" vagrants last Saturday.

Deputy Police Chief Michael J. Riordan announced formal complaints charging unprovoked assault would be filed to-day against the officers, Patrolmen Joseph Francis Greene and John J. Desmond.

They were picked from the line-up of uniformed police yesterday by the two 18-year-old students, Don Allan of Redwood City, Calif., and Carter Barber, of Winnetka, Ill. Both officers denied the accusation.

Allan still wore a large bandage across his broken nose and another on his right leg.

The students, wearing old clothes, had come to one of the toughest districts in town to make a "sociological study" of life on Skid Row, they said. They were jailed at the southern station, they claimed, were beaten one by one with fists and clubs, and then were transferred to the city prison.

Both youths said they had made no disturbance or given any cause for rough treatment.

Admit Warship Sunk

ROME, Mar. 8 — (AP). — An Italian warship of "medium tonnage" was reported by the Italian high command to-day to have "sunk in the Mediterranean from an unascertained cause."

The announcement said many of the crew were saved.

They Want Killings

Mexico City, March 8 (AP)

TO the ordinary dangers of bullfighting, the Mexican government added more hazards today.

Any matador who fails to "fulfil his obligations"—in other words slay his bull in a reasonable number of tries—may find himself in jail for as much as 15 days.

Government quarters said the regulations were adopted because of public indignation at the "disgraceful failure" last Sunday of Lorenzo Garza, "The Magnificent," one of the nation's most famous bull-fighters.

He failed to dispatch his bull in nine attempts and later was fined 1,000 pesos (about $200), which was the maximum penalty for a bad performance until today.

The temperamental Garza goes into the ring again tomorrow in an attempt to redeem himself.

Big Italian Liner Tops Ship Loss

LONDON, March 8—(CP). — An Italian liner of 17,800 tons and three British freighters aggregating 16,481 tons were the marine losses dut to war causes in the week ended March 7 as reported by neutral sources.

The Italian liner was the Conte Rosso, reported sunk after striking an Italian mine off Sicily.

New York marine circles reported the loss due to enemy action of the 7,939-ton Politician, the 5,154-ton Speybank, and the 3,38-ton Maplecourt.

The British Admiralty's summary for the week ended February 24 showed 14 ships aggregating 69,868 tons were lost in the period. This was slightly about the weekly average of the war.

Duce Shuffles Albanian Generals Anew

ATHENS, March 8.—(AP)—Greek successes on the Central Albanian front in which 1,050 Italians were captured coincided with unconfirmed reports of another shakeup in the Italian high command—the fourth since the campaign began Oct. 28.

Foreign sources said Gen. Ugo Cavallero, chief of the Italian general staff, who has been personally directing the Albanian campaign, had been superseded by Gen. Carolo Gelloso, 11th army commander.

(It was not clear whether the report mean Gelloso had been named chief of staff or merely placed in charge of Fascist forces in Albania.

(Cavallero replaced Marshal Pietro Badoglio as chief of staff Dec. 6, one month after the latter had superseded Gen. Ubaldo Soddu. The latter replaced Gen. Visconti Prasca Nov. 16.)

The Greek high command said the Italians had been driven back from "strong and efficiently organized positions" on the Central Albanian front yesterday.

"Very much material," it was added, "has falled into our hands."

A Greek spokesman said Italian prisoner reported air fields at Durazzo, Valona and Tirana had been heavily damaged by Greek and British bombings and many aircraft destroyed on the ground.

Yesterday, for the first time, the Greeks used front line loud speakers to bombard Italian infantrymen with propaganda. A Greek officer read, a 1,000-word criticism of Fascism with the recurring query: "Why are you fighting Greece?"

Japs Moving Home

NEW YORK, March 8.—(AP)—Domei, Japanese news agency, broadcast today a Yokohama dispatch telling of the repatriation of an unspecified number of Japanese from the northwestern United States "in view of increasing Pacific tension."

They arrived aboard the Heian Maru. Among them was Kenzo Suoki, resident of Seattle for 34 years "during which he achieved success in the salted fish business," Domei said. His wife was with him.

Claim Effort To Part Slavs, Axis

"Never Heard Of It" Says Washington As Huns Quote Press

BERLIN, March 8.—(AP).— The German press to-day abused President Roosevelt's foreign policy after circulating a claim from Budapest that he had tried to keep Yugoslavia from the Axis.

(State Department officials at Washington declared they "never heard of it" when asked yesterday about a Berlin report that Britain was seeking United States' diplomatic aid in dealing with Yugoslavia.)

In a lead article to-day the Essen National Zeitung asked "if America would appreciate it if Germany sent special envoys all over Central America as Roosevelt does over Europe." The Zeitung said these tarvellers were "proof of a continued attempt on the part of Washington to influence German's neighbors."

The comment grew out of the Yugoslav story, printed in the German-controlled Budapest newspaper Magyarsag and distributed from there by the German radio and the German propaganda agency.

300 Norwegians Plan To Enlist

LONDON, March 8—(CP)—More than 300 young Norwegians taken off the Lofoten Islands aboard British warships after a British raid last Tuesday said today they planned to enlist here "to carry on the fight for freedom."

Eight girls, their ages varying from 18 to 22, some of them clad in ski clothes, accompanied the group. Six of them said they hoped to see service as nurses. The other two wished to do office work that would aid the armed forces.

Jury Clears Fliers

COBOURG, Ont., Mar. 8 — (CP). —A coroner's jury last night attached no blame to Benny Marcovitch of Montreal in the deaths of two Toronto women, Mrs. Elizabeth Boyle and Miss Wininfred Irwin, who suffered fatal injuries in an automobile accident near here last Monday.

Markovitch and his companion, Stanley May, also of Montreal, are training with the Royal Canadian Air Force at Brantford, Ont. The two women had offered the men a lift back to Brantford and Marcovitch was driving with May in the front seat.

Greeks Will Settle

Athens, March 8 (AP)

AN open letter to Hitler, published today in the newspaper Kathimerini, declared Greece's determination to fight to the death.

It asserted that if the object of the Germans was to save the Italians in Albania, Greece was ready to settle matters "without humiliation" to Italy provided Italy would "leave Albania alone."

The letter expressed disbelief that the German nation of 85,000,000 "would strike from the flank" a small country "now struggling for freedom against an empire of 45,000,000."

"The army of free Greeks will stand, if called upon, in Thrace as it stood in Epirus," the newspaper declared, referring to that section of Greece originally invaded by the Italians.

Chin-up Keepers Union Open To Canadians

LONDON, March 8 (CP)—Blitz Bitz:—Canadians will soon get a chance to join the "National Amalgamated Union of Smilers, cheerful Sloggers and Chin-up Keepers." Capt. J. C. Kelly-Rogers, famous trans-Atlantic pilot for British Overseas Airways, has promised to act as recruiting agent for the Union on his overseas trips next summer. Members pay one shilling membership fee which goes to the Lord Mayor's Fund to relieve air raid distress.

Acting Flt.-Lt. Leonard E. Clark, New Zealander who received the Distinguished Flying Cross for valuable reconnaissance work in the Royal Air Force, won fame as the "Flying Farmer." After flying solo from England to New Zealand in 1936, he said his reason for the flight was he wanted to be home for the sheep shearing.

Lord Redesdale, father of Unity Mitford, and Lady Mosley, has joined a London unit of the Home Guard, he is 62.

300,000 Aiding Muss

London, March 8 (CP)

THE Daily Telegraph said today in a dispatch from its Lisbon correspondent that 300,000 German soldiers and airmen now are in Italy.

Quoting "reliable sources" in the Portuguese capital, the correspondent said two-thirds of the German troops, including practically all land forces, are based in Naples.

The correspondent said also that Marshal Graziani, Italian commander in Libya, who has been rumored to be in Rome, is due to return to Tripoli to take command of what remains of Italian Libya.

Gas Ordered Underground; Cities Shape For Raids As Nazis Offer More Bait

Huns Press Diplomats To Swing Ankara With Machinery And Rewards Work On Greece Along Border Promises

ISTANBUL, March 8—(AP).—Turkey continued defence measures today as her statesmen made ready to state the country's position in the tense situation.

Istanbul authorities ordered gasoline and other inflammables stored underground, and several cities prepared for air raid tests.

The press continued to express defiance of Germany and to urge Yugoslavia to resist Axis overtures.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, March 8—(AP).—With 150,000 Nazi soldiers on the Greek border poised for action, Germany appeared today to be making an intense effort to end the Greek-Italian war by diplomacy before resorting to force.

Some quarters intimated that German diplomats had gone so far as to offer Greece a guarantee that she would retain all the territory she held at the outbreak of hostilities last October 28.

(There was no immediate reaction from Athens, but previous diplomatic efforts to end the fighting in Albania have fallen flat).

Neutral military observers in Bulgaria predicted last night that German forces would drive into the Greek provinces of Macedonia and Thrace—toward vital Salonika—today or tomorrow, but any military offensive now appears to hinge on the outcome of the diplomatic manoeuvres.

Greek diplomatic informants here said yesterday Greece "absolutely will fight any German invasion" and expressed hope that if the Nazis did invade Greece Turkey would hit them in the flank.

Meanwhile, Germany continued to exert heavy diplomatic pressure on Turkey and Yugoslavia in an effort to swing those two nations into the Axis sphere.

Some Axis informants took the position that Yugoslavia was more or less a side issue, but others said locomotives, machinery and economic rewards were being offered to Turkey in return for a break with Britain.

Counting On Diplomats

It was apparent in Sofia that the Germans were counting heavily on their diplomatic plans to end the Greek-Italian fighting, in which Greece has had all the best of it, and to win Turkey over to the Axis.

Informed quarters here said the German diplomatic strategy, backed by the force of German arms, sought to demonstrate to Greece the futility of further fighting and at the same time to convince Turkey that Nazidom was the supreme power in Southeastern Europe and that Britain's influence had dwindled to nothing.

OAC To Carry On Legislature Told By Hepburn

TORONTO, March 8 (CP)—An announcement the Ontario Agriculture College would carry on wiped out today all possibility of a debate on the subject in the Ontario legislature. Premier Hepburn made the statement yesterday and Conservative leader George A. Drew withdrew his motion which said in effect there was no justification for the College being used as a wireless operators' Air Training School.

The legislature, after a two-hour debate on Col. Drew's motion unanimously agreed to its withdrawal and at the same time gave complete approval to another motion offering all the province's assets to the Dominion Government for war purposes This motion was submitted by Provincial Secretary Harry Nixon.

In his announcement concerning the O.A.C. Premier Hepburn said scientific studies would be continued but the students would have to be billeted in Guelph homes.

Last Minute News

ARNPRIOR, Ont., March 8.—(CP)—Mr and Mrs. William Yade said to-day they had received word from the Navy Department that their son, AB, John Yade, "is missing in a British merchant ship which is overdue." AB, Yade was born in Arnprior and except for a few months in Peterborough, Ont., he spent all his life here.

Navy Keeps Hitler Stymied

Sea Power's Showing Giving Conquered Nations Fresh Hope

LONDON, Mar. 8 — (CP). — The naval raid on the German-held Lofoten Islands off Narvik, Norway, by British and Norwegian ships emphasizes again the incalculable advantage of sea power.

Hitler has the whole of Continental Europe under his control, but he is landlocked. His troops line the Continental side of the English Channel, at one point only 22 miles from Britain, but, like Napoleon before him, he lacks control of that ribbon of water and is, therefore, immobile.

Hitler has been forced into the risk of a two-front war in the Balkans largely because the British Navy controls the Eastern Mediterranean and is in a position to run supplies to the Greek Army while, at the same time, holding off the Italian fleet and disrupting Italian water-borne communications, both to Albania and Libya.

The war has assumed a gigantic struggle between sea power and land power, the latter, of course, including shore-based planes. History contains many examples of sea power finally defeating land power, and the new factor in his conflict, air strength, has yet to prove it can counterbalance the fundamental advantages of naval superiority.

It is Britain's naval strength that gives her access to the markets of the world, particularly Canada and the United States, to obtain the raw materials and processed goods she cannot produce herself.

While shiploads of war essentials land at British ports, Germany is held in the grip of a naval blockade, dependent upon Continental Europe and whatever she can slip through the blockade from outside. For a variety of reasons, the blockade is far from being air-tight, but there can be no doubt that Germany has started to feel the pinch and in time will actually suffer. Oil is merely one example of essential war products that reach Germany only in a trickle, compared to her needs.

100 Huns Reach Casablanca

Will Direct Morocco Says Spanish Report

MADRID, Spain, March 8—(AP)—The Spanish press published a dispatch from Casablanca today reporting that groups of German officers believed to number more than 100 had arrived in Casablanca and Rabat, in French Morocco, "to observe the application of armistice terms."

The dispatch said these German officers would "control French Morocco's administrative life, economy and politics—in all matters directly or indirectly related to the war and armistice."

There were no noticeable repercussions in the commercial life of the protectorate, the dispatch added, stating that there are increasing demands for articles of prime necessity for shipment to France.

Big Munition Role for Women

Jobs For 7,200 In Shell-Filling Plants—Many Fine Work Posts

OTTAWA, March 8 — (CP). — Adaptability, patience and dexterous fingers are attributes which are making women valuable in certain branches of the war industries, officials in the Department of Munitions and Supply said last night.

So far not many women, proportionately, are engaged in making war materials. But these officials told The Canadian Press they expect many thousands will be engaged in shell filling, making fuses, working on small arms such as Bren guns, rifles, and revolvers, on radio tubes, electrical and precision instruments.

"The long fingers and small hands of women are particularly adapted to such things as making fuses," an official explained. "There are as many as 30 tiny parts to be fitted together in one type of work. Some of the work must be done with fine tweezers and women do this expertly."

Women have been found to make good inspectors of the finished product. One of the heaviest jobs in factories today is the inspection of six-inch shells. These weigh about 50 pounds each. They must be examined inside and out.

"However, women do not lift them," the official said. "The inspector merely tips them over and rolls them. Then she taps and examines the end, for flaws."

Of the 180,000 Canadians which new war material factories and expanding munitions plants are expected to absorb this year, thousands of them likely will be women, the official said.

Nearly $100,000,000 worth of new construction in explosive and chemical plants and another $100,000,000 in armament buildings will be in production before the end of the year.

"But between April 1 and June 30 many of the new plants will swing into operation and women with some technical skill will find jobs," the Resistance Forcing Sparring In Balkans

LONDON, March 8 (CP Cable).—German anxiety over the future of its diplomatic offensive in the Balkans was indicated today in an outburst of abuse in the German press against the United States government which it accused of interfering to keep Yugoslavia out of the Axis orbit.

State Department officials at Washington said yesterday they had "never heard of" any United States efforts to influence the status of Yugoslavia, but the German press quoted an alleged "special" dispatch to the Budapest Magyarsag under Washington dateline, claiming the United States had made representations to Yugoslavia and of-

Protests Order Of Day As Hanson And Ilsley Clash

OTTAWA, Mar. 8 — (CP). — Protests were the order of the day as the House of Commons adjourned for the week-end with the $1,300,000,000 War Appropriations Bill still before it in resolution form.

Conservative House Leader Hanson protested the Government had failed to submit detailed estimates of war expenditures; Gordon Graydon (Con. Peel) protested against the reported decision to close the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph; and Jean Francois Pouliot (Lib. Temiscouata) protested employment of uniformed officers of the armed forces in routine office work.

Finance Minister Ilsley told Mr. Hanson it was impossible to handle war appropriations as detailed estimates because some of them related to secret matters and because at the best they were only guesses. The Government could not be bound not to exceed the amount voted for any particular item as it was with peacetime estimates.

Details Not Asked.

The minister said the Government was ready to give all possible details on the war appropriations, but so far the members had not asked for details. He repeated a breakdown previously given which showed $660,000,000 as the sum expected to be required for the Army, $386,000,000 for the Air Force, $181,000,000 for the Navy, and $180,000,000 for the Department of Munitions and fered her help if she refrained from joining the Axis.

There was some speculation if this Nazi propaganda move, undoubtedly intended mainly for home consumption, could foreshadow failure of the diplomatic offensive against Yugoslavia.

Greek spokesmen said Greece positively would fight any German attempt to invade the country and 90,000 men were reported set for a fight south of Saloniks which, apparently, the Greek High Command decided was untenable against mechanized forces which are a German specialty.

The German were believed originally to have planned a pincer move against Macedonia from both Bulgaria and Yugoslavia, but it appeared possible that stiffening of the Yugoslav attitude had balked this scheme.

There was no official announcement what Yugoslavia would do, but it was anticipated by Balkan observers that she would issue a statement reaffirming her friendship for Germany but would stay outside the Axis. The Turkish official radio said Yugoslavia was prepared to fight if Germany attempted to march in.

The Germans, in further efforts to upset British influence in the Balkans were said to have offered Turkey a considerable quantity of locomotives and other machinery if she would sever her non-belligerent alliance with Britain. The Turks, on their part, maintained silence on the subject.

One of the best examples of the value of sea power this war has furnished concerns the Middle East after collapse of France. French Army in Syria, backbone of Allied resistance in that strategic area, was lost in a day. Egypt lay almost defenceless with Marshal Graziani's army creeping forward along the coast road from Libya.

But, due to naval power and the mobility that is inherent in command of the seas, Britain recruited an army, transported it and its equipment in time to stop Graziani and, finally, to rout his forces. Egypt, the Suez Canal and the whole basin of the Middle East, including the Iraq oil fields, was saved—by naval strength.

The raid on the Lofoten Islands, far inside the Arctic Circle, is significant for at least two reason. It demonstrates the value of sea power, its mobility and its element of surprise against an enemy whole land forces are scattered over a vast area. Secondly, it demonstrates to the people of the conquered countries of Europe that strong forces are at work for their ultimate rescue, and that they have not been forgotten or neglected.

In shell-filling factories alone where something like 18,000 persons are expected to be employed by the end of the summer, 40 per cent., or 7,200, will likely be women.

Women best adapted for such work, demanding deft handling and speed, are those who already have some experience in using their hands. Typists, waitresses, hairdressers, those who do fine needlework, and those who have studied piano are mentioned as adept.

Over a period of time it has been discovered that women's eyes will stand more strain than men's. In the production of radio tubes where the setting up of the central core calls for concentrated attention and vigilant observation, as in making "fire" control instruments, women's eyes stand up well. Observation shows also that women bear monotony better than men. This makes them particularly suitable to jobs requiring repetition.

In the aircraft industry women are deft and quick in working on press work, drill work, punch press work, inspection and "stringing the wings." This latter operation is one in which they bind the ribs of the wings with string.

Salaries for munitions work vary with conditions, localities, plants and jobs. There is a minimum wage of 20 cents an hour set by the Dominion Government. But female help may reach a maximum of 55 cents an hour.

Training periods for such industrial work vary from one week for teaching simple mechanical operations to three months where more skill is demanded.

King Carol Asks Rest From Worry

LISBON, Portugal, Mar. 8—(AP)—In the first interview he has granted the press since he abdicated the throne of Rumania last September, former King Carol asserted to-day he is very grateful to Portugal for giving him asylum.

"I want to rest," the King said.

Signs of worry and anxiety of recent months were clearly marked on Carol's face although he gave the impression that he was far from downhearted.

The former monarch, who fled from Spain last Monday with Mme. Magda Lupescu, said he wished to express gratitude to Portugal as well as to the American public for the interest and sympathy shown in his plight.

Even in exile, the former King is still very much the ruler and the interview was 100 per cent according to protocol.

Gestapo Using Shrine

LONDON, Mar. 8 — (CP Cable). —The Polish Telegraphic Agency quoted Vatican sources Friday to the effect that the Gestapo (German secret police) is using as its headquarters part of the Polish shrine on Jasna Gora in Czenstochowa.

Clergy of the famed abbey were reported to have had to undergo the most humiliating treatment. Some were shot and others imprisoned, the reports said.

Among the priests known to have been shot by the Gestapo was Canon Bonaventura Metler, head astronomer at Jasna Gora Observatory.

Good Chef, Free

VANCOUVER, Mar. 8 — (CP). — Niels C. Smidt, Danish-born chef whose culinary career includes four years at the White House in Washington, D.C., is offering his services free to any organization engaged in war work, because he was refused re-entry into the armed forces. Smidt served overseas for four years with the 8th Battalion of Winnipeg, during the First Great War.

Production Jumps

LONDON, March 8.—(CP).—Ernest Bevin, Labor Minister, declared in a speech to-day to mine workers that industrial production has gone up every day, and that deliveries are improving despite German air attacks on cities, factories and workshops.

Forecasting a serious coal situation next summer and winter, he appealed to workers to produce more from the mines.

Canadian Corps Withstands Invasion Test

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, March 8.—(CP Cable)—The Canadian Corps played an outstanding role in a huge invasion rehearsal last month, in which all the armed forces of the United Kingdom participated.

The workout, revealed by War Secretary David Margesson in the House of Commons yesterday, involved no actual movement of Canadian troops but gave headquarters staffs thorough practice in meeting every conceivable disaster.

The Corps' divisional headquarters were exciting spots as officers handled a steady flow of orders from general headquarters and different commands worked out administrative details entailed in fighting such battles, even on paper.

Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton was away on leave at the time and Maj.-Gen. Victor Odlum, commander of the 2nd Division, was acting corps commander. Practically every formation was brought into rehearsal. An Ottawa brigadier, commander of an all-Ontario brigade, led the 2nd Division and Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes was on the job os commander of the 1st Division.

For nearly a week staff officers slaved day and night over battle probems, made as difficult as possible by skilful umpires acting as the enemy general staff. A Canadian brigade holding a coastal position was in the centre of one hypothetical landing and withstood every attack until reinforcements came up.

Very "Successful Swoop"

LONDON, March 8.—(CP)—A mock nivasion of England by British forces, with staff officers impersonating the German general staff, was "pretty successful", informed sources said Friday.

War Secretary David Margesson has given the official story to the House of Commons, saying that both civil and military organizations came through "with the greatest credit."

The same invasion, Mr. Margesson said, lasted a week and featured landing by air and sea probably on a scale greater than Germany could launch. High sources said the repulsing forces coped with an attack more successful than any Hitler could devise.

"It was a pretty successful invasion," an informant said, "but the resisting forces reacted splendidly, all things considered."

The behavior of civilians was described as a disturbing factor. In one locality the conditions obtaining in France and Belgium during the German advance last year were said to have been virtually duplicated.

People clogged the roads and important intersections and interfered generally with the carefully mapped defence plans. The "invaders," taking advantage of this, accomplished some extraordinary military strokes.

Branch Notes

ST. JOHN'S BRANCH

The members attended the Lenten service in church on Wednesday evening and the weekly meeting was held in the Sunday School following, Nelson Hewitt, president, led the prayers. Charles Jeffries was in charge which took the form of a musical night. Song title contests were enjoyed.

A special guest of the evening was Quirt S. McKinney, director of music from the Peterborough Normal School. Mr. McKinney separated the members into groups and led them in community choral singing.

An A.Y.P.A. Corporate Communion and Breakfast was held last Sunday morning with an attendance of about thirty at the Breakfast. Adjutant Bamsey spoke in his usual friendly manner.

ST. LUKE'S BRANCH.

This branch held a fine devotional meeting on Monday night with B. H. Pammett and his group in charge. Scripture lesson was read by V. Sedgwick, prayers by B. H. Pammett, who also conducted a Bible quiz contest. Miss Biddle read suitable poetry and the meeting wound up with a hymn-sing, with Mrs. Foster at the piano. There was a short business meeting held after, with the vice-president, Miss Daisy Bell presiding. The members decided to put on a revue after Easter. All details were left with the dramatic convener.

Next week's meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Foster and her group —and that means another good program.

4 Held For Theft

KINGSTON, Ont., March 8.—(CP)—Pte. Hilton McKinnon of Kingston, Ont., and Pte. Walter Shannon of Brighton, Ont., and two other soldiers whose names were not given, are under arrest here charged with theft of $700 worth of military supplies from the ordnance storeroom.

Police said last night they did not believe the alleged thefts had any connection with a fire which destroyed the ordnance storeroom a week ago. Tools and clothing were among the stolen goods.

645,370 Ontario Men Unable To Milk A Cow

OTTAWA, March 8—(CP).—Modern Ontario has 645,370 men who cannot milk or do any other farm work.

They gave the information during National Registration in August, 1940. The records for the Province were tabled in the Commons Friday by War Services Minister Gardiner.

The non-farmers were only slightly in the majority, as 500,820 said they could milk and do other farm work. Those who could do everything on a farm but milk numbered 153,360, while 55,699 told the Government they could do nothing but milk to help on a farm.

Mr. Gardiner's figures covered 2,731,580 persons, 1,355,240 men, and 1,376,340 women. The largest population group above 16 years was from 20 to 29 years, 601,780. Those from 16 to 18 years were 268,180, from 30 to 39 years, 539,990, and from 40 to 49 years, 471,700. Over 70 years there were 97,400 women and 85,570 men.

Married persons in Ontario numbered 1,636,100, and single 857,440. Widows and widowers numbered 207,312, while 8,790 were divorced. Legal separations were reported by 16,560, while the condition of 5,380 was not reported.

Most Ontario residents—2,014,500—were born in Canada, and 432,520 in the British Empire. From Poland came 48,210; the United States, 64,790; Russia, 25,060; Germany and Austria, 24,220. Those reporting Canada as the birthplace of their parents numbered 1,276,430.

Total foreign-born citizens of Ontario were 265,740. Those naturalized before 1914 were 22,000; between 1922 and 1931, 49,550, and between 1932 and 1935, 32,370.

Those classified as aliens numbered 95,590, with 61,430 men and 34,160 women.

Those whose racial origins were English, Irish, Scottish, Welsh or Isle of Man totalled 2,731,580. French origins were reported by 236,860.

English alone was spoken by 2,450,510 and French alone by 34,170, while 213,130 could speak both languages. Neither of these languages was spoken by 21,160.

Primary education was reported by 1,536,220 and secondary by 696,360. Business college was attended by 191,870 and 24,010 took classes in stenography and typing. Technical high school attracted 112,760 and bookkeeping 16,600.

Bachelor degrees were attained by 37,750 and post-graduate degrees by 16,290. In 99,720 cases educational qualifications were not stated.

Employers numbered 103,640, while 234,210 were working on their own account. Wage-earners were 1,153,680, and unemployed 105,030. Homemakers were 845,060, while 119,080 were retired. Students numbered 63,960, while 100,400 over 16 years of age reported they had never worked. There were 6,520 invalids.

Of the men questioned, 781,300 said they had not been brought up on farms, and 530,750 were without experience in handling horses, tractors or farm machinery.

Startling Figures

OTAWA, March 6.—(CP).—Conservative leader Hanson reiterated today he was confident when the Canadian people were informed of the total cost of the 30-day training up to the time this plan of training for Canadian defence was discontinued they would be astonished.

Speaking in the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Hanson asked that the cost of the 30-day training plan be provided for parliamentary members in the form of a pamphlet which also would cover all wartime expenditures as fully as could be given without imparting secret information.
